PERMISSION GRANTED TO INTERCOLLEGIATE CONFERENCE ON GOVERNMENT FOR USE OF SENATE CAUCUS ROOM AND OTHER ROOMS

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I have a request from the Intercollegiate Conference on Government for the use of the Senate Caucus Room and Senate committee rooms for the afternoon and evening of April 18, 1947, for the purpose of conducting meetings of the committees established by the Model State Legislature.

Mr. President, this is the eleventh year that these people have met, and to save printing, I thought rather than introduce a resolution I would make a motion.

Therefore, Mr. President, I move that the Senate Librarian be granted authority to grant the use of the Senate Caucus Room, and such other rooms that he thinks might be available and will not interrupt the regular sessions of the Legislature in carrying on its work in the respective committee rooms, for the afternoon and evening of Friday, April 18, 1947 for the use of the Intercollegiate Conference on Government.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Wednesday, March 19, 1947, at 11:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. DONLAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 2:57 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time until Wednesday, March 19, 1947, at 11:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, March 18, 1947.

The House met at 1:00 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Franklin H. Lichtenwalter) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Rev. Clarence M. Smith, a Member of the House, and pastor of the Wayland Baptist Temple, Philadelphia, offered the following prayer:

Oh God, Father of us all, we approach Thy throne and acknowledge Thy unquestioned supremacy. Before Thee we confess our sins and plead for Thy kind forgiveness. Grant unto us Thy Spirit for enlightenment and guidance, for we are strangers as were our fathers, and without Thy help we shall fail those who trust us for leadership. Give unto us the courage to look upon our task, faith to believe in its possible accomplishment, and the will to bring it into being. Make of the Nations of our world, one people, that Thy kingdom might come and Thy will be done on earth to the glory of God our Father—Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of Monday, March 17, 1947.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of Monday, March 17, 1947, when, on motion of Mr. THOMASSY unanimously agreed to, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. LEISEY and ERB.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 27.

In the House of Representatives, March 17, 1947.

Whereas, The St. Lawrence Seaway and Power Project will produce no practical benefits for the people of the two countries it is designed to serve and

Whereas, The General Assembly and the citizens of this State are greatly concerned about the effect the completion of this project would have upon them; and

Whereas, The construction of the project would burden the taxpayers of this Commonwealth, and the United States, with an initial sum estimated at from $543,000,000 to $1,350,000,000, and experience in similar public works would indicate that this project would cost much more; and

Whereas, Existing facilities, the Welland Canal, which by-passes Niagara Falls, and the Great Lakes Channels, amply provide for the present lake traffic. The railroads on both sides in the United States and Canada have demonstrated that they are prepared to handle all through traffic offered; and

Whereas, With its channels closed to navigation for about five months of the year, due to ice and weather conditions, it would be unreasonable to expect the railroads to perform the required service during the period that navigation is closed and to be in a position to handle the peak load. The railroads would be required to maintain equipment that would be idle or little used for sixty per cent of the time, and have the added problem of maintaining the personnel organization. Great numbers would have to seek employment elsewhere while tonnage was moved by government subsidized competitors. This situation would greatly affect the ports of Erie and Philadelphia; and

Whereas, Sea-going boats cannot travel this great distance for nothing, and the saving in transportation costs would be exceedingly small, if any; and

Whereas, It would be disastrous to Great Lake shipping, injurious to American rail, highway and inland waterways services, and seriously harmful to the American coal and iron ore industries; and

Whereas, Electrical energy that would be generated could only be used at nearby points, as it has been demonstrated that the cost of transmission over long distances greatly exceeds that generated locally; and

Whereas, Such an agreement, if ratified, would reduce the expectation of manufacturing, mining and agricultural products of this Commonwealth, and result in loss of employment and contribute to increased taxation; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), that the General Assembly of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States not to approve the agreement for the construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway and Power Project, and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to the President of the United States, the presiding officers of each House of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 126, as follows:

An Act to further amend subsection (b) of section one thousand two hundred five of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" defining the basis of seniority in suspending professional employes

Section 1 Subsection (b) of section one thousand two hundred five of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" as amended by the act approved the twentieth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 482) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1205

(b) Any board of school directors (or board of public education) may suspend the necessary number of professional employes for the causes hereinafter enumerated

(1) Substantial decrease in pupil enrollment in the school district

(2) Curtailment or alteration of the educational program on recommendation of the superintendent concurred in by the board of school directors (or board of public education) approved by the Department of Public Instruction as a result of substantial decline in class or course enrollments or to conform with standards of organization or educational activities required by law or recommended by the Department of Public Instruction

(3) Consolidation of schools whether within a single district through a merger of districts or as a result of joint board agreements when such consolidation makes it unnecessary to retain the full staff of professional employes

Whenever a board of school directors (or board of public education) decreases the size of the staff of professional employes under the provisions of this act the suspensions to be made shall be determined by the county superintendent of schools or the district superintendent as the case may be on the basis of efficiency rank determined by ratings made in accordance with standards and regulations determined by rating cards prepared by the Department of Public Instruction. It shall hereafter be the duty of boards of school directors to cause to be established a permanent record system containing ratings for each teacher employed within the district and copies of all ratings for the year shall be transmitted to the teacher upon his or her request or if any rating during the year is unsatisfactory a copy of same shall be transmitted to the teacher concerned. No teacher shall be dismissed under this act unless such rating records have been kept on file by the board of school directors

In cases in which suspensions are to be made professional employes shall be retained on the basis of seniority rights where no differences in rating are found. Seniority rights shall also prevail where there is no substantial difference in rating. In cases where there are substantial differences in rating of those under consideration for suspension seniority shall be given consideration in accordance with principles and standards of weighting incorporated in the rating cards hereinbefore referred to. Provided That in cases in which suspensions are to be made during the school term immediately following the effective date of this act professional employes shall be retained on the basis of seniority rights. Seniority shall be determined on the basis of continuous service in the district where suspensions are to be made and immediately previous to such suspensions

No employe suspended as aforesaid shall be prevented from engaging in other occupation during the period of such suspension. Such professional employes shall be reinstated in the inverse order of their suspension. No new appointment shall be made while there are suspended professional employes available who are properly certified to fill such vacancies

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 237, as follows:

An Act to amend sections one thousand seventeen and one thousand two hundred seven of the act approved the twenty-third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 932) entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class and amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto" removing the maximum and minimum limits on salaries of councilmen and mayors

Section 1 Sections one thousand seventeen and one thousand two hundred seven of the act approved the twenty-third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 932) entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class and amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto" are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1017 Salaries Councilmen shall receive for their services during their term of service annual salaries to be fixed by ordinance payable in monthly or semi-monthly instalments Councils may by the ordinance fixing said salaries provide for the assessment and retention therefrom of reasonable fines for absence from regular or special meetings of council or councilmanic committees [The salary paid to any councilman shall not be less than two hundred and fifty dollars per year] [nor more than four thousand five hundred dollars per year] For the term of city councilmen in newly created cities and until thereafter changed by ordinance the salary of each councilman shall be as follows

In cities of fifteen thousand inhabitants or under by the last United States census each councilman shall receive a salary of four hundred and fifty-dollars per annum where said population is between fifteen thousand and thirty thousand eleven hundred and twenty-five dollars per annum in cities having a population above thirty thousand and not exceeding fifty thousand three thousand dollars per annum in cities having a population of over fifty thousand and not exceeding seventy thousand three thousand seven hundred and fifty dollars per annum in cities having a population of over seventy thousand four thousand five hundred dollars per annum The compensation to be received by councilmen shall not be increased or diminished after their election but succeeding councils may change all compensation said change to take effect as to councilmen elected after such change of salaries has been made

Section 1207 Salary The mayor of each city shall receive for his services during the term of service an annual salary to be fixed by ordinance payable in monthly instalments The council shall by ordinance fix the amount of salary to be paid to the mayor for his services and may provide for the assessment and retention therefrom of reasonable fines for absence from regular or special meetings of council or councilmanic committees [The amount of salary in cities shall not be less than five hundred dollars] [nor more than five thousand two hundred and fifty dollars per year] Until changed by ordinance the salary of mayors in newly created cities shall be as follows In cities having a population of fifteen thousand or under by the last United States census five hundred dollars per annum in cities having a population of over fifteen thousand and less than thirty thousand inhabitants one thousand two hundred dollars per annum in cities having a population exceeding thirty thousand and not exceeding fifty thousand inhabitants two thousand five hundred and fifty dollars per annum in cities having a population of over fifty thousand and not exceeding seventy thousand inhabitants three thousand dollars per annum in cities having a population of over seventy thousand inhabitants three thousand five hundred dollars per annum

The amount of compensation for the mayor in any of the said cities shall not be increased or diminished after his election Succeeding councils may change the amount of such compensation but such change shall not affect the compensation of the mayor then in office or elected and not inaugurated

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to what might be a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, owing to the fact that

Mr. Aaronson is ill, I am placed in the uncomfortable position of being lead-off man for all these Republican bills. Now, I am just wondering whether they could not make some other arrangements to get some other Republican besides Mr. Aaronson at the top of the list so that I won't be over here signalling the Republicans how to vote.

The SPEAKER. The Chair, in the absence of the Majority Leader, recalling his eloquent address on co-operation yesterday, would thank the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 317, as follows:

An Act to reenact and amend the title and the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 375) entitled "An act conferring upon the councils of cities of the first class the power and devolving upon them the duty of fixing and determining the salaries wages and other compensation payable out of the treasury of such cities from and after the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and forty-six of all public officers clerks and other public employes except the salaries of elected officers whose salaries are fixed by law and except the salaries wages or other compensation of officers clerks and employes of the courts are fixed by law or by the courts" by vesting in city council of cities of the first class the power to fix the salaries wages or other compensation of employes of the courts

Section 1 The title of the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 375) entitled "An act conferring upon the councils of cities of the first class the power and devolving upon them the duty of fixing and determining the salaries wages and other compensation payable out of the treasury of such cities from and after the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and forty-six of all public officers clerks and other public employes except the salaries of elected officers whose salaries are fixed by law and except the salaries wages or other compensation of officers clerks and employes of the courts which are fixed by law or by the courts" is hereby amended to read as follows

An Act conferring upon the councils of cities of the first class the power and devolving upon them the duty of fixing and determining the salaries wages and other compensation payable out of the treasury of such cities from and after the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and forty-six of all public officers clerks and other public employes except the salaries of elected officers whose salaries are fixed by law [and except the salaries wages or other compensation of officers clerks and employes of the courts which are fixed by law or by the courts]

Section 2 Sections one and two of said act are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 That from and after the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and forty-six the salaries wages and other compensation of all public officers clerks and employes including all officers clerks and employes whose salaries were heretofore fixed by law or by the courts payable out of the treasury of any city of the first class shall be fixed and determined by the council of such city by ordinance except such salaries of elected officers which are or may be fixed by law [and the salaries wages and other compensation of officers clerks and employes of the courts which are or may be fixed by law or by the courts]

Section 2 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed to the extent of such inconsistency it being the intent and purpose of this act to establish a uniform and complete system except as aforesaid of the fixing and determination of all salaries wages or other compensation of public officers clerks and employes payable out of the treasury of such cities thereby unifying and co-ordinating as far as may be practicable that power and duty with the power to raise revenue by taxation and otherwise

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, realizing full well that anything I might say about this bill will not prevent its passage, I just want to take a few minutes of the time of the House to express exactly what this bill does. I am advised by the Republican delegation from Philadelphia that this bill is going to pass regardless of what I say, but in passing I want to bring to the attention of the Members of the House the fact that in Philadelphia the judiciary is considered out of politics. Once a judge is appointed by the Governor, or elected to the bench by the people of Philadelphia, he is known throughout the Commonwealth as a sitting judge and when his term ends, or, being an appointed judge and his name is brought before the electorate in the county of Philadelphia, both parties slate him as their candidate and he is out of politics

In the last session of the Legislature when City Council took the right to set the salaries of all employes of the City of Philadelphia, they exempted the employes of the courts, leaving that right with the judges. Now, in this session they want to take it away.

If you want to put the courts of common pleas of Philadelphia in politics this bill will do it. This bill will bring pressure upon the employes of the courts and force them to play partisan politics, both in the courts now under a Democratic administration and the Republican courts of Philadelphia. I say it is a bad bill, and some day it may kick us right back where it started from.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I believe that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Chudoff, has probably not read this bill. In the first place we do not attempt to do anything to any of the judges in the city or county of Philadelphia. The only thing we do is to fix the salaries of the employes of the courts.

Under the present act we in the city of Philadelphia are paying the employes more than they are allowed by the legislature. If this bill does not pass those employes are going to have a cut in salary.

City Council several years ago felt that the employes should have a cost of living increase and that was given to them. Today we are liable for a taxpayers' suit because we are paying those employes more money than they are entitled to.

We also feel in the city of Philadelphia that as long as City Council is the body that has been given the responsibility to raise revenues, we also feel that they should be given the responsibility to say how much of the revenue goes to the employes as salaries. We have given them an increase, and I do not think that we are trying by this bill to hurt the courts in any way.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Smith.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to know from the gentleman as to whether or not when the budget of the city of Philadelphia is adopted in October, whether or not an appropriation is made to the courts of common pleas of Philadelphia County.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I am not able to answer that. I cannot answer as to what city council is going to do in making up their budget next October.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to know from the gentleman whether they appropriated money to the courts of common pleas last October.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I would say yes, Mr. Speaker, they did. I understand today that the courts of common pleas' employes are being paid more than they are legally allowed by legislation.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to know from the gentleman if this bill is going to correct the illegal act.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. It will, Mr. Speaker. This bill will correct the illegal and will allow us to pay them an increase.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, isn't it true that the money is appropriated to the several courts of common pleas of Philadelphia County and then the judges set the salaries of their own employes, based upon the kind of work and the amount of work they do?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I believe that is right, Mr. Speaker. I believe they are fixed by law. Am I right in that? I believe their maximum is fixed by law.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I believe some of the employes have their salaries fixed by law and some others do not.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire of the gentleman if it is not true that the City of Philadelphia is paying those employes more than the maximum fixed by law.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I believe under the Boyd Bill certain employes of the County of Philadelphia were entitled to a cost of living increase for the duration of the war and six months thereafter.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, that will be taken away from them if this bill is not passed.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker. On the question recurring, Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 402, as follows:

An Act to amend section three of the act approved the fifteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1743 Number 368) entitled "An act relating to magistrates and magistrates' courts in the city of Philadelphia imposing certain duties upon and prohibiting certain practices by magistrates imposing certain duties on the city controller in regard thereto authorizing the employment by him of additional clerks and fixing their compensation regulating the practice in magistrates' courts the entering of bail and the issuance of discharges in criminal cases in the county of Philadelphia conferring certain powers over magistrates and magistrates' courts and imposing certain duties in connection therewith upon the judges of the courts of common pleas of the county of Philadelphia providing for the appointment and employment of stenographers to report proceedings in certain cases heard by magistrates fixing salaries of persons employed by authority of this act providing penalties for violations of the provisions thereof and repealing certain prior acts" by removing the restrictions against magistrates participating in political activities

Section 1 Section three of the act approved the fifteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1743 Number 368) entitled "An act relating to magistrates and magistrates' courts in the city of Philadelphia imposing certain duties upon and prohibiting certain practices by magistrates imposing certain duties on the city controller in regard thereto authorizing the employment by him of additional clerks and fixing their compensation regulating the practice in magistrates' courts the entering of bail and the issuance of discharges in criminal cases in the county of Philadelphia conferring certain powers over magistrates and magistrates' courts and imposing certain duties in connection therewith upon the judges of the courts of common pleas of the county of Philadelphia providing for the appointment and employment of stenographers to report proceedings in certain cases heard by magistrates fixing salaries of persons employed by authority of this act providing penalties for violations of the provisions thereof and repealing certain prior acts" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 3 No magistrate shall personally engage in any other business or profession or hold any other public office [or serve as a representative of any political party in any assembly district senatorial district or congressional district or on the executive committee or any other governing body of any political party organization] Each of the magistrates shall devote his entire time and attention to the duties of his office and no magistrate clerk stenographer or other officer or employe provided for herein shall demand or receive any money or other thing of value for the performance or nonperformance of any of the duties pertaining to his office other than fees and compensation allowed by law

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, on this bill affecting the city of Philadelphia, I find myself for the first time on your side. When this bill passes the House and the Senate and is signed by the Governor, it will end a noble experiment.

Back in 1937 the General Assembly thought that they might be able to place the minor judiciary in the same plane as the courts of common pleas of Philadelphia County. So the General Assembly in its wisdom decided to take the Magistrates in Philadelphia out of politics by forbidding them to be a member of a ward committee, a state committee or a city committee. But the Magistrates in Philadelphia would not allow a little thing like an Act of Assembly to interfere with them. So we in the Democratic party found that in the committees the magistrates were sneaking in the back door. Mr. Speaker, I think that all the Members of the House will agree with me that there is nothing so undignified as the attendance of a member of the minor judiciary at a political meeting by way of the back door. So, since they are doing what they are not supposed to do anyway and they are very active politically, I think we should give them the legal right to be active politically and bring back some very fine ward leaders and committeemen to their respective parties. I think this bill should pass.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 487, as follows:

An Act to add subsection three point one to section eight of the act approved the eighteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 1043) entitled "An act establishing a public school employees' retirement system and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing employees defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payments therefrom and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds imposing powers and duties upon boards having the employment of public school employees exempting annuities allowances returns benefits and rights from taxation and judicial process and providing penalties" by further providing for certain Commonwealth contributions to the fund.

Section 1 Section eight of the act approved the eighteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 1043) entitled "An act establishing a public school employees' retirement system and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing employees defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payments therefrom and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds imposing powers and duties upon boards having the employment of public school employees exempting annuities allowances returns benefits and rights from taxation and judicial process and providing penalties" is hereby amended by adding immediately following subsection three a new subsection to read as follows

Funds

Section 8 * * * * *

3.1 Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection three of this section in the month of January one thousand nine hundred forty-eight for the period covering the six months immediately preceding and on the first day of July and January thereafter covering the preceding six months the Commonwealth shall pay into the fund created by this act on account of new entrants such amount as shall be certified by the retirement board as necessary to provide by such method of payment during the prospective active service of new entrants the State annuity reserve required at the time of retirement for the disability or superannuation State annuities allowable by the Commonwealth under the provisions of this act which amount shall be credited by the retirement board to the ledger account known as the contingent reserve account.

The amount so certified by the Retirement Board shall be computed to bear a ratio to the salaries earnable by new entrants during the period for which the amount is certified. The ratio shall be computed as a level percentage of the prospective compensation of new entrants and shall be based on such mortality and other tables as shall be adopted by the Retirement Board and on regular interest. Such ratio shall be computed on the basis of each actuarial valuation and shall be determined by deducting from the present value of the liabilities of the contingent reserve account the sum of the assets credited to that account on the valuation date and dividing the remainder by the present value of the future salaries of new entrants who are then members. To facilitate the collection of such amounts the Retirement Board may use the payroll reported for the last valuation as the basis for contributions for a twelve month period.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the sponsor of this measure explain the changes that this bill makes in the method of computing annuities to those who contribute to the retirement fund.

Mr. BRUNNER. Mr. Speaker, it is my understanding that this bill will enable the computation of the amount to be paid to the fund by the school district and by the state on a total payroll basis, on the average age basis of the teachers in the district. At the present time it is likewise my understanding that the computation by the state to the school district is on an individual basis and it takes considerable time and effort to do it in that manner.

The net result in this, the total payroll in the particular district, of course, is known. The average age of all the teachers is known, and based on the mortality table or whatever table the actuary uses, the flat contribution rate may be determined. The same rule applies on the part of the state. On that basis the entire amount of payroll and the average age of all the teachers of the state will be the factors in determining the flat rate to be paid by the Commonwealth.

Mr. ANDREWS. In other words, Mr. Speaker, the intent of this measure is to place the computation of the annuities of those who contributed to the fund on an actual actuary basis.

Mr. BRUNNER. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker. On the question recurring, Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—2

Lovett,                      Petrosky,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 545, as follows:

An Act to carry into effect section one of Article XV of the Constitution giving cities of the third class the right and power to frame adopt and amend their own charters and to exercise the powers and authority of local self-government and providing the procedure therefor imposing certain restrictions limitations and regulations imposing duties upon city councils city officers county commissioners and prothonotaries and providing for the payment of certain expenses by such cities

Section 1 Any city of the third class may frame and adopt a charter for its own government in the following manner

The city council may by a majority vote of its members and upon petition of ten per centum of the qualified electors or upon electorate having complied with the initiative provisions of "The Third Class City Law" approved the twenty-third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 932) as amended city council shall forthwith provide by ordinance for submission to the electors of the question "Shall a commission be chosen to frame a city charter" The ordinance shall require that the question be submitted to the electors at the next regular municipal election The ballot containing such question shall also contain the names of candidates for the proposed commission but without party designation Such candidates shall be nominated by petition signed by not less than one per centum of the qualified electors and filed with the election authorities at least thirty days before such election except that the signatures of more than one thousand qualified electors shall not be required for the nomination of any candidate If a majority of the electors voting on the question of choosing a commission shall vote in the affirmative then the nine candidates receiving the highest numbers of votes shall constitute the charter commission and shall proceed to frame a charter The city council of the city shall if so requested by the charter commission appropriate money to provide for the reasonable expenses of the commission and for the printing of any completed charter and any separate and alternative provisions thereof and for their distribution to the electors as required by section two of this act

Section 2 Any charter framed as provided in section one of this act shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the city at an election to be held at a time to be determined by the charter commission but at least thirty days subsequent to the completion of the charter and not more than one year after the election of the charter commission Any part of such a charter or any provisions alternative to a part thereof may be submitted to be voted upon separately Any charter so proposed which is approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon with the addition of such parts and as modified by such alternative provisions as may have been separately submitted and approved by a majority of those voting on any such parts or provisions shall become the organic law of the city at the time fixed in such charter and shall supersede any existing charter and all laws affecting the organization and government of the city which are in conflict therewith The commission shall make provision for the distribution not less than fifteen days before any such election of copies of the proposed charter and of any separate parts and alternative provisions thereof to the qualified electors of the city Within thirty days after its approval the election authorities shall certify a copy of the charter to the Secretary of State who shall file it as a public record in his office and publish it as an appendix to the pamphlet laws enacted by the Legislature at the session of the General Assembly following such approval

Section 3 Amendments to any such charter may be framed and submitted by a charter commission in the same manner as is provided in sections one and two for framing and adopting a charter Amendments may also be proposed by a majority vote of the city council or by petition of ten per centum of the qualified electors and any such amendment after due public hearing before such city council shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the city at a regular or special election as in the case of the submission of the question of choosing a charter commission Such proposed amendments shall be published in the manner provided by law Any such amendment approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon shall become a part of the charter of the city at the time fixed in the amendment and shall be certified to and filed and published by the Secretary of State as in the case of a charter

Section 4 Each such city shall have and is hereby granted the authority to exercise all powers relating to municipal affairs and no enumeration of powers in this act or any law shall be deemed to limit or restrict the general grant of authority hereby conferred but this grant of authority shall not be deemed to limit or restrict the power of the Legislature in matters relating to State affairs Provided however That laws affecting third class cities only shall hereafter not be applicable to third class cities which have become chartered under the provisions of this act unless such subsequent enacted laws shall specifically designate such cities as chartered cities of the third class

The following shall be deemed to be a part of the powers conferred upon cities by this section

(1) To levy assess and collect taxes and to borrow money within the limits prescribed by general laws and to levy and collect special assessments for benefits conferred

(2) To furnish all local public services to purchase hire construct own maintain and operate or lease local public utilities to acquire by condemnation or otherwise within or without the corporate limits property necessary for any such purposes subject to restrictions imposed by general law for the protection of other communities and to grant local public utility franchises and regulate the exercise thereof

(3) To make local public improvements and to acquire by condemnation or otherwise property within or without its corporate limits necessary for such improvements and also to acquire an excess over that needed for any such improvement and to sell or lease excess property with restrictions in order to protect and preserve the improvement

(4) To issue and sell bonds on the security in whole or in part of any such excess property or of any public utility owned by the city or of the revenues thereof or of both including in the case of a public utility if deemed desirable by the city a franchise stating the terms upon which in case of foreclosure the purchaser may operate such utility

(5) To organize and administer public schools and libraries subject to the general laws establishing a standard of education for the State

(6) To adopt and enforce within their limits local police sanitary and other similar regulations not in conflict with general laws

(7) To provide for slum clearance and the rehabilitation of blighted areas and gifts of money or property or loans of money or credit for such purpose shall be deemed to be for a city purpose

(8) To provide safe and sanitary housing to families of low income and for recreational and other facilities incidental or appurtenant thereto and gifts of money or property or loans of money or credit for such housing shall be deemed to be for a city purpose

Section 5 General laws may be passed requiring reports from cities as to their transactions and financial conditions and providing for the examination by State officials of the vouchers books and accounts of all such cities or of public undertakings conducted by such cities

Section (6) All elections and submissions of questions provided for in this act or in any charter or law adopted in accordance with this act shall be conducted by or under the control of the election authorities provided by general law

Section 7 The provisions of this act are severable and if any of the provisions hereof are held to be unconstitutional the decision shall not be construed to impair any other provision of this act It is hereby declared as the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provision not been included herein

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RESOLUTION

Mr. BRUNNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up Resolution No. 20.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 11, 1947.

Whereas, the health of the People of Pennsylvania is of primary concern to the Commonwealth; that the disease of alcoholism affects a substantial portion of its citizens; that there is evidence that the scientific treatment of alcoholics has resulted in their rehabilitation; and that there are inadequate public and private facilities for the treatment of alcoholics in Pennsylvania; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), That the Joint State Government Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is hereby directed to make a complete investigation and study of the problems relating to the physiological, psychological, psychiatric, economic and social effects of alcoholism and the treatment and rehabilitation of persons so addicted. The Commission shall gather and compile all pertinent data including clinical experiences observed and noted by existing national, State and civic bodies; and non-governmental, private and non-profit institutions and agencies; shall collaborate with Commissions of other states, and shall make a report of its findings and recommendations, especially as to institutional facilities needed to the General Assembly at its next regular session in the year one thousand nine hundred forty-nine. The Commission shall have the power to outline and report on methods for the dissemination of information to the public concerning the nature of alcoholism and the benefits arising from the scientific treatment of alcoholics.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. DELONG. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. DELONG. Mr. Speaker, the Legislative Journal on Tuesday, March 11, 1947, on page 635 shows that I voted "no" on the final passage of House Bill 92. I voted "aye" on this bill and I request that my remarks be spread upon the Journal.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman from Lehigh will be spread upon the Journal.

Whereas, Said legislation has been subject to uncertainty, confusion and speculation as to amounts of money; involved and necessary for the carrying out of provisions of the bills as introduced; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concurs), That the State School Commission and the Director of the Budget, present to the House of Representatives and the Senate on or before Monday afternoon, March 24th, a summary of comparative cost entailed in the various school bills which deal comprehensively with subsidies, salaries and increments now in the various committees in the House and Senate.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

The second paragraph, second line, strike out the words "confusion and speculation."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution as amended?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I request that the House concur in the resolution of the Senate as amended by the Committee on Education.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I welcome this resolution from the other branch of this General Assembly. It is the first evidence that I have seen of a disposition upon the part of the statesmen in the other part of this Capitol to engage in a quest for facts. I think it is very eminently proper that there should be a report to this House as to the cost of the various pieces of legislation dealing with subsidies for the schools.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the Majority Leader, the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg, whether this is a lazy attempt to get somebody else to do the job which the House and the Senate ought to do, or whether this is only by way of information, and the House and the Senate will still dig for their own information.

Mr. SORG. I might say, Mr. Speaker, that the gentleman from Delaware is asking a double-barreled question.

Mr. TURNER. I wouldn't ask it, Mr. Speaker, if it were not a double-barrel resolution.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I am sure it is not intended as a lazy attempt to get information. I would like to reply also that it is, as the gentleman from Cambria indicates, information that is valuable and will be of considerable interest to every Member of this House.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate as amended?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with the information that the House has adopted the resolution with amendment in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 19, 1947

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair.

PRAYER

In the absence of the Chaplain, prayer was offered by the gentleman from Berks, Senator RUTH.

Almighty God, to whom all hearts are open and all desires known, we come to Thee today and pray for wisdom so that we may do the work, which is our appointed work, better than we have ever done it before. We ask Thy blessing upon each one, so that we may understand when these individual problems come up that we may not be able to solve as a body, we shall not hesitate to come to Thee, and Thou shalt show us the way through.

Today we thank Thee, O God, for the great heritage as Pennsylvanians, the great heritage of tolerance and brotherly love, which has been ours for more than two hundred years, and we pray that Thou wilt help us to pass this heritage on to those who follow after us, not impaired, but built even higher. We ask Thee for Thy blessing upon our Commonwealth in the days to come, that we may always be the keystone of the principles of tolerance, love and brotherhood, as established by our great founder, William Penn, and may we use every influence at our command to teach the youth of our times the blessings which have come from the past.

Help us, each one, to do Thy will every day, that when our work is finished and we shall eventually stand before Thy great throne, that we may hear Thee say unto us, "Well done Thou good and faithful servant."

We ask it in Thy Holy Name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. TALLMAN and Mr. DENT, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

BILL SIGNED

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bill has passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 91, entitled:

An Act to further amend section two hundred six of the act, approved the fifth day of December, one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (1937 P. L. 2897), entitled "Unemployment Compensation Law," by providing that employers need not retain unemployment compensation records in excess of four years.

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. At this time I am going to follow the doctor's orders and build up a little more reserve and ask the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Heyburn, to preside.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Weldon B. Heyburn) in the Chair.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION RETURNED WITH AMENDMENTS

He also informed the Senate that the House has concurred in Resolution from the Senate as amended, as follows:

SUMMARY OF COMPARATIVE COST ENTAILED IN SCHOOL BILLS BE PRESENTED TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

In the Senate, March 17, 1947.

Whereas, There is present before the Legislature in the various committees of the House of Representatives and the Senate, legislation dealing with public school problems; and

Whereas, Said legislation has been subject to uncertainty, as to the amounts of moneys involved and necessary for the carrying out of provisions of the bills as introduced; therefore be it in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concurs), That the State School Commission and the Director of the Budget, present to the House of Representatives and the Senate on or before Monday afternoon, March 24th, a summary of comparative cost entailed in the various school bills which deal comprehensively with subsidies, salaries and increments now in the various committees in the House and Senate.

SENATE CONCURS IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS TO SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate concur in the House amendments of the resolution just read.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

He also informed the Senate that the House has concurred in Resolution from the Senate as follows:

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

In the Senate, March 17, 1947.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concurs), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, March 24, 1947, at four o'clock p. m., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, March 24, 1947, at four-thirty o'clock, p. m.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

He also presented an extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was twice read as follows and referred to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare:

TREATMENT OF ALCOHOLICS

In the House of Representatives, March 12, 1947.

Whereas, The health of the People of Pennsylvania is of primary concern to the Commonwealth; that the disease of alcoholism affects a substantial portion of its citizens; that there is evidence that the scientific treatment of alcoholics has resulted in their rehabilitation; and that there are inadequate public and private facilities for the treatment of alcoholics in Pennsylvania; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concurs), That the Joint State Government Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is hereby directed to make a complete investigation and study of the problems relating to the physiological psychological, psychiatric, economic and social effects of alcoholism and the treatment and rehabilitation of persons so addicted. The Commission shall gather and compile all pertinent data including clinical experience observed and noted by existing national, State and civic bodies; and non-governmental, private and non-profit institutions and agencies; shall collaborate with Commissions of other states, and shall make a report of its findings and recommendations, especially as to institutional facilities needed to the General Assembly at its next regular session in the year one thousand nine hundred forty-nine. The Commission shall have the power to outline and report on methods for the dissemination of information to the public concerning the nature of alcoholism and the benefits arising from the scientific treatment of alcoholics.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WOODRING asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I would like to enter a remonstrance against the Department of Revenue, Bureau of Motor Vehicles, for their practice in not receiving a blanket check for a number of applications for license plates.

I have before me a letter, which I ask to be made part of the records, addressed to the Pennsylvania Department of Revenue, from Clarence B. Haney, of Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, who operates three trucks. He sent his application for license plates to the Bureau, together with one check in the sum of $87.50. The check was subsequently returned, together with his application, and the reason given for the return was that he must send separate checks for each of the three applications. Now, Mr. President, Mr. Haney remonstrates, and I for him would like to remonstrate against such practice. It is not businesslike. If we were to go into a department store or other place of business and make three purchases, we would not be expected to make three separate payments, or to hand in three separate checks through the wicket. It is just good business practice to pay in one lump sum for one transaction, and I think that Mr. Haney's remonstrance strikes not only at the practice which is much too prevalent in the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, but the same thing might be said, with much elaboration—and I am not going to take the time of this body this morning to dwell at length on it—of the practice in the Liquor Control Board, where some clerk thinks his or her job depends upon finding failure of an applicant to dot an "I" or cross a "T."

Mr. President, all of these things, all of the business of this great Commonwealth, should be done expeditiously and effectively, and it should not make it more difficult for our citizens to get along rather than more reasonable.

So, Mr. President, I hand up to the Chair and ask that it be made part of the record, this letter, dated March 10, 1947, from Clarence B. Haney, of Bethlehem, Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The letter will be made a part of the record.

CLARENCE B. HANEY

Bricklayer and Plasterer

2415 Linden Street

Bethlehem, Penna.

March 10, 1947.

Pennsylvania Department of Revenue
Bureau of Motor Vehicles
Harrisburg, Penna.

Gentlemen:

Recently I sent to your office an application for license tags to cover (1) 5000# Cap. International Truck, (1) 7000# Cap. International Truck, and (1) 15000# Cap. Dodge truck along with my personal check in the amount of $87.50 to cover same. You have returned the registration blanks and the check stating that three separate checks would have to accompany the three applications. The apparent method of handling applications in the Revenue Department is working a hardship on the Operators of Pennsylvania and should be discontinued. Each separate check has its own separate charge in Banking Institutions and is a needless expense to add to operators cost.

Needless to say that I in private business could not make a ruling such as this, and I therefore urge you to remedy this ruling or office order.

Respectfully,

CLARENCE B. HANEY.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I just received, I would say, the most pleasant information that I have received for a long time, which, to my mind, is one of the greatest victories for Democracy in America.

Mr. President, when much is being said about Democracy, when the Democratic Nations of the world are trying to tide the spirit of totalitarianism, we were worried in this country that in the Southern State of Georgia, Democracy was not working. Today all of our hearts should be warmed to note that the Supreme Court of the State of Georgia has denied the right of Talmadge to be Governor, and has certified M. L. Thompson, as Governor of Georgia.

Mr. President, I believe that that is the answer to those in America who are trying by power and by trickery to deny the people their rights that the Courts of America are still supreme and on the side of the people.

I think that we ought to rejoice in knowing that Talmadge, who tried to become the Dictator of Georgia, is being removed from office, and that the rightful successor to that office, M. L. Thompson, assume the Governorship of the State of Georgia.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. WALKER, from the Committee on Corporations, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 152, entitled:

An Act to reenact clauses six, seven, twenty and twenty-three of section two of the act approved the twenty-third day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. Mr. WALKER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 374, entitled:

An Act prohibiting certain practices of discrimination in employment and related matters because of race, color, religious creed, national origin or ancestry; creating the Pennsylvania Fair Employment Practices Commission, defining its functions, powers, and duties, providing for its procedure, enforcement, and judicial review, imposing penalties, and making an appropriation therefor.

Which was committed to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

Mr. FRAZIER. Mr. President, when I was in the Senate from 1926 to 1934, there was some question of where the southeastern boundary line of Pennsylvania was. We in Philadelphia thought it was at the Delaware River, but there was some question as to whether it ended at Cobb's Creek, the western boundary line of Philadelphia.

During my enforced absence from the Senate, Philadelphia was re-annexed by the state and has been very favorably handled by the state of Pennsylvania during my absence. We have no spirit of competition with the fair port of Erie, but I think everybody in Pennsylvania knows that Philadelphia is confronted with very keen competition from the other states along the eastern seaboard of the United States of America.

Realizing now that we have many, many friends in Harrisburg, and realizing that the former Governor and the present Governor of Pennsylvania feel the importance of the prosperity and success of Philadelphia, one of the things which tends to prosperity is the development of the port.

Therefore, Mr. President, I have the pleasure of introducing a bill making an appropriation to the Secretary of Commerce for promoting the interests of the City of Philadelphia.

Mr. FRAZIER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 375, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation for the purpose of protecting and promoting the interests of the Port of Philadelphia.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. WATSON read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 376, entitled:

A Supplement to the act, approved the twenty-fifth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 1352), entitled "An act providing for joint action by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey in the administration, operation, and maintenance of bridges over the Delaware River, and for the construction of additional bridge facilities across said river; authorizing the Governor, for these purposes, to enter into an agreement with the State of New Jersey; creating a Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission and specifying the powers and duties thereof, including the power to finance the construction of additional bridges by the issuance of revenue bonds to be redeemed from revenues derived from tolls collected at such bridges; transferring to said commission all powers now exercised by existing commission created to acquire toll bridges over the Delaware River; and making an appropriation," authorizing the Governor to enter into a supplemental compact or agreement on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, with the State of New Jersey amending the Agreement between the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey creating the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission as a body corporate and politic, to enlarge the jurisdiction and power of said commission with respect to the acquisition, construction, rehabilitation, improvement, maintenance and operation of bridges across the Delaware River, the financing thereof, and the fixing, charging and collecting of tolls for the use of such bridges; and repealing certain acts.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Mr. LORD read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 377, entitled:

An Act providing for community property to be held by husband and wife; defining rights, duties and liabilities arising from the community property relationship, designating the secession to community property, and providing for dissolution of the community interest in case of divorce.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. DONLAN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 378, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections one thousand one hundred twenty-one and one thousand one hundred thirty of the act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred eleven, (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," eliminating certain obsolete provisions and providing for the salaries of certain supervisors working under the supervision of the county superintendent.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Messrs. DOEHLA and RAHAUSER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 379, entitled:

An Act to protect and promote the public safety, and welfare by providing for the registration and regulation of watchmakers; prescribing the terms upon which licenses or certificates of registration may be issued to watchmakers including apprentices; defining the duties of the Pennsylvania Board of Examiners in Watchmaking; including the right to revoke licenses, prescribing fees, defining certain misdemeanors and providing penalties for violation thereof and repealing present laws inconsistent therewith.

HOUSE MESSAGES

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION ADOPTED

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented an extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

URGING ENDORSEMENT OF THE CELEBRATION OF THE ANNIVERSARY OF GREEK INDEPENDENCE

In the House of Representatives, March 19, 1947.

Whereas, "The Glory that was and is Greece" is an impression of gratitude for the cultural heritage that we have received from that ancient nation. Greece of antiquity was the cradle of our civilization. That treasured word in our language, Democracy, meaning the rule of the people, was derived from the ancient Greek. Democracy was founded in Athens. When Greece of the early Christian era, the home of so many Saints, Fathers and Doctors of the Church, fell to the pagan conqueror, the word Democracy vanished through the ages, to be revived by our own glorious nation at its foundation.

Whereas, On March 25th, 1821, the Greece of modern times, once again became an independent nation through the increasing faith, hope and courage of her people. In the century that has followed, Greece has struggled to preserve her freedom with the same indomitable spirit of the ancient Spartans at Thermopylae. In World War II, Greece thrilled the world by her aggressive stand against the invading Axis powers! Overcome by the might of the invader, Greece was subdued but not conquered. However, the invader in the hope of breaking the militant Greek spirit, imposed the terrible ordeal of starvation. Thousands of men, women, and children perished. Today, after long decimation and debilitation Greece stands resolute as a pillar of Western Civilization, the Spectre of hunger still haunts this proud land.

Whereas, The Greeks have been associated with the United States since the earliest days of the Republic. In 1804, to defend our sovereign rights against the aggressor we invaded North Africa in war with Barbary States. While our navy won glorious victories under Decatur and Bainbridge, a military force was necessary. It was organized in North Africa under the command of General William Eaton, U.S.A. and Colonel Tobias Lear. A considerable number of Greeks enlisted in this task force, and fought valiantly alongside the United States Marines. Their repeated assaults brought the war to a successful conclusion by the capture of the Tripolitan Capital of Derne. Our Greek companies were repeatedly mentioned in the dispatches for their courage and sacrifice. Thus General Eaton, in his dispatch to Commodore Samuel Barron, concerning the assault upon Derne on April 29th, 1805, states: "Our forces ashore successfully assaulted Derne, led by Priestly N. O'Bannon of the Marines along with our Greek companies. The loss in killed and wounded this day were mostly Greeks. They well supported their ancient character." Thus, did the people of Greece aid our infant republic in its early struggles;

Whereas, Persons of Greek origin or descent have greatly contributed to the progress of the United States, as citizens of the republic. They have been loyal, industrious, and law abiding, as is eminently befitting an ancient cultured race. They have settled throughout our country, entering various phases of American life, and contributed greatly thereto. They have been noted for their community spirit in matters of charity, and humane consideration. Their campaign for education in American citizenship has been outstanding; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania acknowledge the contribution made to our nation by persons of Hellenic origin by endorsing the celebration of the anniversary of the Greek Independence on March 25, 1947, and be it further

Resolved, That the Governor shall at an appropriate time, issue his proclamation designating and calling upon the public schools, other educational institutions of the Commonwealth, and the citizens of Pennsylvania to observe with appropriate ceremony the twenty-fifth day of March, one thousand nine hundred forty-seven as Hellenic Day.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

HOUSE BILL FOR CONCURRENCE

He also presented for concurrence bill of the House, as follows:

House Bill No. 155, entitled:

An Act to amend section one thousand two hundred forty-four of the act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "Public School Code," altering the method of determination of reimbursement for high school tuition.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

RESOLUTION No. 13

Mr. BRUNNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Resolution No. 13.

The Resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 17, 1947.

Whereas, The Pennsylvania Roadside Council, wishing to cooperate in the nation-wide Blue Star Memorial Program sponsored by the National Council of State Garden Clubs, is desirous of recognizing and commemorating the splendid services and achievements of our sons and daughters who served in the Armed Forces of the United States in World War II; and

Whereas, It is fitting and appropriate that legislative recognition be accorded the services and sacrifices of citizens so valiantly rendered; and

Whereas, The State of New Jersey has designated one of its state highways leading to Easton, Pennsylvania, as New Jersey's link in this nation-wide program; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), That State Highway Route Number 22 from Easton to Harrisburg and the Pennsylvania Turnpike from the vicinity of Harrisburg to the vicinity of Pittsburgh is designated as the Blue Star Drive as a memorial in commemoration of the services of the men and women of Pennsylvania who served in the Armed Forces of the United States in World War II; and be it further

Resolved, That the Department of Highways shall erect along said highways suitable tablets or markers and shall carry out suitable landscape development to perpetuate this resolution but shall not replace or change the officially designated route number or name or marker thereof of any highway or turnpike hereby included as a part of such Blue Star Drive

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 23

Mr. LAYER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Resolution No. 23.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 12, 1947.

In every community of the Commonwealth there are times when the problem of juvenile delinquency makes headlines, to the distress of individual families, their children, and the community as a whole.

It is contended, with good reason, by FBI Chief J.

Edgar Hoover, and others, that juvenile delinquency actually should be called "parental," or "adult" delinquency.

There are few among us who, in complete honesty, can claim that we are completely fulfilling our responsibilities to our children, and to the children of our communities.

Within recent months, in the Borough of Marcus Hook, Delaware County, there has been organized a "Juvenile Opportunity Club," which has as its purpose the aim implied by its title—to give greater opportunity to the youth of the community.

In co-operation with the local police, the Juvenile Opportunity Club has set up its own "court," with judges, attorneys and juries before which boys who have misbehaved are brought for "trial." Ten days ago, the club further organized a "Junior Police Force" of fifty-one members.

Sponsored by Amvets Post No. 43, and sparked by Charles Imburgia, a Marine veteran of Pacific battles, the Juvenile Opportunity Club of Marcus Hook has attracted the attention and has won the enthusiastic co-operation of parents, school, police and public officers, as well as the judges of the Delaware County Courts, for the sound, practical steps it is taking to provide opportunities for the youth of the community to become responsible, stable members of society.

Since the inception of the club, the supervising principal, teachers and janitors of the borough schools, as well as the regular police officers of the community, testify that there has been marked improvement in the behavior of youth in the community. It is reported that only one case out of many tried by the "court" has been serious enough to be referred to regular police courts. A commendation recently was received from FBI Chief Hoover; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that commendation is due to the American Veterans of World War II, Marcus Hook Post 43, and to Charles Imburgia, chairman of its Juvenile Delinquency Committee, for their contribution to the betterment of juveniles and for setting an example in guiding youth which can be followed with profit by every community in the Commonwealth.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 24

Mr. GYGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Resolution No. 24.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 12, 1947.

Resolved, That the Members of the House of Representatives Committee on Welfare, together with any other Members of the House of Representatives, who may be interested in accompanying them, shall visit the State Institutions under the supervision of the Department of Welfare, in order more easily to consider and appreciate proposed legislation relating to such institutions and to make to the House of Representatives such recommendations as they deem advisable.

RESOLUTIONS

Mr. WALDRON offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 19, 1947.

Whereas, "The Glory that was and is Greece" is an impression of gratitude for the cultural heritage that we have received from that ancient nation, Greece of antiquity was the cradle of our civilization. That treasured word in our language, Democracy, meaning the rule of the people, was derived from the ancient Greek. Democracy was founded in Athens. When Greece of the early Christian era, the home of so many Saints, Fathers and Doctors of the Church, fell to the pagan conqueror, the word Democracy vanished through the ages, to be revived by our own glorious nation at its foundation.

Whereas, On March 25th, 1821, the Greece of modern times, once again became an independent nation through the increasing faith, hope and courage of her people. In the century that has followed, Greece has struggled to preserve her freedom with the same indomitable spirit of the ancient Spartans at Thermopylae. In World War II, Greece thrilled the world by her aggressive stand against the invading Axis powers! Overcome by the might of the invader, Greece was subdued but not conquered. However, the invader in the hope of breaking the militant Greek spirit, imposed the terrible ordeal of starvation. Thousands of men, women and children perished. Today, after long decimation and debilitation Greece stands resolute as a pillar of Western Civilization, the Spectre of hunger still haunts this proud land.

Whereas, The Greeks have been associated with the United States since the earliest days of the Republic. In 1804, to defend our sovereign rights against the aggressor we invaded North Africa in war with Barbary States. While our navy won glorious victories under Decatur and Bainbridge, a military force was necessary. It was organized in North Africa under the command of General William Eaton, U. S. A. and Colonel Tobias Lear. A considerable number of Greeks enlisted in this task force, and fought valiantly alongside the United States Marines. Their repeated assaults brought the war to a successful conclusion by the capture of the Tripolitan Capital of Derne. Our Greek companies were repeatedly mentioned in the dispatches for their courage and sacrifice. Thus General Eaton, in his dispatch to Commodore Samuel Barron, concerning the assault upon Derne on April 29th, 1805, states: "Our forces ashore successively assaulted Derne, led by Priestly N. O'Bannon of the Marines along with our Greek companies. The loss in killed and wounded this day were mostly Greeks. They well supported their ancient character." Thus, did the people of Greece aid our infant republic in its early struggles;

Whereas, Persons of Greek origin or descent have greatly contributed to the progress of the United States, as citizens of the republic. They have been loyal, industrious, and law abiding, as is eminently befitting an ancient cultured race. They have settled throughout our country, entering various phases of American life, and contributed greatly thereto. They have been noted for their community spirit in matters of charity, and humane consideration. Their campaign for education in American citizenship has been outstanding; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania acknowledge the contribution made to our nation by persons of Hellenic origin by endorsing the celebration of the anniversary of the Greek Independence on March 25, 1947, and be it further

Resolved, That the Governor shall at an appropriate time, issue his proclamation designating and calling upon the public schools, other educational institutions of the Commonwealth, and the citizens of Pennsylvania to observe with appropriate ceremony, the twenty-fifth day of March, one thousand nine hundred forty-seven as Hellenic Day.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. PETROSKY offered a resolution which was laid over under the Rules.

Messrs. GREER and BOORSE offered a resolution which was laid over under the Rules.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair observes in the Hall of the House this morning a former Member. I might say that it is rather appropriate to have this Member present this morning when bills are being reported from the Committee on Way and Means, as he was the former Chairman of that Committee, the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Edwin Winner.

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED RESOLUTION CONCURRED IN

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the amendment made by the House of Representatives to Senate Resolution entitled as follows:

In the Senate, March 19, 1947.

Whereas, There is present before the Legislature in the various committees of the House of Representatives and the Senate, legislation dealing with public school problems; and

Whereas, Said legislation has been subject to uncertainty, (confusion and speculation) as to amounts of moneys involved and necessary for the carrying out of provisions of the bills as introduced; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That the State School Commission and the Director of the Budget, present to the House of Representatives and the Senate on or before Monday afternoon, March 24th, a summary of comparative cost entailed in the various school bills which deal comprehensively with subsidies, salaries and increments now in the various committees in the House and Senate.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. SCHUSTER asked and obtained unanimous consent to add the name of Mr. Vaughan as an additional sponsor to House Bill No. 323.

Mr. O'NEILL asked and obtained unanimous consent to add the names of Messrs. Cordier and Stank as additional sponsors to a bill he was about to introduce.

INTERROGATION

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader, the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, is it the intention of the majority to press bills embodying the tax program to final passage during the coming week?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, it is our intention that the bills shall move on the calendar in the usual course.

Mr. ANDREWS. Is it proposed, Mr. Speaker, to hold a three-day or a four-day session of the House next week?

Mr. SORG. It is proposed, Mr. Speaker, to hold a three-day session.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

I am speaking particularly, Mr. Speaker, to the members of the minority group, although it will not do the Members of the majority group any harm to listen in.

I am asking the Members on this side of the House to go home during the week-end and consult their constituents concerning the tax program that they will be asked to pass next week. After all it is the people back home who must finance this program. I am asking the Members on this side of the House to be cognizant of the fact that when tax bills are placed on the calendar and forced to final passage in advance of the enactment of the bills embodying the purposes of the Administration, that they are in effect when they are passing upon the tax bills outlining the legislation which can be passed under those tax bills.

I am asking our people on this side of the House to note the fact that you are determining the range of the teachers' bills, you are determining the range of all subsidies when you pass your tax program, and you should, at least I hope, that the Members of this House will convey that fact back home. I want you to see not only the man on the street, but I want you to talk and consult the fellow with the substantial business interests in your various districts so that when you come back to the Hall of this House, at least on this side, you won't come back with something that is essentially a Democratic tax platform or a Republican tax platform, but you'll come back with information as to what the people that you represent actually want and desire, and have some knowledge gained at the source rather than gained from party leaders as to what your people actually want you to do.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WATKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker. I have had the pleasure to have introduced a few moments ago House Bill 807,

"Authorizing and directing the Department of Highways to erect and construct a bridge over the Susquehanna River between a point in or near the Borough of Millersburg, Dauphin County, and a point in Perry County and to provide the necessary approaches and connections with State highways; providing for the acceptance of Federal aid empowering counties to pay certain damages; providing for the collection of tolls on such bridge and making an appropriation."

I wish to state to the Members of the General Assembly, to the Highway Department of our Commonwealth and to the motoring public also that the erection of such a bridge at this point over the Susquehanna River, connecting the important and overtaxed highways on the west side with those on the east side running over Route 209 to northern New Jersey and New England, is one of the most important over-due necessities of the Highway Department of our Commonwealth.

I am hoping that as on previous occasions when this bill was introduced in other sessions that this bill will receive consideration at this session.

RESOLUTION CONCURRED IN

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 19, 1947.

INTERROGATION

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, is it proposed in the House to press the tax program to final passage without any opportunity for public hearing of any kind?

Mr. SORG. Not, Mr. Speaker, without any opportunity. It is presumed, however, that any requests for a public hearing should have sufficiently serious intent and sufficiently good reasons to warrant such action.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, have any substantially reputable interests in the state requested public hearings as yet?

Mr. SORG. Not that I know of, Mr. Speaker.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. GREER and BOORSE.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 29.

In the House of Representatives, March 19, 1947.

Whereas, The laws relating to landlord and tenant, eviction proceedings, rent control, and kindred subjects, and the amendments to such laws, contain numerous inconsistencies and should be carefully studied, revised, and codified in order to make them effective and useful for their intended purposes: therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to survey, investigate, and consider all of the laws relating to landlord and tenant, eviction proceedings, rent control, and kindred subjects, and to revise and restate completely such laws in codified form, and to report its findings and conclusions to the next regular session of the General Assembly with a bill or bills embodying a codification of the laws relating to landlord and tenant, eviction proceedings, rent control, and kindred subjects to be introduced at the next regular session of the General Assembly..

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. BENTZEL and PETROSKY.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 30.

In the House of Representatives, March 19, 1947.

Whereas, The man of tomorrow is the youth of today; and

Whereas, The all-out prosecution of the present war has occasioned unprecedented social and economic changes in the lives and affairs of many minors throughout the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, The termination of the present war has raised many problems concerning juvenile delinquency that the present laws are inadequate to cope with; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concurs) That a joint legislative committee is hereby created, to consist of seven members of the House of Representatives, appointed by the Speaker, and three Senators, appointed by the President pro tempore of the Senate, whose duty it shall be to hold public hearings in the cities of Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, at which all persons desiring the opportunity may be heard relative to the problems of juvenile delinquency. The members of the committee shall receive no compensation for their services, but shall be allowed their actual and necessary expenses incurred in connection with the performance of their duties. The committee may, in order to carry out its purposes, employ experts, clerical and legal assistance. All such expenses shall be paid out of an appropriation to be made by the General Assembly. The committee shall make its report and recommendations to the General Assembly within sixty days from the date of its creation.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

HOUSE BILLS CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bills from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows

HOUSE BILL No. 288.

An Act to further amend subsection (1) of subsection (x) of section four of the act, approved the fifth day of December, one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (1937 P. L. 2897), entitled "An act establishing a system of unemployment compensation to be administered by the Department of Labor and Industry and its existing and newly created agencies with personnel (with certain exceptions) selected on a civil service basis; requiring employers to keep records and make reports, and certain employers to pay contributions based on payrolls to provide moneys for the payment of compensation to certain unemployed persons; provided procedure and administrative details for the determination, payment and collection of such contributions and the payment of such compensation; providing for cooperation with the Federal Government and its agencies; creating certain special funds in the custody of the State Treasurer; and prescribing penalties," changing definition of wages.

With the information that the Senate has passed the same without amendment.

BILL SIGNED BY SPEAKER

Bill numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

An Act to further amend subsection (1) of subsection (x) of section four of the act, approved the fifth day of December, one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (1937 P. L. 2897), entitled "An act establishing a system of unemployment compensation to be administered by the Department of Labor and Industry and its existing and newly created agencies with personnel (with certain exceptions) selected on a civil service basis; requiring employers to keep records and make reports, and certain employers to pay contributions based on payrolls to provide moneys for the payment of compensation to certain unemployed persons; providing procedure and administrative details for the determination, payment and collection of such contributions and the payment of such compensation; providing for cooperation with the Federal Government and its agencies; creating certain special funds in the custody of the State Treasurer; and prescribing penalties," changing definition of wages.

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. KRATZ. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, March 24, 1947 at 4:30 p. m.

SENATE

MONDAY, March 24, 1947.

The Senate met at 4:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Daniel B. Strickler) in the Chair.

PRAYER

In the absence of the Chaplain prayer was offered by the Senator from Bucks, Dr. RUTH.

Almighty God, our heavenly Father, we thank Thee that Thou hast permitted us to come here again to meet our opportunities and our obligations, and we pray that Thy spirit will bring into our hearts and minds re-birth of inspiration of courage, of integrity, and of beauty, as it is now being demonstrated in the realm of nature, where the dreary winter foliage has gone and nature is re-born in everything, and soon there will be new life and beauty. May Thy spirit form that in our hearts and minds that we too may reach forth for a more beautiful life for everyone.

We ask Thy blessing upon our work this week. Perhaps we do not know just what to do in all instances, but we do know that if we take Thee into our confidence Thou wilt guide us right.

We ask it in Thy Holy Name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. TALLMAN and Mr. LORD, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

Mr. Wade asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. HARE.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. T. NEWELL WOOD.

HOUSE MESSAGE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented an extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read, as follows:

BLUE STAR DRIVE AS A MEMORIAL IN COMMEMORATION OF SERVICE MEN AND WOMEN OF PENNSYLVANIA

In the House of Representatives, February 18, 1947.

Whereas, The Pennsylvania Roadside Council, wishing to cooperate in the nation-wide Blue Star Memorial Program sponsored by the National Council of State Garden Clubs, is desirous of recognizing and commemorating the splendid services and achievements of our sons and daughters who served in the Armed Forces of the United States in World War II; and

Whereas, It is fitting and appropriate that legislative recognition be accorded the services and sacrifices of citizens so valiantly rendered; and

Whereas, The State of New Jersey has designated one of its state highways leading to Easton, Pennsylvania as New Jersey's link in this nation-wide program; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), That State Highway Route Number 22 from Easton to Harrisburg and the Pennsylvania Turnpike from the vicinity of Harrisburg to the vicinity of Pittsburgh is designated as the Blue Star Drive as a memorial in commemoration of the services of the men and women of Pennsylvania who served in the Armed Forces of the United States in World War II; and be it further

Resolved, That the Department of Highways shall erect along said highways suitable tablets or markers and shall carry out suitable landscape development to perpetuate this resolution. But shall not replace or change the officially designated route number or name or marker thereof of any highway or turnpike hereby included as a part of such blue star drive.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that rule 39, which requires resolutions to be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

Which was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, do I understand that we are called upon to vote on concurrence of the resolution on the Blue Star Route, namely, Route 22.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Northampton is correct.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, before the vote is taken I would like to point out that Route 22 is one of the most important highways in the state of Pennsylvania, linking the city of Pittsburgh with the city of Easton at the eastern and western termini of that route.

I would like to point out that going eastwardly from Harrisburg, Route 22 is one of the most dangerous routes in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; it is narrow, it is filled with many blind spots, it is certainly not such a route as is worthy of commemorating the memory of any worthy citizens; it is not worthy of placing plaques upon it.

Arriving at the eastern terminus in the city of Allentown, Lehigh county, in order to traverse Route 22, we have to go through the metropolitan areas of Allentown, Bethlehem and Easton. So that the members of the Senate may know what crowded and congested conditions exist there, I would like to tell a story that the late Doctor William Mather Lewis, Director of Selective Service for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, used to tell. He, while holding the position of Director of Selective Service, was also president of Lafayette College, and somebody asked him how he got on with his work here in Harrisburg, while having the very weighty position of president of Lafayette College, and he said it was not too bad, he spent three days in Harrisburg and three days in Easton at Lafayette College, and the seventh day of the week he spent in Allentown, on Route 22, waiting for the stop lights to change.

Mr. President and members of the Senate, I am going to vote for this resolution, and I urge all of the members to vote for it, but I think it is encumbent upon the Department of Highways to consider the very drastic need, the urgency, of further improving Route 22 from Harrisburg to Easton.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I want to suggest to the gentleman from Northampton that the city of Allentown is a very lovely place for anyone to stay at any time, and for a long time.

However, Mr. President, I am rather surprised that the gentleman from Northampton should take the floor and make the remarks that he has just expressed, in view of the fact that he knows very well that one of the programs, one of the major programs and first programs of the highway department, is the development of Route 22, and I am rather much more surprised that the gentleman should make those remarks and not be aware of the situation, because he himself is the sponsor of a bill which is now in the Committee on Highways, which changes the route in the city of Easton, his own community, in order to make that new route and new layout of the route possible, and the gentleman knows very well that work is ready to be done and will be done just as soon as it is practical to do it.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President I will not delay the Senate by further debate, but I want to point out that this same program was in effect in the session of 1945 and the conditions in the city of Allentown, Bethlehem and Easton still prevail, and the dangerous spots on the highway still prevail and it does not help the traveling public, it does not help the citizenry of Pennsylvania to have it on the program. What we want is prompt action in having Route 22 improved.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

The resolution was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly

PROBLEMS OF DEMOCRACY CLASS, SCHUYLKILL HAVEN HIGH SCHOOL, AND MEMBERS OF FACULTY, INTRODUCED TO SENATE

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President and members of the Senate, we in Schuylkill county are very proud of the type of young man and young lady found in our public high schools. We have present in the balcony of the Senate this afternoon a very typical group of students of the "Problems of Democracy" class of the Schuylkill Haven High School.

They are here under the direction and guidance of their supervising Principal, Mr. Paul S. Christman; their high school principal, Mr. Paul E. Hartranft and their class teacher, Mr. William Stauffer.

I am happy to call to the attention of the Chair and the Senate the members of the "Problems of Democracy" class of 1947, of the Schuylkill Haven High School.

The PRESIDENT. On behalf of the members of the Senate the Chair welcomes the members of the Schuylkill Haven "Problems of Democracy Class," and also members of their faculty.

BILL SIGNED

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Daniel B. Strickler) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bill had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

House Bill No. 288, entitled:

An Act to further amend subdivision (1) of subsection (x) of section four of the act, approved the fifth day of December, one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (1937 P. L. 2897), entitled "Unemployment Compensation Law," changing definition of wages.

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Daniel B. Strickler) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

Mr. G. Harold Watkins
Secretary
Senate, of Pennsylvania
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania:
My Dear Secretary:

A few days ago I received your letter enclosing the resolution of condolence adopted by the Senate of Pennsylvania in the death of my Uncle, the Honorable Richard W. Williamson.

We are most pleased and honored to have the resolution and I assure you it will always be treasured in my family. Kindly convey to the Senate of Pennsylvania our sincere appreciation for the honor they have bestowed upon my uncle and my family.

I have written to Senator Charles R. Mallery thanking him for introducing the resolution and with kind regards to yourself, I remain,

Yours sincerely,

GEO. MCK. WILLIAMSON, JR.
Colonel, U. S. Army.

The State Senate
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.
Dear Sir:

This is a resolution sent by East Great Bend Grange No. 940.

Realizing that the so called "Daylight Saving Time" is causing inconvenience to our farmers and all others dealing with agriculture, through the earliness of rising before sun time, and believing this condition is caused by those who seek longer afternoons of sunlight for pleasure, and who are unconcerned with the problems and difficulties it causes men who work from "sun to sun" on the farms of our nation.

Therefore be it resolved that East Great Bend Grange No. 940 go on record as favoring the abolishment of daylight saving time.

Signed,

BEATRICE RELF,
SARA FOX,
GLENN BRUNDAGE.

Resolution Committee

Yours very truly,

HOWARD F. C. THOMAS,
Master, East Great Bend Grange

Senator M. Harvey Taylor
President Pro Tempore
Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Dear Senator Taylor:

In accordance with a concurrent resolution of March 19, 1947, the School Commission and the Budget Secretary submit herewith "A Summary of Comparative Costs Entailed in the Various School Bills which Deal Comprehensively with Subsidies, Salaries and Increments Now in the Various Committees in the House and Senate."

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE YOUNG,
Chairman, The School Commission.

EDWARD B. LOGAN,
Budget Secretary.

Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, March 24, 1947.

COMPARATIVE SUMMARY OF STATE AND LOCAL COSTS OF VARIOUS TEACHERS' SALARY AND SCHOOL SUBSIDY BILLS

In accordance with a concurrent resolution of March 19, 1947, the School Commission and the Budget Secretary submit below "A Summary of Comparative Costs entailed in the Various School Bills which Deal comprehensively with Subsidies, Salaries and Increments Now in the Various Committees in the House and Senate."

The summaries and cost estimates submitted relate to the major provisions of the bills under review: mandated salaries of classroom teachers and Commonwealth subsidies on account of instruction.

The following bills were reviewed: House Bill 156; House Bill 213; House Bill 417; and Senate Bill 175. Inasmuch as the major provisions of House Bill 417 and Senate Bill 175 are identical, no separate summaries and cost estimates are shown for Senate Bill 175.

HOUSE BILL 156 provides for a single salary schedule for all classroom teachers employed by all classes of school districts. Specifically, the bill provides for an entry salary of $2,500 ten annual increments of $250 each for holders of normal school and standard certificates (49.1% of the teachers currently employed); eleven annual increments of $250 each for holders of Bachelor's Degrees, and twelve annual increments of $250 each for holders of Master's Degrees.

To partially cover mandated increases in teachers' salaries, the bill provides for a minimum subsidy of $1,200 per teaching unit and a maximum subsidy of $3,000 per teaching unit.

The subsidy provisions of the bill, if favorably acted upon, would increase Commonwealth school subsidy appropriations by at least $120,000,000 per biennium, or 86% beyond the total public school subsidies appropriated by the Session of 1945.

In addition, once fully effective, House Bill 156 would increase local costs. It is conservatively estimated that under the terms of the bill the average mandated salary of classroom teachers will become $4,677. Hence, in addition to other costs, the majority of local school districts will be compelled to finance the difference between the maximum subsidy of $3,000 per teaching unit and the average mandated salary of $4,677. It is estimated that the bill will increase local costs by $100,000,000 per year. To finance the increased cost, school districts would have to increase local taxes approximately 68 per cent.

HOUSE BILL 213 provides for a single salary schedule for all classroom teachers employed by all classes of districts. Specifically, the bill provides for an entry salary of $2,400; nine annual increments of $200 each for teachers who have less than three years of training; ten annual increments of $200 each for teachers with three years of training; twelve annual increments of $200 each for teachers with four years of training; fourteen annual increments of $200 each for holders of Master's Degrees.

To partially cover mandated increases in teachers' salaries, the bill provides for a minimum subsidy of $1,000 per teaching unit for the school year 1946-47, the minimum to rise to $1,200 for the school years 1947-49. Similarly, the bill provides for a maximum subsidy of $2,500 per teaching unit for the school year 1946-47, the maximum to rise to $2,700 for the school years 1947-49.

The subsidy provisions of the bill, if favorably acted upon, would increase Commonwealth subsidy appropriations by at least $82,000,000 for the biennium 1947-49, or 58 per cent beyond the total public school subsidies appropriated by the Session of 1945.

The bill seems to make no provisions for Commonwealth subsidies upon termination of the school year 1948-49.

On the assumption that maximum and minimum subsidies are not to rise above the level specified for the school years 1947-49, House Bill 213, once fully effective, would increase local costs. It is conservatively estimated that under the terms of the bill the average mandated salary of classroom teachers will become $4,227. Hence, in addition to other costs, the majority of local school districts will be compelled to finance the difference between the maximum subsidy of $2,700 per teaching unit and the average mandated salary of $4,227. It is estimated that the bill eventually increase local costs by at least $91,000,000 per year. To finance the increased local costs, school districts would have to increase local taxes approximately 62 per cent.

HOUSE BILL 417 provides for a single salary schedule for all classroom teachers employed by all classes of districts. Specifically, the bill provides for an entry salary of $2,400; eight annual increments of $175 each for teachers with less than four years of college training; two supplemental annual increments of $150 each for teachers with a Bachelor's Degree; and four supplemental annual increments of $150 each for teachers with Master's Degrees.

To partially cover mandated increases in teachers' salaries, the bill provides for a minimum subsidy of $900 per teaching unit per year for the period 1947-49, and a minimum subsidy of $1,000 thereafter. Similarly, the bill provides for the following maximum subsidies per year per teaching unit: $2,600 per year for the period 1947-49; $2,800 per year for 1949-51; and $3,000 thereafter.

If favorably acted upon, the bill would call for additional appropriations by the Commonwealth of at least $78,000,000 for the biennium 1947-49, or 56 per cent more than the total public school subsidies appropriated by the Session of 1945. When fully effective in 1951, the bill would call for additional Commonwealth appropriation of at least $116,000,000 for the biennium, or 83 per cent more than the total public school subsidies appropriated by the Session of 1945.

In evaluating the above estimates of increases in Commonwealth and local costs, consequent upon favorable action upon House Bill 156, House Bill 213, House Bill 417 and Senate Bill 175, it is to be noted that these estimates are minima. The estimates do not take account of increases in cost by the provisions of the bills relating to tuition reimbursement, transportation reimbursement, reimbursement on account of physically and mentally handicapped pupils, vocational reimbursement, and state and local retirement contributions on behalf of teachers. To facilitate an overall view of the tax implications of the legislative proposals outlined above, the approximate total annual school bills payable by the Commonwealth and local districts which would become due if the proposals were favorably acted upon and fully effective are shown below:

Bill Number	Estimated Annual Cost
House—156	$632,000,000
House—213	570,000,000
House—417
Senate—175	507,000,000

These totals compare with estimated current total school expenditures of approximately $250,000,000 per year.

GEORGE YOUNG, Chairman
The School Commission

EDWARD B. LOGAN
Budget Secretary

House Bill 417 contains an escalator clause (see House Bill 417, Pages 8 and 9, Lines 18 to 7), which provides as follows: "Provided however that any teacher who shall have served in any of the public schools of this Commonwealth for a period of three years or more prior to the effective date of this act shall be entitled to a beginning increment or increments of $175 beyond the minimum herein provided for each three years of service thus determining the initial salary payable to such teacher at the effective date of this act. Provided further however that no teacher shall be required to be paid more than the sum of the minimum salary and all increments to which such teacher may be entitled under the provisions of this act."

It is conservatively estimated that by virtue of this escalator clause, the average mandated salary of classroom teachers will be as follows:

1947-48	$3,172
1948-49	3,274
Fully effective	3,760

Under the circumstances, in 1947-48 the average mandated salary will exceed the maximum subsidy by $572. When House Bill 417 becomes fully effective, the difference in question will be at least $760. It is estimated that the bill will eventually increase local costs by at least $45,000,000 per year. To finance the estimated increase in local costs, school districts would have to increase local tax rates by approximately 31 per cent.

THE PRESIDENT. Inasmuch as this is the only copy at the present time in possession of the Senate, mimeograph copies will be made of this communication and placed on the desks of the Senators.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I do not know whether what I am about to say should come under the heading of Petitions and Remonstrances, except that I do know that it will probably be followed by a remonstrance.

For some time in this chamber there have been certain petitions and bills directed against certain members of the Senate by the distinguished gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, desiring to find out where our dough comes from; he wants us to make an open accounting of all the moneys which we receive while we are members of this august body.

The bill as yet has not come out of committee but in order to conform with the spirit in which the bill was introduced, I desire at this time to make a report of where some of the money is coming from.

The distinguished gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, who is not a member of the legal profession, had the temerity to engage in what might be called a legal argument with some members of the Senate, and as a result of his positive knowledge he wagered the sum of five dollars that his information was correct. Unfortunately for the gentleman he lost.

Mr. President, I have here in my possession, as winner of the discussion and the wager, five dollars presented to me by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland. I would like to conform with the wishes of the distinguished gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, who has indicated indirectly how he would like to have this money assigned, and in conformity with his wishes I would like to announce that this money will be contributed to the Republican State Committee, at the request of Senator Holland.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked an obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, in the closing address of Governor James, as he was leaving office, he said: "The number of fields which need everlasting watching make a long list. Among such are the purchase and distribution of liquor . . . In these and similar matters there is no middle ground; either an administration is honest or its it not."

Today I sent to a liquor store for a bottle of a famous whiskey, namely, American Private Stock; the cost of this whiskey was $3.05. On the front of this bottle it says "Private Stock Whiskey"—I might say the agent for it is the Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners of Delaware County;—it continues, "Colored and flavored with wood chips, a superb quality whiskey of excellent character and distinctive flavor, produced by the American Distilling Company, with almost half a century of experience in the distillation of fine American whiskeys."

Turning to the label on the back of the bottle, Mr. President, I see again that it is stated that this whiskey is "flavored and colored with wood chips" and it further says "this whiskey is less than one month old."

Mr. President, I say that is a putrid brand of poison to put over on the public. I want to tell you further that they tried to sell this same whiskey in the state of Connecticut and the Liquor Control Board in the state ruled it out. These same people carried their case to the Supreme Court and the Supreme Court of that state upheld the Liquor Control Board, on the ground that the label on there was against fair trade practices by saying that it was a superb quality of whiskey and then, on the back of the label, saying it was a whiskey less than one month old.

I do not know what to do with this bottle, Mr. President, so I am going to ask one of the porters to take it back and maybe we can use it as a disinfectant in the barber shop and so get at least one bottle out of public circulation.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I believe that a certain duty rests upon the minority members of the Senate in the problems of taxation and budgetary expenditures coming before the people of Pennsylvania, through their representatives in the General Assembly. If you will bear with me, I intend to give a comprehensive analysis of the problems as we see it.

AN ANALYSIS OF PENNSYLVANIA'S FINANCIAL PROBLEMS

Mr. DENT. On Tuesday, March 11th, Governor James H. Duff gave to the General Assembly his budget message.

That same day, on behalf of the Democratic Minority, I challenged the budget as well as the explanatory message of the Governor.

At the outset let it be clearly understood, I do not question Governor Duff's personal integrity in his appraisal of the budgetary needs. I do question the Budget Director, Mr. Logan's estimates and the methods he uses to arrive at these estimates.

I do, however, question the conclusiveness of the message and for the benefit of the thousands of misled Pennsylvanians, I offer the following analysis based upon statements made by former Governor Martin, Governor Duff and various members of the official Republican Party campaign organization.

We can adopt a practical plan for teachers, soldiers, boroughs and townships, cities and real estate taxpayers. I base my plan upon the belief that all of us are interested in creating a condition of tranquility in which the best interests of the people of Pennsylvania will be served.

First, I want to congratulate Governor Duff upon his statement on page one of his address and I quote, "During the war there was a rising tide of income, whereby, despite a great cut in taxes, a large surplus was accumulated."

Gentlemen, this is quite different than the statements of former Governor Martin, who claimed the surplus is a reward for economy in government under his administration.

Any novice in politics knows now that this was the first part of the Republican campaign equation known as economy and surplus.

Governor Duff has finally told the people there is no surplus, and by following his address you can see there never was a surplus.

Gentleman, I suggest now there never was economy in government under Martin and according to the budget there will be no economy under Governor Duff.

I question the advisability and economy of keeping on the state payroll hundreds of political jobholders, many of whom were given positions under wartime conditions.

The last word has not been given on the so-called surplus. I charged publicly that Governor Martin deliberately built up a campaign lie by telling the people of Pennsylvania in the months of April, May, June and up until November in 1946, that the treasury held surplus funds in excess of $200,000,000.

In this position he was supported by the present budget director and then candidate Duff.

Lo and behold! After the campaign is all over we find the following so-called analysis of the surplus. I quote from the Governor's speech:

I give this as Exhibit (A) "I am, therefore, convinced that if we are to approach the analysis of our financial problems with a clear understanding, it is necessary to begin by thoroughly analyzing the surplus.

"First off, then, there were surplus funds as of May 31st, 1945, amounting to $170,596,000 as above stated.

"Of this surplus, $57,250,000 was in the Motor Fund. It is still there right now, together with additional accumulations since that period.

Exhibit (B) "Next the sum of $48,870,240 of that surplus was used to pay off bonded indebtedness of the General State Authority in Pennsylvania. The payment of that public debt was prudent action. It is always wise to pay off interest-bearing debts when you have idle money in the bank which you do not expect to use for a while. From the date those bonds were paid off until March first of this year the Commonwealth saved over $3,500,000.00 in interest charges, in addition to discharging the debt.

Exhibit (C) "Deducting the aforesaid motor funds of $57,250,000 and the $48,870,240 used to pay off General Authority bonds, you have a total of $106,120,240, which must be deducted from the surplus in order to determine the amount of that fund then available for appropriation. Making that subtraction we find there was left the sum of $64,475,760. No amount of wizardry can change or successfully challenge that fact.

"The next logical question, when examining the surplus is—Well, what became of the $64,475,760.00 what was left Exhibit (D) "Here is the answer: $60,627,760 of that amount was in the General Fund, and $3,848,000 in Special Funds—chiefly in the Fish and Game Commission funds. The entire amount in the General Fund, to wit, $60,627,760, plus other available funds in the sum of $15,607,240, and amounting in all to $76,235,000, were appropriated in 1945 by the General Assembly and set apart and specified to be used exclusively in a postwar building, rehabilitation and conservation program."

Gentlemen, according to this analysis I am right in stating, Governor Martin knew there was no surplus in 1946, since Governor Duff clearly shows that the General Assembly had already appropriated the entire $170,000,000 plus some additional funds located in the General Fund.

There were, however, unexpended funds totaling well over $170,000,000 which the Democratic Minority predicted in 1945. This surplus of unexpended funds was made possible by the same budgetary trick being attempted at this time by the Governor under the guidance of Budget Director Logan. I challenge Logan's figures and can show by the record that for every biennium since he has been Budget Guesser the estimates of the Minority party have been closer to being right.

If, as the Governor states, the $170,000,000 was appropriated by the 1945 legislature, how could it honestly bob up as a surplus in the 1946 campaign.

I might point out too, that Governor Duff claims a saving of $3,500,000 by paying off the $48,000,000 State Authority Bonds. I question the bookkeeping of this entry. How much of this amount has been saved since these bonds were paid off, a period of less than two years. How much of this amount must be paid out of the General Fund in special appropriations to the Teachers' Retirement Funds, to make up for the loss of income from the Authority Bonds. These questions are answered in the Governor's message. He is requesting $5,000,000 more for the Teachers' Retirement Fund: I pointed this out in my fight against the liquidation of the General State Authority.

I cannot see a savings in Government when you pay off $48,000,000 out of one hand, then borrow $50,000,000 with the other hand to do the very things the original Authority obligations were created for. I will discuss this later in my recommendations.

I wonder too, how the Highway Fund figures in the Governor's message. If the $57,250,000 were available in May of 1945, what has happened to the millions of dollars of additional taxes that have been paid by the motorists since that date. What is the true picture in the Highway Department? How much money has been spent on grandiose planning at the expense of the rural roads. If this money was in the Motor Fund in May, 1945, how could it honestly bob up in 1946 as a Republican campaign surplus! If this money was available in May 1945, then the various subdivisions were cheated out of much needed funds when the 1c emergency gas tax was made permanent and the Highway Department insisted upon dividing it instead of giving the entire cent to the boroughs, cities and townships.

I give now Exhibit (E) from the Governor's message. He says "I predict that the Highway Fund will show, after all appropriations, a $67,000,000 surplus, after the end of the biennium in June, 1949.

Considering the recognized inability to spend the $250,000,000 Governor Duff estimates as proposed Highway expenditures, I believe there will be an additional $100,000,000 of unexpended funds in the Highway Department at the end of June, 1949.

I propose, gentlemen, to show that we could safely and properly allocate an additional $34,000,000 to local subdivisions for specific road and street expenditures. This would enable Local Communities to reduce their real estate taxes at least $34,000,000 or if more essential expenditures are required, a portion of this real estate tax saving could be allocated for the other purposes, including increasing the school teachers' salaries from a local level.

Before we pass any legislation pertaining to local government funds from the Highway taxes, let us first get a true picture of the financial status of the Highway Fund.

Gentlemen, for the past four bienniums, the present Budget Director has presented the General Assembly the budgtary estimates. For the past four bienniums the Democratic leaders have pointed out the discrepancy between the estimates made by the Budget Director and the actual revenues derived from the taxes imposed.

At this time I again challenge the Budget Director's figures. There is an old saying about figures not lying, but! Let's look at the record:

Exhibit (F)	1945-47	1945-47
	Original	Cufrent
Bonus .....	890,000	1,213,897
Taxes on Income,
Rects., Pren., etc., .....	44,864,156	47,440,748
Inheritance Taxes .....	29,000,000	39,113,316
Cigarettes .....	27,000,000	36,082,162
Corporate Net Income .....	95,700,000	83,991,600
Liquor Tax .....	23,022,500	28,167,147
License & Fees .....	8,183,008	9,431,960
Misc. Revenues .....	2,522,065	5,077,537
Institutional
Reimbursements .....	10,942,292	12,932,526
Liquor Stores Profits.....	40,000,000	87,300,000

Therefore, Gentlemen, I present to you a tax program based upon actual figures and estimates.

I can go along with the Governor's entire budgetary needs and find the revenue for complying with his program. I do, however, reserve the right to disagree with the amounts allocated to various departments for salaries and expenses.

We find an inconsistancy between Pennsylvania's Republican contingent in Washington and the Republican majority in Harrisburg. In Washington the Republicans are calling for less governmental expenditures for payrolls, commissions and bureaus. In Harrisburg we find the opposite to be true.

Specifically, the Governor requests:

$208,000,000—Education
106,000,000—Welfare
135,000,000—Public Assistance
20,000,000—Health
84,000,000—All other functions

First, I would not reduce the Mental Institution program by one penny, but would finance it as follows:

I would expend $5,000,000 left over from 1943 plus $14,000,000 available at present and allocated in the post war program. This would total $19,000,000 and could be used to alleviate the unbearable conditions presently existing in the Mental Institutions.

I would then recommend a $60,000,000 State Authority program for permanent long range construction. This would properly place the cost of this enormous building program upon the beneficiaries, the residents of Pennsylvania, and spread the cost over the years to come.

Governor Duff agrees with this spread-the-cost program because he is asking for, $45,000,000 bond issue for this specific purpose.

By following this recommendation, we would have $16,000,000 available for present bienium needs.

Added to this $16,000,000 I offer other amounts that are obtainable under the present tax laws of the Commonwealth.

First, I charge a discrepancy in the estimate of returns from the Capitol Stock shares and Loans Tax.

This tax returned .....$87,887,000—1943
87,482,000—1945
75,361,000—1947 (to date)

In the face of these figures the estimate of $41,305,000 given by the Budget Director is not backed up by experience.

I suggest a reasonable estimate in the face of declining returns and propose the figure of $75,500,000. I believe this amount to be closer to the actual return.

The difference between my estimate and the budget estimate is $34,000,000 of additional revenue for this bienium, if we keep the present base and rate.

Exhibit (G) Of course the Governor includes in his message an additional $24,000,000 but terms it new taxes. I cannot agree to the use of this term in this item, any more than to say that the emergency taxes which expire this year, are new taxes. This properly should be estimated on the basis of the tax as it has been and will continue to be if Governor Duff's suggested program is enacted.

Excluding this $24,000,000 I still find a discrepancy of $10,000,000 in the Governor's estimate, and believe this amount can properly be used for this bienium's appropriations.

The next item I wish to discuss is conspicuous by its absence in Governor Duff's program. I refer to economy in Governmental expenditures.

In 1943-45 the Governmental administrative costs were $31,716,000. In the 1945-47 bienium the costs were $40,956,000. Today the Governor is asking $50,188,000.

The increase from $31,716,000 to $40,956,000 may be explained by the necessary wage and salary increases during the postwar adjustment period.

If this administration wants to practice the kind of economy its representatives in Washington are clamoring for, namely the reduction of the number of political jobs and a cleaning out of the departmental payrolls, there can easily be a savings of $10,000,000 in this budgetary item.

There can be no quarrel with this proposal if we keep in mind the urgency of the educational and mental health programs.

Citizens from all walks of life expect this Legislature to do something concrete for the school teachers of Pennsylvania. I for one believe we can do something on a permanent basis without additional, burdensome, aggravating and crippling taxes. I intend to show that sufficient revenue is available for this purpose.

In calculating the income from the Corporate Net Income Tax for the next bienium the Governor's Budget Director has again underestimated his returns, if our experience in the past is to be given any consideration.

I believe the return from this tax will be closer to $109,000,000 than the $90,000,000 estimate contained in the Governor's budget. Allowing for any drop that might take place, since this is a fluctuating revenue measure, I use as a definite estimate the amount of $100,000,000.

The Governor uses for his purposes the sum of $90,000,000. The difference between these estimates is about $10,000,000, which I claim is available for appropriations for this bienium. If we use the Governor's proposal to eliminate the Manufacturers' Stock exemption from this tax we will have a total of $34,000,000 more revenue for this bienium.

The next item I believe needs even more consideration than I have been able to give it in the short time since the Governor's message. I have tried upon numerous occasions to have a committee named to study the Relief setup in Pennsylvania. For a long time I have questioned the administrative expenditures of this Department. There can be no reasonable excuse given for allowing an 8% expenditure for Administrative costs by this Department. Based upon the Department's own figures this Administrative cost will amount to $14,500,000 for the next bienium. This is 8% of $185,000,000 allocated for relief, $135,000,000 from the State revenues and $50,000,000 from the Federal Government. This amount is even lower than the actual expenditures by percentages that have been shown by this Department in their own reports. The present budget does not show a breakdown in this Department, however, my figures are based upon the Department's own figures. (Note page 29 in Governor's Budget)

If we are courageous enough to tackle the task, we can save approximately $5,250,000 from this exorbitant sum. If we use the same percentage of administrative costs for this Department as we allow for all other Departments this immediate savings can be made. More can be done if we try.

I would suggest to the Legislature the enactment of the proper legislation giving back to the Department of Welfare all categorically listed relief cases, namely, Blind Pensions, Old Age Assistance, Aid to Dependent Children, Aid to Widows, etc. Give the Department of Welfare an additional appropriation and with its functional knowledge in cases of this type it will be able to do a more equitable job in the payment of this type of basically permanent relief. When this is done, it leaves the Department of Public Assistance with a relief load of roughly 50,000 persons, a small number indeed when compared to the enormous relief loads of the middle thirties. It should be possible, without undue hardships, for this Department to operate with an Administrative expenditure of about 5%. This would release for other purposes approximately $5,250,000 more for this bienium.

If we then accept the $9,000,000 of funds the Governor proposed to allow to lapse from postwar program earmarked appropriations, we should at this point have a budget surplus of the following amounts:

- $16,000,000—From this year's appropriation to Mental Hospitals due to spreading construction costs over a period of use-years.
- $10,000,000—Added revenue from Corporate Income Tax.
- $10,000,000—Added revenue from Capitol Stock, Shares and Loans Tax based upon past performance.
- $10,000,000—To be saved by economy in Departmental Administrative costs.
- $ 5,250,000—To be saved by changing Relief setup for more efficiency and less administrative costs.
- $ 9,000,000—From lapsed postwar funds.
- $60,250,000—Grand total reduction in Budget, or available for added school teacher salaries, or elimination of new taxes proposed by Governor Duff.
- $27,000,000—Admitted unexpended surplus from 1947-49 revenues..

We have then, $87,250,000 available for immediate use.

Exhibit (H) If we now add the $24,000,000 from repeal of Manufacturer's exemption, plus $20,000,000 to be derived from repeal of carry over, carry back privileges in the Corporate Net Income Tax, we have $132,000,000 available, which would remove any need for a new or additional taxes. Relative to the Capitol Stock exemption, I have a letter I would like to put in the record at this time: It is addressed to your humble servant.

"Dear John:

I was astounded by the proposed budget of Governor Duff. The promise to restore "Manufacturers' Exemption" is a sacred obligation of the State. For fifty years, from 1885 to 1935, under Manufacturers' Exemption, Penna. became the leading manufacturing State in the Union. Many of our industries were established in the State on account of favorable taxation.

The Department of Commerce in recent advertisements gives restoration of Manufacturers' Exemption as a reason for locating industries in our State. Nationally owned corporations will not enlarge old plants or build new plants within the boundaries of the State of Penna. as long as they cannot depend upon a continuity of tax policy. Penna. is fast losing its prestige as a leading manufacturing state.

The restoration of Manufacturers' Exemption was a solemn binding pact by the State of Penna. During the administration of Governor Martin, manufacturers accepted an increase in the Corporate Loan Tax without objection by agreement that Manufacturers' Exemption would be restored after the end of war hostilities. Productive employment is the foundation of all business. Mining, Utilities, and Banking, not directly benefited by Manufacturers' Exemption, will be rewarded indirectly.

The budget as prepared by Governor Duff is political. It over-estimates expenditures and under-estimates receipts.

I kindly ask that you as State Senator, use your utmost efforts in avoiding the breaking of a solemn covenant by the State of Penna. The good faith of the State is at stake."

The letter is signed by Mr. Roy C. McKenna, Chairman of the Board of Vanadium Steel Company, Latrobe, Pennsylvania, and last year's unsuccessful Republican candidate for Congress.

I will continue now with recommendations.

If we follow these recommendations and budget formula we will still have intact the $50,000,000 approved Bond issue for emergency use as intended by the Legislature. This will leave for Bonus purposes a field wherein lie the possibilities of a redemption of our promises to Veterans.

I call your attention to the fact, gentlemen, that this program allows the Governor open road to his plans for stream clearance, mental hospital construction, agricultural advancements, road building and each and every recommendation made to the General Assembly.

I might suggest also, although the Governor completely neglected this important item, the creation of a revolving fund for building low cost veterans' housing. This can be done without an additional cent of taxes or any added cost to the citizens of this Commonwealth.

It is my humble opinion, gentlemen, that if we are to place Pennsylvania in a sound financial position for the future we must start with economy at home, unselfish devotion to our sworn duty and an understanding of the full problem before us.

I will be glad to answer questions relating to this program, I believe it to be entirely practical and only requires our earnest consideration to be put into effect.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I am sorry the gentleman from Westmoreland, when he submitted his budget message today, did not make available to this side his message, and I would request that he be good enough some time to present a copy of his message so that it may be studied. I request the consideration of the gentleman from Westmoreland and his colleagues, because I could only listen as he very rapidly read his statement covering a difficult matter, and so I may make an error, and if I do I trust I may have his kindly regard, because I just made notes as I listened.

But, Mr. President, it seems to me that the crux of the program which has been suggested by the gentleman from Westmoreland is dependent upon two things: first of all, the enactment of a General State Authority for the purpose of carrying out the capital investment program suggested by the Governor of the Commonwealth and, secondly, a disagreement by the gentleman from Westmoreland as to the budget estimates.

I would suggest on that score that, if he will be completely honest about it, he is doing just as much guessing about the sources of revenue and the amount of them as was presented in the Governor's budget, and personally I have no regard particularly for anybody's guesses about these matters, because they are simply that, based upon practical experience and the best judgment and opinion of the person who is doing the last guessing, and because the gentleman from Westmoreland has had the floor, he is the man who at this moment has done the last guessing.

Mr. President, it seems to me that this matter of a General State Authority might just as well be met at this time as at some subsequent time.

The gentleman from Westmoreland suggests a General State Authority for the purposes of capital investment, to be carried on by this Commonwealth in the amount of $60,000,000. I suggest this only about a General State Authority, there can only be disagreement on that subject between people as to how they want to do business, that can only be the theory of those who propose a General State Authority on the ground that you borrow money, if, as in the past, the bonds are to be purchased by the retirement fund, that you commit the people of this Commonwealth to pay four per cent interest on that loan and that you do it because you do not want to meet the situation that is confronting you now and say to the people of this Commonwealth that it is good business and right to pay that bill now, as you go along, and pay it when you have to pay it.

The gentleman from Westmoreland and everyone else knows, when you are talking about a General State Authority, you are committing the people of this Commonwealth to the payment of interest over as long a period of time as you want to continue the Authority, that you are committing the people of this Commonwealth to the payment of rental during the existence of the Authority, and that some day, some far distant day, when the gentleman from Westmoreland and myself may no longer be here, someone is going to have to say to the taxpayers of this Commonwealth "now you have got to pay that principal indebtedness." That is bound to happen. And I suggest it is certainly a difference of opinion as to which is the best business method of doing it and, secondly, which method, if you please, has the more integrity, so that the people of the Commonwealth may not be fooled, so that they may know precisely what they are up against and what bills they will have to pay.

The gentleman from Westmoreland this afternoon talked about the interest on the General State Authority bonds that was saved; he made that remark the other Tuesday afternoon when he talked about it.

During the last existing period of the General State Authority there was interest payable in the amount of $3,500,000. The gentleman from Westmoreland suggested some little time ago on the floor that it was a silly thing to abolish the General State Authority because the interest could have been made available for payment of the money necessary to be paid by the taxpayers of this Commonwealth into the retirement fund. I take it that that is part of the thing that motivates him at this time to suggest a General State Authority.

I point out to the gentleman from Westmoreland that, even on the basis of the then existing General State Authority, the interest payable and necessary to be paid by the taxpayers into the retirement fund could not have been made up in that amount, because it was necessary to raise $5,719,000 in order to meet that obligation. I suggest that is the taxpayers' obligation. I suggest that no one is fooled when you have an obligation of the taxpayers and you take the interest money out of one pocket and put it into the other pocket; that simply is not the right way to do it. It is displaying much more integrity to have the people of this Commonwealth know exactly what situation they are in.

The gentleman from Westmoreland suggests that a great deal of money can be saved in this Commonwealth by cutting down administrative costs. I have the recollection, I may be wrong, but I believe the gentleman from Westmoreland many times has voiced his opinion in this chamber, and I think he has done it on the political platform repeatedly, that the people who are employed by the state government should adequately be paid. I agree with that, Governor Duff agrees, and I am amazed that today the gentleman from Westmoreland says that no longer is necessary and that we should take people off the payroll. I should like the gentleman from Westmoreland to investigate the number of people on the payroll of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania now, as compared with during the Earle administration and to indicate to him that there has been an honest and a sincere effort to cut down the government expenses, and to indicate the sincerity of the Governor in the matter that he has proposed, so far as administrative costs are concerned, I remind the gentleman from Westmoreland that there appears in this budget a recommended appropriated increased amount of money to go into the Auditor General's Department of $226,000 and another one to go into the Treasury Department of $120,384.

I suggest, Mr. President, that the gentleman from Westmoreland, with everyone else, believe that these people who are employed by this Commonwealth do have the same right, as other people working, to be paid an adequate salary, and I am a little bit sorry personally that it is not a little bit more liberal than it is at this moment.

The point, Mr. President, about this whole situation is this, that if the gentleman from Westmoreland takes the moneys he has been talking about and wants to put them into the General Fund, it seems to me that he has got only one choice. If he wants to stand by that position, as I understand it, and I say this respectfully because I may have misunderstood what I heard the gentleman say here, but as I understand it, there seems to me to be this choice, that if the money he has suggested is to come out of the post-war planning fund, then it seems to me the decision must be made to stop the work that is to be carried on under the appropriations that were made for those purposes. There is no state in this nation, as I understand it, with few exceptions, that in 1945 did not take the surplus moneys that were then available to them, which represented money in bank over and above necessary costs, and take those moneys and put them into capital improvements and a post-war planning program of public works.

It seems to me, Mr. President, that we have the choice of making a determination of whether public works shall continue, whether the estimates of increases—and I am not going to take time to go into those now—but whether the estimates of increases for public works if the work to be carried on by the departments of this Commonwealth are to be carried on or not, or whether for political expediency they are to be stopped and we are to say blindly that we need no taxes, no new ones.

I think that is the choice, together with a choice of integrity of method between a General State Authority and the manner that has been proposed.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and members of the Senate, first of all, the reason I put my recommendations in writing was so that no misconceptions could be taken from them by any trick of the tongue and if you will read my recommendations carefully, and I suggest that you do so, you will find that I am not taking one cent from the post-war program, other than the $9,000,000 recommended by Governor Duff himself. There is no plan on my part, and no intention, to curtail any of the post-war activities as programmed by the Commonwealth.

Secondly, Mr. President, the question of $3,500,000 savings is still as the gentleman from Lehigh so ably stated, a question of arithmetic. If you save $3,500,000 with your left hand and take and reach in your pocket for $3,500,000 with your right hand to pay the things that the first $3,500,000 was going to pay, I say there is no saving in actual cash to the taxpayers of the Commonwealth.

The question of integrity of an agency such as the General State Authority had better be argued by those many communities in the Commonwealth that have taken advantage of the General State Authority Act and have created for themselves self-liquidating projects to ease the burden of local taxes upon the residents in the various communities all over the Commonwealth.

If we are going to say that is not a proper method of financing for the Commonwealth, then the proper thing for this General Assembly to do under the majority plan of thinking, would be to eliminate from the face of the statute books any authority legislation that gives borough communities and smaller communities and subdivisions in the Commonwealth the right to invest moneys on the same plan as the General State Authority.

If you will take the $60,000,000 I advocate as a long range program and take from that, the $45,000,000 that the Governor advocates as a long range program, you will find the difference is only $15,000,000 in our thinking and our idea is that the $15,000,000 properly belongs in the same category as the $45,000,000 that the Governor so states, because there is no question in my mind it is good business and good government to pay for a project of long term construction over the use years of the construction itself. I do not think anybody will question that as a particularly good business proposition.

For the information of the gentleman, I have worked out, to my own satisfaction anyway, a complete list of the differences in salaries and expenses as recommended by the Governor for this biennium, and as were accepted by the General Assembly in the last biennium. I will not read the entire number but they are open for your examination.

I am willing to stand upon the examination I have made of the budget and of the budgetary needs. I have based my claims for revenue upon figures contained in the budget messages; they are not guesses, other than past performances in the state of Pennsylvania.

I say to you when the budget director guesses wrong to the tune of $287,000,000 as compared to the intake of $388,000,000, there is something wrong with this man's guessing, there is something wrong with his budget, there is something wrong with his ability to establish the needs of the Commonwealth. Over a period of four consecutive bienniums the budget director of this Commonwealth has underestimated revenues and over-estimated the budgetary needs of the Commonwealth.

I say to you gentlemen that it is time we called a halt to that kind of fenangling in political figuring. I just want to read one or two figures. The Governor's office has asked for an increase, under Governor Duff's message, of 23.7 per cent in his administrative costs and, going down the line to the Commerce Department, he is asking for a 239.28 per cent increase in administrative expenses for that department, and 14.28 per cent in the office of Secretary of Internal Affairs. Has anybody here questioned the expenditures in the office of the Secretary of Internal Affairs? Does anybody know whether the increases requested by that department are based upon sound governmental expenditures or whether they are based upon a deliberate flagrant abuse of the use of the money of the taxpayers of this state, which can be elaborated upon if necessary. Then we go into the Department of Labor and Industry, which asks for a increase of 16.31 per cent. I ask the gentleman to read the figures for the two fiscal offices still under the control of the Democrats, and here are the figures for those departments: the Auditor General is receiving an increase of 9.325 per cent and the Treasury Department is receiving 13.7 per cent increase. In the long list of appropriations and in the long list of recommendations of increases for administrative expenses, those are the two lowest increases in the Commonwealth, and every person in Pennsylvania knows that the treasurer of the state and the auditor general were compelled by political chicanery to come before this Legislature and ask for deficiency appropriations, because their budgetary needs were lowered by the last administration in their appropriations while the other departments received increases.

You talk of political expenditures. That is the thing I am trying to eliminate. Yes, perhaps we did have quite a large payroll under the Earle administration, because under the Earle administration we accepted the responsibility we had to the citizens of this Commonwealth and we put upon the payrolls of the Commonwealth thousands upon thousands of worthy citizens who were out of work and in need of food and in need of money to buy clothing and in need of housing, and we put on the largest public works program ever inaugurated in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, for which we are proud, I might say so, that the whole world can hear, that the taxes that were imposed at that time are still upon the statute books, except in preferred instances, and that the people of this Commonwealth bore the burden then, because we had a load for relief that was out of all reason and because this extraordinary load had to be met we faced the people of the Commonwealth in a courageous move. You too now are continuing those taxes but you do have the load to carry that we had at that time.

I say to you that I submit this budgetary message based upon sound economy and practical figures.

RESOLUTIONS

CONGRATULATING THE EVENING BULLETIN ON ITS ONE HUNDREDTH BIRTHDAY

Messrs. JASPAN and FRAZIER offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 24, 1947.

"The Evening Bulletin" on April the twelfth will celebrate its one hundredth anniversary, which means that for five generations of Philadelphians, and for many persons in the metropolitan district of Philadelphia, and many in Pennsylvania, The Evening Bulletin has furnished them with news and under the term of "news" the publishers of The Evening Bulletin have given its readers a resume of every activity of human life, or of interest to human beings. News of business, industry, commerce, trade, shipping, occupations, professions, sports; motor and motoring, boats and boating, history; arts and science, education, home life, clubs, children, religion, health and safety; law and humor and many other classifications all within the pages of the Evening Bulletin.

The publishers of The Evening Bulletin have had their problems, of machinery equipment and supplies, of gathering news; what to publish and what not to publish; labor, unionism, working conditions, advertising, distribution and competition. To them it means one hundred years of successfully solving such problems.

It would be difficult to measure the contributions which The Evening Bulletin has made to well being of the people of Philadelphia, in Pennsylvania and in the surrounding territory into which it spreads its influence. Its responsibilities have been great. Its opportunities for doing good have been great. It stands as an institution with the home, the church and the school in shaping the character of men and women.

It has stood the test of twenty-five years, of fifty years, of seventy-five years, of one hundred years, and has stood up as a great paper. Many competing papers have come and gone during those one hundred years but The Evening Bulletin, like the great old oak, has stood and weathered all the storms; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby congratulates The Evening Bulletin upon its one hundredth birthday. It congratulates its publishers, its employees and its distributors and wishes it and them continued success in the years to come; and be it further,

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to the publishers of The Evening Bulletin."

REFUSING THE USE OF THE LEGISLATIVE CHAMBERS BY AVOWED COMMUNISTS AND FELLOW TRAVELERS

Mr. HALUSKA offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, March 24, 1947.

Whereas, it is a known fact that there are individuals in these United States who, in spite of being citizens, technically and nominally, or residents of our country, are avowed communists in fact, or have pledged their allegiance to some foreign government by positive oath or statement; and,

Whereas, such communists and fellow travellers, in the present connotation of those terms, have for their primary purpose the ultimate seizure, control, or overthrow of the government of the United States by the use of force, violence or military measures, or by threats thereof and by other means not provided for in the Constitution of the United States; and

Whereas, such individuals are well-trained to carry out their primary purpose and employ any type of guise, device, and propaganda that is expedient among which are the formation of falsely fronted patriotically styled organizations, infiltration into bona fide political, labor, and social organizations and into governmental agencies, the stirring-up of controversial issues involving racial and class hatred by the use of lies or half-truths, and the ancient weapon of "divide and conquer", and

Whereas, such communists have relied on our Constitutional guarantee of freedom of speech, and the implied American doctrine of the sanctity of the individual, to protect themselves from prosecution as traitors, undesirable aliens and the like; and

Whereas, we Americans are mindful of the words of our great citizen who said "A house divided against itself cannot stand," and

Whereas, we Americans are aware that our right of freedom of speech must be protected lest it be the Achilles' heel through which our form of government receives its fatal wound; and

Whereas, we Americans realize that undesirable persons such as criminals and traitors proved as such should be dealt with accordingly for the greatest good to the greatest number; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That as an affirmation of our belief in our form of government and of our awareness of a present threat to its continuation, the use of the legislative chambers of this Commonwealth by avowed communists and fellow travellers shall not be permitted or condoned for any reason or at any time.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I ask immediate consideration of the resolution.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I will object to immediate consideration of the resolution, and I am sure that the gentleman will have no objection, my only reason being that since a clause of the resolution calls for prohibition against persons who are fellow travelers and since that is a wide term, it seems to me it would be better, instead of immediately considering the resolution, that there be opportunity to consider it carefully in committee, so that, while we all share the feeling of the gentleman from Cambria that he has expressed in the resolution, there may be no harm coming to any person who would be entitled to the privileges of these chambers, and for those reasons I suggest that it not be immediately considered.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I think this is somewhat worth-while to consider immediately. I have no intention, of course, as has also been stated by the gentleman from Lehigh, Senator Tallman, to do harm to anyone.

However, we had a sad experience here a week or two ago, when a gentleman appeared before one of our committees and proudly stuck out his chest and said "I am a Communist and secretary of that party." We know what they believe in—they do not believe in our form of government and we have no right to condone them and give them comfort within our legislative halls.

Although there are many whereases in the resolution, the resolve is very clear, in that it would deny to any avowed Communist the right to use these halls. I can not see where any one else might be affected. We have heard so much within the last twelve months of these people taking over our form of Government and we find today that Americans in Congress, and when I say Americans I mean Republicans and Democrats, upholding the hand of the President to spend millions of dollars in aid to Greece and Turkey, to keep this communistic form of government from spreading throughout foreign countries, we certainly have no right to condone them or give them comfort here at Harrisburg.

I would like to have the gentleman reconsider and pass this resolution, and serve notice on them now, and if changes are needed they can be made in the House and it will come back for concurrence because, Mr. President, we will be having public hearings from now on and these same men will appear before our bodies and try to sell us their form of government.

Once again, Mr. President, I ask immediate consideration of this resolution; you can make what changes you think are necessary in the House and I trust the gentlemen will abide by my suggestion.

The PRESIDENT. There has been objection to immediate consideration of the resolution.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, my objection stands, for the reasons I have stated.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I do not know whether I am in order or not but I would like to make a motion that we give immediate consideration to this resolution now.

The PRESIDENT. Such a motion is out of order. Unanimous consent is necessary for immediate consideration of a resolution and there has been objection on the part of the Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Tallman.

MOTION THAT RULE BE SUSPENDED

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I move that we suspend that rule and give unanimous consent that this resolution may be adopted now.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Cambria is still out of order, as it is necessary to have unanimous consent to secure immediate consideration.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, am I permitted to make a motion to suspend the rule?

The PRESIDENT. Does the gentleman from Cambria want to make such a motion?

Mr. HALUSKA. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. I second the motion, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. It has been moved by the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Haluska, seconded by the gentleman from Washington, Senator Lane, that the rule be suspended in order to give immediate consideration. Is that the motion of the gentleman from Cambria?

Mr. HALUSKA. That is right, Sir.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I rise on a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, according to the motion of the gentleman from Cambria, what rule is to be suspended?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I believe it is Rule 42.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may we be at ease until we determine what number the rule is—it will not make any difference anyway but I would like to have the right number.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to know the present state of the record. Did I not hear the Chair state the resolution was referred to the Committee on Rules.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny is correct.

Mr. WALKER. Then, Mr. President, may I suggest to the gentleman from Cambria that his motion should be that the committee be discharged, as at this moment the resolution is in the Committee on Rules.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I do not intend to make a motion at this time to discharge the Committee—that might come about a month from now on some important bill.

I think this resolution is of great interest to each and everyone of us. However, it is getting late in the evening and if the gentlemen see fit to place it in committee I trust in their integrity, hoping that the resolution will come out of committee, I will lay it in their laps and whatever they may do with it, I must abide by their decision, of course.

MOTION WITHDRAWN

Mr. HALUSKA. So, Mr. President, I will withdraw my motion and place that resolution in the Committee on Rules.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I withdraw my seconding of the motion.

Mr. WALKER. And, Mr. President, I withdraw my point of information.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. MALLERY, offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 24, 1947.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, March 31, 1947, at four o'clock, p. m.; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, March 31, 1947, at four-thirty o'clock, p. m.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

COMMITTEE MEETING

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate recess for ten minutes in order that there may be a meeting of the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. TAYLOR. I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, at the request of the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Snowden, I move that Senate Bill No. 294, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the twenty-third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 932) entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class and amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto" providing for the creation and the powers and duties of a city manager.

be recommitted to the Committee on Local Government.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lehigh.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TALLMAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Will the gentleman from Lehigh tell us why Senate Bill 294 is to be recommitted to the Committee on Local Government

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, it has been requested that this bill be recommitted for further study, and more especially for further study in connection with a bill on city management which it is understood was passed by the House last week.

The PRESIDENT. Is there a seconder?

Mr. BARR. I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON SECOND READING CALENDAR

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 49, entitled:

An Act providing that the statement of registration issued to electors and his signed declaration of age shall be sufficient proof of age for the purchase of alcoholic beverages prohibiting transfers thereof and false statements imposing penalties and saving from prosecution licensees serving holders of such statements making such declarations

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 78, entitled:

An Act to further amend clauses (k), (s) and (y) of section four and to re-enact and further amend section three hundred one of the act, approved the fifth day of December, one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (1937 P. L. 2897) entitled "An act establishing a system of unemployment compensation to be administered by the Department of Labor and Industry and its existing and newly created agencies with personnel (with certain exceptions) selected on a civil service basis; requiring employers to keep records and make reports, and certain employers to pay contributions based on payrolls to provide moneys for the payment of compensation to certain unemployed persons; providing procedure and administrative details for the determination, payment and collection of such contribution and the payment of such compensation; providing for cooperation with the Federal Government and its agencies; creating certain special funds in the custody of the State Treasurer; and prescribing penalties," providing for modification of the manner in which employer contribution rates are determined, and for a lag between the period on which contribution rates are based and the rate period; and placing experience rating on a permanent basis.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

MOTION THAT BILL BE RECOMMITTED

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 78, on second reading, be recommitted to the Committee on Labor and Industry, for the purpose of a public hearing, and I ask for a roll call.

Mr. LEADER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Senator Lane.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Washington permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LANE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HOMSHER. Senator Lane, would you please state to the members of the Senate the purpose for having the bill recommitted.

Mr. LANE. Why, Mr. President, the purpose is for a public hearing.

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I object to passage of this motion and recommitment of the bill. This bill was introduced and referred to the Committee on Labor and Industry and after due hearing was reported to the floor of the Senate, almost a month ago, and everybody has had opportunity to study the bill and make any comments they wished. There has been no request during all that time for a public hearing on the bill and I object now to having the bill recommitted.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, there has been a request for a public hearing, according to the Pennsylvania Federalist. That was addressed to Senator Berger and I think I will find it in just a moment.

This request is by the American Federation of Labor and I think it is either in this publication or the last one.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Washington speak louder; the Chair can not hear.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I say the request was made by the American Federation of Labor and it is contained either in this publication or the last one, a copy of a letter addressed to Senator Berger and also to Chairman Reese in the House. Senator Berger is Chairman of the Committee on Labor and Industry in the Senate and since this is a very important measure we on the Democratic side feel the importance of the bill justifies a public hearing.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would like to explain to the gentleman from Washington that a request by Mr. McDevitt for a public hearing was addressed to me in a letter, which was dated some time after the bill was reported to the floor, and I replied, stating that had his request come in time I would have agreed to a public hearing on that bill.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I have here a copy of the letter which was addressed to Senator Berger and I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Potter.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Potter permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BERGER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I would ask the gentleman how he would define time because, according to his statement he has said he had replied that they had not made application in time; is that correct?

Mr. BERGER. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. How would the gentleman from Potter define time.

Mr. BERGER. I would refer the gentleman to Webster's dictionary, as far as the definition of time is concerned.

Mr. LANE. That would cover a multitude of sins, but as far as this particular request is concerned, did the gentleman wish him to make application just as soon as the bill is reported out.

Mr. BERGER. Will the Senator from Washington repeat his question?

Mr. LANE. Did the gentleman from Potter suggest that Mr. McDevitt make his application for a public hearing just as soon as Senate Bill 78 was reported from committee.

Mr. BERGER. I believe, Mr. President, that the request for a public hearing should have come when the bill was in committee.

Mr. LANE. Is that the position of the gentleman on the matter?

Mr. BERGER. It is, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Is that true on all bills?

Mr. BERGER. That I can not answer at this time.

Mr. LANE. I thank the gentleman. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I will second the motion for a roll call.

Before the roll call is called, Mr. President, I want to say I do not believe the answer given by the chairman of the Committee on Labor and Industry is sufficient excuse for not granting this great body of men in Pennsylvania who are represented by the American Federation of Labor a public hearing on this bill. As you all know, and I think every man on the other side knows, they are not tied to our political party by any support they have given us, but they have supported the Republican party in the past and its leaders have voiced and publicly endorsed Republican policy and if the Republican party feels this is the way to repay that group for their support, by denying a simple request for a public hearing, I want them to understand that the Democratic party, which has always fought for the right of the working people in this Commonwealth, is still fighting for them. We believe they are entitled to a hearing on this very important bill which affects the everyday lives of thousands, yes, millions of everyday workers in the State of Pennsylvania.

I believe the excuse for not giving a hearing is not sufficient and that we ought to have a public hearing on this important question.

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I should like to reply to the gentleman in only a few words and not delay the work of the Senate.

This bill, as I said before, has been on the calendar for a month and I can only interpret this action today as a delaying tactic because during all that time a public hearing could have been requested.

It has been the purpose of the Republican majority here, all through the years I have been here, to accord hearings to proper persons before committees, on big issues, and to hold public hearings.

This bill is well understood. It is a re-enactment of legislation which was passed after previous public hearings and everybody is familiar with it and I see no reason for delaying action in this body. This bill has not yet passed the House and I think if the proper parties approach the committee to which it will be assigned in the House, they will be granted the privilege of a hearing.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lancaster permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOMSHER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Will the gentleman from Lancaster tell the members of the Senate who was responsible for the delay of one month in action upon this bill?

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, that was due to a number of circumstances. In the first instance, I was ill at home and when I came back to the Senate and was ready to proceed with the bill, the gentleman from Westmoreland sent word through the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, that he was confined at home and asked that the bill be delayed until he could come back. That was why we were delayed on this bill.

Mr. DENT. I thank the gentleman for the courtesy he displayed in holding the bill on the calendar three weeks ago at my request, but three weeks have elapsed since that time and if the gentleman from Lancaster takes the position he has the final say when this body shall act upon the bill, since he was responsible for the delay of a month, certainly he could go along on the premise we could hold a public hearing. We could hold a public hearing on Wednesday of this week—that would not delay the session—but we should not put it on the shoulders of the members of the House to have a public hearing, which would not inform the members of the Senate before we vote as to the merits or demerits of this legislation.

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, a further cause of delay on this bill was due to the fact that copies of the bill were sent to the Social Security Board in Washington and they went over the bill and suggested a couple of amendments that are in the bill.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I agree with the gentleman from Lancaster that the bill should have been delayed if the Federal Social Security Board thought it needed amendment. However, I say that it was properly the duty of the committee to communicate with the Federal Social Security Board, before the bill was reported to the Senate floor in the condition it was in.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. J. ANE. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. LANE and Mr. DENT and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—15

Barr,	Holland,	Margie,	Stiefel,
Dent,	Jaspan,	Rahausen,	Tarr,
DiSilvestro,	Lane,	Rosenfeld,	Woodring,
Haluska,	Leader,	Ruth,

Crider,	Homsher,	Stevenson,	Wilson,
Crowe,	Kephart,	Tallman,	Wolfe,
Doehla,	Letzler,	Taylor,	Wood, L. H.,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 103, on second reading, entitled:

An Act authorizing the staging of certain performances and playing of certain sports on Sunday after certain hours where the electors of a municipality or township vote in favor of the same providing for referendums to ascertain the will of the electors prescribing penalties and repealing inconsistent laws

EX-SENATOR WARREN R. ROBERTS INTRODUCED TO THE SENATE

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I note with great pleasure the entrance into our chamber of a former member of this body, the Honorable Warren R. Roberts, former Senator from Northampton County and former Auditor General. I am sure the chair will be happy to note the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Roberts.
The PRESIDENT. On behalf of the members of the Senate the Chair is very happy to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Roberts and say he hopes they will enjoy their visit.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, March 25, 1947, at 3:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. WATSON. Mr. President, I second the motion.
The motion was agreed to.
The Senate adjourned at 7:29 o'clock, p. m. Eastern Standard Time until Tuesday, March 25, 1947, at 3:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, March 24, 1947

The House met at 4:30 p. m.
The SPEAKER (Franklin H. Lichtenwalter) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Lester C. Updegrove offered the following prayer:
God of all grace and glory, so teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom. In a confused day, keep our minds clear and clean and uncluttered by prejudice. In a clamorous day, filled with angry accents of hate, give us ears to hear the voices that speak of justice and freedom and world brotherhood. Grant us sanity of mind and spirit and a glad hope which sees a shining ray far down the future's broadening way. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of Wednesday, March 19, 1947.
The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of Wednesday, March 19, 1947, when, on motion of Mr. HENRY unanimously agreed to, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

L. 1206), entitled "An act concerning townships of the first class; amending, revising, consolidating, and changing the law relating thereto," by further providing for certain tax levies.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 316, entitled:

An Act to amend section four of article XVI of the act, approved the twenty-fifth day of June, one thousand nine hundred nineteen (P. L. 581), entitled "An act for the better government of cities of the first class of this Commonwealth," by increasing the salaries of councilmen.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Pichney.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PICHNEY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to know from the gentleman from Philadelphia whether or not I am correct in saying that this bill would raise the salaries of councilmen in Philadelphia from $5,000 per year to $8,500 per year?

Mr. PICHNEY. That is true, Mr. Speaker, it will increase their salaries.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I should further like to know from the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, as to how much additional expenditure this will require on the part of the taxpayers of Philadelphia.

Mr. PICHNEY. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will multiply twenty-two councilmen by an increase in salary of $3500, he will get the results.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I should like to know from the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, as to why it is necessary to increase the councilmen's salaries in Philadelphia at this time?

Mr. PICHNEY. Mr. Speaker, this is a Philadelphia bill, this is an administration bill; the administration asked for this increase. The people of Philadelphia are willing to pay for it, and I am certain that the members of this Assembly will vote for the said increase, and I will ask for a vote in favor of such increase.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I should like to know from the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, as to how many times a week a city council meets in Philadelphia?

Mr. PICHNEY. City Council meets daily.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I hate to disagree with the answer of the gentleman, but I know as a matter of fact that City Council of Philadelphia meets on Thursday afternoons at 3:00 o'clock.

Mr. PICHNEY. They may be in session, Mr. Speaker, on Thursday afternoon, but they have committee meetings every day during the week.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to know from the gentleman as to how many councilmen in the city of Philadelphia have lucrative businesses other than their work as councilmen.

Mr. PICHNEY. Mr. Speaker, I never go into business affairs as far as councilmen are concerned, but I do know that they are doing a fine job and they are entitled to this increase.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Would it surprise the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, to know that eighty per cent of the Members of City Council have either other jobs or other lucrative businesses?

Mr. PICHNEY. Will the gentleman name them, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. CHUDOFF. I am sorry, but I do not have with me a list of the positions and other businesses that the Councilmen have. However, if the gentleman will agree to leave the bill on the calendar I shall be pleased to bring that with me on next Monday when we convene.

Mr. PICHNEY. Let me state this, Mr. Speaker, Pittsburgh, being a second class city under a Democratic Administration pays their councilmen eighty-five hundred dollars under a Democratic Mayor and eleven Democratic councilmen. As I understand, Philadelphia being a first class city certainly is entitled to that increase.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I should like to know from the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, whether or not he knows that City Council adjourns for the summer, that is June, July, August and September.

Mr. PICHNEY. Mr. Speaker, so does the General Assembly and so does the Senate adjourn.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, this bill provides for an increase in pay for councilmen in the city of Philadelphia. I am not against this bill because there is a Republican administration in Philadelphia, because I live in a district in Philadelphia that has a Democratic councilman, and he too would benefit by this raise, if this were purely a political objection, and I would therefore be for it.

Mr. Speaker, councilmen of Philadelphia are lucratively employed or have lucrative businesses. They do not need this increase in salary, nor do they earn it. They meet once a week on Thursday afternoon, and during the summer when it gets hot they adjourn for the summer. This bill if passed would be an unwarranted expenditure on the part of the citizens of Philadelphia. It should not pass, especially when the Republican Party continually is preaching economies; they are yelling economy in Washington and spending money in Harrisburg and Philadelphia.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. CHUDOFF. I move, Mr. Speaker, that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Cities of the First Class for further study and possible amendment, and I ask for a roll call.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this motion. The Committee on City and County of the First Class has considered this bill very carefully. They feel that it is a matter for all the Members to determine. There is nothing further to be accomplished by sending this bill back to Committee except to stall the passage of the bill.

Mr. Speaker, I think that the Committee has had ample time to study the bill and I think we ought to vote this motion down.

Mr. ANDREWS. As I see it, Mr. Speaker, the only reason for sending this bill back to Committee would be to find out whether it is the disposition of the present House, the present Members, to enact legislation that would enable Philadelphia to pass upon matters like this itself. I personally don't care a continental whether they pay their city councilmen in Philadelphia $8,000 a year or $80,000 a year. I am perturbed by reason of the fact that these measures are continually coming up and taking up our time, and I would like, if there is any possibly of home rule for Philadelphia going through at this session, I would like to see this bill go back to committee and take advantage of the home rule legislation when it comes up.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 534, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one of the act approved the thirteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-seven (P. L. 984) entitled "An act relating to transactions between a person acting on his own behalf and the same person acting jointly with others and to make uniform the law relating thereto" by authorizing conveyances by husband or wife without the joinder of his or her spouse to husband and wife as tenants by the entireties and validating certain transactions.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 617, entitled:

An Act to further amend section four hundred one of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 1206) entitled "An act concerning townships of the first class amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" further regulating the abolition of wards.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 620, entitled:

An Act to amend section two of the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 401) entitled "An act defining and providing for the licensing and regulation of private trade schools and classes conferring powers and imposing duties on the State Board for Vocational Education and prescribing penalties" specifically excluding private business schools and classes from the provisions thereof.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire from the sponsor of this bill what the mandatory provisions of the act amended are. On page 2 of the act there is a mandatory provision that this act shall not include private business or secretarial schools. What are the mandatory provisions of the act that are not to apply to private schools?

Mr. KRISE. Mr. Speaker, previous to 1945 the private schools operated under their own particular license. In the session of 1945 the Trade School Act was enacted, and the description of the Trade School was sufficiently broad that the private business schools got included in it without intention on the part of the department, so that we found ourselves in 1946 facing the fact that business colleges came under the provisions of the Trade School Act. Now they have their own regulation, that is their own regulatory body and they want to be excluded, of course, from double regulation, both under the Trade School and under the Business College Act.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 630, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 631) entitled "An act authorizing a married woman to make conveyance of real estate to her husband and validating all such conveyances heretofore made" authorizing conveyances of real estate of a married woman to her husband and herself jointly as if she were a feme solo.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 656, entitled:

An Act to further amend clause (d) of section nine of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2051) entitled "An act relating to public assistance providing for and regulating assistance to certain classes of persons designated and defined as dependent children aged persons blind persons and other persons requiring relief providing for the administration of this act by the Department of Public Assistance and county boards of assistance hereby created for this purpose authorizing the Department of Public Assistance to cooperate with and to accept and disburse moneys received from the United States Government for assistance to such persons providing for the liquidation of the State Emergency Relief Board Boards of Trustees of the Mothers' Assistance Fund and Boards of Trustees of Pension Fund for the Blind and repealing laws relating to mothers' assistance pensions for the blind old age assistance and the State Emergency Relief Board" by further providing for eligibility for assistance in the case of aliens.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 658, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 370) entitled "An act relating to settlements abolishing settlement and residence as a factor in eligibility for receiving public assistance or liability of the Commonwealth or any political subdivision thereof for granting assistance and repealing inconsistent legislation" by further providing for public assistance to aliens.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. BOWER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Welfare for the purpose of further study.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 21, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one of the act, approved the eleventh day of May, one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine (P. L. 188) entitled "A further supplement to an act, entitled 'An act to establish a board of wardens for the Port of Philadelphia, and for the regulation of pilots and pilotage, and for other purposes,' approved March twenty-ninth, one thousand eight hundred and three, and for regulating the rates of pilotage and number of pilots," further regulating the rates of pilotage.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 79, entitled:

An Act to further amend section four of the act, approved the twentieth day of May, one thousand nine hundred fifteen (P. L. 566), entitled "An act requiring cities of the first class to establish a pension fund for employes of said cities, and all county or other public employes, if any, paid by appropriation of the city councils thereof, and out of the treasury of said cities; and regulating the administration and the payment of such pensions," providing an optional increase in payments by certain former employes and increasing the maximum monthly pension payments in such cases.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to know from the gentleman as to the purpose of this bill.

Mr. SORG. To what bill does the gentleman refer, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. CHUDOFF. Senate Bill 79, Printer's No. 22, Page 18 of today's calendar.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, from the cursory reading of the bill that I gave it, I understand that the purpose of the bill is to permit employes of first class cities who are already on retirement, by the payment of additional funds to receive additional retirement benefits. It looks like a cost of living increase or something like that for persons already on retirement.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to further know from the gentleman as to whether or not this increase that the pensioned employe would receive would cost the taxpayers of the city of Philadelphia any additional money?

Mr. SORG. I am not familiar with that particular provision, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second section and title were separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 196, entitled:

An Act to further amend section six of the act, approved the seventeenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (P. L. 869), entitled "An act providing for the organization, government, discipline, maintenance, and regulation of the armed land forces of this Commonwealth," by changing the requirements for the appointment of general officers.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. Speaker, having been in the Senate during the early part of the second reading calendar, I should like permission to call up on page 8 of today's calendar House Bill No. 48, Printer's No. 85.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Sproul, whether his statement that he was in the Senate at the time is an explanation or an apology?

Mr. SPROUL. I did not hear the question of the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Sproul, permit himself to be interrogated? The gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, has a very important question to ask.

Mr. SPROUL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Delaware said he did not call up his bill because he was in the Senate at the time. I want to know whether that is an explanation or an apology.

Mr. SPROUL. I should be glad, Mr. Speaker, to go into a detailed explanation of why I was in the Senate for the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews. I was in the Senate with Senator Stevenson on another bill pertaining to first class cities.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 48, entitled:

An Act to add clause XLIX to section one thousand five hundred two of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one, (P. L. 1206), entitled "An act concerning townships of the first class; amending, revising, consolidating, and changing the law relating thereto," authorizing acquisition of property for, and establishment and maintenance of parking lots.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 161, as follows:

An Act providing compensation to certain persons who served in the military or naval forces of the United States or of any of her allies during World War II providing the method of making payment to representatives of persons who because of death or incapacity cannot personally receive compensation imposing certain duties on the Adjutant General making an appropriation and providing penalties

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. McMILLEN asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Aeronautics to meet during the session of the House.

RESOLUTION

AMENDING HOUSE RULE 40

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up Resolution No. 12.

The resolution was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 10, 1947.

Resolved That rule number forty be amended to read as follows

40 That when a bill or resolution has been ten calendar days in the hands of a committee after having been referred to it any committee may be discharged from further consideration of the bill or resolution by a vote of a majority of the members elected to the House Each committee before adjournment sine die shall report out every bill either with favorable or negative recommendation other than bills the passage of which are prohibited by Article III section seven of the Constitution of Pennsylvania

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, first I want to apologize for the length of time this resolution has been printed and put on the calendar.

There was a reason why the resolution was not acted upon. I felt that sometime soon we would get that roll call system that we have heard so much about. I have talked to my floor leader on different occasions in regard to the roll call system but it seems that the matter is very vague; we don't know whether we are going to get it or whether we are not going to get it. So for that reason I did not call up this resolution, in the hope that we would get the roll call system so that we would possibly be able to expedite the business of the House on these bills that would come out of committee.

This resolution deals with rule number forty. It may be somewhat misleading. This resolution to my mind compels the Committee Chairmen to take action on these bills which up to this date, I know and you know that there are many bills that go into committees that are not considered by the committees at all. All this resolution would do would be to compel the Committee Chairman to consider these bills in committee and report them either favorably or unfavorably to the floor of the House. I have all the confidence in the world, and know that this House would pass those bills that should be passed and defeat those bills that should be defeated. But I say to you that it is not democratic that we refer this legislation to a committee and then find that the committee does not take any action whatever on those bills. So, for the benefit of the new Members in this House, both on the Republican side and the Democratic side, if you ever expect your bills to go through a committee and be considered, let's be fair and vote for this resolution so that these bills will come out here and we will have an opportunity to vote on them.

Mr. Speaker, I feel confident if this resolution had been in effect during the last session of the Legislature that the bill on oleomargarine would have come to the floor of this House and that particular bill would have possibly been passed by the Members of the Legislature and we would not have had to wait on a ruling by the court; we would have repealed the tax on oleomargarine by this legislative body, which is the proper way to eliminate bills that have been passed by the Legislature.

So, in the interest of good government and in the interest of democracy I ask the Members of this House, both on Republican side and the Democratic side, to vote for this resolution.

Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this resolution, not only because I am surprised that the gentleman who had ample opportunity when he was a member of the majority failed to adopt the very same measure, but principally because under our Constitution there is a provision that legislation after it has been introduced into this body must be referred to a committee and reported therefrom. By inference certainly our committees have certain functions delegated to them and in giving respect and due regard to the duties of those committees we also must give them certain prerogatives, and one of those prerogatives is the right to table a measure if they so desire or report it out if they so wish it.

The effect of this resolution is actually and for all practical purposes a motion to discharge all committees from further consideration of any measure before them, and I respectfully submit that already in this House alone, irrespective of the Senate bills that must come before this House, there are well over eight hundred measures, and there will be before the end of the week well over one thousand measures and if they must all be considered by this body as a whole, or as a committee of the whole, we just haven't been elected for long enough terms to carry out the provisions of this resolution.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know that in 1935 we reduced the number necessary to discharge a committee from 105 to 85?

Mr. SORG. I know that, Mr. Speaker. The minority only had 54 members, with 85 necessary to discharge a committee.

Mr. LOVETT. I did not get the gentleman's answer.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, yes, when there were only 54 minority Members, the gentleman reduced the number to 85.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I refresh the gentleman's memory and say that the minority at that time had 89 Members on the minority side, and I ask the gentleman if that is not correct.

Mr. SORG. Because, Mr. Speaker, I believe the year was 1937, I would also question whether or not the adoption of the amendments to the rule passed the House in 1935.

Mr. LOVETT. Would the gentleman take the time to look in his little book and find out that in 1935 we made such a rule in the House of Representatives?

Mr. SORG. No, Mr. Speaker, for the purpose of the present discussion I will take the gentleman's word for it.

Mr. LOVETT. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has said he felt that I should have introduced this resolution during the time that my party was in power. I want to say to the Members of this House that we did reduce the number necessary to discharge committees during the Democratic administration which was in existence from 1935 until 1939. Let us not have any mistake on that. If anybody is interested in that just look up the little book and it will tell you.

Let's be fair; I'm not trying to kid you. I was sincere when I introduced this resolution. I feel that in this day and age when we hear all the criticism about Communism, Communism in our labor unions, I say to you the reason why you have Communism and why Communism flourishes in those unions is because you have such a rule in the House of Representatives that you must have 105 votes in order to bring measures before the body to be considered by the Members of the Legislature. I have all the confidence in the world in the Members of the Legislature and I know that with a roll call system we could very easily have these bills reported with a negative recommendation and dispose of them in the House of Representatives.

That is the reason why I ask you today to pass this resolution, so that these fellows don't live and grow in the labor unions on your mistakes in the legislature. So, it is only fair to you men who come here and introduce legislation, and I say again to you that the Committee Chairmen do not consider these bills in committees. They deliberately pigeonhole them and they are never given any consideration and you know that that is true.

So, therefore, I ask again that this House vote for this resolution, and Mr. Speaker I ask for a roll call.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. I should imagine, Mr. Speaker, that this inquiry should be addressed to the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett. However, since this resolution came out of the Committee on Rules I am going to ask a question of the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman that under the rules this bill was not referred to a committee and therefore was not reported from the Committee on Rules. That is a typographical error on the printed resolution.

Mr. BROWN. I thank you, Mr. Speaker. I will ask the gentleman anyway, being an astute lawyer, and not seeking to take advantage of "Let's-be-fair" Lovett—I know that he would say that I am totally unfair—why are these bills, Mr. Speaker, under Article 3, Section 7, prohibited?

Mr. SORG. Will the gentleman state what Section 7 is, Mr. Speaker? I haven't a copy of Section 7, Article III, before me.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, it is pretty long. So, the gentleman may take his seat. Article III, Section 7 reads:

"Section 7. The General Assembly shall not pass any local or special law authorizing the creation, extension or impairing of liens."

Then it enumerates some seventeen types of legislation that come under that category. I am sure that the gentleman is familiar with that.

Mr. SORG. I have that section now, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, why then was Article III, Section 7 omitted?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I see the gentleman's point and I think he is absolutely right. The bills that would fall under Section 7 of the constitution should never come out of committee.

Mr. BROWN. Why, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. SORG. For the simple reason, Mr. Speaker, that they are not a proper subject for this parliamentary body.

Mr. BROWN. May I further interrogate the gentleman, Mr. Speaker? Would not the same things apply to Article III, Section 3? And this will be just a little excursion into the constitution. The gentleman has it there; would he not turn to it?

Mr. SORG. I have that section, Mr. Speaker, and I think it would also apply in this particular instance. The resolution contravenes those particular sections.

Mr. BROWN. Would the gentleman read the section please, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker,

"No bill except general appropriation bills shall be passed containing more than one subject, which shall be clearly expressed in its title."

Mr. BROWN. I imagine that the gentleman will agree, Mr. Speaker, that that should be in this resolution too.

Mr. SORG. I think it should, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. May I ask the gentleman to return to Article III, Section 11, and I would like to ask the gentleman if he can tell us why "Let's-be-fair" Lovett left that section out, Article III, Section 11. Would the gentleman read that?

Mr. SORG. Section 11 provides that

"No bill shall be passed giving any extra compensation to any public officer, servant, employee, agent or contractor, after services shall have been rendered or contract made, nor providing for the payment of any claim against the Commonwealth without previous authority of law."

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman feel that that provision should be in the resolution?

Mr. SORG. I should like to say, Mr. Speaker, that I think not only should this provision not be in the resolution, but I think that there should not be any such resolution as this.

Mr. BROWN. I agree with the gentleman, Mr. Speaker. On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Lovett and Mr. Petrosky and were as follows:

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 3, 1947.

Early in 1946, the Governor of this Commonwealth, the Honorable Edward Martin, convinced that soon Pennsylvania's colleges would be overcrowded, appointed the Governor's Advisory Committee on Higher Education to consider plans to insure to every qualified Pennsylvania veteran and recent high school graduate the opportunity of attending college.

The Area College Center Plan was finally promulgated, and went into operation July 1st, 1946, realizing the Governor's aim.

There are now ten Area College Centers throughout Pennsylvania having a total student enrollment of approximately thirty-five hundred.

The Area College Center Plan, designed as a temporary emergency measure, has been well established administratively on a self-supporting basis without legislative assistance, the General Assembly not being in session at its inception; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives extends its highest praise to former Governor, now Senator Edward Martin, for his foresight in recognizing the emergency and his wholehearted support of the plan devised and carried into operation; to the Governor's Advisory Committee on Higher Education; to Dr. Francis B. Haas and the Department of Public Instruction and Dr. Robert M. Steele, Coordinator, on whom fell the burden of administering the plan; the presidents of the colleges and universities of Pennsylvania, who have contributed their ideas, facilities and faculties; all the Area Coordinators; all the local school authorities; and all those other individuals who have aided in making the Plan the success it is; and be it further

Resolved, That this House of Representatives approves the Area College Center Plan and desires that it be continued at least until June 30, 1949, and to that end requests that with the Governor's approval, the Department of Public Instruction and the Coordinator will submit to the Legislature a program for the continuation of such plan during the next two years, and any recommendations they may have for legislation necessary for the carrying out of such program; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution shall be transmitted to United States Senator Edward Martin, to the Governor of this Commonwealth, and to the Superintendent of the Department of Public Instruction, and the Coordinator of the Area College Center Plan.

CLASSES OF SCHUYLKILL HAVEN HIGH SCHOOL WELCOMED

Mr. MYERS asked and obtained unanimous consent to add the names of Messrs. Gallagher and Naumann as additional sponsors to House Bill No. 858.

Mr. RAGOT asked and obtained unanimous consent to add the name of Mr. Dalrymple as an additional sponsor to House Bill No. 60.

APPOINTMENTS TO PENNSYLVANIA COMMISSION ON INTERSTATE COOPERATION

The SPEAKER. In accordance with the provisions of

COMPARATIVE SUMMARY OF STATE AND LOCAL COSTS OF VARIOUS TEACHERS' SALARY AND SCHOOL SUBSIDY BILLS

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House the following communication addressed to the Speaker:

"In accordance with a concurrent resolution of March 19, 1947, the School Commission and the Budget Secretary submit herewith 'A Summary of Comparative Costs Entailed in the Various School Bills which Deal Comprehensively with Subsidies, Salaries and Increments Now in the Various Committees in the House and Senate'.

Respectfully yours, George Young, Chairman,
The School Commission, Edward B. Logan,
Budget Secretary."

In accordance with a concurrent resolution of March 19, 1947, the School Commission and the Budget Secretary submit below "A Summary of Comparative Costs Entailed in the Various School Bills which Deal Comprehensively with Subsidies, Salaries and Increments Now in the Various Committees in the House and Senate."

The summaries and cost estimates submitted relate to the major provisions of the bills under review: mandated salaries of classroom teachers and Commonwealth subsidies on account of instruction.

The following bills were reviewed: House Bill 156; House Bill 213; House Bill 417; and Senate Bill 175. Inasmuch as the major provisions of House Bill 417 and Senate Bill 175 are identical, no separate summaries and cost estimates are shown for Senate Bill 175.

House Bill 156 provides for a single salary schedule for all classroom teachers employed by all classes of school districts. Specifically, the bill provides for an entry salary of $2,500; ten annual increments of $250 each for holders of normal school and standard certificates (49.1% of the teachers currently employed); eleven annual increments of $250 each for holders of Bachelor's Degrees, and twelve annual increments of $250 each for holders of Master's Degrees.

To partially cover mandated increases in teachers' salaries, the bill provides for a minimum subsidy of $1,200 per teaching unit and a maximum subsidy of $3,000 per teaching unit.

The subsidy provisions of the bill, if favorably acted upon, would increase Commonwealth school subsidy appropriations by at least $120,000,000 per biennium, or 86% beyond the total public school subsidies appropriated by the Session of 1945.

In addition, once fully effective, House Bill 156 would increase local costs. It is conservatively estimated that under the terms of the bill the average mandated salary of classroom teachers will become $4,677. Hence, in addition to other costs, the majority of local school districts will be compelled to finance the difference between the maximum subsidy of $3,000 per teaching unit and the average mandated salary of $4,677. It is estimated that the bill will increase local costs by $100,000,000 per year. To finance the increased cost, school districts would have to increase local taxes approximately 68%.

House Bill 213 provides for a single salary schedule for all classroom teachers employed by all classes of districts. Specially, the bill provides for an entry salary of $2,400; nine annual increments of $200 each for teachers who have less than three years of training; ten annual increments of $200 each for teachers with three years of training; twelve annual increments of $200 each for teachers with four years of training; fourteen annual increments of $200 each for holders of Master's Degrees.

To partially cover mandated increases in teachers' salaries, the bill provides for a minimum subsidy of $1,000 per teaching unit for the school year 1946-47, the minimum to rise to $1,200 for the school years 1947-49. Similarly, the bill provides for a maximum subsidy of $2,500 per teaching unit for the school year 1946-47, the maximum to rise to $2,700 for the school years 1947-49.

The subsidy provisions of the bill, if favorably acted upon, would increase Commonwealth subsidy appropriations by at least $82,000,000 for the biennium 1947-49, or 58% beyond the total public school subsidies appropriated by the Session of 1945.

The bill seems to make no provision for Commonwealth subsidies upon termination of the school year 1948-49.

On the assumption that maximum and minimum subsidies are not to rise above the level specified for the school years 1947-49, House Bill 213, once fully effective, would increase local costs. It is conservatively estimated that under the terms of the bill the average mandated salary of classroom teachers will become $4,277. Hence, in addition to other costs, the majority of local school districts will be compelled to finance the difference between the maximum subsidy of $2,700 per teaching unit and the average mandated salary of $4,277. It is estimated that the bill will eventually increase local costs by at least $91,000,000 per year. To finance the increased local costs, school districts would have to increase local taxes approximately 62%.

House Bill 417 provides for a single salary schedule for all classroom teachers employed by all classes of districts. Specifically, the bill provides for an entry salary of $2,400; eight annual increments of $175 each for teachers with less than four years of college training; two supplemental annual increments of $150 each for teachers with a Bachelor's Degree; and four supplemental annual increments of $150 each for teachers with Master's Degrees.

To partially cover mandated increases in teachers' salaries, the bill provides for a minimum subsidy of $900 per teaching unit per year for the period 1947-49, and a minimum subsidy of $1,000 thereafter. Similarly, the bill provides for the following maximum subsidies per year per teaching unit: $2,600 per year for the period 1947-49; $2,800 per year for 1949-51; and $3,000 thereafter.

If favorably acted upon, the bill would call for additional appropriations by the Commonwealth of at least $78,000,000 for the biennium 1947-49, or 56% more than the total public school subsidies appropriated by the Session of 1945. When fully effective in 1951, the bill would call for additional Commonwealth appropriation of at least $116,000,000 for the biennium, or 83% more than the total public school subsidies appropriated by the Session of 1945.

House Bill 417 contains an escalator clause (see House Bill 417, Pages 8 and 9. Lines 18 to 7), which provides as follows: "Provided however that any teacher who shall have served in any of the public schools of this Commonwealth for a period of three years or more prior to the effective date of this act shall be entitled to a beginning increment or increments of $175 beyond the minimum herein provided for each three years of service thus determining the initial salary payable to such teacher at the effective date of this act. Provided further however that no teacher shall be required to be paid more than the sum of the minimum salary and all increments to which such teacher may be entitled under the provisions of this act."

It is conservatively estimated that by virtue of this escalator clause, the average mandated salary of classroom teachers will be as follows:

1947-48 .....	$3,172
1948-49 .....	3,274
Fully effective .....	3,760

Under the circumstances, in 1947-48 the average mandated salary will exceed the maximum subsidy by $572. When House Bill 417 becomes fully effective, the difference in question will be at least $760. It is estimated that the bill will eventually increase local costs by at least $45,000,000 per year. To finance the estimated increase in local costs, school districts would have to increase local tax rates by approximately 31%.

In evaluating the above estimates of increases in Commonwealth and local costs, consequent upon favorable action upon House Bill 156, House Bill 213, House Bill 417 and Senate Bill 175, it is to be noted that these estimates are minimum. The estimates do not take account of increases in cost by the provisions of the bills relating to tuition reimbursement, transportation reimbursement, reimbursement on account of physically and mentally handicapped pupils, vocational reimbursement, and State and local retirement contributions on behalf of teachers. To facilitate an overall view of the tax implications of the legislative proposals outlined above, the approximate total annual school bills payable by the Commonwealth and local districts which would become due if the proposals were favorably acted upon and fully effective are shown below:

Bill Number	Estimated Annual Cost
House 156 .....	$632,000,000
House 213 .....	570,000,000
House 417 .....	507,000,000
Senate 175

These totals compare with estimated current total school expenditures of approximately $250,000,000 per year.

GEORGE YOUNG, Chairman
The School Commission

EDWARD B. LOGAN
Budget Secretary

The SPEAKER. The communication and the report will be noted in the Journals of the House.

SENATE MESSAGE

CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 13

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 17, 1947.

Whereas, The Pennsylvania Roadside Council, wishing to cooperate in the nation-wide Blue Star Memorial Program sponsored by the National Council of State Garden Clubs, is desirous of recognizing and commemorating the splendid services and achievements of our sons and daughters who served in the Armed Forces of the United States in World War II; and

Whereas, It is fitting and appropriate that legislative recognition be accorded the services and sacrifices of citizens so valiantly rendered; and

Whereas, The State of New Jersey has designated one of its state highways leading to Easton, Pennsylvania, as New Jersey's link in this nation-wide program; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), That State Highway Route Number 22 from Easton to Harrisburg and the Pennsylvania Turnpike from the vicinity of Harrisburg to the vicinity of Pittsburgh is designated as the Blue Star Drive as a memorial in commemoration of the services of the men and women of Pennsylvania who served in the Armed Forces of the United States in World War II; and be it further

Resolved, That the Department of Highways shall erect along said highways suitable tablets or markers and shall carry out suitable landscape development to perpetuate this resolution but shall not replace or change the officially designated route number or name or marker thereof of any highway or turnpike hereby included as a part of such Blue Star Drive

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would first like to interrogate the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews asks permission to interrogate the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Cadwalader. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CADWALADER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee whether any arrangements have been made for any hearings on any of the pending tax bills.

Mr. CADWALADER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, I don't know as yet that any definite arrangements have been made.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I wish to further interrogate the gentleman. Has the gentleman received any request that hearings be held?

Mr. CADWALADER. I have not as yet, Mr. Speaker. However, today's mail has not as yet been completely opened.

Mr. ANDREWS. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker. As I understand, it would be correct to say for the record that up to the present time the gentleman says no requests for hearings have been filed with him.

Mr. CADWALADER. I also said, Mr. Speaker, that I have not completely opened all my mail today.

Mr. ANDREWS. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker. I would like to make a very brief statement.

I have placed in the mailboxes of all the Members a mimeographed statement concerning Governor Duff's budget and how it would be affected by the use of a General State Authority in connection with the building program.

On the second page of the mimeographed statement we show that if the Governor and this House confined appropriations within the scope of the recommended five hundred and forty-seven million dollars and make full use of the Authority method of financing construction that he will only need fourteen million dollars in new taxes.

I ask you to read that statement and to consider the figures it carries.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. McKINNEY from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as amended, House Bill No. 509, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Elwyn Training School at Elwyn in the County of Delaware, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, for a deficiency in the one thousand nine hundred forty-five, one thousand nine hundred forty-seven biennial appropriation.

Mr. REAGAN from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as committed, House Bill No. 572, entitled:

An Act to amend the act, approved the twenty-fifth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. page 191), entitled "An act authorizing transfers of sums of money from the General Fund to the State Stores Fund under certain conditions; providing for subsequent transfers of equal sums from the State Stores Fund to the General Fund; and making appropriations necessary to effect such transfers," by increasing the limit of funds which may be temporarily transferred from the General Fund to the State Stores Fund.

Mr. WAGNER from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as amended, House Bill No. 579, entitled:

A Supplement to the act approved the fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred forty-five (Appropriation Acts, page sixty-three), entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive, Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt, and the support of the public schools for two years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred and forty-five; and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and forty-five," providing for deficiencies in certain appropriations made by the act for the fiscal biennium ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and forty-seven.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I deeply regret that I do not have a resolution to present at the present time but I do not think that we ought to let the day pass without some comment on a subject which I desire to speak on for just a moment.

A number of years ago—I haven't had a chance to look at the record, there came into this House a man who is a staunch Republican and who could always be counted on by the leadership on this side to march along with the Republican party and the Republican Members of this House. He was a staunch advocate of legislation on behalf of veterans. He took a part in their activities, not only within the House but outside in the Veterans' Organizations.

After he retired from Membership in this House he was elected by this House to the office of Secretary of the House. In that office he has performed not only faithfully and well, but I think that every Member of the House, whether he be on this side or the other, will agree with me that he has been a friend and a servant to the Members of the House.

I understand that today is the birthday of the Secretary of this House, known well to all of us as Bill Roan of Luzerne County, and I think we ought to congratulate him on this occasion.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Luzerne County, Mr. Roan.

The Chair also wishes to congratulate the gentleman on his twenty-second birthday.

Mr. ROAN. Mr. Speaker, I don't know where the former speaker, my friend Mr. Turner, got his information. I had a birthday card that came to my office this morning from my daughter in Philadelphia and I immediately put it into my desk.

I certainly appreciate what he has done and I also want to thank the Members of the House. The Speaker said it was my twenty-second birthday; it is my fifty-second.

The SPEAKER. The Chair was a little bit confused in his figures.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The SPEAKER. The Chair would again remind the Members of the luncheon to be held tomorrow at 12:30 in the Fifth Street Methodist Church. All Members are invited to be the guests of the Federated Church group tomorrow. Buses will leave the Capitol, I believe at noon

SENATE

TUESDAY, March 25, 1947

The Senate met at 3:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Daniel B. Strickler) in the Chair.

PRAYER

In the absence of the Chaplain, prayer was offered by the Senator from Butler, Mr. CARR.

Through every page of human history, Oh God, Thy moving hand has guided all things and controlled the actions of men. We come to realize; Oh God, that when those actions are in conformity with Thy will, Thou hast blessed us in this world, but when we have failed Thee, Oh God, Thou hast withdrawn Thy care and Thy protection from around about us. We would be in Thy keeping as a nation, as a state, as a people, as all Thy children in the world; we would have Thee lead and guide and protect us in all things, that we may glorify Thee by the lives that we live and the things that we do.

We would ask for Thy protection and Thy care over us as we go in session this afternoon. May Thy spirit, Oh God, watch over us, may our will be conformed to Thine.

We ask it in Jesus' name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. TALLMAN and Mr. WILSON, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

COMMUNICATION

The CHAIR cleared his table and laid before the Senate the following communication, which was read by the Clerk:

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Harrisburg, March 25, 1947.

Honorable Daniel B. Strickler
President of the Senate
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

My dear Mr. President:

I am pleased to present herewith the Summary Report of the Joint State Government Commission to the General Assembly for 1945-47.

Very truly yours,

IRA T. FISS, Chairman.

The PRESIDENT. The communication will be noted in the Journal.

ERRATUM

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, yesterday in addressing the Senate, through error I said the agent of the American Distilling Company was Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners of Delaware County. I wish to correct that. The gentleman who is the agent is Mr. Beifel, brother of a magistrate in Philadelphia.

The PRESIDENT. The correction will be noted in the Legislative Journal.

MEMBER OF THE PENNSYLVANIA GAME COMMISSION

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, March 24, 1947.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate G. I. Phillips, Alexandria, Huntingdon County, for reappointment as a Member of the Pennsylvania Game Commission, to serve until the third Tuesday of January, 1955, and until his successor shall have been appointed and qualified.

JAMES H. DUFF.

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, March 24, 1947.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate George E. Wright, 20 North Avenue, Houston, Washington County, for appointment as Justice of the Peace in and for the Borough of Houston, Washington County, until the first Monday of January, 1948, vice James W. Stoffer, deceased.

JAMES H. DUFF.

RESIGNATION, CHAIRMAN, COMMITTEE ON ELECTIONS AND APPOINTMENT OF NEW CHAIRMAN

The PRESIDENT. On behalf of the President pro tempore, the Chair announces the resignation, to take effect at once, of the Chairman of the Senate Committee on Elections, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Louis E. Farrell, and the appointment in his place of the Senator from Philadelphia, E. Evans Kephart.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. CROWE read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 407, entitled:

An Act to encourage the protection and development of forest resources in the Commonwealth in the interest of the owner and general public; providing for the appointment of resident foresters in each of the forest districts now or hereafter established in the Commonwealth; providing for the creation of various local advisory committees by the Department of Forests and Waters and for the establishment of standards of forest practices to have the force of law; placing duties upon certain governmental officials and agencies; requiring the licensing of operating sawmills; creating a Division of Markets under the Bureau of Forests; and imposing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make a few remarks in reference to a bill I am about to present.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears no objection. The gentleman from Philadelphia may proceed.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I am about to present a bill, the passage of which will turn over to the Pennsylvania Historical Society the Old Crispin Cemetery in Philadelphia. This historic cemetery covers an acre of ground and is part of an original grant of 5,000 acres from William Penn in 1682.

This historic relic is the brial ground of more than a hundred members of the Crispin family, outstanding among which was Captain William Crispin, whom William Penn appointed the first Chief Justice of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court. Also, the Honorable Benjamin Crispin, who served with distinction in the House of Representatives for three terms and also three terms in the Pennsylvania State Senate. He was president of this body for one term. This was more than a century ago.

Captain Thomas Holme was first Surveyor General of Pennsylvania—he laid out the City of Philadelphia and the Province of Pennsylvania. He also transacted nearly all of Penn's treaties with the Indians.

The City of Philadelphia has erected a boulevard to and beyond the cemetery and has named it Holme Boulevard.

Mr. President, this very historic relic is fast going to ruin, and I hope this honorable body will restore it to good condition.

Mr. FARRELL read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 408, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission to accept, on behalf of the Commonwealth, certain real estate comprising the Crispin Cemetery in Philadelphia; and providing for its restoration and maintenance as an historic shrine.

Which was committed to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

Mr. HOMSHER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 409, entitled:

An Act to amend section ten of the act, approved the twenty-fifth day of May, one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 1050) entitled "An act relating to the collection of taxes levied by counties county institution districts, cities of the third class, boroughs, towns, townships, certain school districts and vocational school districts; conferring powers and imposing duties on tax collectors, courts and various officers of said political subdivisions; and prescribing penalties," imposing additional penalties on certain unpaid taxes.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

Mr. WALKER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 410, entitled:

An Act making persons over seventy years of age ineligible as candidates for the office of judge of a court of record and prohibiting the Secretary of the Commonwealth from accepting nomination petitions of such persons.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. WOLFE read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 411, entitled:

An Act authorizing Andrew J. Herbster of the Village of Laurelton, Hartley Township, Union County, Pennsylvania, to bring suit against the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the Court of Common Pleas of Union County, for damage suffered by him by the diversion and use of the water of Stony Run and Laurel Run by Laurel State Village at Laurelton, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. CARR read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 412, entitled:

An Act to amend the title and the act, approved the sixteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 615), entitled "An act to protect the public health and safety by requiring registration with and the securing of certificates of registration from the State Board of Pharmacy by persons, copartnerships, associations and corporations engaged in the manufacture or production of drugs and medical supplies; regulating the manufacture of drugs and medical supplies as herein defined; prohibiting the manufacture, possession or sale of adulterated or misbranded drugs and medical supplies; prescribing certificates of registration; providing for inspections and the suspension and revocation of certificates of registration; conferring powers on the State Board of Pharmacy and courts; and providing penalties," providing for the licensing and securing of permits by brokers and wholesalers.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

Mr. CHAPMAN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 413, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Welfare to reimburse state-aided hospitals for part of the cost of training student nurses in approved schools of nursing.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, this bill is introduced on behalf of Senator Jaspán, Senator DiSilvestro, Senator Rosenfeld and myself. The purpose of the bill is to eliminate a constitutional anomaly, namely, dual government in Philadelphia. The bill aims at the consolidation of city and county governments of Philadelphia.

Messrs. STIEFEL, JASPAN, ROSENFELD and DiSILVESTRO read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 414, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article fourteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania abolishing County of Philadelphia as a separate political entity and providing for administering of county functions by City of Philadelphia.

Which was committed to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations.

Mr. KEPHART read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 415, entitled:

An Act to amend Sections 501 and 502 of the Act, approved the twenty-eighth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1053), entitled "An act relating to the regulation of public utilities; defining as public utilities certain corporations, companies, associations, and persons; providing for the regulation of public utilities, including, to a limited extent, municipalities engaging in public utility business, by prescribing, defining, and limiting their duties, powers, and liabilities, and regulating the exercise, surrender or abandonment of their powers, privileges, and franchises; defining and regulating contract carriers by motor vehicle and brokers in order to regulate effectively common carriers by motor vehicle; conferring upon the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission the power and duty of supervising and regulating persons, associations, companies, and corporations, including, to a limited extent, municipal corporations subject to this act, and administering the provisions of this act; authorizing the commission to fix temporary rates; placing the burden of proof on public utilities to sustain their rates and certain other matters; authorizing a permissive or mandatory sliding scale method of regulating rates; providing for the supervision of financial and contractual relations between public utilities and affiliated interests, and supervision and regulation of accounts and securities or obligations issued, assumed, or kept by persons, associations, companies, corporations or municipal corporations subject to this act; conferring upon the commission power to vary, reform, or revise certain contracts; conferring upon the commission the exclusive power to regulate or order the construction, alteration, relocation, protection, or abolition of crossings of facilities of public utilities, and of such facilities by or over public highways, to appropriate property for the construction or improvement of such crossings, and to award or apportion resultant costs and damages; authorizing owners of such property to sue the Commonwealth for such damages; providing for ejectment proceedings in connection with the appropriation of property for crossings; conferring upon the commission power to control and regulate budgets of public utilities; imposing upon persons, associations, companies and corporations (except municipal corporations) subject to regulation, the cost of administering this act; prescribing and regulating practice and procedure before the commission and procedure for review by the courts of commission action; giving the court of common pleas of Dauphin County exclusive original jurisdiction over certain proceedings; prescribing penalties, fines, and imprisonment for violations of the provisions of this act and regulations and orders of the commission, and the procedure for enforcing such, fines and penalties; and repealing legislation supplied and superseded by or inconsistent with this act," limiting original cost accounting to those public utilities whose accounting systems are subject also to the jurisdiction of a Federal regulatory body.

Which was committed to the Committee on Corporations.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 416, entitled:

An Act requiring the playing of the Star Spangled Banner prior to all performances or meetings at all places of public assembly.

Which was committed to the Committee on Military Affairs and Aeronautics.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. MALLERY read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 419, entitled:

An Act validating county treasurers' sales for delinquent taxes where the reports and returns of such sales were not made to the court of common pleas and such sales were not confirmed by the court.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

RESOLUTIONS

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I am about to submit a resolution to this body which I believe is of the utmost importance to the people of the United States, and I respectfully request the serious consideration of the committee to which it might be committed.

URGING CONGRESS TO GRANT THE NECESSARY LOANS DESIRED BY GREECE AND TURKEY

Mr. LANE offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Rules:

In the Senate, March 25, 1947.

Whereas, The sovereign governments of Greece and Turkey are both on friendly terms with the government of the United States and presently in need of economic aid and moral support to bolster their political independence and stability against certain threatened foreign encroachments and domination; and

Where, The fulfillment of such need would ease the political tension in the Middle East at least temporarily and would indicate to the world certain trends toward a concrete foreign policy on the part of the United States; and

Whereas, In a direct address to Congress, the President of the United States has emphasized the importance of granting the solicited loans and has requested that moneys to finance them be appropriated at once; therefore, be it

Resolved, That this Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania urges the Congress of the United States to appropriate forthwith the moneys necessary to grant the loans desired by Greece and Turkey according to the tenor of our President's official statement; and be it further

Resolved, That certified copies of this resolution be transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to the President pro tempore of the United States Senate and to the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 2, on third reading, as amended, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 49, as follows:

An Act providing that the statement of Registration issued to electors and his signed declaration of age shall be sufficient proof of age for the purchase of alcoholic beverages prohibiting transfers thereof and false statements imposing penalties and saving from prosecution licensees serving holders of such statements making such declarations

Section 1 The statement of registration signed and issued to any registered elector by a Registrar Commissioner or Clerk under the provisions of any permanent personal registration law of this Commonwealth shall for the purpose of this act be and accepted as an identification card

Section 2 Such identification card shall be presented by the holder thereof upon request of any State Liquor Store or any licensee or the servant agent or employee thereof for the purpose of aiding such store licensee or the servant agent or employee to determine whether or not such person is twenty-one years of age and upwards when such person desires alcoholic beverage at a State Liquor Store or licensed establishment

Section 3 In addition to the presentation of such identification card the agent of the State Liquor Store or the licensee or his servant agent or employee shall require the person whose age may be in question to fill in and sign a card in the following form

.....194.....

I ..... hereby represent to ..... a state store or licensee of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board that I am on full age and discretion and over the age of 21 years having been born on ..... 19..... At ..... this statement is made to induce said store or licensee above named to sell or otherwise furnish alcoholic beverages to the undersigned

Such statement shall be printed upon a 3 inch by 5 inch or 4 inch by 5 inch file card which card shall be filed alphabetically by the State Liquor Store of licensee at or before the close of business on the day of which said certificate is executed in a file box containing a suitable alphabetical index and which card shall be subject to examination by any officer agent or employee of the Liquor Control Board at any and all times

Section 4 It shall be unlawful for the owner of an identification card as defined by this act to transfer said card to any other person for the purpose of aiding such person to secure alcoholic beverage Any person who shall transfer such identification card for the purpose of aiding such transferee to obtain alcoholic beverage shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not more than one hundred dollars ($100) or undergo imprisonment for not more than thirty (30) days Any person not entitled thereto who shall have unlawfully procured or have issued or transferred to him an aforesaid identification card and any person who shall make any false statement on any card required by section three hereof to be signed by him shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not more than one hundred dollars ($100) or undergo imprisonment for not more than thirty (30) days

Section 5 The signed statement in the possession of a licensee may be offered as a defense in all civil and criminal prosecutions for serving a minor and no penalty shall be imposed if the Liquor Control Board or the courts are satisfied that the licensee acted in good faith

Section 6 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and members of the Senate, all of us are inclined to go along with any legislation that will help any given industry in Pennsylvania, when it has a problem that it finds difficult to solve. We all know that legitimate licensees in the state of Pennsylvania do not want to be put in the position where they can be accused of violations of the Liquor Control Act, although the accusations sometimes are built up on innocent incidents.

However, I really do not believe that this particular bill will eliminate that danger that the licensees feel is detrimental to their business. One of the things that I object to specifically is the fact that under this bill a young man or a young lady who has reached the maturity of twenty-five years of age, if inclined to enter a legitimate licensed place, to have dinner and perhaps a cocktail or after-dinner drink, will find themselves compelled to disclose to the proprietor of that establishment their particular political affiliation. I do not believe that anybody in the Senate feels that any young man or woman ought to have to disclose their political affiliation in order to be given the privilege that they inherit under our system of government, when they reach the mature age of twenty-one years.

The question of whether a licensee can determine a patron's age is one that the licensee himself must face. All businesses have their hazards, all businesses have their problems. The legislature has filled many statute books with legislation, because certain interests, for their own selfish purposes, have come in before the Legislature and have had unsound legislation passed.

I know, as you all know, that these licensees represent a potential political force, and, therefore, perhaps some of us may not use our own good judgment when it comes to voting on this type of legislation.

I ask any person in the Senate where they can show me where, in any particular, this piece of legislation will aid a person who is trying to do business in a legitimate way. Nothing in this bill will stop an unscrupulous person from defying the law and serving drinks to minors. That particular type of person will always be in trouble with the law and that particular type of person will always be with us. I say that the legitimate, honorable licensee is going to have more trouble because the independent attitude of most American kids will be, when asked to see their registration card, that they will give an answer I do not want to put into the record. I know at the age of twenty-one I would have given that answer. How I am registered is my business, and I do not think it becomes public property, to be used by any licensee in the state of Pennsylvania, when I go into a place and ask for a glass of beer or a Manhattan or any other type of drink that comes under the Liquor Control Board.

I am inclined to help these men and women who are in this business, but when I see them build up for themselves a headache, when they will be in here asking for legislation to amend or repeal this bill within a period of two years, I am not going along, because I believe it to be very unsound legislation.

Mr. LETZLER. Mr. President and members of the Senate, there is probably not a member of this Senate who would not do everything in his power to aid in combating juvenile delinquency and to help the youth of our communities in the state of Pennsylvania by restricting their temptations to become lawbreakers.

Senate Bill 49 is an attempt to make it more difficult for minors to make purchases of alcoholic beverages. It is not to be expected that any bill would satisfy all the members of this body as the best way to attain the objective sought.

I suggest that we pass this bill, because it represents an honest effort to help solve a serious problem. I have had a great number of communications from people who are engaged in the liquor business in the state of Pennsylvania, and all of them have been favorable towards some means of restricting minors in this respect. I am just going to quote from a couple of those, because I feel that they are quite pertinent to this discussion.

I have a communication in my hand from the president of the Centre County Liquor Dealers Association, in which he says in part:

"All fair-minded people detest juvenile delinquency and would favor all possible checks on the causes that create delinquency. Drinking alcoholic beverages by youths under twenty-one years of age, a period when their bodies and minds are developing, is not only undesirable but harmful, and is one of the causes of juvenile delinquency. It is undisputed that, in Pennsylvania, thousands of minors drink daily with comparative immunity under existing state laws.

"The Highway Law penalize minors and adults alike, because such is for the public's interests, and we believe that the liquor laws should do the same. We believe that it is for the welfare of the public, and the minors themselves, to have a law that will penalize a minor who purchases or consumes alcoholic beverages on violation of law.

"Other States have met this problem and acted. California, in 1945, enacted such a law, and in 1946, one year later, Mr. George M. Stout, the Liquor Commission Chairman, while visiting in New York, praised the sharp reduction in sales to minors as a result of this law. New Jersey passed a similar law in May, 1946."

There is more to this communication, which is signed by Mr. George J. Gregory, President of the Centre County Liquor and Beer Dealers Association, Incorporated.

I also have a communication from the Elk County Taverns Association, which says in part:

"At a recent meeting of our association, our membership, after considerable discussion, heartily endorsed your proposed bill of requiring identification cards to protect licensees from violations of the minor law.

"Our members are eager to comply with all laws which pertain to the operation of dispensing alcoholic beverages and a measure to protect them from innocently violating the minor law is a worthy one and we congratulate you on the means of identification you propose for the correction of this condition."

I just want to read into the record another communication from the February 10 issue of "Tap and Tavern":

"The licensee views the RLDP-sponsored bills as wholly fair. (That is with particular reference to Senate Bill 49.) After all, it is not he who creates the illegal situation. It's the minor. It is not he who does the soliciting. It's the minor. The burden, therefore, ought to rest upon the one who, by subterfuge, is trying to break the law. The licensee, after discharging his responsibility by inquiring for the card, and inspecting it, may feel that he's done his part. Of course, any legislation should carry adequate penalties where cases of collusion between licensees and minors can be proved.

"Penalties for minors, if imposed consistently, would be a wholesome deterrent to the under-aged. This would be a major step forward in control. And since control is one of the Board's major tasks, may we not hope that the PLCB sees the proposed legislation in the same light as the retailer—added chores notwithstanding?

"Legislators who are not so familiar with the disturbing minor problem must be told how important it is to take corrective steps."

That is the end of the quotation.

In conclusion, Mr. President, I just want to say this, as I have already stated before, that I do not think we could arrive at any specific means of correcting this evil that would be thoroughly agreeable to all concerned. I feel that we should try something, and I think this is worth trying.

I believe the members on the other side are in full agreement with this and I hope my colleagues on this side will feel the same and that they will vote for this bill. I think it is something that can be very helpful.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I have been on my feet addressing the members of this Senae practically every Monday since the session started, about the poor liquor control act we have, and this to my mind is just another confession that the Liquor Control Board can not enforce the act that is on the books.

When the original Liquor Control Board act was passed it was not intended as only a revenue agency. The last three Governors we have had have insisted that the Liquor Control Board is nothing but a revenue raising department, and have not allowed the proper amount of money derived from that department to be used for enforcement.

Then again I say, under this act the liquor dealers are trying to put the responsibility on the youth in our towns or villages where they have their licenses. In my opinion it is up to each and every licensee in a neighborhood to know his trade because they are in a special privileged business, and I for one think this is going in the back door to try and correct an evil, if it does exist.

I am one who has served on the Joint State Government Commission in a study of juvenile delinquency and God save us if this is all that is going to come out of that study.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I want to make the statement that I am speaking entirely my own opinions. There is no party action or party caucus action in this matter.

I do not like to reflect upon the membership of the Senate and say perhaps some members of the Senate have not read the bill, but for the benefit of those who may have had too many committee meetings this morning and have not read this bill, I might just suggest to them what section 1 says:

"Section 1 The statement of registration signed and issued to any registered elector by a Registrar Commissioner or Clerk under the provisions of any permanent personal registration law of this Commonwealth shall for the purpose of this act be and accepted as an identification card."

And then, Mr. President, to further make sure that these young men and women are harrassed, they say in addition, in Section 3:

"3 In addition to the presentation of such identification card the agent of the state liquor store or the licensee or his servant agent or employe shall require the person whose age may be in question to fill in and sign a card in the following form.

"Such statement shall be printed upon a 3 inch by 5 inch or 4 inch by 5 inch file card which card shall be filed alphabetically by the state liquor store of licensee at or before the close of business on the day of which said certificate is executed in a file box containing a suitable alphabetical index and which card shall be subject to examination by any officer agent or employe of the liquor control board at any and all times."

Are we going to start taking a record of all the non-users and users of alcoholic beverages in the state? Is the liquor business an illegitimate child of the state? Some people say so, and that may be true, but it is only a matter of opinion, and I might say to you that any business that contributed close to a hundred million dollars towards the upkeep of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ought to be better looked after, and those of us who are responsible for the financial status of Pennsylvania, for raising revenues and putting into effect the appropriation acts and the administration acts of this state, ought not work so speedily in this matter.

I personally believe that this is very bad legislation.

Mr. LETZLER. Mr. President, the purpose of Section 3 of this act is to provide the licensee with some evidence that he has made proper inquiry of a minor who would be a purchaser. If there were only an identification card used, and if a licensee were only to check up on an identification card, there would not be anything to indicate that he has made any inquiry or made any attempt to find out the age of the minor, but when a licensee has a card on file, he may use it as a defense, which you will note in the last paragraph of the bill. It is permissible for that reason to have the licensee issue such a card and the signed card of a minor can be used as evidence in any prosecution that may take place later, and that is the real objective of section 3.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Clearfield.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Clearfield permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LETZLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Senator, what is to stop a licensee from having, and he must have under this bill, a supply of those cards, and being the type of man that now violates the law, what is to stop him from handing out the cards and having the boys sign them? He is exonerated from any blame under this bill as long as he has the signature of the lad and the lassie. This places the burden of proof entirely on the young man or young lady.

Mr. LETZLER. Mr. President, that is not true. Section 5 of this bill tells you clearly "the signed statement in the possession of a licensee may be offered as a defense in all civil and criminal prosecutions for serving a minor and no penalty shall be imposed if the Liquor Control Board or the courts are satisfied that the licensee acted in good faith."

The final decision rests with the prosecutor.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, if we turn back to page 3, what do we see? In this instance the boy signs a card and he says he knows what he is signing and he is liable to a hundred dollar fine and his signature automatically convicts him.

Mr. LETZLER. The purpose there is to act as a deterrent, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I know the gentleman from Clearfield is sincere, because we have discussed this matter, and we are aiming at the same thing but from different approaches. I do not think we can stop an unscrupulous licensee from selling a drink to anybody. An unscrupulous licensee will be protected under this bill and a legitimate licensee will be harassed by the contents of this bill.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. President, I would like to make just a single observation with regard to the merits of this bill.

I can visualize now, if the bill is passed, a condition in our own registration commission in Philadelphia, where immediately probably tens of thousands of requests will be made for registration cards, both new and duplicate, and I can visualize in the not too distant future, if this bill is passed, the thousands of cards that will just disappear from the files of the registration commission. That is human nature and there is no question in my mind but that will happen. I think we are getting far afield. I think this problem here is one of democratic freedom of action, I think the problem here goes very deep into the roots of our own democracy. We have talked a lot about regimentation in the last sixteen years and if ever I saw it, this is it, and as you know, gentlemen, it can not work and will not work.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, the subject matter of this bill is very worthy and I would like to vote for the purposes behind the bill.

I am going to vote against the bill, and in order to preserve my status on the record, I feel it necessary to make a few remarks.

I am going to vote against this bill for two main reasons. In the first place, I do not think we ought to have two systems of identification, and that is what this bill does. I think we ought either have registration cards or we ought to have an affidavit of age, but when you say a registration card will be sufficient identification and then couple to it and say in addition there shall also be an affidavit, I think you are spoiling the very purpose of the act.

Secondly, I think we are by this legislation putting the wrong emphasis on youthful drinking. I think we are going to call to the attention of the youths of our state the fact that they are being deprived of a very fine opportunity to drink "private stock" and the other swell blends that we sell in our liquor stores and our taverns. I think by this legislation it will be publicizing the youth of our state and they will be rushing into the registration offices to become registered, not for the purpose of voting, but for the purpose of drinking, which would not have occurred to them, in all likelihood, if it had not been for this kind of legislation.

For those reasons I feel forced to vote against this bill.

Mr. TARR. Mr. President, I am quite reluctant to take the floor at this hour, because I have been threatened with dire consequences if we are not out of here at a certain hour this evening.

However, Mr. President, I have received a communication from the Fayette County Liquor Dealers Association, of which Mr. John Finnell, of Uniontown, Pennsylvania, is president, in which it is stated that the Fayette County Liquor Dealers Association has gone on record against Senate Bill 49, and they have given as their reason that they as liquor dealers feel that they have a certain responsibility to their community and that no legislation is needed for the liquor dealers of the Commonwealth, in order to clean up their own back porches.

My colleague here, Senator Woodring, has given some mighty fine reasons for voting against this bill. I too have the same feeling in regard to our youth. I know that some of the men who have opposed the bill are going to vote for the bill, have opposed it on the floor and will then vote for the bill.

I think if we went back of the whole situation of juvenile delinquency, whether or not the liquor dealers of Pennsylvania are just trying to find something to hide behind, you would have the solution to this problem.

I would suggest that the members of this body consider very carefully before casting their vote, and when they have mulled it over in their minds and found what will happen if we are going to give the youth of this Commonwealth the right to buy intoxicating liquors simply upon the presentation of a card and signing a slip, I wonder if we are not more to blame for juvenile delinquency in the Commonwealth than they.

I am very much interested in the question of liquor control and I am interested in the protection of those licensees, and a legitimate dealers association, the Fayette County Liquor Dealers Association, have asked me to cast my vote against Senate Bill No. 49.

Mr. FRAZIER. Mr. President, I am wondering whether those who are opposed to this legislation are not hiding behind a very transparent screen. I am not a frequenter of taprooms, but I know that the youth of Pennsylvania are going in taprooms and the girls have their feet up on the rail, and conditions are entirely different from what they were in the days of the Brooks High License Law, when it meant something.

This is a "may" bill. The proprietor of a saloon may request these young people to tell their age. If the proprietor of a saloon is still determined to evade the law, he can take the youth in just the same as he did, but I believe any step which can be taken by the people of Pennsylvania to stop these indiscretions of these young people under twenty-one years of age is a good bill, and I propose to vote for it because I think it is going to be a deterrent.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President—

The PRESIDENT. On what question does the gentleman from Westmoreland desire to speak?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I wish to speak upon the remarks made by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Frazier.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Westmoreland may proceed.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I just want to say to the gentleman from Philadelphia that I have been here now, not as many years as the gentleman claims credit for but in the years I have been here no person has ever accused me of sham or hiding behind any screen or pretense.

My objections are objections based upon my own judgment. Whether that judgment is good or bad, I will take the consequences, but I am not hiding any hidden motives when I vote against this bill, and I want to call to the attention of the gentleman from Philadelphia that this legislation is not "may" legislation; but it is "must" legislation because it specifically says a licensee "shall" demand.

Mr. FRAZIER. Mr. President, may I say to the Senator from Westmoreland that while I came here long before he did, in the little time I have been back, and the time he has been here he has said a great deal more than I said in the whole time I was here.

I understood the gentleman from Westmoreland to say he was in favor of some kind of a deterrent but—and then comes the "but"—it is the old story, you do this or else—and it seems to me, as I stand here, that every bit of legislation which is proposed for the benefit of this Commonwealth is subject to some sort of comment by the gentleman on the other side. I was impressed by that, in regard to the Governor's message, when the gentleman on the other side was all prepared with a typewritten statement, mimeographed, and ready to criticize the Governor's budget message before the Governor's budget message was delivered and I say now, with all due respect to the Senator from Westmoreland, that he ought to be for this legislation, and if it needs correction in any way, let it be corrected in the House, but let us send it over there.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I am very much surprised at my good colleague from Philadelphia, Senator Frazier. I gathered from his remarks that the gentleman from Philadelphia would like to have discussion curtailed. Does the Senator from Philadelphia not realize that Senator Dent is the mouthpiece for the minority and naturally he must speak more often? If you would like to have some of the other Senators speak once in a while, I will be only too glad to arise and say something once in a while.

Mr. FRAZIER. Mr. President, I am in a quandry now, because I heard a man say, almost with a solemn oath, that he was not going to make any remarks today, that he had to get to Williamsport to make a political speech at four o'clock, and here it is twenty minutes of five and we have made no progress.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not want to be in the position of correcting the elder statesman from Philadelphia, but the record will show that any remarks that I made on the Governor's message were made extemporaneously on the floor of the Senate, and that a week later I came in with a prepared statement, when I had time to digest the report on the budget.

However, Mr. President, that does not take away from this bill any of the things that I call bad, nor does it add any of the things that you may call good.

I just want it clearly understood that when I oppose legislation, I oppose it because it is an honest difference of opinion. I do not talk because I like to hear myself talk, because at times I too get tired—that is an honest confession—but when I have a job to do, whether in the mills for twelve hours a day, whether in the mines in the bowels of the earth, bringing up coal, or whether it is on the floor of the Senate, I do the job I was elected to do, and I am going to do it, whether certain parties like it or whether they do not.

Mr. FRAZIER. Mr. President, if the gentleman from Westmoreland wants to have the last word, let him have it.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—38

Becker,	Farrell,	Lord,	Taylor,

(s) "State Experience" means a percentage obtained by dividing the total amount of compensation paid from the Unemployment Compensation Fund less any refunds (including the repayment and recovery of compensation erroneously paid) made to such fund during the [last three completed calendar years] first twelve (12) of the last fourteen (14) completed calendar quarters immediately preceding the calendar year which includes the calendar quarter to which the contribution rate is applicable by the total wages of all compensated employees as defined in subsection (y) of this section for such [three calendar years] twelve (12) calendar quarters such percentage to be adjusted to the nearest multiple of one per centum

* * * * *

(y) "Wages of a Compensated Employee" with respect to each benefit year which begins prior to the first day of June one thousand nine hundred and forty-five means wages which were paid to the compensated employee by an employer of such employee in the base year immediately preceding the employee's benefit year and which wages shall be treated as though they had been paid in the calendar [year] quarter in which the first compensation of the employee's benefit year was paid and with respect to each benefit year which begins subsequent to the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred and forty-five means the first one thousand three hundred and sixty-six dollars ($1,366) in wages which were paid to the compensated employee by an employer of such employee in the base year immediately preceding the employee's benefit year and which wages shall be treated as though they had been paid in the calendar [year] quarter in which that amount of compensation was paid which together with any amounts of compensation previously paid with respect to such benefit year equals at least three times the employee's weekly benefit rate

Section 2 Section three hundred one of said act as last amended by the act approved the twentieth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 1145) is hereby reenacted and further amended to read as follows

Section 301 Contributions by Employers Experience Rating.

(a) Each employer shall pay contributions equal to the following percentages of wages paid or payable by him or it with respect to employment occurring prior to the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and forty-two

(1) Nine-tenths per centum with respect to employment occurring during the calendar year 1936

(2) One and eight-tenths per centum with respect to employment occurring during the calendar year 1937

(3) Two and seven-tenths per centum with respect to employment occurring during the calendar years 1938 1939 1940 and 1941

(b) Each employer shall pay contributions equal to two and seven-tenths per centum of wages paid by him or it with respect to employment occurring subsequent to the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and forty-one Provided That notwithstanding the provisions of this section prior to the effective date of this amendment with respect to wages paid during the calendar year one thousand nine hundred and forty-four for employment occurring subsequent to the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and forty-one and with respect to wages paid during the calendar year one thousand nine hundred and forty-five for employment occurring subsequent to the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and forty-one such percentage may be adjusted according to the provisions of this act prior to the effective date of this amendment and Provided further That with respect to wages paid during the calendar year one thousand nine hundred and forty-six for employment occurring subsequent to the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and forty-one and with respect to wages paid during each calendar year thereafter for employment occurring subsequent to the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and forty-one such percentage may be adjusted between a minimum rate of one per centum and a maximum rate of two and seven-tenths per centum in accordance with the following provisions of this section if the employer had paid contributions under this act for one or more quarters in each of the five calendar years immediately preceding the year for which the rate is applicable Notwithstanding the provisions of section three hundred eleven any employer who prior to the enactment of this amendment may have paid contributions on wages paid during the calendar year one thousand nine hundred forty-four or one thousand nine hundred forty-five for employment occurring prior to the first day of January one thousand nine hundred forty-four at a rate of two and seven-tenths per centum such employer shall not be entitled to a refund of any portion of such contributions paid on the basis that this amendment reduces the amount of contributions required to be paid with respect to such wages but such employer may make application for adjustment in connection with subsequent contribution payments as provided in section three hundred eleven of any amount which he has paid with respect to such wages which is in excess of the amount of contributions required to be paid with respect to such wages under the provisions of this act as amended Except as specifically provided under section four hundred and four wages paid with respect to employment performed under Shipping Articles shall for the purposes of this act be considered as having been paid as of a date determined under rules and regulations of the department irrespective of when actual payment was made to the employee

(c) The rate of contribution payable by an employer entitled to an adjustment between the minimum rate of one per centum and the maximum rate of two and seven-tenths per centum for each calendar year commencing with the year one thousand nine hundred and forty-four shall be determined prior to the due date of his first contribution for the year in accordance with the following table

(d) An employer's rate of contribution for each calendar year commencing with the calendar year one thousand nine hundred and forty-four shall be subject to adjustment as provided in clause (f) hereof be that specified at the end of the column in which on the line opposite the State Experience there [first] appears [a] the percentage [equal to or in excess of] nearest to the Employer's Experience. Provided That the rate of contribution of any employer whose Employer's Experience is in excess of the percentage appearing in column four on the line opposite the State Experience shall be two and seven-tenths per centum and Provided further That if the Employer Experience of any employer computed to an infinite number of decimal places is exactly equally removed from two percentage figures which appear on the line opposite the State Experience the rate of contribution of such employer shall be the rate specified at the end of the column in which appears the higher of such two percentage figures [If no percentage equal to or in excess of the Employer's Experience appears on such line his rate of contribution shall be two and seven-tenth per centum]

(e) No employer's rate of contribution for any calendar year commencing with the calendar year one thousand nine hundred and forty-four shall be less than two and seven-tenths per centum unless all his contributions due on wages paid to the end of the [third] second calendar quarter of the preceding calendar year together with interest and penalties due thereon have been paid by the thirty-first day of December of such preceding calendar year [and all his contributions on wages paid during the fourth calendar quarter of the preceding calendar year have been paid when due]

(f) Safety factor To assure an adequate balance in the fund to meet the benefit payments which may be expected the employer's rate of contribution determined in accordance with paragraph (d) of this section shall be adjusted in accordance with the following table if at the end of any calendar quarter commencing with the calendar quarter ending the thirty-first day of March one thousand nine hundred and forty-four the balance in the Unemployment Trust Fund to the credit of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is less than eight and one tenth per centum of the total wages of all employees paid during the first four of the last five completed calendar quarters as reported to the department by the end of the last completed calendar quarter immediately preceding the calendar quarter at the end of which such adjustment is to be made

(g) Successor-in-interest (1) Pursuant to rules adopted by the department an employer who prior to the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and forty-six acquires an organization trade or business in whole or in part from another employer shall immediately notify the department and for the purpose of ascertaining the rate of contribution of the succeeding employer his "Employer's Experience" shall include that of the prior employer as related to the whole or part of the organization trade or business acquired. Such a succeeding employer shall receive full credit for the years during which the former employer made contributions as to the organization trade or business acquired.

(2) An employer who subsequent to the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and forty-five transfers his or its organization trade or business in whole or in part to a successor-in-interest may jointly make application with such successor-in-interest for transfer of the "Employer's Experience" of the preceding employer to the successor-in-interest including credit for the years during which contributions were paid by the preceding employer. The department may allow such transfer of "Employer's Experience" pursuant to rules and regulations adopted by the department only if it finds that the "Employer's Experience" of the preceding employer with respect to the organization trade or business or part thereof as the case may be which has been transferred may be considered indicative of the future "Employer's Experience" of the successor-in-interest. In the event of a part transfer of an employer's organization trade or business only that portion of the "Employer's Experience" relating to the portion of the organization trade or business transferred shall be transferred and credit shall be given to the successor-in-interest only for the years during which contributions were paid by the preceding employer with respect to that part of the organization trade or business transferred. A transfer of "Employer's Experience" in whole or in part having been applied for and approved by the department the preceding employer thereafter shall not be entitled to consideration for an adjusted rate based upon his experience or part thereof as the case may be which has been thus transferred.

(h) The department shall promptly notify each employer of his rate of contributions for the calendar year determined as provided in this section and for each calendar quarter when modifications in rates are made in accordance with paragraph (f). The department shall furnish each employer with a statement showing the base year wages from such employer of each of his compensated employees and the benefit year to which such wages relate. The determination of the department shall become conclusive and binding upon the employer unless within thirty days after the mailing of notice thereof to the employer's last known post office address the employer files an application for review and redetermination setting forth his reasons therefor. The department may if it deems the reasons set forth by the employer insufficient to change the rate of contribution deny the application otherwise it shall grant the employer a fair hearing. The employer shall be promptly notified of the denial of his application or of the department's redetermination both of which shall become final and conclusive within thirty days after the mailing of notice thereof to the employer's last known post office address unless the employer shall appeal by petition from the action of the department to the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County within such time.

(i) The petition filed in the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County shall set forth the reasons why the employer deems the rate of contribution determined by the department is incorrect. No questions shall be raised in any such petition except such as were set forth in the application for review and redetermination by the department. A copy of the petition shall be served on the secretary or his deputy. The court shall fix a time for hearing the petition and after hearing shall enter such order affirming or changing the rate of contribution determined by the department as to it appears just and proper. From the decision of the court an appeal may be taken by the department or the employer to the Supreme or Superior Court as in other cases.

(j) Pending the determination of the correct rate of contribution payable by an employer where an appeal to court has been taken the employer shall be liable to the payment of the contributions at the rate as determined by the department. But if the rate of contribution is changed by order of court then the department shall without application by the employer make an adjustment thereof in connection with subsequent contribution payments as provided in section three hundred eleven of this act or the employer may apply for a refund in accordance with said section.

(k) Each employer shall be given notice of the filing of applications for benefits by his former employees as provided in section five hundred one. Notice having been properly given as provided in such section no employer shall have standing in any proceeding involving his rate of contributions to contest the chargeability to his account of any wages of a compensated employee on the grounds that he was not given sufficient or adequate notice or opportunity to be heard.

[ (1) The provisions of this section shall be effective only for the duration of the present war and thereafter until the end of the calendar year in which occurs the beginning of the first regular session of the Legislature which meets after the President of the United States declares that the present state of war no longer exists.]

(1) For purposes of determining whether or not an employer has paid contributions in each of the five calendar years immediately preceding the year for which a rate is applicable as provided in subsection (b) of this section in order to be eligible for consideration for an adjusted rate an employer who shall have served in the active military or naval service of the United States at any time after the sixteenth day of September one thousand nine hundred and forty and prior to the termination of the present war and who shall have been discharged or released from active service under conditions other than dishonorable shall be deemed to have paid contributions under this act during any calendar year any part of which is included in such period of military or naval service provided that he has actually paid contributions under this act for one or more quarters in either the calendar year in which he entered such military service or in the immediately preceding calendar year.

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective the first day of January one thousand nine hundred forty-eight.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I think it is quite important that facts and figures be submitted in support of this bill.

When legislation relative to unemployment compensation was first being considered by the Federal Congress, there were no means or statistics available by which the costs could be reasonably ascertained. The experimental rate was fixed at 3 per cent of the payroll, 3/10 per cent to be set aside for costs of administration and the remaining 2.7 per cent to be paid into the reserve fund, from which payments to the unemployed are made.

At the time, the late President Roosevelt stated that the expenditures under the law could not be ascertained to any degree of certainty and the required rate for contribution could not be accurately determined, and suggested that the states might experiment with the matter.

Most of the states through the years have found out from experience that a flat rate of 2.7 per cent is more than sufficient to carry out the provisions of the various acts, even though the benefits paid have been greatly increased.

In Pennsylvania the payments into the unemployment compensation fund began with the calendar year 1936. Benefits were first paid from the fund in 1938. The balance in the reserve fund on January 1, 1938 was $70,-181,000. By the end of 1943, and after five years of experience with a flat rate of 2.7 per cent of payroll contribution by employers, the balance in the reserve fund was $468,699,000. During this five year period the reserve was increased after the payment of all benefits by $398,500,000.

As a result of this experience, the 1943 Legislature saw fit to pass an experience rating amendment to the law, whereby employers who maintain steady work for their employees would receive a reduction in their rate for contribution. This became effective on January 1, 1944. Under this act, no employer pays more than 2.7 per cent contribution and none less than 1 per cent. This act was also passed as an experiment and will expire on January 1, 1948.

Now let us see what happened to the reserve fund during three year's operation with experiment rating in effect. The reserve fund balance on January 1, 1944 was $468,699,000. On December 31, 1946 it was $587,047,000, an increase of $118,348,000. During this period there were two years when employment was steady but in 1946, due to strikes and the reconversion period, there was much unemployment. More persons were beneficiaries and more money was paid out than in any previous year.

The reserve fund under this bill has also a safety factor provision so that the fund will always maintain an adequate balance. Should the balance in the fund at the end of any three month's period be below 8.1 per cent of the total wages of all employees for a full year, the rate of contribution by all employers, except those paying 2.7 per cent, is increased. Should the reserve for any reason drop below 6.4 per cent of the total wages paid, all employers would pay the maximum rate of 2.7 per cent.

Let us compare the reserve fund as it has existed in comparison to the total amount of wages. At the end of 1944 the reserve amounted to $560,636,000. Total wages paid which were subject to the tax were $5,432,000,000. A reserve of 8.1 per cent was $461,151,000. The actual reserve exceeded this amount by $99,485,000. At the end of 1945, upon the same basis, the amount in the fund exceeded 8.1 per cent of the total wages paid by $180,770,000. At the end of 1946, using an estimate for the last six months of the year, the amount in the fund exceeded 8.1 per cent of the total wages paid by $122,755,000.

The reserve fund at the present time amounts to approximately $600,000,000. Had experience rating not become effective, the fund would have amounted to $850,000,000. Thus, without experience rating, approximately a quarter of a billion dollars would have been withdrawn from active business to lie idle in the reserve fund. I contend that it is far better to have this quarter of a billion dollars available for use by employers than to lie idle in a fund which is more than ample to take care of all requirements.

It should also be kept in mind that over the years the benefits have been increased. The waiting period was reduced and the amount of payments increased. During the first year 1938, in which payments were made, the average check to an individual was $11.18. For the year 1946 the average check was for $18.09.

Unless the Legislature takes action now, experience rating will expire at the end of the year.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I do not dispute any figures which the distinguished gentleman from Lancaster may have submitted.

I oppose merit rating upon its principle. Merit rating was a brain child of the Martin administration and in 1943 it was passed, which appeared to be a war-time measure. The enactment of this bill today would, to my way of thinking, nullify the original intent of the social security act and unemployment insurance act that was passed in 1936.

My argument against merit rating is based on the fact that it definitely aligns the employer against the employee and I would like to cite to you an actual case.

Most of us recall the strike of mine foremen which occurred in the bituminous coal mines of western Pennsylvania approximately a year ago. Most of us recall that District 50 of the United Mine workers were attempting to organize the mine foreman. As a result of this organization drive, the mines were shut down for awhile and the rank and file of the United Mine Workers were unable to go into the diggings, due to the fact that the mines had not been properly inspected by duly accredited officials, as required by law.

They applied for their unemployment insurance and in most cases they were denied that by the local offices. They then applied, within the time limit as required by law, for a hearing before a referee, and when those hearings were held—mind you, the rank and file of coal miners are ordinary laymen—when they appeared before this referee, who was familiar with all the provisions of the act, they were subjected to interrogation and cross-examination, and after he had finished with them, they faced a barrage of legal talent which was hired by the coal corporation, for one purpose alone, that is, to protect their rate.

The result was that the rank and file were disallowed their unemployment compensation benefits. They appealed to the board of review and it was the same case, their claims were disallowed.

Governor Duff said quite a while ago that business should cooperate with labor. If we pass this bill we are a party to agitating labor strikes, because in Western Pennsylvania coal miners feel that an injustice has been done them, and I take the same position, because here they are trying to collect a mere pittance of the unemployment compensation due them and they are faced with this barrage of legal talent hired by the coal companies and they are not in a position to spend any large amount of money to retain legal counsel, and the result is they lose.

Today I know for a fact quite a few persons who, in my opinion, are justly entitled to benefits, but who throw up their hands in despair and say "what is the use, why apply, we are taken before a referee, the claim is disallowed, we have to spend money to hire an attorney" and they have given up any idea of attempting to collect unemployment compensation.

A merit rating system, I will grant, save the employer a considerable amount of money. I agree with the Senator from Lancaster that we have a large sum in the fund, but the principle is wrong. We must take into consideration this fact, that this bill affects every one that works for a living, it affects all the people that work in the mines, mills, factories, whether they be Republican or Democratic. I feel the same as I did yesterday. I feel that this bill should be given a public hearing and let every one voice their opinions, whether they be proponents or opponents.

MOTION THAT BILL BE RECOMMITTED

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 78, the bill just read, be recommitted to the Committee on Labor and Industry, for the purpose of a public hearing.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I second the motion. On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. LANE. I will not ask that the roll be called.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, in seconding the motion of the gentleman from Washington, Senator Lane, I want to draw to the attention of the members here that of the group which are being denied the right of a public hearing, most of the heads of that group are now in this hall—Mr. McDevitt, President of the State A. F. of L., and the head of the miners, and just a short time ago a member of Mr. Duff's cabinet, Mr. Williams, was in the hall of this Senate.

Mr. McDevitt wrote to the chairman of the committee asking for a hearing. I understand that his letter was not received till April 3. I want to point out that to hold this on a technicality is wrong. This bill was introduced February 4, it was reported out on February 18, first reading was had on February 18; it went over in order on the 24th and the 25th of February. And on March 3, 4, 10, 11, 12.

Mr. President, I may have been in error when I said April 1st—I meant March 3, when Mr. McDevitt's letter was received, so therefore the letter was in the hands of the Committee on Labor and Industry March 3 and the bill was on the Calendar on March 4, 10, 11, 12, it was amended on March 17 and again went over in order on March 17, 18 and 19, so there was plenty of time to recognize the request of an organization which is vitally concerned in this bill, because it is the men that belong to that organization that will suffer.

I could go on and quote hundreds of cases which happened in the Pittsburgh district, because my desk at home is filled full of requests from people who have tried for unemployment compensation. Just as the gentleman from Washington, Senator Lane, has stated, they have been postponed, they have appealed and before they are through they are disgusted because they feel, if they have to appeal, they must get an attorney, and a man who is unemployed and who is asking for money for his family, where is he going to get money to pay for an attorney, when he has to feed his own family and he needs money to buy food. I think that is unfair.

I believe any interests, regardless of what interests they are, in Pennsylvania, have a right to be heard on any bill that concerns them. This concerns the man who works more than it concerns the man who pays unemployment compensation, because, after all the man who works is the man who makes the profit for the man who employs him, because labor and capital must be one to make profits and one without the other is of no use under our system.

I ask and plead with you to send this bill back to committee and let this group be heard, they have a right to be heard, and I do not think any member of this Senate will deny them that right.

Mr. President, I second the motion that Senate Bill 78 be recommitted to committee for a public hearing.

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, the bill we now have up for action came out of committee on the eighteenth day of February and it has been on our calendar for over a month. During that time not one word was spoken to me relative to a public hearing on this bill. If there was any oversight, it was by the parties in interest in not asking for a hearing, and by being dilatory is not coming and asking for it until the bill was called up for final passage or upon second reading. It was allowed to go over in order day after day. For that reason I ask my colleagues to vote down this motion to recommit the bill back to committee.

Mr. LEADER. Mr. President and members of the Senate, it seems to me the bill we have before us for our consideration now, involves more than a mere reduction of the unemployment compensation insurance rate for a certain group of employers. It seems to me the whole theory of unemployment compensation is involved.

The duty of every employer toward that problem, and the whole theory of this matter, was discussed so well by the assistant editor of the York "Gazette," in his column "Fact and Fancy," that I would like to read from that column. It is as follows:

"Unemployment compensation wasn't much of a problem during the war. Practically everybody was employed. Anybody who could perform even limited work was invited to take a job.

"The Legislature, recognizing this unusual condition, passed a bill which put employers subject to unemployment compensation tax on what was called a merit-rating basis. An employer who had low labor turnover was given a low rate of tax. Employers with a high turnover, followed by periods of complete unemployment on the part of his workers, was given a higher rating and had to pay a higher tax.

"There were injustices in this bill for a small number of employers. But most of the employers were happy because their unemployment tax was drastically cut. They could maintain full employment because the economic system was working at capacity. Because of the full employment, even the small employer taxes caused a huge surplus of funds to pile up. (Nobody denies that.)

"The employers like this setup very much. They like it so well that they want to continue it in peacetime. So the employers' lobbies are hard at work supporting Senate bill 78 in the current session of the Legislature. The chances are the bill will pass for two reasons: (1) The employers don't understand the functions of the capitalist system, and (2) The legislators understand them even less, and a great number of them are eager beavers when it comes to doing the bidding of the employers' lobbies.

"The argument in favor of the passage of this bill which would continue the so-called merit or experience rating of employers is very simple, and, if one doesn't probe too deeply, convincing.

"It is this: An employer who keeps his employees working 52 weeks out of the year receives no benefit from the unemployment compensation fund. Neither do his employees because they haven't been unemployed. So why should he be taxed for unemployment for which he is in no way responsible? Isn't it an injustice to ask him to finance somebody else's unemployment?

"Try to answer that argument by reference only to individual enterprises. It's unassailable. That's why the merit-rating bill has gathered so much support.

"Digging into the philosophy of the capitalist economy, however, one finds that this has no substantial basis.

The function of capitalism is the creation and distribution of wealth. That is the only real reason for its existence. In that respect it is no different from any other economic system, whether it be socialism, communism, or feudalism.

"Under capitalism, the manager of an aggregation of capital is the employer. He needs a supply of manpower in order to operate his business. That manpower is somewhat different from a machine. It can't be turned on and off at will. Manpower dies if it isn't used.

"The individual employer can't be expected to operate independent of the system. Even though his own business may be one that can and does operate 52 weeks out of the year with a stable labor force, that self-same business may have contributed to the 52-week work year other businesses which may operate at different levels at different periods of the year.

"So the responsibility for the conservation of manpower in a capitalist system doesn't lie with one employer, or with a dozen employers. The conservation of manpower—unemployment insurance, in particular—is the responsibility of the whole capitalist system.

"The evidence that the capitalists as individuals don't want to accept this responsibility has been with us since the early days of American industrialism when the manufacturers of New England would work their employes for short periods and then let them starve until workers were needed again. The evidence that they still don't want to accept this responsibility is present in the Legislative halls, where they seek to secure special exemptions on the ground that they aren't direct contributors to the unemployment problem.

"The only method we have to press upon them what is their responsibility is through unemployment insurance legislation, not on the basis of direct or indirect responsibility for days of unemployment, but on the basis of general payrolls. The whole capitalist system is so inter-related that no single business can be isolated from it. The need for funds for unemployment compensation can become so great that the so-called merit system can wreck the whole program. Once the unemployment compensation program is wrecked, the 52-weeks-a-year business enterprises suffer with the rest of them."

I am going to cease reading from the column at that point.

All of us are vitally interested in the American way of life and the free enterprise system based upon capitalism. In the world of today our own United States is the only nation of importance in which capitalism continues to flourish.

In this struggle for survival, I believe it is the role of industry as a whole to support our national economy, and I believe that when our unemployment compensation fund has reached the point of stability which now it has arrived at according to our experience, then let us give to industry the benefit of a lower rate of unemployment compensation insurance.

I am earnestly interested in lifting every possible burden from the lack of industry, but you will agree, Mr. President, I feel certain, that stability in our economy is of far greater importance than a mere reduction in the rate paid for unemployment insurance.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lancaster permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOMSHER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, has the gentleman from Lancaster talked with the Secretary of the Department of Labor and Industry, Mr. Chestnut, about his conferences, through his Executive Secretary, with Mr. McDevitt, on this bill?

Mr. HOMSHER. I have not.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Homsher, they have had quite a few conferences on this bill and nothing definite has come out of those conferences. Do you not think it is any more than fair that at least this bill ought to be held until we hear from the Secretary of Labor and Industry, who should be vitally interested in this bill.

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, this bill will go to the House and, if it is deemed advisable that a public hearing be held, it can be held there. I think it is time now to vote on the bill, after it has been on the calendar for over a month.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I just want to make it a matter of record that the Secretary of Labor and Industry has had conferences, through his Executive Assistant, with Mr. McDevitt, of the American Federation of Labor, on this bill, and I think the status quo of this bill should remain until something is done by either party.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I want to call to the attention of the members of both sides of this Senate the correspondence involved in the request for a public hearing on this bill. There has been some implication that a public hearing was denied, and for that reason I refer to a letter which I received from Mr. McDevitt, dated February 28, in which he says this:

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 28, 1947.

"Honorable James S. Berger House Post Office
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

"Dear Senator:

"I wrote to you last week with respect to the position of our Federation on Senate Bill No. 78, introduced by Senator Homsher on the subject of experienced rating.

"If for any reason, your committee may be inclined to report this bill out for action by the Senate, I would appreciate very much your affording the labor movement an opportunity to present our views on this matter at an open hearing in line with the policy followed by the United States Senate and Congress on matters that vitally effect the welfare of the working men and women of our nation.

"I am sure you will agree with the writer when I say that this measure very seriously affects our people. Any consideration extended in this matter will be deeply appreciated.

Sincerely yours,

JAMES L. McDEVITT, President."

On March 4, I wrote to Mr. McDevitt as follows:

"Dear Mr. McDevitt:

"I acknowledge receipt of your letter of February 28th which was addressed to the House Post Office and did not come to me until yesterday, March 3rd. This, however, would not be material as far as complying with your request of a hearing on Senate Bill No. 78 is concerned, inasmuch, as this bill was reported out of committee on Labor and Industry, February 18th.

"Please be assured that I would have been very glad to comply with your request had your letter reached me before it was acted upon in committee.

"If I can give you any further information concerning this bill, I will be glad to do so."

Mr. McDevitt replied on March 7, as follows:

"Dear Senator:

"I have your reply of March 4, to our previous correspondence of February 28, on the subject of Senate Bill No. 78. I am sorry to learn that you did not receive our correspondence until March 3.

"However, since it will not be possible for us to have a hearing on this very important measure in the Senate, I shall endeavor to do so in the House."

The previous correspondence referred to, Mr. President, in Mr. McDevitt's letter of February 28, was a circular letter addressed to all members of the Senate and contained no request for a public hearing.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask your indulgence for just a moment. I should like to state that I can not see any necessity for rushing this bill through the Senate. It is going to be a long time before we adjourn sine die and, I believe in all fairness to all the people that we should afford everyone an opportunity to present their views and I believe that a public hearing is in order on this bill.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lancaster permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOMSHER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. JASPAN. Can the gentleman from Lancaster assure us that the House will give a public hearing on Senate Bill 78?

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I can not assure anyone what the House committee will do.

Mr. JASPAN. Did I understand the gentleman from Lancaster a few minutes ago to say that if we pass Senate Bill 78 in this body the House will give it a public hearing?

Mr. HOMSHER. No, I did not say they would give it a public hearing, because I have no knowledge as to whether they will or not.

Mr. JASPAN. I did not hear the gentleman from Lancaster.

Mr. HOMSHER. I have no knowledge as to what action the House committee will take.

Mr. JASPAN. In other words, the gentleman from Lancaster feels there should not be any public hearing at all on this bill?

Mr. HOMSHER. I do not feel that way about it, Mr. President.

Mr. JASPAN. How does the gentleman feel about it?

Mr. HOMSHER. My own opinion is that the House will grant a hearing on the bill.

Mr. JASPAN. It is the opinion of the gentleman from Lancaster that the House will grant a public hearing on this bill; is that correct?

Mr. HOMSHER. That is correct.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading.

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I want to make sure that my number one fan from Philadelphia is here—I do not see him in his place—oh, there he is; I just wanted to make sure Senator Frazier was here to hear the discussion.

Mr. President, since the majority of the Senate has seen fit to deny a public hearing on this important legislation, I want to make clear my position on the matter.

In the first place, public hearings are held to enlighten the members of the Senate as to the merits and demerits of any particular piece of legislation. By the action just taken the majority membership takes the position that their minds are fully made up and that no amount of new evidence would change their particular vote upon this matter.

I think Senator Leader brought out to the Senate the fundamental weaknesses inherent in any legislation that has as a basis for its passage the argument that certain individual employers would receive benefits that they themselves know will not accrue to other employers in the Commonwealth.

Every person in this room knows that certain industries in this Commonwealth, by the very nature of the industry itself, can never hope to attain a merit rating under the experience plan of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

We are saying in substance to a great many of the sustaining industries in this Commonwealth you are condemned by the nature of this bill to the payment of the full penalties of the law, whereas another industry, because of the nature of the industry, receives a lowered tax upon its payroll.

Every person knows that the large sustaining industries in this Commonwealth have a fluctuating employment record, they are not the masters of their own payrolls, they are dependent upon the economic conditions as they prevail, not only in the particular locality but in the entire country.

I know that many of these industries have been lulled to sleep because we are still riding upon the crest of that huge wave of prosperity that was brought to this country because of the war years, and I think all of us know that the fund has accumulated enormous millions of dollars because of that fact, and although I have read carefully the figures which show that there was a $15,000,000 increase from October of 1946 until March of 1947 in the fund, that is still not the criterion to be used in measuring the vote upon this legislation because, Mr. President and members of the Senate, this legislation is fundamentally unsound.

The great industrial state of New York has recognized its responsibility to employers and to employees of that Commonwealth, because it has set up a system of experience rating, or merit rating, whichever name you would care to call it by, whereby all employers in the state of New York receive a reduction in rate when the fund reaches a certain ceiling. That is the only equitable system to reduce or increase payments on the part of employers. An employer in industry that has static employment cannot claim credit for that condition. He can claim credit, though, for the prosperity and the steady employment in his industry because of the fact that certain other industries with enormous payrolls make his industry possible.

If it were not for the use of the term causing confusion, I would say that the scavenger type of industries, whose whole prosperity is dependent upon the payrolls put out by large productive industries that have a fluctuating nature of employment, are the beneficiaries directly under this particular type of legislation.

Some of you may not know it, but I was the original sponsor, along with the Honorable Paul Mumma, when in the House of Representatives, of unemployment compensation legislation in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I can remember distinctly the type of opposition that was aroused at that time. I might say that there was a unanimous Republican vote against this bill when it was originally conceived and introduced. Although we passed this bill in the House, it was defeated in the then Republican controlled Senate.

In 1936, by the grace of God and majority of votes in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, my political party gained a majority in the House and Senate. In a special session called immediately following that election, in a six-day session, we enacted the bill that had previously been turned down in the Senate.

I bring this bit of history to your attention to show you that from the very beginning of this type of legislation, the Republican party has been antagonistic to it, and today you are trying to put into a permanent piece of legislation an unsound fundamental law. I say that because, despite all arguments to the contrary, we are picking a certain select group of employers and saying to them, because of a condition in your industry over which you have no control, because all of us who employ men—and I am in that position—know that the question of one per cent or 1.7 per cent of our payrolls is not the determining factor when our business drops to where we can not maintain employment. The thing that controls the number of employes that we maintain upon our payroll is the question of the business that we do.

This legislation has nothing to do with that. It does benefit, however, people in industries like utilities, banks, newspapers, restaurants, service industries that depend for their own prosperity upon the industries that we here now are penalizing.

I know, as I have said before, that the opposition to the bill at this time is very dormant, because during the rush years of war prosperity, because of the huge contributions being made to the fund, we have been able to grant merit ratings to a great many industries that will lose their merit ratings, if we follow the formula, just as soon as the natural economies of this state go into effect.

During the discussion on whether or not a public hearing was a proper thing, I refrained from getting into the debate.

However, for the purposes of the record, in order that certain numbers of Pennsylvania employes can point to the record and see there their sentiments expressed as to how they feel about this legislation, I want to read into the record the argument of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, in a modified form, and the argument of the Congress of Industrial Unions, and I quote first from a letter addressed to me on February 24, over the signature of James L. McDevitt, President of the American Federation of Labor, I might say this is an open letter which you have all received, and I quote.

"To All Members of the Pennsylvania General Assembly

"The membership of the American Federation of Labor in Pennsylvania is vitally concerned with the provisions contained in Senate Bill 78, introduced by Senator Homsher of Lancaster County. The purpose of this measure is to place the 'experience rating' system of unemployment compensation, adopted by the Pennsylvania Legislature for the period of the war, as a permanent section of that act.

"We are unalterably opposed to this proposal for two specific reasons; first, because such a system imposes penalties on employers engaged in seasonal industries and favors the public utilities, banks and other institutions who are in a position to maintain a steady pay roll throughout the year; secondly, employers, in order to protect their benefit rating, are for the most part now contesting practically all decisions made by the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, the referee or the Board of Review."

I would like to digress a minute from the contents of this letter in order to say to you that this is one of the evils that has grown up out of passage of temporary legislation by this legislature. Gentlemen, for over a generation we fought in these halls the workmen's compensation law provision that put the burden of proof upon the injured employe in the Commonwealth and after many long struggles we finally deleted that particularly obnoxious feature from the workmen's compensation law.

You have allowed now to creep into unemployment compensation this same evil thing. You have placed upon the discharged or unemployed furloughed employe in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania the burden of proof as to whether he or she is entitled to unemployment compensation.

You may say that this discussion will not change a vote—those of us of long experience know that to be true—but on through the years, as a small valiant group, we fought the fight for reform of workmen's compensation, so this small group is fighting now, and I predict that in the years to come, whether it be just in the near future or in the far distant future, the membership of the Senate will see that this particular feature is removed from this bill.

We have gone far afield from the original intentions of the unemployment compensation act. We have lost sight of the principles that were in the minds of those who conceived this legislation.

I want to say to you here that you are making three specific changes in this legislation, and for the benefit of the record I would like to read them into the record.

First, it eliminates the war time termination clause for experience rating.

Second, it changes the three-year period used in computing an employer's calendar year rate from a three-calendar year basis to a three fiscal year basis.

Third, it makes a change in the method of applying an employer's experience percentage to the rate table in the law when determining his annual contribution rate.

Can anybody point out to me where, in this legislation, which is of vital importance to an employed person, there is any change in this act that benefits the employe. This has become no longer a unemployed person's beneficial act; it is now an act used for the benefit of certain privileged employers in the Commonwealth, and no amount of discussion, no amount of debate to the contrary, will ever prove that is not true, because the record so sustains.

I continue on with the letter from the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor:

"As a result of this, it is necessary for many of our small unions to engage the services of counsel in an effort to protect the interest of the individual worker.

"This we believe to be a rather unfair imposition. For these specific reasons, we are asking the members of the House and Senate to oppose the adoption of Senate Bill 78. It is our further thought that if the principle of 'experience rating' is to be adopted by the General Assembly, it should be on a more equitable basis such as the New York Act. This act, in substance, provides that employers shall not be charged in accordance with their ability to maintain a steady pay roll but rather that all employers be charged the same percentage which is determined by the amount of balance in the unemployment compensation fund. In other words, until it reaches a certain low level, they are charged the full amount of 2.7 per cent. As the fund increases, they receive reductions down to the point of 1 per cent. Therefore such a system does not penalize seasonal employers and obviates the necessity for employers to contest compensation awards.

"Any assistance you may be able to render to us in this matter will be sincerely appreciated."

The communication from the Pennsylvania Union Council, dated February 27, 1947, reads as follows:

"Before you is Senate Bill 78 which would continue the war-emergency provision of so-called experience rating in taxes on employers' payrolls for unemployment compensation. It is submitted that this proposal is contrary to the following points in sound legislation:

"1. Encourage Enterprise. Industrial and business progress depends on growth. Venture capital for erection and expansion of plants furnishes increasing employment, but with risk of possible and unavoidable fluctuations. Experience rating rewards stationary establishments such as utilities (whose monopoly rates are fixed) and banks, while punishing free and controlled enterprise such as coal, steel, textile and construction, dependent on changing demand, whose development hold our State to the forefront.

"2. Insure Industry. Unemployment compensation lifts the downs in the business cycle nearer to the ups by needed consumer purchasing power. Experience rating falsely assumes a solitary employer has monopolistic control of industrial stability, while actually stirring up the 'poo of unemployment' and hurrying general industrial depression.

"3. Safeguard Fund. Employers taxes should be as low as possible to keep the fund solvent. But half insurance is penny-wise, dollar-foolish. Money put into this fund is inviolate for our State. Cut short, what is 'saved' could be reached by Federal taxation and spent elsewhere. Experience rating ignores the needs of this trust fund as reserve for actual over-all experience.

"4. Benefit All. Compensation payments, fair to workers in Pennsylvania compared with other important industrial States, are first aid through consumer purchasing power among the local merchants, manufacturers, professional people and the whole community, whenever business slows down. Unemployment compensation, only when adequate in time of need, is general and genuine security for our State and Nation.

"To insure the safety of this fund for the protection of our State's business, employment and welfare, you are respectfully asked to vote against Senate Bill 78."

Respectfully submitted, Harry Boyer, President, Pennsylvania Union Council.

The following is the case of the Congress of Industrial Organizations. I will only read the highlights and submit to the reporter the balance of the arguments and ask that it be incorporated in full in the record.

"UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION

"EXPERIENCE RATING

"Labor finds no merit in 'merit rating.' Careful study yields the proof it would be a wrong turn for Unemployment Compensation in Pennsylvania.

"Merit-rating, so-called, has been more correctly defined as experience rating. It has to do with attempts to devise varying tax rates among employers according to the incidence of unemployment, as against the present uniform and fixed charge.

"Employers with the smallest sums of unemployment would be entitled to the lowest tax rates. Experience rating assumes the employers, by their own conduct of their business, can manage their labor supply so as to reduce unemployment to their hearts' content, and refuse to do so.

"More than that, it assumes employers start on equal footing in the race to carry a steady, undeviating force of workers. Because they fail from such equal start to come out equal at the end of the race, the losers are punished. If they came out equal, there would be nothing doing for experience rating.

"Experience rating is, therefore, a shaky theory, imposed on an assumption the employers will not do what they can.

Employers Not Equal at Start

"Employers do not create the conditions of the market in which they do business. They merely try to supply what they are led to believe the market will take.

"Because they do not create even the ordinary and immediate demands, let alone the exceptional and widespread needs of the buying public, manufacturers and merchants in general can only guess how much to offer for sale, when and where.

"The circumstances involved are many and considerable. Employers meeting in trade bodies, comparing notes, coping with threatened lowering of return on investment to satisfy the customers, experiences would be available in course of time for each other's benefit, and the per cent of difference remaining for the leader would hardly show in the bookkeeping for tax reduction on 'experience' rating.

"Seeking a common denominator to check for varying taxes among a large variety of industries is hopeless. There is no such animal. The further the investigation is extended, the less merit is to be found and the more arbitrary is the conclusion. For as the list of occupations extended, more numerous are the circumstances involved. They deal with the physical conditions of the work, the irregular as well as constant demands of popular taste, the extent of manpower required, the stability, recession or expansion of the market and the future economy of the body politic.

Pennsylvania is an Example

"Pennsylvania offers a shining example of the prodigious difficulties among which the merit raters stumble in a vain effort to get anywhere.

"Rungs in the ladder of employment fluctuations are indicated in an examination of the State's industries for the years 1933 to 1940, inclusive, using the base 1923-25 as 100 and showing the per cent increase from low to high.

"All manufacturing, 34.2 per cent.

"All non-manufacturing, 28.8 per cent.

"The manufacturing industries vary from as low as 16.2 per cent for printing, shooting up to lumber products at 72.3 per cent and non-ferrous metal products at 75.6 per cent.

"A further breakdown in each industry shows such ranges, for example, in the case of non-ferrous metal products, from 48 per cent for stamped enamel and painted wear tripling to 137.74 per cent for brass and bronze, 137.5 per cent for jewelry and novelties.

"While textiles and clothing together average 28.6 per cent, that skips around and zooms to 93.7 per cent for shirts and furnishings.

"But the non-manufacturing industries wander far beyond these marks.

"In the group up to 25 per cent are:

"Banking and brokerage, 8.9 per cent; insurance and real estate, 11.1 per cent; laundries, 18.2 per cent; street railway, bus and taxi, 18.3 per cent; hotels, 20 per cent; light, heat and power, 21.8 per cent; telephone, telegraph and broadcasting, 22.5 per cent; wholesale trade, 22.7 per cent.

"Passing 25 per cent the readings are:

"Dyeing and cleaning 31.2 per cent; motor freight, dock and warehouse, 34.2 per cent; bituminous mining 36 per cent; retail trade, 40 per cent; crude petroleum producing, 51 per cent; quarrying, 53.2 per cent; anthracite mining, 54 per cent.

"Pennsylvania industries as a whole cannot do business with merit rating.

Monopoly versus Competition

"The first simple division which suggests itself in business is that between pursuits which are monopolistic in contrast to those which are competitive.

"The monopolistic are stabilized. Their employment fluctuations are well within 25 per cent. Likely they have done a good job on their own initiative in steadying their labor supply. If so, then the fact that they run up to 25 per cent explains why their less favorably situated brothers in the competitive field would only break their teeth over the much tougher nut. They cannot be held responsible for negligence, when they have to adventure after trade to survive in the struggle for existence.

"To the extent the monopoly group seek their own private gain, and ignore the public purpose of unemployment compensation, they may yield to the blandishments of the merit raters. But such pursuit is short-sighted.

"In the meanwhile, what is the situation with the industries competing for business?

"For the most part, they have no mentionable control over output. Nearly all manufacturers produce and merchants buy, not on whim, but on orders. They have to adapt themselves to the tastes of the public. Their individual faults hurt. Their contributions help. If bad, they directly lose; if good, their processes are standardized and their advantages are normally and quickly integrated into the collective whole of the State's economy.

"Monopoly is not a virtue to be rewarded; free enterprise is not a vice to be punished.

"Fair play, it would seem, would suggest imposing the lighter burden on employers who risk most to build business and put labor to work, instead of those who sit pretty and stay put.

"Utilities, for instance, enjoy a monopoly. Return on investment is guaranteed. Rates are fixed by the public commissions. Employment is practically uniform in season and out. Why should they be given special consideration, on top of all that, when the government levies taxes for public unemployment compensation?

"By contrast, how is it with the employers in the competitive arena? They hazard their capital in an uncertain contest. They may have to risk new ventures. Admittedly labor turnover in these cases is beyond regulation. Because they cannot insure permanent jobs are their courage, effort and enterprise to be penalized by soaking them for their eagerness to promote industry and increase employment?

"There is no warrant for the supposition of the merit raters that employers as a class hire and fire workers at will in order somehow to get the better of the unemployment compensation system.

"Employers are compelled to keep close watch on their payrolls. Rapid labor turnover is an expense. Yet, it is often cheaper than the luxury of keeping workers on for idle weeks or even days. In the long run, they do the best they can.

"Merit rating might, however, unintentionally, spur incentive among employers to flood the labor supply market, lower the terms of employment, curtail purchasing power—and shove the country down into another industrial depression.

Wrong for Public Policy

"In the main, employers operate on a reasonable economy of give and take. They certainly want a permanent labor supply.

"Establishment of the system of public unemployment compensation is to fill that great gap which nevertheless is left open after private employers have achieved the utmost by their exertion, separately and collectively.

"The merit raters, therefore, start from a misconception of the public policy of unemployment compensation. Benefits are not a reward to wageworkers for idleness. Nor are taxes a penalty on employers, which they may shirk by retaining only permanent employes and closing their doors to any further hiring. Instead, what the people, through their government, have agreed is that in general those who are unemployed cannot return to work until money is put into circulation for creation of goods and services. Its broad and saving purpose is to keep industry going and everybody employed.

"When everybody is working, payments of benefits cease. Until then, dismissing workers to get better experience rating merely speeds up the vicious circle to deeper catastrophe, general unemployment and public relief.

No Merit for Pennsylvania

"Nor does experience rating favor ability to cope with unemployment. Employer's most strenuous efforts may not appreciably diminish layoffs which are due to fluctuations of outside demands for goods and services. There the root cause is remote from the individual employer's control. Pennsylvania's major industries attest to that.

"These conclusions are inevitable, as has been amply supported by the detached study of Pennsylvania's unemployment Compensation Law and experience, made by Messrs. Douglass V. Brown and S. W. Stouffer, connected with the Department of Economics and Social Science in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. They say:

"Revision of the Pennsylvania Unemployment Compensation Law to include experience rating would create no significant incentive for additional stabilization efforts. The already established advantages of employment stabilization, such as operating cost reduction and employee morale improvement, are so great that major efforts have already been made regardless of the fact that there was no possibility of receiving a reduction in the unemployment compensation contribution tax rate. The proponents of experience rating in Pennsylvania are principally firms which have either successfully stabilized already or are naturally stable in their operations, so that the additional incentive provided by experience rating is apt to be very small as far as these companies are concerned. Nor does it seem that the fear of an increased payroll tax rate will alone prove to be an effective incentive for the re-employment of laid-off workers or additional stabilization efforts by those companies who experience highly unstable operations."

"While merit raters may try to merchandise their plan with a variety of methods, so far as Pennsylvania is concerned there is evidence that the returns even for the most pleasantly situated employers would make the game worth the candle unless the whole system is jeopardized.

Remedy for Unemployment

"Bigger matters are at stake. Public unemployment compensation is one of several devices directed to alleviate business slump. But it is effective only to the extent it concentrates ample purchasing power when and where needed. It would suffer by division and antagonism among employers in a vain race to beat each other. By pulling together they stand to gain through business pickup and boom.

"Unemployment compensation must do its full part in the total attack on business letdown. Compensation is one phase of social security. To perform its service it must begin by covering all those who are unwillingly unemployed, available for suitable and useful work, and whose chances for obtaining jobs are improved by throwing into circulation extra purchasing power which is held in reserve for that very social purpose.

"Pennsylvania's Unemployment Compensation Act is incisively clear on this point. As originally adopted December 5, 1936, there is sketched in sharp outline the allied subjects to be studied and recommendations submitted from the Department of Labor and Industry for future attention of the State's legislators. This provision reads:

"Section 205. Stabilization of Employment: Partial and Seasonal Unemployments. The department shall take appropriate steps to—(a) reduce and prevent unemployment (b) encourage and assist in the adoption of practical methods of vocational training and guidance, (c) investigate, recommend, advise and assist in the establishment, by political subdivisions, of reserves for public works to be used in times of business depression and unemployment, (d) promote the re-employment of unemployed workers, (e) make studies of partial unemployment and recommendations in respect to provisions for the payment of compensation for partial unemployment, and (f) make studies of seasonal unemployment and recommendations in respect to provisions for seasonal industries under this system of unemployment compensation.

"Copies of all such studies and recommendations shall be transmitted to the Governor."

"From the above it is evident that the system of public unemployment compensation has its definite effort to complete toward social security. It would only fail by turning astray and becoming entangled in private claims for tax privileges of one employer against another.

"What looms ever more formidable is the terrible problem of stabilizing our whole economic system to continue free enterprise by all out production, distribution and consumption. Instead of experimenting with contention among employers over experience rating, the opportunity presses to plug the holes of insufficient coverage among those who are apt to recruit the armies of unemployed, so as to get them to work.

"It would seem to be the part of wisdom to continue in the course charted by the Unemployment Compensation Act. Carried out with practical means, this would put the resources accumulated by the established tax to their legitimate functions of increasing consumer power, enriching the bloodstream of production and distribution and putting fresh life into our economic body.

"Labor insists that the only cure for unemployment is employment."

At this point I may say no reputable employer in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania would deliberately furlough an employe if he has need for the services of that employe. This legislation assumes that he does that very thing.

Gentlemen, if you will take the time to read this particular brief, which covers the manufacturing fluctuations in the state of Pennsylvania, I do not see how you could possibly find, in your own reasoning, merit for voting for this bill.

I will say to you that my opposition to this bill is a starter, and so long as I am a member of this Senate I will continue to oppose this type of legislation, which seeks to give to one employer an unfair tax advantage over other employers in the Commonwealth; it seeks to destroy the very principle upon which unemployment compensation was written and it takes away from it the great role that the Legislature felt was necessary for our economic system in order that in periods of depression we would not allow the ball that was rolling down hill to gather such momentum that any person or group of persons could afford to stop it.

Gentlemen, I ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this type of legislation.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I have heard considerable in defense of this bill as it affects the laborer. I think something should be said in behalf of the employer.

I feel very kindly to the employer in the state of Pennsylvania, because without him labor could not exercise its talents and wealth could not be produced, and I think that the subject ought to be considered from the employer's standpoint as well as that of labor.

I feel sympathetic with the Pennsylvania employers in this matter, and I think that he should not be called upon to pay more than his just assessment for a sufficient amount to provide at all times an adequate fund to establish the very thing for which this law was originally enacted, and that is a type of social security.

I understand from the employes in the unemployment compensation offices that it has cost the fund about 1.5 per cent of payrolls over the last three or four years. If that is so, it seems to me that the employer ought to get the benefit of that fact and ought to have a reduction down to something about 1.5 per cent.

The difficulty with this bill is that it is based upon a false premise—it has been inferentially, referred to, but none of the speakers thus far have directly put their finger on it—and that is why I am going to take just a moment of the Senate's time to bring out this one point.

This bill is called a merit rating bill, sometimes called an experience rating bill. It is predicated upon the first fact that there ought to be a reduction in the rate, and with that premise I agree thoroughly. I do not want to see any employer in Pennsylvania pay a penny more than is his fair rate of assessment to keep up the fund.

But when we label this a merit rate or a merit rating and there is no merit, then we are building upon a false premise, and that is exactly what we are doing.

Let me give you just one example of it. I had a laundry man from my district write to me and say, merit rating during the past two years has been of great help to me, it has cut down my unemployment compensation tax or assessment; we normally in our industry had considerable lag in business during the winter months, but by putting on special sales and special inducements to the trade we can keep up our business to a pretty good level and we can maintain fairly constant employment and therefore we feel that we merit this reduction that has been given to us."

That may be true in the lighter industries and in stabilized businesses, but it certainly is not true, as has so well been brought out, in the heavy industries; it certainly is not true in the steel industry, it certainly is not true in the heavy cement industry, where the type of machiner is so heavy that repairs and replacements and maintenance cannot be made when the plant is in operation, but the plant must be closed down for a month, six weeks or two or three months during the year, in order to properly go in and make those replacements, keep up the maintenance and keep the plant in good running order and in good safe order so that life, limb and health can be protected.

So that the argument of merit, on which this whole subject is predicated, may have some reason to it in the lighter trades but certainly that does not apply in the heavy industries.

If we were permitted, Mr. President and members of the Senate, to vote in an alternate form—do you agree and are you willing to vote for a reduction in the assessment rate, I would say yes, I would give that some consideration, to what point that reduction ought to be made, but in that particular, as far as I personally am concerned, we are not permitted under our procedure that alternative choice. We are confronted with Senate Bill No. 78 and we either vote for it or against it.

It being based on a false premise, of trying to charge one employer—let me digress a moment and let us say there are two employers and they are equally sincere in trying to keep up a high level of employment throughout the working year, but because of the nature of one business the one employer can do it and, because of the nature of the business of the other employer, he can not do it; why should the second employer be penalized because of the nature of his trade, because of the nature of his industry? Why should he be called upon to pay a higher assessment than the other man, when just by reason of fortune he gets a reduction in his taxation? I think it is unfair to the employer as well as to the employee.

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I will not take too long and reply to many of the questions brought out, but I do have these observations to make:

In the first place, it has been stated that this is not a bill favoring the employee or for the benefit of the employee who would come under the fund. I agree that this is not a bill for this purpose. This is a bill to fix a rate. I want to say this, however, that the average rate under merit rating now being paid by employers into the fund is 1.4 per cent for 1946. The top rate is 2.7 per cent, so that if the General Assembly would see fit to increase benefit payments or increase the number of weeks for which benefits could be paid, it can be readily done under this plan, because the rate of payment today is practically one half of one per cent of the top rate.

In the past few years, since I have been a member, the Legislature on several occasions, both parties agreeing, has passed legislation increasing the benefit period to those who benefit by the fund.

Now let us look at the rate, the average rate. Talking about heavy industries, Mr. President, the average rate for 1946 in anthracite mining was 1.2 per cent; in bituminous mining it was 1 per cent; in building construction it was 1.17 per cent; in general construction other than building construction it was 1.1 per cent; the average for all manufacturing was 1.5 per cent; for stone, clay and glass industry it was 1.4 per cent, and so forth. Practically all industries have received benefits under merit rating.

Exception is taken to the fact that the employer has the right of appeal. He must have the right of appeal under any unemployment compensation laws and the appeals have not been enhanced or built up because of merit rating.

During the year 1946, 531,000 individuals applied for benefits under unemployment compensation. The percentage of appeals to applicants was only 1.9 per cent. The percentage of total appeals to all compensation claims was .34 per cent. So it is not a fact that this is a bill which provides and encourages appeals from claimants under the act.

Forty-two states have some method of reducing the tax because all realize that 2.7 per cent is too high. Forty-one of those states have some system of merit rating, differing in some respects from that of Pennsylvania. New York is the only state which has what is called a rebate system, and serious objections are being found to that bill at the present time, into which I will not go at this time because that is not before us.

I think experience has proven that this is an excellent piece of legislation. It is helpful to labor rather than a detriment because it encourages steady employment.

I have studied the New York plan of a rebate system, and I do not think there is anything that I have learned that is better than the present system. We can not fix a flat rate of 2.5 per cent for everybody or 2 per cent for everybody because that would be contrary to Federal legislation. We must take some kind of experience rating if we are going to reduce the rate to employers and at the same time keep a safe reserve to take care of those who become beneficiaries under the fund.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I know it is getting somewhat late, but I have listened to the debate from both sides and I listened very carefully to the remarks made by the gentleman from Lancaster, and there seems to be a question in my mind now as to who may be right. I have been informed from the sidelines, by some of the labor leaders who are now in this chamber, that that is one reason why they want this public hearing, on the question of average rates. This is an important measure and certainly these men are entitled to a public hearing before this body votes on it, if there is any question about these rates, whether it is a higher rate or whether it is a lower rate. That has not been disclosed this afternoon.

True, we are offered an average rate, but someone is being penalized, and I think in all fairness to both employers and employees of our Commonwealth this measure ought to go before a public hearing.

Mr. President, if I am in order I move that Senate Bill 78 go over in its order, to give the gentlemen on the other side of the chamber time to discuss that matter.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

one of the sponsors of the bill, Mr. Berger or Mr. Mallery.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Potter permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BERGER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. JASPAN. Will the gentleman from Potter please explain the reason for this exemption?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, most of the truckers who are engaged in the hauling of pulpwood and chemical wood are farmers, and to compel them to be certificated by the Public Utility Commission would result in a considerable loss of wood which is necessary for the manufacture of these products.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, do those farmers work steadily or part-time?

Mr. BERGER. Usually part-time; some of them steadily.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 244, as follows:

An Act providing for the establishment of temporary college centers in cooperation with certain accredited colleges and universities to meet certain educational needs of veterans and others creating the Area College Center Commission a temporary departmental administrative commission in the Department of Public Instruction and defining its powers and duties providing for the creation of certain local committees and defining their powers and duties and making certain appropriations.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Short Title This act shall be known and may be cited as the "Pennsylvania Area College Center Act"

Section 2 Legislative Findings and Policy It has been determined by the General Assembly and it is hereby declared as a matter of legislative finding

That there is a temporary lack of facilities for higher education for veterans and others in accredited colleges and universities and that the Commonwealth must therefore take action in cooperation with the accredited colleges and universities located within this Commonwealth to meet the educational needs of veterans and others during this period of emergency

Section 3 Definitions When used in this act the following words terms and phrases shall have the meanings ascribed to them in this section

(1) "Area" A contiguous geographical unit and section of this Commonwealth ascertained and determined for the purposes of this act by the Superintendent of Public Instruction

(2) "College Center" An educational institution of higher learning administered and operated under the Department of Public Instruction in cooperation with accredited colleges and universities of the Commonwealth to provide higher education for those persons who cannot now be admitted to any accredited college or university because of overcrowded facilities and conditions therein

(3) "Commission" or "Pennsylvania Area College Center Commission" The departmental administrative commission created by this act in the Department of Public Instruction

(4) "Executive Committee" or "Area College Center Executive Committee" The committee to be appointed in each area in which a college center or centers is or are being conducted by the college and university presidents of such area cooperating with the Commonwealth in establishing such college centers

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, March 25, 1947

The House met at 2:00 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Franklin H. Lichtenwalter) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Lester C. Updegrove offered the following prayer:

Eternal God, source of every joy and the inspiration of every earth-born hope, well may Thy praise our lips employ. Give us the understanding that nourishes, restores, and establishes the way that we should go. While we may draw the future near and dream of a better day, may we be grateful for the good that is here. In every situation help us to show moral self-control and have a deep sense of our trusteeship. May opportunity, privilege, or any earthly honor never spoil us. In Thy holy name we pray. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of Monday, March 24, 1947.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of Monday, March 24, 1947, when, on motion of Mr. YOUNG unanimously agreed to, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 659, entitled:

An Act to further amend section twenty-three of the act approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine (P. L. 420) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine" by increasing for a further limited period of time the rate of tax imposed upon the gross receipts of certain companies limited partnerships association joint-stock associations copartnerships and persons by making further provisions for the report and payment of the tax and by further defining gross receipts.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would ask consent to make a motion that the next eight bills be placed on the postponed calendar.

Obviously eight roll calls and eight discussions of various bills will take a great deal of time in the House. I am therefore suggesting to the Majority Leader and to the majority membership that by unanimous consent the Chair entertain a motion to place all of the eight bills on the postponed calendar and that we have simply one roll call and one discussion instead of eight roll calls and eight discussions.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ANDREWS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. I presume that the gentleman desires a discussion of the tax program as a unit, Mr. Speaker, is that correct?

Mr. ANDREWS. I simply desire to discuss the matter of placing the tax program on the postponed calendar, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. I should like to suggest to the gentleman that there are seven measures.

Mr. ANDREWS. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. The gentleman said eight. Does the gentleman refer to the next seven bills instead of eight.

Mr. ANDREWS. That's right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. I have no objection, Mr. Speaker. I think it is a good idea to save the time of the House.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, asks unanimous consent of the House to make a motion to place upon the postponed calendar the next seven bills as they appear on today's calendar.

The Chair hears no objection. The gentleman will proceed.

MOTION TO POSTPONE

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bills 659, 661, 662, 663, 664, 665, and 666 be placed on the postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I presume, and I think I am justified in the presumption, that I am addressing a deliberative Assembly, a House that is in a position to pass its own judgment upon the procedure that should be followed when we face a practical proposition.

We are going about the process with these tax bills that are on the program of passing quite a good many millions of dollars without having established any appropriation liabilities, in any considerable amount at least. We submit that to enact your tax program before you have established your appropriation liabilities is to place the cart before the horse.

We are also suggesting to the membership of this House that when you pass this tax program you draw an iron circle around your further action. You are not simply passing a tax program when you pass these tax bills. You are determining the range and extent, for example, of the legislation you pass regarding the teachers' salaries; you are determining the range and extent of your appropriations for health; you are confining your initiative within a given limit without knowing whether that limit meets the essential needs of this Commonwealth.

I don't know and you don't know whether $547,000,000 is the exact amount that this Legislature should appropriate. I don't know and you don't know whether the gross receipts tax, in view of the appropriation liability, should be 14 mills, 8 mills or 6 mills. I don't know and you don't know whether the soft drink tax shall bring in $38,000,000, $28,000,000, or $18,000,000, or why we need it at all.

We have launched ourselves on a program of fiscal legislation without anyone having established to the Legislature the good faith of the administration. I don't know and you don't know what the bills are going to be like when they come back to us from the other chamber. You may vote $40,000,000 for the teachers and it may come back $20,000,000.

I suggest that before you proceed to collect $38,000,000 from the pennies of the school children of this State with which to build your hospitals, that you determine whether you need that $38,000,000. I don't know and you don't know whether the exemption on the manufacturers' capital stock tax should terminate or whether that tax should continue.

There are no facts at hand that tell the Majority Leader, that tell me, that tell you how much you should tax the corporations and how much you should tax the consumers of this state. I submit to you that until we have charted the course and determined what our appropriation liability should be, that this tax program should go on the postponed calendar and stay there until the administration has brought in its bill providing for the expenditure of funds, and then when the administration has brought in its bills providing for the expenditure of funds, and they say that that is all they are going to ask you, then and only then should we enact a tax program.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman says we have the cart before the horse. In my humble opinion, before I spend some money I would like to have it. It occurs to me that the Appropriation Committee would have a lot of difficulty trying to find out how much they could spend on mental institutions before they knew they had anything at all.

I submit also that we are not here drawing an iron curtain around ourselves. It is well known that here we have a program that we think will meet the range of the appropriations, but I don't know that anybody has closed the door to any extraordinary problems. We do not think that this session is going to close tomorrow. The Appropriation Committee will have much work to do, and we think they will do it more efficiently and more intelligently if they know what range they are to work within.

I oppose the recommitment of these bills, Mr. Speaker, because it is vital, it is our program, we have facts before us, we have numerous pages of it according to a recommended budget, and I submit that this whole problem probably can be made a lot more complicated than it actually is. No one likes taxes. It is one of the most disagreeable jobs that the representatives of the people have, and it can be made very complicated.

I can agree with the gentleman that we don't need the old taxes, let alone the new taxes; all we need to do is close the doors and go home and not pass any legislation at all, but I submit that last year many of us on both sides of this House made a bid to do a public service; we thought of a lot of fine things that good government could do. Unfortunately when we came to carry out those particular problems we found ourselves confronted with the problem of paying for them.

We find that it is a matter of keeping faith. We want to do what we said we would do, not only in the matter of appropriations but in every other matter. We have got to do this year what we said we were going to do last year and we have got to do it in such a manner that we will not jeopardize the future.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman refers to the pennies that we are going to take from the school children. I suggest in the matter of policy and in the matter of keeping good faith that what we started out last year to do we do in such a way that we are not going to put the whole burden on the school children.

There is another alternative that the gentleman has indicated several times in the matter of meeting the appropriations—don't raise taxes, just borrow the money. It occurs to me also, Mr. Speaker, that there is a matter of a fair and equitable bonus to the veterans. We find ourselves confronted with that, and we are going to recommend a system of payment to the people; we know the people are going to recognize its merit, we know the people are going to vote for it because it is deserved, and Mr. Speaker, it also occurs to me that when we walk into that liability we should not walk into it with a lot of bond liability on our hands, with a lot of interest on those bonds, and when we turn over fine buildings let us turn them over to the school children, the future citizens, and say, "Here they are, we have paid for them. We hope you appreciate them."

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader, Mr. Sorg.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, did I understand the gentleman from Elk to say that these tax measures will reach the range of appropriations as provided for under the fiscal policy of the state for the next biennium?

Mr. SORG. I said, Mr. Speaker, it establishes the range within which the appropriation committee can work.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman if he has any idea of any additional revenues that will have to be raised to meet the cost of education in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I have no specific idea, but I certainly will agree with the gentleman that the matter is not entirely precluded.

Mr. BROWN. May I ask then if the matter is not entirely precluded by these bills, what other bills does the gentleman have in mind as being within the range of appropriations to meet the additional cost not provided for by these bills?

Mr. SORG. I have no other specific bill in mind.

Mr. BROWN. Does the gentleman have any legislation in mind that would meet the cost that would be necessary by virtue of the Governor's message that a part of the cost of education would have to be borne by the local school districts?

Mr. CORG. I presume that that will be so, Mr. Speaker, when the program is adopted. I would prefer first of all of course to get the specific recommendations of the Committee on Education of this House.

Mr. BROWN. If, therefore, there are recommendations for additional funds may I ask the gentleman by what means they will be raised?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, there are numerous ways and means that additional funds can be raised if necessary. There are now before the Committee on Ways and Means many suggestions as to the raising of revenue.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I am speaking specifically of revenues for school purposes. Will the gentleman be kind enough to tell us whether any of those measures have the endorsement of the majority of this House?

Mr. SORG. At the present time they do not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Does the gentleman know of any legislation other than the specific legislation he speaks of that is in the Committee on Ways and Means that will throw any light on this question as to how the local communities are going to take care of the necessary increased costs of legislation that are not provided for in these tax measures?

Mr. SORG. Do I understand the gentleman to inquire how the local districts will take care of that procedure?

Mr. BROWN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I have in mind several bills, specific legislation at the present time introduced at this session broadening the tax base that the local districts or the municipalities may use or employ for whatever purpose they may see fit. It is broadened to the extent that the local districts might have as much power to tax the local people as this legislature could.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman have in mind any legislation that would be appropriate for the city of Philadelphia or the city of Pittsburgh, the school districts of the two cities?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I understand that measures appropriate for those particular cities have been introduced.

Mr. BROWN. Would the gentleman tell me, Mr. Speaker, what those measures contain?

Mr. SORG. The measures have the practical effect of putting into effect the Sterling Act for all the municipalities of this State.

Mr. BROWN. And that would apply to the first class districts as well as the second, third and fourth class districts?

Mr. SORG. I understand that legislation has been introduced to cover all those cases.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, is it not true that none of that legislation could be utilized by first class school districts?

Mr. SORG. I would not agree to that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. And would the gentleman state why he does not agree to it, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. SORG. The reason I do not agree, Mr. Speaker, is because there is legislation before this House that would give them very specific authority to do so.

Mr. BROWN. Is the gentleman familiar with the law as to how the boards of education of the cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh are nominated and appointed?

Mr. SORG. Not familiar with all the details of that, no, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. I thank the Majority Leader.

Mr. Speaker, I concur in what the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews has said, because I am vitally interested in one part of this subject, and because it is a part of the subject with which I personally will have to in some way help solve.

The Governor in his address before this General Assembly stated that he recognized that the taxes that he proposed, which are the bills before us for consideration at this moment, would not meet the cost of education and the necessary increase in the salaries of the teachers of this Commonwealth. He also said that he was returning to the local school districts the right to bear a part of that cost.

Now, until there appears in this House on the calendar some legislation that would give to the people of the city of Philadelphia and the city of Pittsburgh some relief, some direction as to how it can be done, the reason I interrogated the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg, was because I believe that he has entirely overlooked the fact that none of this legislation that he referred to can apply to the city of Philadelphia or the city of Pittsburgh and their various school districts. In both cities we have appointed School Boards.

The Supreme Court of this Commonwealth has said in no uncertain terms in the case of Wilson vs. the City of Philadelphia reported in 328 Pa. 225, that this General Assembly cannot delegate to a first class school district the right to levy taxes on indefinite objects. This Legislature can only say the amount of the millage that we can levy and the objects from which we can secure our revenue. There is no legislation in this House as I understand it—if there is I want the gentleman to tell me—that will relieve the situation in the city of Philadelphia or in the city of Pittsburgh, and until that legislation appears, or there is some kind of an agreement that that legislation will appear, I for one feel that this tax program is inadequate, and that the people of the city of Philadelphia and the people of the city of Pittsburgh get nothing.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BROWN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. I desire to inquire of the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, whether the school districts of Philadelphia or Pittsburgh have any revenue raising measures on a local basis at the present time.

Mr. BROWN. Only on real estate, and that is specifically set by the General Assembly and must be so set according to the Supreme Court of the Commonwealth.

Mr. SORG. May I inquire of the gentleman who sets those revenue raising measures?

Mr. BROWN. The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, do I understand the gentleman to say that the General Assembly specifically establishes the millage as well as the assessments in those local districts?

Mr. BROWN. Establishes the millage and not the assessments, that is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. Does it establish the exact amount of the millage, or does it establish the maximum?

Mr. BROWN. It establishes the maximum, and we are at the maximum now, and have been for ten years, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. Has not therefore the General Assembly given specific authority to raise revenue to somebody in those districts?

Mr. BROWN. Other than that established by law, which is eleven and three-quarters mills on real estate, the answer is no, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. If the General Assembly could delegate that authority to the local government could they not delegate the authority on other subjects?

Mr. BROWN. So long as those matters are specifically delegated which are enumerated in the Act, it will establish them as long as the millage is definitely fixed.

May I read to the gentleman that portion of the Supreme Court decision which I think is apropos, if you will just pardon me a second.

We are keenly interested, Mr. Majority Leader, because we were caught once before, and we are hoping we will not be caught again. The gentleman will remember the case of Wilson vs. the School District of Philadelphia which I have already referred to. The law proposed there that the board in first class districts could levy a tax sufficient to pay the minimum salaries and increments of teachers and supervising staff. It did not set up the millage, it did not set up the objects of the tax, and the Supreme Court held that that was unconstitutional, that the act was an unlawful delegation of Constitutional power, and struck the act down. That is the last pronouncement of the Supreme Court. Therefore, we felt whatever you do for Pittsburgh and Philadelphia that you do so in these tax measures, for we as an appointive board are powerless to do anything except follow the pronouncement of the Supreme Court in the case of Wilson vs. City of Philadelphia.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman in position to state any particular law under which it raises local revenue?

Mr. BROWN. Yes, the School Code.

Mr. SORG. That is all, Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. BROWN. May I say to the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, I did not mean to prolong this, but it is serious to us in Pittsburgh. There is another case which is in line with Wilson vs. the City of Philadelphia, known as the Minsinger case reported in the Supreme Court reports in Volume 236 Page 327 where this language was used: "Practically the Legislature itself has fixed the tax levy at a maximum of six mills, and simply leaves to its agents the privilege of not collecting less than five mills in any one year."

In other words by implication in this prior case the Supreme Court says again and again that whatever the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh school districts can do they only act as agents for the General Assembly.

Mr. SORG. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

I submit that if these districts are raising revenue under authority of the General Assembly at the present time they must have a constitutional way to do it, or there has been legislation introduced in to this session to accomplish that purpose on a broader basis, and at the time for consideration of those particular measures those specific authorities can be definitely established in such a manner as to conform with the constitutional provisions just as has been done with the local methods used.

When those matters are here certainly the gentleman can make suggestions necessary to make the acts constitutional, should they not be so or should the provisions not cover those situations when they are introduced.

The gentleman's suggestions will be gladly received, but I submit further on this general question, that the last thing I ever expected to see was a vote against some taxes just because they are not enough. I submit if we are going to need additional revenues in order to meet additional appropriation liability let us establish the tax that we have got, and let us not say recommit every single item on this particular program, and end up with the sum total of nothing to meet appropriation liabilities.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry that the Majority Leader has apparently misinterpreted the motion and the intent of the motion. We are not raising the question of the validity of these taxes at this time; we are not asking that they be recommitted. We are asking that they be placed upon the postponed calendar, which is an entirely different proposition.

I would also call to the attention of the Members of the House that I thank the Majority Leader for having furnished me with what is to me at least a compelling reason why these bills should go on the postponed calendar, because he has just told you, you men from the fourth class districts who have for years been coming to this General Assembly for legislation which will solve your fundamental problems—he has just told you that the answer to your fourth class problems is go back to your fourth class districts and raise more money.

Now, I would accept that suggestion as far as the financial problems of the municipalities are concerned in the cities, but I say that there should be further consideration before the outline and range and extent of a fiscal program is cast into a mould, because you can say what you like, when you pass these tax bills you say, "that's all," and maybe "that's all" is too much, and maybe "that's all" is too little. I am alarmed to infer from the Majority Leader's statement that this administration has once and for all discarded the authority formula for financing construction, because it is through the authority formula for financing construction that you can conserve the resources of the Commonwealth for the time when you will be asked to finance the bonus problem.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I fear that the gentleman has misunderstood some of the previous comments. It is not our purpose here now to discuss school legislation. We are here solely and exclusively on matters beyond that consideration. A certain sum over and above recommended appropriations has been established. No issue has been made as to whether that is adequate or whether it is intended that that shall cover the entire bill, nor do I intend to leave the impression that we are going to send everybody back to the fourth class districts with the whole burden of an unanswered problem. We hope that any future discussions on the specific legislation which involves those questions will have a more full and complete answer.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 662, entitled:

An Act to reenact and amend the title and the act approved the fourteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 341) entitled as amended "An act to provide revenue by imposing a State tax upon sales of cigarettes by dealers as herein defined requiring persons engaged in the sale of cigarettes at wholesale and retail to secure permits prescribing the method and manner of collecting such tax conferring powers and imposing duties on the Department of Revenue and persons as herein defined engaged in the sale of cigarettes at retail or wholesale and providing penalties" as previously reenacted and amended by increasing the rate of tax and the permit fee by extending the provisions of the act for a further limited period of time and by extending the provisions of the act to impose a tax upon sales or gifts of tobacco products as defined

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. CADWALADER offered the following amendments:

Amend Section 1 (Section 3 (b)), page 7, line 4 by inserting after the word "Commonwealth" and before the word "whether" the following: "I".

Amend Section 1 (Section 3 (b)), page 7, line 7 by inserting after the word "issued" and before the word "and" the following: "I".

L. 284) entitled as amended "An act imposing a State tax payable by those herein defined as manufacturers and by others on malt or brewed beverages used sold transported or delivered within the Commonwealth prescribing the method and manner of evidencing the payment and collection of such tax conferring powers and imposing duties on the Department of Revenue and those using or engaged in the sale at retail or wholesale or in the transportation of malt or brewed beverages taxable hereunder and providing penalties" by temporarily increasing the rates of certain taxes.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 664, entitled:

An Act to provide revenue by imposing a state tax payable by those herein defined as manufacturers and bottlers and by others of syrups and bottled soft drinks prepared used sold transported or delivered within the Commonwealth requiring persons as herein defined engaged in the manufacture bottling distribution sale and transportation of syrup and bottled soft drinks to secure permits prescribing the method and manner of evidencing the payment and collection of such tax or assessing the tax conferring powers and imposing duties on the Department of Revenue and those manufacturing bottling distributing selling and transporting syrup or bottled soft drinks taxable hereunder and providing penalties.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader, Mr. Sorg.

Mr. SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know from the Majority Leader as to whether or not he has received any requests for public hearing on House Bill 664.

Mr. SORG. I did, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PETROSKY. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. SPEAKER. In view of the past policy of this House in granting public hearings to those persons within the Commonwealth who are affected by legislation which is being considered, I move that House Bill 664, Printer's No. 121, be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means for the purpose of a public hearing.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman forgot to ask me if any representatives of the public asked me for a public hearing. I desire to inform the gentleman and the Members of the House that I had a request from only one person who was interested not in ways and means but only in killing the tax.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, as a Member of this House I have received numerous requests from persons not only throughout my legislative district but in other parts of the Commonwealth, and inasmuch as this is a discriminatory type of tax I am certainly at a loss to know why they did not tax bubble gum and lollipops, but since we have a measure before us that is discriminatory to one of the biggest industries in this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, I feel that we should give them an opportunity to be heard at a public hearing, and I ask the Members of the House to vote for the motion. I desire a roll call on the motion.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 28, entitled:

An Act to amend the act, approved the fifth day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-one (P. L. 420), entitled "An act to supplement an act, entitled 'An act authorizing the erection and construction by counties of memorial halls in memory of the soldiers, sailors, and marines of such counties; providing for an election to determine whether such hall shall be erected; providing for the purchase and condemnation of property for such purposes; regulating the use of such halls; and providing for the maintenance and care of the same, by a board of control, at the expense of the county,' approved the seventeenth day of March, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one, by providing for the planting of memorial trees, and prescribing penalties," by further providing for the planting of memorial trees by certain political subdivisions.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SPROUL offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1), page 3, line 2, by inserting after the word "borough" the following "or township of the first class."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1), page 3, line 3, by inserting after the word "council" where it appears the second time in said line, the following "or township commissioners."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1), page 3, line 9, by inserting after the word "borough" the following "or township of the first class."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1), page 3, line 11, by inserting after the word "councils" the following "or township commissioners."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1), page 3, line 14 by inserting after the word "boroughs" the following "or townships of the first class."

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 13, as follows:

An Act to further amend the second paragraph of section two of the act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred one (P. L. 493) entitled as amended "An act providing for the examination licensure and registration of persons firms or corporations engaged or engaging in the business or work of plumbing or house drainage and prescribing certain rules regulations and requirements for the construction of plumbing house drainage and cesspools in cities of the second class second class A and third class and imposing fines penalties and forfeiture for violation thereof" requiring plumbing inspectors to be appointed by council in third class cities

Section 1 The second paragraph of section two of the act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred one (P. The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 316, as follows:

An Act to amend section four of article XVI of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred nineteen (P. L. 581) entitled "An act for the better government of cities of the first class of this Commonwealth" by increasing the salaries of councilmen

Section 1 Section four of article XVI of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred nineteen (P. L. 581) entitled "An act for the better government of cities of the first class of this Commonwealth" hereby amended to read as follows

Section 4 Each councilman shall receive a salary of [five thousand dollars ($5000)] eight thousand five hundred dollars ($8500) per annum

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to this bill, not because I am against general salary increases in the Commonwealth, but because in the City of Philadelphia Councilmen are adequately paid for the time that they give to this job.

As I said yesterday, there is no political significance in my opposition to this bill. There are many fine city employes in Philadelphia who put in a full day's work, six days of the week, and are entitled to more money for the work they do, but also as I stated yesterday, the Council of the City of Philadelphia meets on Thursday afternoon at either 2:00 or 3:00 o'clock, sit for two or three hours and that is about all the work they do.

During the summer from June to September there are no meetings due to the fact that Council adjourns for the warm weather.

Now yesterday, when I interrogated the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Pichney, one of the sponsors of this bill, I asked him whether or not Council devoted full time to their jobs, and he requested that I enumerate the Councilmen who have outside lucrative businesses or jobs and who devote more time to their outside work than to the work of the city of Philadelphia.

At that time I asked him to hold the bill on the calendar so that I might be able to give him that information. He refused to do that; so last night I called Philadelphia on the telephone and got the information. The City of Philadelphia is represented by twenty-two Councilmen, sixteen of whom having lucrative businesses or other work. Six are full time employes, and to the keep the record straight I would like very much to name the Councilmen who have outside interests and those without outside interests.

Councilman Joseph J. Milligan, undertaker.

Councilman Phineas T. Green, a New Jersey farmer.

Councilman James G. E. Clark, who owns a large citrus grove in Florida.

Councilman James H. Irwin, undertaker

Councilman L. Wallace Egan, lawyer.

Councilman Charles E. O'Halleran, union official in the Steam Fitters' Union.

Councilman George Maxman, lawyer.

Councilman Louis Schwartz, real estate

Councilman William A. Kelly, lumber.

Councilman Robert S. Hamilton, an interest in a lithograph business.

Councilman John J. McDevitt, III, lawyer.

Councilman Eugene J. Sullivan, Councilman.

Councilman Clarence K. Crossen, Engineer.

Councilman George D. Mansfield, salesman for the Pennsylvania Salt Company.

Councilman Cornelius Degean, real estate.

Councilman Eugene J. Haggerty, my councilman and a Democrat, an insurance broker.

Councilman Louis Menna, Councilman.

Councilman Frank X. O'Connor, Councilman.

Councilman Harry J. Trainer, an interest in an ice cream business.

Councilman Frederick D. Garman, Councilman.

Councilman George W. Rue, Councilman.

Councilman David E. Jamison, Councilman.

Mr. Speaker, if there were any reason whatsoever that the proponents of this bill could give for an increase in salary, I would be the first one to go along. There is no reason for this bill except that a representative of the Council of Philadelphia met with the Republican delegation of Philadelphia and asked them for the raise, and that is the only reason that this bill is on the calendar.

I say to you if we are going to give raises, let us give raises to the people who work and who need the money and not to the people who have outside interests and who derive a substantial income from those outside interests.

In passing, I want to just correct one error that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Pichney, made yesterday. I believe in his interrogation he set forth that the city of Pittsburgh, being administered by a Democratic administration, had eleven Councilmen who receive a pay of $8,500 per year. In checking into the law, Mr. Speaker, I find that the city of Pittsburgh has nine councilmen who get $8,000 per year. I don't know anything about the work of the Council of the city of Pittsburgh. It might be that these men work full time every day in the week and deserve $8,000 a year, but I know whereof I speak in Philadelphia, and I say to you that these twenty-two gentlemen, Republicans and Democrats alike, in the Council in the city of Philadelphia, are adequately compensated for the work they do.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I don't believe that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Chudoff, has given us the clear facts. I think he knows better than that about this bill. I would certainly think that Mr. Chudoff knows that the City Council in power will not be affected at this time by this increase, but I did not think that the Democratic party in Philadelphia would be willing to agree that they are sure that we will put every man back in the next election. This bill does not affect the gentlemen now in office, as I said.

In the second place, I don't think it is quite unfair for the gentleman from Philadelphia to say that because a man is in business that he should not hold an elective office. If we were to poll the Members of the House of Representatives, I dare say we would find that 98 per cent are in business. I don't believe that that should be a restriction on any man because he is in business and that he should not go into politics. I think that is the type of man that we need in politics. We don't want professional politicians. The City of Philadelphia doesn't have 100 per cent professional politicians in Council. I would like to repeat that this bill does not affect the gentlemen now sitting in Council in the city of Philadelphia at this moment. It will only affect those people who are elected at the next election, and I assure Mr. Chudoff that we will elect all Republicans again.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Smith.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to know from the gentleman whether he thinks that the Councilmen in the City of Philadelphia receiving a salary of $5,000 a year for the work they do now are under paid.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, we do not pay people only for the work they do. There are a lot of people that are overpaid and a lot of people that are underpaid. We have to have responsible men. I do not believe that work is the only thing that is involved in determining a man's salary.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I do not believe that the gentleman has answered my question. I think it is capable of being answered by yes or no. I would like to know whether he feels that the Councilmen of Philadelphia are presently underpaid or overpaid.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, it may be Mr. Chudoff's opinion but it is not my opinion that I can give a yes or no answer on that.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker I should like to know whether the gentleman feels that a Member of this House works as hard as a Councilman in Philadelphia.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I think we are underpaid, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to see this bill passed. I will vote against it but I want to see this bill passed. I think it is very good policy for this side of the House to have the majority hand the Councilmen of Philadelphia a drastic increase in salary, just hand it to them, just go to them and say, "Please, Councilmen, we admire you so; you are such magnificent fellows that we hate to see you working for $5,000 a year, we want to give you $8500," and just hand it to them, and then be so blamed niggardly about considering the claims of the teachers of Philadelphia.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

An Act to further amend section one thousand one hundred one of the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1225) entitled "An act concerning game and other wild birds and wild animals and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" requiring the Pennsylvania Game Commission to pay certain bounties The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section one thousand one hundred one of the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1225) entitled "An act concerning game and other wild birds and wild animals and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" as amended by the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 357) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1101 Authority to Pay Bounties on Predators Whenever in the opinion of the commission it is desirable or necessary for the better protection of game to pay rewards or bounties for the killing of any predators in any part of or throughout this Commonwealth the said commission is hereby authorized to pay such bounties for the destruction of predators and in such amounts and during such periods as it shall by general rules or regulations prescribe but in no case shall the amount so paid exceed the following bounties for the birds and animals herein enumerated For each Canada or Bay Lynx commonly called bobcat or wildcat fifteen dollars for each fox four dollars for each weasel one dollar and for each goshawk or other predatory bird five dollars Provided however That it is hereby made mandatory that the commission shall pay a bounty of at least four dollars for each fox killed in the Commonwealth except in counties where the killing of foxes is prohibited by law and the commission shall pay any bounty so established to foresters forest rangers fish wardens game protectors and other public employees to encourage them to destroy predators and to compensate them for services beyond their regular call of duty such payments to be made in the same manner and under like conditions as bounties are paid to other citizens

All bounties authorized by said commission shall be paid only upon such conditions as may be prescribed in said regulations and upon such proofs and in such manner as hereinafter provided

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, the Fox Hunters' Association of Greene County, representing most of the farmers in the western end of the County are opposed to this bill. They have a petition now with the Game Commission signed by over 500 farmers, covering nearly 189,000 acres of land in the western end of the county. The Fox Hunters' Association feel that they are entitled to their sport the same as the grey fox hunters are entitled to their sport. They are not interested particularly in the grey fox. They are interested in the red fox and they want the red fox preserved for their sport. They put up the argument that they own the land, that ninety-five per cent of the small game hunters do not own the land. If this bill passes they are going to be forced to do one thing because they have been losing a lot of stock, chickens, even cows sometimes by the small game hunters who go in and have no respect for property. If this bill passes, if they are not allowed their sport, then they will close their entire farms in the whole western end of the county to the small game hunters. Therefore, they are protesting the bill and I would like the Members of the House to give that subject consideration.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I am astonished that this bill has occasioned no reaction from the elite on the Main Line. It seems to me that this is a deadly blow to that gay company of ladies and gentlemen who dress up in scarlet coats and get on horses and start out after a little red fox and shout "Yo-hicks," something like that.

There is no occasion, as the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, will recognize, with these breakfasts that you have before you, shouting "Yo-hicks," and if you let these rustics, these peasants, these mere farmers, you know, with manure on their boots, kill these red foxes, who is going to have the privilege of getting out in a red coat and shouting "Yo-hicks."

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Argeeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 517, as follows:

An Act to further amend sections eight hundred eight and one thousand one hundred one of the act approved the fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 364) entitled "An act relating to business corporations defining and providing for the organization merger consolidation reorganization winding up and dissolution of such corporations conferring certain rights powers duties and immunities upon them and their officers and shareholders prescribing the conditions on which such corporations may exercise their powers providing for the inclusion of certain existing corporations of the second class within the provisions of this act prescribing the terms and conditions upon which foreign business corporations may be admitted or may continue to do business within the Commonwealth conferring powers and imposing duties on the courts of common pleas and certain State departments commissions and occers authorizing certain State departments boards commissions or officers to collect fees for services required to be rendered by this act imposing penalties and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to corporations" eliminating requirement that certificates of clearance be filed with articles of amendment or of dissolution

Section 1 Section eight hundred eight of the act approved the fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 364) entitled "An act relating to business corporations defining and providing for the organization merger consolidation reorganization winding up and dissolution of such corporations conferring certain rights powers duties and immunities upon them and their officers and shareholders prescribing the conditions on which such corporations may exercise their powers providing for the inclusion of certain existing corporations of the second class within the provisions of this act prescribing the terms and conditions upon which foreign business corporations may be admitted or may continue to do business within the Commonwealth conferring powers and imposing duties on the courts of common pleas and certain State departments commissions and officers authorizing certain State departments boards commissions or officers to collect fees for services required to be rendered by this act imposing penalties and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to corporations as amended by section five of the act approved the thirty-first day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 636) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 808 Filing of Articles of Amendment The articles of amendment proof of the advertisement heretofore required in this article [and a certificate or certificates from the proper department or departments evidencing payment by the corporations of all bonus taxes and charges as required by law] shall be delivered by the corporation or its representatives to the Department of State If the Department of State finds that such articles conform to law [and that the certificate evidencing payment of bonus or taxes or charges delivered therewith is in proper form] it shall upon payment of the filing fee forthwith but not prior to the day specified in the advertisement required by the preceding section endorse its approval thereon and shall file the articles and issue to the corporation or its representatives a certificate of amendment to which shall be attached a copy of the approved articles

Section 2 Section one thousand one hundred one of said act as amended by the act approved the thirty-first day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 636) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1101 Voluntary Dissolution by Incorporators The incorporators of a business corporation which has not commenced business or which has not issued any shares may effect the dissolution of the corporation by filing articles of dissolution with the Department of State The articles of dissolution shall be executed under the seal of the corporation signed and verified by a majority of the incorporators and shall set forth

- (1) The name of the corporation
- (2) The address including street and number if any of its registered office
- (3) The date of its incorporation
- (4) That the corporation has not commenced business and that none of its shares has been issued
- (5) That the amount if any actually paid in on subscription to its shares less any part thereof disbursed for necessary expenses has been returned to those entitled thereto
- (6) That no debts of the corporation remain unpaid
- (7) That all the incorporators elect that the corporation be dissolved

The articles of dissolution shall be delivered to the Department of State [together with a certificate or certificates from the proper department or departments evidencing payment by the corporation of all bonus taxes and charges as required by law] If the Department of State finds that the articles conform to law [and that the certificate delivered therewith evidencing payment of bonus or taxes or charges is in proper form] it shall upon payment of the filing fee endorse its approval thereon and shall file the articles and issue a certificate of approval thereon and shall file the articles and issue a certificate of dissolution to the incorporators or their representatives to which shall be attached a copy of the approved articles Upon the issuance of the certificate of dissolution the existence of the corporation shall cease

Section 1 Section one of the act approved the eleventh day of May one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine (P. L. 188) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to establish a board of wardens for the Port of Philadelphia and for the regulation of pilots and pilotage and for other purposes' approved March twenty-ninth one thousand eight hundred and three and for regulating the rates of pilotage and number of pilots" as amended by the act approved the thirtieth day of March one thousand eight hundred ninety-nine (P. L. 23) is hereby further amended to read as follows:

Section 1 That from and after the passage of this act the rates of pilotage for conducting a vessel from the Capes of the Delaware to the city of Philadelphia or other place on the River Delaware and from the city of Philadelphia or other place on the River Delaware to the Capes of the Delaware in either case shall be for every half foot of water which a vessel shall draw under up to and including twelve feet the sum of two dollars per half foot and for every vessel drawing over twelve feet the sum of [two dollars and fifty cents] three dollars per half foot of water. An increase of ten per centum from the said rates shall be paid to the pilot whenever he shall speak an inward-bound vessel at any point east of the Five Fathom Bank Lightship or north of Hereford Inlet Lighthouse or south of Fenwick's Island Lighthouse and a deduction of ten per centum from the said rates shall be made when an inward-bound vessel is first spoken by the pilot inside of a straight line drawn from Cape May Light to Cape Henlopen Light. Provided always That a vessel inward-bound to any port or place on the Bay or River Delaware which is not spoken or offered the services of a pilot outside of a straight line drawn from Cape Henlopen Light to Cape May Light shall be exempt from the duty of taking a pilot and the vessel as well as her master owner agent or consignee shall be exempt from the duty of paying pilotage or half pilotage or any penalty whatsoever in case of her neglect or refusal to do so.

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective ten days after final enactment.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 79, as follows:

An Act to further amend section four of the act approved the twentieth day of May one thousand nine hundred fifteen (P. L. 566) entitled "An act requiring cities of the first class to establish a pension fund for employees of said cities and all county or other public employees if any paid by appropriation of the city councils thereof and out of the treasury of said cities and regulating the administration and the payment of such pensions" providing an optional increase in payments by certain former employees and increasing the maximum monthly pension payments in such cases.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows:

Section 1 Section four of the act approved the twentieth day of May one thousand nine hundred fifteen (P. L. 566) entitled "An act requiring cities of the first class to establish a pension fund for employees of said cities and all county or other public employees if any paid by appropriation of the city councils thereof and out of the treasury of said cities and regulating the administration and the payment of such pensions" as last amended by the act approved the eighth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 443) is hereby further amended to read as follows:

Section 4 During the lifetime of the said person he or she shall be entitled to receive a pension from the fund set aside for the purpose of fifty per centum of the amount which would constitute the average rate of pay, at which he or she was employed during the last five years of his or her employment by the said city or other public employment as aforesaid. Said pension shall be paid in monthly payments. Provided That if any pension be granted to a person who has not been a contributor to the pension fund as herein provided during a period of twenty years such person shall be required to pay into the board of pensions monthly an amount equal to two per centum of his or her pension until such time as his or her contribution shall have extended during a period of twenty years. Should any person so employed after twenty years of service be dismissed voluntarily retire or be in any manner deprived of his position or employment before attaining the age of sixty years upon continuing a monthly payment to the fund equal to the last amount due and paid monthly while in active service said person shall be entitled to a pension above mentioned notwithstanding he or she has not attained the age of sixty years at the time of his or her separation from the public service but said pension shall not commence until he or she has attained the age of sixty years. Should any employee however become totally and permanently disabled while in the service after twenty years of service and before attaining the age of sixty years he or she shall be entitled to the said pension. Proof of total and permanent disability shall consist of the sworn statement of three practicing physicians designated by the board that the employe is in a permanent condition of health which would totally disable him or her from performing the duties of his or her position or office. Provided That in cases where the nature of such disability is such as to disable the employe from performing any work whatsoever either within or without the scope of his regular duties or within or without the service of such city or county the board may upon a recommendation of the three practicing physicians herein provided for retire upon pension such applicant after a service of fifteen years. Provided further That the benefits of this amendment shall apply to members of the pension fund who have been contributors to the said fund for five years, or more. The pension paid to any one employe whose monthly payments into the pension fund have been four dollars or less a month shall not exceed one hundred dollars per month. The pension paid to any one employe whose monthly payments unto the pension fund have been more than four dollars a month for a period of at least two years may exceed one hundred dollars per month but shall not exceed two hundred dollars per month. Provided That if an employe upon the date of retirement from service shall have made payments of more than four dollars a month unto the pension fund for a period of less than two years his or her pension shall not exceed one hundred dollars per month but an amount equal to the total amount paid in excess over four dollars a month shall be returned to such employe.

The pension to be paid to any former employe who was dismissed voluntarily retired or in any manner was deprived of his pension and employment after having twenty years of service as an employe of said city and who has continued making payments to the fund equal to the last amount due and paid monthly while in active service and who has not accepted any position under the provisions of the act to which this is an amendment shall be at the pension rate as provided in section five and his payments to the board of pensions after the first day of September one thousand nine hundred forty-five shall be in an amount equal to the amount which he would have been permitted to make had he continued in the employ of said city after the first day of September one thousand nine hundred forty-five and had continued to be paid the same salary as he received when he was last employed by said city. This new amount whether it be more less or the same as the amount which he paid prior to the first day of September one thousand nine hundred forty-five he shall continue to pay until he applies for a pension under the provisions of this act. If there be any difference between the amount which he has paid from the first day of September one thousand nine hundred forty-five and the amount which he has elected to pay under the provisions of section five he shall pay such difference into the board of pensions within six months of the effective date of this amendment.

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. TOMPKINS from the Committee on Labor Relations, reported as amended, House Bill No. 35, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the twenty-fifth day of July, one thousand nine hundred thirteen (P. L. 1024), entitled "An act to protect the public health and welfare, by regulating the employment of females in certain establishments, with respect to their hours of labor and the conditions of their employment; by establishing certain sanitary regulations in the establishments in which they work; by requiring certain abstracts and notices to be posted; by providing for the enforcement of this act by the Commissioner of Labor and Industry and others; by prescribing penalties for violations thereof; by defining the procedure in prosecutions; and by repealing all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions thereof," providing for payment of time and one half for overtime; changing hours of labor and restrictions relative to age in certain employments; and extending provisions to include additional persons.

Mr. O'CONNOR from the Committee on State Government reported as amended, House Bill No. 337, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies, with the approval of the Governor, to convey to the Borough of Ebensburg, Cambria County, certain property located in Cambria County and commonly known as the "Keystone Airport."

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSOR

Mr. SCHUSTER asked and obtained unanimous consent to add the name of Mr. Goff as an additional sponsor to House Bill 493.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, yesterday the School Commission returned to the House a report on the cost of the various bills raising teachers' salaries. I should like to know, Mr. Speaker, whether the Members of the House have access to that report, and where it may be seen.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman the Chair is informed that the report will be distributed by the Chief Clerk within a very few minutes.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSOR

Mr. RAGOT asked and obtained unanimous consent to add the name of Mr. Dalrymple as an additional sponsor to House Bill 50.

SUMMARY REPORT OF JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION

Mr. FISS. Mr. Speaker, I do not desire to take up much of the time of the House in presenting the report from the Joint State Government Commission, but it is a source of great satisfaction to me to present this report which I think is a summary report, and I would like to make a few explanations.

The Committee on Child Welfare Laws will print a separate report, that is, the Commission will print a separate report on Child Welfare Laws. The Committee on Cooperatives will also print a separate report on Cooperatives. The Decedents' Estates Laws—three of which you passed in this House, we are hopeful that they will pass the Senate in the same order—that too will be printed for distribution to the public with notes. The Fish and Game Commission reports will also be printed separately from this report. The state and local highway finances will also be printed separately.

The reason for the extra reports being printed is so that the summary report will not become too bulky. I know that we all can be reasonably proud of the work done by the Joint State Government Commission during the last biennium.

In the back of your book you will have the entire set-up of the Commission itself, as well as the advisory groups who aided us so much in presenting these reports. I refer especially to the advisory committee on decedents' estates laws, and the advisory committee on the revision of the Penal Code.

We are confronted with many new and complex problems in these trying times, and they can only be solved by a real knowledge of the facts. You will receive those facts, or that information through the medium of the continuing agencies like the Joint State Government Commission.

Again I say I hope you will read this report and look through it. I know you will find much information in it for every Member of the General Assembly.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the Chairman of the Joint State Government Commission.

The report will be noted in the Journal and printed in full in the appendix.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. GRIFFITHS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. GRIFFITHS. Mr. Speaker, I am wondering whether it would be possible for the Members of the House to know the rules and regulations about the parking of cars in front of the Capitol Building. I understood we were given stickers and yet most of the cars parked there do not have the stickers. I think we ought to know what the rules and regulations are of the Capitol police regarding parking there. I do not think the Members of the House would have any difficulty in parking their cars, but everyone else seems to get there and park their car first.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman for the information, and will see that it is transmitted to the Chief Clerk of the House for prompt action.

RESOLUTION No. 29

Mr. GREER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Resolution No. 29.

The resolution was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 19, 1947.

Whereas, The laws relating to landlord and tenant, eviction proceedings, rent control, and kindred subjects, and the amendments to such laws, contain numerous inconsistencies and should be carefully studied, revised, and codified in order to make them effective and useful for their intended purposes: therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to survey, investigate, and consider all of the laws relating to landlord and tenant, eviction proceedings, rent control, and kindred subjects, and to revise and restate completely such laws in codified form, and to report its findings and conclusions to the next regular session of the General Assembly with a bill or bills embodying a codification of the laws relating to landlord and tenant, eviction proceedings, rent control, and kindred subjects to be introduced at the next regular session of the General Assembly.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader with reference to this resolution.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, does this resolution embody all of the administration's program with reference to rent control?

Mr. SORG. It does not, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RESOLUTION No. 27

Mr. LEISEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Resolution No. 27.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 17, 1947.

Whereas, The St. Lawrence Seaway and Power Project will produce no practical benefits for the people of the two countries it is designed to serve and

Whereas, The General Assembly and the citizens of this State are greatly concerned about the effect the completion of this project would have upon them; and

Whereas, The construction of the project would burden the taxpayers of this Commonwealth, and the United States, with an initial sum estimated at from $543,000,000 to $1,350,000,000, and experience in similar public works would indicate that this project would cost much more; and

Whereas, Existing facilities, the Welland Canal, which by-passes Niagara Falls, and the Great Lakes Channels, amply provide for the present lake traffic. The railroads on both sides in the United States and Canada have demonstrated that they are prepared to handle all through traffic offered; and

Whereas, With its channels closed to navigation for about five months of the year, due to ice and weather conditions, it would be unreasonable to expect the railroads to perform the required service during the period that navigation is closed and to be in a position to handle the peak load. The railroads would be required to maintain equipment that would be idle or little used for sixty per cent of the time, and have the added problem of maintaining the personnel organization. Great numbers would have to seek employment elsewhere while tonnage was moved by government subsidized competitors. This situation would greatly affect the ports of Erie and Philadelphia; and

Whereas, Sea-going boats cannot travel this great distance for nothing, and the saving in transportation costs would be exceedingly small, if any; and

Whereas, It would be disastrous to Great Lake shipping, injurious to American rail, highway and inland waterways services, and seriously harmful to the American coal and iron ore industries; and

Whereas, Electrical energy that would be generated could only be used at nearby points, as it has been demonstrated that the cost of transmission over long distances greatly exceeds that generated locally; and

Whereas, Such an agreement, if ratified, would reduce the expectation of manufacturing, mining and agricultural products of this Commonwealth, and result in loss of employment and contribute to increased taxation; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), that the General Assembly of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States not to approve the agreement for the construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway and Power Project, and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to the President of the United States, the presiding officers of each House of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RESOLUTION No. 25

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Resolution No. 25.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 12, 1947.

Whereas, Never before in the history of the Nation or the Commonwealth has there been a greater need for the positive expression of religious precepts to lead the way in the establishment of a permanent and lasting peace; and

Whereas, Good Friday represents to all Christian people throughout the world, the supreme sacrifice of the Son of God on behalf of the fellowship of man; and

Whereas, It behooves all Christian people to express by appropriate services the deep and holy significance of Good Friday; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania take cognizance of the observance of Good Friday as a Holy Day of the deepest significance, and that it respectfully requests the Governor to issue a Proclamation urging the people of the Commonwealth to observe Good Friday by attending the churches of their choosing and otherwise observing Good Friday in a religious and spiritual manner.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. HAUDENSHIELD asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a condolence resolution.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Messrs. HAUDENSHIELD, LAUGHNER, COOPER and EWING offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 25, 1947.

The departure of a Member of former years is a matter worthy of note and commemoration by this Assembly.

The Honorable James L. Adams served as a Member of the House of Representatives from Allegheny County during the Legislative Sessions of 1907 and 1909. and in the Senate of Pennsylvania during the Legislative Sessions of 1909 and 1911.

He was born in Robinson Township, Allegheny County, May 27, 1873, the son of William and Emma Mary (Butler) Adams. He was reared on a farm, and educated in the public schools and Slippery Rock Normal School, from which he graduated in 1898, and later attended Western University of Pennsylvania. After teaching school, both as teacher and principal and serving as clerk in the county treasurer's office, he took up the study of law at the Pittsburgh Law School and in the office of John S. Robb, Esquire, and was admitted to the bar, January first, 1906.

Mr. Adams enjoyed a full and active life during his forty years of legal practice, as a legislator, solicitor for Coraopolis Borough and later as hearing examiner for the Public Utility Commission, as well as in the civic and economic affairs of his community, and in fraternal organizations.

Death claimed this public spirited citizen on April 20th, 1946, leaving to survive him his widow, Elise (Walton) Adams, two daughters, two grandchildren, three brothers and one sister; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby note the passing of the Honorable James L. Adams, former member of this body and of the Senate, and offer its condolence to the bereaved members of his family; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions, with a notation of their adoption, be mailed by the Chief Clerk to Mrs. Elise Adams.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. NEEDHAM asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a resolution.

RESOLUTION

Mr. NEEDHAM offered a resolution which was laid over under the Rules.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, is tomorrow the last day for the introduction of bills?

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. ANDREWS. Is it our understanding that bills on order in the Legislative Reference Bureau, but which have not been drafted by tomorrow will be privileged for introduction.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will inform the gentleman that all requests for bills that are on file with the Legislative Reference Bureau any time until the closing of that office tomorrow will be permitted to be introduced in the future, next week or when those bills are prepared for introduction.

The Chair also understands that the Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau will compile a list, giving a short title of all requests made at the time the office closes tomorrow, which will be supplied to the Leaders of the House so that they might know what requests have been made when bills are introduced throughout the next week or ten days. This, of course, excludes this rule, the Chair would like to point out, that any appropriation bills or revenue measures may be introduced at any time.

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE BILL No. 21

He also returned to the Senate, Senate Bill No. 21, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one of the act approved the eleventh day of May, one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine (P. L. 188), entitled "A further supplement to an act, entitled 'An act to establish a board of wardens for the Port of Philadelphia, and for the regulation of pilots and pilotage, and for other purposes,' approved March twenty-ninth, one thousand eight hundred and three, and for regulating the rates of pilotage and number of pilots," further regulating the rates of pilotage.

with information that the House has passed the same without amendments.

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE BILL No. 79

He also returned to the Senate, Senate Bill No. 79, entitled:

An Act to further amend section four of the act, approved the twentieth day of May, one thousand nine hundred fifteen (P. L. 566), entitled "An act requiring cities of the first class to establish a pension fund for employees of said cities, and all county or other public employees, if any, paid by appropriation of the city councils thereof, and out of the treasury of said cities; and regulating the administration and the payment of such pension," providing an optional increase in payments by certain former employees and increasing the maximum monthly pension payments in such cases.

with information that the House has passed the same without amendments.

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE BILL No. 196

He also returned to the Senate, Senate Bill No. 196, entitled:

An Act to further amend section six of the act, approved the seventeenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (P. L. 869), entitled "An act providing for the organization, government, discipline, maintenance, and regulation of the armed land forces of this Commonwealth," by changing the requirements for the appointment of general officers.

with information that the House has passed the same without amendments.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House which was twice read as follows, and referred to the Committee on State Government:

LANDLORD AND TENANT

In the House of Representatives, March 19, 1947.

Whereas The laws relating to landlord and tenant eviction proceedings rent control and kindred subjects and the amendments to such laws contain numerous inconsistencies and should be carefully studied revised and codified in order to make them effective and useful for their intended purposes therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to survey investigate and consider all of the laws relating to landlord and tenant eviction proceedings rent control and kindred subjects and to revise and restate completely such laws in codified form and to report its findings and conclusions to the next regular session of the General Assembly with a bill or bills embodying a codification of the laws relating to landlord and tenant eviction proceedings rent control and kindred subjects to be introduced at the next regular session of the General Assembly

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House, which was twice read as follows, and referred to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations:

ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY AND POWER PROJECT

In the House of Representatives, March 18, 1947.

Whereas, The St. Lawrence Seaway and Power Project will produce no practical benefits for the people of the two countries it is designed to serve; and

Whereas, The General Assembly and the citizens of this State are greatly concerned about the effect the completion of this project would have upon them; and

Whereas, The construction of the project would burden the taxpayers of this Commonwealth, and the United States, with an initial sum estimated at from $543,000,000 to $1,350,000,000, and experience in similar public works would indicate that this project would cost much more; and

Whereas, Existing facilities, the Welland Canal, which by-passes Niagara Falls, and the Great Lakes Channels, amply provide for the present lake traffic. The railroads on both sides in the United States and Canada have demonstrated that they are prepared to handle all through traffic offered; and

Whereas, With its channels closed to navigation for about five months of the year, due to ice and weather conditions, it would be unreasonable to expect the railroads to perform the required service during the period that navigation is closed and to be in a position to handle the peak load. The railroads would be required to maintain equipment that would be idle or little used for sixty per cent of the time, and have the added problem of maintaining the personnel organization. Great numbers would have to seek employment elsewhere while tonnage was moved by government subsidized competitors. This situation would greatly affect the ports of Erie and Philadelphia; and

Whereas, Sea-going boats cannot travel this great distance for nothing, and the saving in transportation costs would be exceedingly small, if any; and

Whereas, It would be disastrous to Great Lake shipping, injurious to American rail, highway and inland waterways services, and seriously harmful to the American coal and iron ore industries; and

Whereas, Electrical energy that would be generated could only be used at nearby points, and it has been demonstrated that the cost of transmission over long distances greatly exceeds that generated locally; and

Whereas, Such an agreement, if ratified, would reduce the exportation of manufacturing, mining and agricultural products of this Commonwealth, and result in loss of employment and contribute to increased taxation; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs). That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States not to approve the agreement for the construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway and Power Project; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to the President of the United States, the presiding officers of each House of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

BILLS SIGNED

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Daniel B. Strickler) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bills had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

Senate Bill No. 21, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one of the act, approved the eleventh day of May, one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine (P. L. 188) entitled "A further supplement to an act, entitled 'An act to establish a board of wardens for the Port of Philadelphia, and for the regulation of pilots and pilotage, and for other purposes,' approved March twenty-ninth, one thousand eight hundred and three, and for regulating the rates of pilotage and number of pilots," further regulating the rates of pilotage.

Senate Bill No. 79, entitled:

An Act to further amend section four of the act approved the twentieth day of May, one thousand nine hundred fifteen (P. L. 566), entitled "An act requiring cities of the first class to establish a pension fund for employees of said cities, and all county or other public employees, if any, paid by appropriation of the city councils thereof, and out of the treasury of said cities; and regulating the administration and the payment of such pensions," providing an optional increase in payments by certain former employees and increasing the maximum monthly pension payments in such cases.

Senate Bill No. 196, entitled:

An Act to further amend section six of the act approved the seventeenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (P. L. 869), entitled "An act providing for the organization, government, discipline, maintenance, and regulation of the armed land forces of this Commonwealth," by changing the requirements for the appointment of general officers.

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Daniel B. Strickler) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. TALLMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, on Monday of this week in this chamber the gentleman from Westmoreland took occasion to present a budget message of his own. Simultaneously with the delivery of that message there were also remarks made by the minority leader in the House. I assumed when the gentleman from Westmoreland was making his remarks, that he was speaking for the Democratic party. I assumed also, when those remarks were made in the House, that the minority floor leader was speaking for the Democratic party.

It seems strange that the Democratic party in attacking the budget of Governor Duff and in making its own proposals, should be so far apart.

The gentleman from Westmoreland in his remarks indicated that there was no new money necessary to carry on the functions of the government of Pennsylvania over the next biennium.

I read now from a copy of the remarks made by the minority floor leader in the House and he said "If it is the purpose of the majority party to confine appropriations within the $547,484,704 figure carried in the budget the Governor actually needs approximately $15,000,000 in new money in order to finance his program."

It seems to me, Mr. President, that if the minority party in Pennsylvania is going to assume the position of attacking the budget, in the first instance, and then again, if it is going to suggest a new method of raising the moneys necessary to carry on the functions of state government, then they certainly ought to come to the point of some agreement between the leadership in that party, so that the entire Commonwealth and particularly those of us in the Legislature may know exactly what they have in mind.

Mr. President, on Monday this body was treated to a series of remarks upon the budget by the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, to which I am going to reply, having meanwhile, as the Senator invited, (page 3 of transcription) "looked at the record."

In his remarks the Senator qualified himself as an expert witness upon budget matters by stating: (page 2 of transcription)

"I challenge Logan's figures and can show by the record that for every biennium since he has been Budget Guesser the estimates of the minority party have been closer to being right."

Then the Senator goes on to make certain claims concerning the budget which he does not substantiate. Even though his claims are unsupported, if he has a good record for estimating in the past then attention must be given to his present estimates. On the other hand, if his past record does not support his claim to high ability, then the Senate and the people of the state have a right to be informed that any budget prediction he makes and any financial schemes which he advances must be discounted largely.

It is a favorite trick of speakers to make claims which are unsupported and to provide support for such claims by inviting listeners to look at the record. Such speakers trust to man's natural laziness or indifference to deter him from looking at the record. This human failing leads many to believe the speaker since it is natural to expect that the speaker would not dare to invite his listeners to look at the record if the record did not bear out his statements.

Since hearing the Senator from Westmoreland on Monday I have been looking at the record. I am now going to give the Senate the results of my research. My conclusion, which I shall document and support is: that the minority party has not been in the past, as the Senator from Westmoreland claims, closer to being right than the Governor or his advisers.

Item 1. I read an excerpt from page 756 of the Legislative Journal for February 27, 1945, Mr. Dent speaking:

"There was an available cash surplus on June 1, 1943 of $37,861,000."

Now Mr. Dent was speaking 21 months after this surplus was determined and he had access to all the facts. The truth was that this figure was the general fund cash balance which was encumbered by $29,800,000 of liabilities, $15,000,000 of which subsequently lapsed. The actual surplus was about $22,800,000. This is a $15,000,000 deviation from fact reported in the record.

Item 2. I quote from page 756 of the Legislative Journal for February 27, 1945, Mr. Dent speaking:

"There will be, according to our estimates, an available surplus on June 1, 1945 of $80,604,000."

At the time Mr. Dent made this estimate, the Governor's budget for 1945-1947 had been in his hands for two months. That budget estimated $110,700,000 surplus on May 31, 1945, which events subsequently proved to be almost exact. In other words, with two months longer time to estimate, Mr. Dent strayed in his estimate by $30,000,000.

Item 3. I quote again from page 756 of the Legislative Journal for February 27, 1945, Mr. Dent speaking:

"Assuming that the same taxes will be levied during the 1945-1947 biennium, including the liquid fuels tax, in round figures there should be collected in that biennium $460,000,000."

At the time Mr. Dent was estimating $460,000,000 to be collected for 1945-1947, the Governor's budget estimated $369,000,000. Adding to this the $22,600,000 in liquid fuels tax that Mr. Dent refers to gives us a total of $391,600,000 to compare with the Senator's $460,000,000. This is the comparison which existed three months before the present biennium opened. Now on page 50 of the Governor's budget for 1947-1949 the revenues for 1945-1947 are estimated at $436,950,000, but this includes $32,300,000 in liquor profits which were added to the estimate just two months ago, so these should be deducted from the $436,900,000 to compare with Mr. Dent's prediction. When this is done the resulting figure—$404,650,000—states the administration's prediction to compare with Mr. Dent's $460,000,000 prediction. We will not know who is right until May 31, 1947, two months from now, but as of last Friday we had collected $333,200,000 and if we add for the purpose of comparison the amount we collected between March 21 and May 31 of 1946 we get a total of $409,000,000 now apparent to compare with Mr. Dent's $460,000,000. Let me explain that the additional liquor store profits from the January mark-up are not included.

Item 4. I quote once more from page 756 of the Journal for February 27, 1945, Mr. Dent speaking:

"Assuming that the Governor's requested appropriations will be enacted into law there will be $366,000,000 expended in 1945-1947. There should, therefore, be added to the surplus available at the end of 1945-1947 an additional $100,000,000. The total surplus available, May 31, 1947 should be $218,465,000."

Do you realize, Mr. President, that on February 27, 1945, Mr. Dent estimated that the surplus on May 31, 1947, two months from now, would be $218,465,000. By comparison I point out that the Governor's budget shows an estimated surplus on that date of $16,678,000. I have searched in vain through the transcript of Mr. Dent's remarks in the Senate Monday for an accounting of what has happened to his surplus. He devotes great attention to the disposition of Governor Martin's surplus, which was, as he admits, appropriated to pay off Earle's State Authority Debt and to give the state some much needed public works; but of his surplus prediction of 1945 he says not a word. We are forced, therefore, to assume that he has wiped the slate clean of the minority party's tissue of errors, bad judgment, and preposterous assumptions and is starting all over again.

Now to sum up what I have found in the record:

Item one discloses a $15,000,000 error out of $38,000,000.

Item two discloses a $30,000,000 error out of $110,000,000.

Item three discloses a $50,000,000 error in $460,000,000. His percentage is better here.

Item four discloses a $202,000,000 error in $218,000,000. Here he slipped again.

Mr. President, I submit that there is nothing in the record which the Senator from Westmoreland invites us to look into which indicates that the minority party can lay any claim whatsoever to estimating abilities which demand our attention.

Now I turn from a consideration of the minority party's past performance in estimating, to the remarks of the Senator on Monday. I shall select the important points which the Senator made and analyze or comment upon them.

First: To quote from Senator Dent's remarks:

"There were, however, unexpended funds totaling well over $170,000,000 which the Democratic minority predicted in 1945."

In answer to this, Mr. President, I would refer you to the results of my research into the minority party's prediction in 1945. I have already set forth what I found.

Second: A further quotation from the Senator's remarks:

"I might point out too, that Governor Duff claims a saving of $3,500,000 by paying off the $48,000,000 State Authority bonds. I question the bookkeeping of this entry. How much of this amount has been saved since these bonds were paid off, a period of less than two years. How much of this amount must be paid out of the General Fund in special appropriations to the Teachers' Retirement Funds, to make up for the loss of income from the authority bonds. These questions are answered in the Governor's message. He is requesting $5,000,000 more for the Teachers' Retirement Fund. I pointed this out in my fight against the liquidation of the General State Authority."

The Governor's statement was that "from the date these bonds were paid off until March first of this year the Commonwealth saved over $3,500,000 in interest charges in addition to discharging the debt." The Governor's statement was accurate. He was talking only about the State Authority financing. If you want to know the net gain to the state here are the facts: The redemption of the State Authority Bonds took from the retirement funds $3,707,760 in interest which they would have received during 1945-1947 but it gave the funds $47,912,000 in cash which they invested in 2½ per cent U. S. Bonds, the yield from which will have been by May 31, $2,395,600. The state has to make up the difference between these two figures, or $1,312,160, by reason of its guarantee to the retirement funds. The state, therefore, gains for the biennium $2,395,600 plus $206,688 in finance agent fees and insurance premiums. This amounts to 2.72 per cent on the $47,912,000 which it invested in the debt.

Third: The Senator presents a table comparing the revenues for 1945-1947 as estimated in 1945, and as estimated now, as though he wanted the Senate to believe that the 1945 estimate was the Governor's and the present estimate his own or that of the Minority Party. I submit, Mr. President, that both estimates are estimates of the Governor. One was made eight months before the end of the Japanese War and four months before the end of the German War. The other estimate was made after twenty-one months' experience: Need I say more.

Fourth: The Senator tosses around a lot of revenue and expenditure items and states that the revenue items he mentions are too low and the expenditure items too high, but since he doesn't support any of his assertions, I am forced to put his opinion down as pure guess, wishful thinking, or the plaintive bleatings of the political opposition, to be discounted for what they are worth. Judging from the Minority Party's past performance, Mr. President, I feel that the discount rate would be in the neighborhood of 90 per cent.

Fifth: Now we come to the meat of the Senator's discourse on Monday: The avoidance of $133,000,000 in new taxes recommended by the Governor through a plan presented by the Minority Party. This plan lists seven items of revenue increase, expenditure reduction or appropriation diversion, which would make $60,250,000 available. As I have stated above under "fourth", the revenue estimates are not supported. Neither are shown the means by which the expenditure reductions could be made. The appropriation diversion would simply reduce the amount available for mental hospital construction as recommended by the Governor. To the $60,250,000, the Senator adds the Governor's budget surplus of $27,000,000 which the Governor left without recommendation except that it be applied toward increasing teacher's salaries. This increases his total to $87,250,000. Then he adds $24,000,000 from repeal of the manufacturer's exemption and $20,000,000 from repeal of the carry-back carry-forward provisions of the Corporate Net Income Tax Law. He lifts these from the Governor's recommended new tax program but he says they are not new taxes. But, Mr. President, whether they are new taxes or not, they can not be included twice, as the Senator has done in his calculation.

In arriving at a $27,000,000 unrecommended amount, the Governor's program made use of the $24,000,000 and the $20,000,000 above referred to. Both amounts were used in arriving at the $27,000,000 amount, but the Senator uses both the $27,000,000 amount and the $24,000,000 and $20,000,000 figures. He is wrong in this respect, obviously, by $27,000,000.

It is with this kind of estimating that the Minority Party is bidding for leadership in Pennsylvania. In my opinion, based entirely upon the record which the Senator has invited us to look up, to follow such leadership to any extent at all, would be to court disaster.

Let's look the facts in the face: recommended appropriations are $547,000,000 and with $27,000,000 which may be appropriated for teachers salaries the total is $574,000,000. In this amount there is only $26,000,000 for capital expenditures which when deducted leaves a total of $548,000,000 for current expenses.

The estimate of revenue from present sources is $425,000,000. Appropriations for current expenses recommended, therefore, are $123,000,000 above estimated revenues from present sources. This spread will be further increased when a soldiers bonus is granted.

It is clearly apparent that the present tax structure is insufficient and needs to be enlarged.

More than half of the total postwar program of $76,000,000 is for public works other than construction of buildings. It would be impossible under an authority to establish rights for bondholders in case of default on the bonds and for more than half of the program, there would be no basis of establishing leases by the state.

It is apparent that a state authority could not provide more than a temporary expedient of not more than $43,000,000 to meet this shortage of $133,000,000, due to the fact that a large share of the postwar program could not be financed by a state authority in such a manner that the bondholders would have any security for the bonds they hold, and whatever amount was furnished by a state authority for the 1947-1949 biennium could not be repeated in the next biennium.

It is clear that if we want to avoid running into deficit financing, the kind that was done in the Democratic Administration, the present tax structure must be enlarged.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, it will be difficult, of course, for me, as it was for the gentleman from Lehigh, to absorb all the figures that he gave and give you a complete answer to his analysis of my budget message, but I will clear up immediately one misunderstanding.

There is no difference between the figures submitted by the Democratic leadership in the House and the Democratic leadership in the Senate. The question of $15,000,000 that stands as the difference between the amounts I suggested and the amounts suggested by the House Leader can easily be made up if the gentleman from Lehigh will further study the message I gave.

In the estimate given by the House leader of the Democratic party he stated that if the Governor proceeded to spend, as he outlined in his budget message, he would need $15,000,000 odd in new taxes.

I said the same thing, but I also added that if we subtracted $10,000,000 that could be saved in administrative department costs and $5,250,000 in administrative costs in the relief set-up, then we would have a saving of $15,000,000, which would wipe out the difference between my figures and the figures of the House leader. I hope the gentleman can add two and two.

With regard to the exhibit that I handed to the Senate, relative to the original guesses of Mr. Logan and the current income resulting from those guesses, I suggested to the Senate that my figures were based upon that very difference apparent in the schedule, page 4, exhibit FF that I submitted to the Senate, and the total difference there is $100,000,000 of a total figure of $287,000,000, as compared to $288,000,000, and I suggested to the Senate that Mr. Logan twenty-one months previous had made a bad guess of over $100,000,000. That is substantiated by the record submitted to the Senate by the Governor of Pennsylvania in his message, the thirteenth biennial budget. My figures were taken right from the budget.

The gentleman also said I made a serious mistake in my figures on the surplus I predicted in 1945. Let us look at that record. The gentleman stated that I predicted a surplus of $218,000,000. If the gentleman will read the Governor's message, given to this body on the eleventh, he will find that the Governor says that on March 31 there was a surplus that amounted to $170,596,000. Then, if we turn the pages and go back we will find that the Governor further adds to the $170,000,000 the figure of $15,607,240 unexpended surplus in the general fund, making a total surplus at the end of the biennium of $185,000,000 odd dollars.

If you compare that $105,000,000 to the $281,000,000 guess that I made in 1945, I believe if you compare my figure with the $16,000,000 as suggested as the surplus by the budget director of the Governor, I am at least five hundred per cent closer to right than the gentleman was who made the original estimate, Mr. Logan.

If you add to that $185,000,000 the figure of $23,000,000 that was taken from the Liquor Control Board profits during the biennium, you will find that I have come very close, within $11,000,000, of the total figure that I predicted on the budget of $218,000,000 surplus in 1945.

I was substantiated in my statement, Mr. President, by Governor Duff, then Candidate Duff, on April 30, when he predicted a $200,000,000 surplus. The same day the budget director, Mr. Logan, said that the Duff forecast of a surplus of $200,000,000 would be upheld and that the state income was running $200,000,000 ahead of his own estimate made in 1945.

For the record, I would say that if you will get the Pittsburgh Post Gazette for the first day of May, 1946, the statement that I read into the record will be substantiated.

I will further refer to you the statement of another well known Republican, who only came within $8,000,000 of the same surplus that I predicted, when he said, and he did not give the figure, but just stated more than $200,000,000. I specifically said $218,000,000.

The then Governor, Mr. Martin, himself said there was every indication that approximately $30,000,000 would accrue in the 1945-1947 fiscal period, bringing the Commonwealth surplus to the record-breaking $200,000,000 mark. This remark was made on April 22, 1946, gentleman, and that is contained in the Scranton Times of the twenty-second day of April, 1946.

My figures may not suit the purposes of the gentlemen on the other side, but no amount of explanation—that reminds me, Mr. President, of the time that I was accused of breaking a window when I was a small boy and when I came home my father was waiting for me with the man who owned the building in which the window was broken and my father looked at me and he said, "Johnny, you are accused of breaking a window" and I said "Dad, let me explain." My father loomed at me and he said "Johnny, when you start to explain it is bad already." So I say to the gentleman on the other side that when you start to explain it is bad already.

You have had at your disposal all the budgetary experts in the pay of the Commonwealth. I humbly submit that the figures that I gave to this body had to be taken from the budget messages of the present Governor and the past Governor of the Commonwealth, and I say to you that if those figures lie, then I am perforce made out to be a liar by the figures submitted by the Governor himself. I stand upon that premise because every figure I read into the record came from the budget message of the Governor of Pennsylvania and they were all estimates of the budget director of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. At no time did I reach into the air and get any figures. I did say this, however, and this was the only addition made to that message of the Governor that was not his own figure. I said to this body a saving of $15,250,00 could be made if this Legislative body would take it upon itself to carry forward an investigation into the great increase in administrative cost of doing business in the Commonwealth, and right at this point I call your attention to another release from the Department of Public Assistance, dated March 10, 1947, which is a follow-up on the release that I read into the record as of March 4, 1947.

If the gentleman will take the time to analyze those figures, he will find that in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania we spent $6.72 per inhabitant of the Commonwealth for relief costs and out of this amount $5.86 is spent for categorical permanent type relief, and this is an important figure which I want to drive home to the members of this Senate. We are spending 86 cents per inhabitant for the cost of direct relief to needy citizens. Compare that, gentlemen, to the figure of 54 cents per inhabitant for administering this very same 86 cents that we are giving to needy persons. If any person in the Commonwealth can show me why we can not save a minimum of $5,250,000 in the administrative costs of that one department, then I am willing to admit to the Senate that I am a bad guesser and that I do not know what I am talking about.

I am not proud of the fact that I have to stand here and disagree with the man that the Commonwealth pays a handsome salary to do the budget work for this Commonwealth. I would rather be able to stand up and say I think the figures given to us are based upon an estimate that we can rely upon, rather than have to stand up and disagree with you men, disagreeable as it is to me.

I can turn to the record for the last four bienniums in Pennsylvania and show there has been only one degree of consistency in the estimates made by the budget director, and that degree of consistency is a degree of consistently being wrong.

As I have pointed out, in every one of the Governors messages, from 1941 until the present day, there has been a degree of inconsistency in the amounts that are assessed and the amounts that are received and so, gentleman, I say that I will answer categorically every one of the statements made by the gentleman on the other side and I will continue to adhere to the same principle that I have always followed—I will take your own figures, and give you my answers.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WALKER from the Committee on Judiciary General to which was referred resolution offered by Mr. Crider, to which was referred resolution offered by Mr. Crider, on March 10, 1947, reported the same without amendment as follows:

JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO CONTINUE ITS STUDY, INVESTIGATION AND CONSIDERATION OF ALL PENAL LAWS OF THE COMMONWEALTH

In the Senate, March 10, 1947.

Whereas, Under Resolution, Serial Number 15 of the General Assembly of 1945, the Joint State Government Commission was directed to investigate, survey and consider all penal laws of the Commonwealth and to revise and restate such penal laws in codified form and to report its findings and conclusions at the next regular session of the General Assembly, and

Whereas, The laws of criminal procedure of the Commonwealth to better serve the efficient administration of justice are in need of similar study and codification, and

Whereas, Because of the great importance attached to both the proper study and codification of the penal laws and the laws relating to criminal procedure it would be advisable and advantageous to make further study of the penal laws in conjunction with a study of the laws relating to criminal procedure, therefore be it,

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur) That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to continue its survey, investigation and consideration of all the penal laws of the Commonwealth and in connection therewith to survey, investigate and consider the laws of the Commonwealth relating to criminal procedure and to completely revise and restate such penal laws and laws relating to criminal procedure into codified form and to report its findings and conclusions to the next regular session of the General Assembly with a bill or bills embodying a codification of the penal laws and laws relating to criminal procedure of the Commonwealth to be introduced at the next regular session of the General Assembly;

The Legislative Reference Bureau shall prepare the necessary drafts of all bills agreed on by the commission and shall furnish such advice and assistance as it may be called on to furnish.

which was laid over for one day under the rules.

L. 2897), entitled "An act establishing a system of unemployment compensation to be administered by the Department of Labor and Industry and its existing and newly created agencies with personnel (with certain exceptions) selected on a civil service basis; requiring employers to keep records and make reports, and certain employers to pay contributions based on payrolls to provide moneys for the payment of compensation to certain unemployed persons; providing procedure and administrative details for the determination, payment and collection of such contributions and the payment of such compensation; providing for cooperation with the Federal Government and its agencies; creating certain special funds in the custody of the State Treasurer; and prescribing penalties," by expressly excluding from the definition of "employment" services of certain solicitors and salesmen who are compensated on a commission basis.

Which was committed to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President and members of the Senate, on behalf of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, and myself, I wish to make the following statement before presenting this bill, and I believe this is a very pertinent time because after hearing all the changes in the labor relation act I think Senator Geltz and I will solve it by this one bill and you can forget the others that have been put in this morning.

The problem of management and labor relations is with us today and will be with us so long as we preserve our democratic way of life. It ceases to be a problem under any form of dictatorship. The destruction of the labor movement was one of the first steps taken in fascist nations. There are no free unions, as we understand free unions in the United States, existing today in Communistic Russia. One can take whatever consolation he wants from the fact that dictator countries have no management-labor problems. But neither do they have any other freedoms. No thinking man would trade the so-called management and labor problems for the price of dictatorship.

Whether the problems growing out of the daily contacts of the employer and the employees are exaggerated in the daily press, is not too important.

Frankly, I think too much attention has been given to whatever friction grows out of this relationship, rather than to an understanding of the causes of the friction. And, likewise, too little attention is paid to peaceful relations existing in industry. It seems to be characteristic of our way of life that we are interested only in the unusual.

Actually, this is not true, but only seemingly true. We are all truly interested in understanding industrial and labor relations and helping to advance the mutual interests of the parties and consequently our whole economy.

The bill introduced here to establish in Pennsylvania State College an education program or schools in industrial and labor relations goes to the heart of this very important problem. I should like to read from the bill, Section 4—Objects and purposes, and I quote: "The object of said schools shall be to improve industrial labor conditions in the Commonwealth, to provide instruction, to conduct research, and to disseminate information in all aspects of industrial labor, and public relations, affecting employers and employees," end of quote.

If education means anything it means bringing to students the benefit of what has been learned in the past. Perhaps it is true that there is no school like the school of experience. But we who have something to do with the labor movement know there are skills which can be taught in this broad subject called collective bargaining. This goes for both labor and management. Remember this: Labor has no monopoly on the sins attending discord in industry. Both sides can learn and I know both sides want to learn.

On every side we see experiments under way to improve the skill of the men who meet daily in the mills and factories. Schools similar to that proposed for this Commonwealth are already established in Michigan, New York and Illinois by the Legislators of those states.

I am sure that their experience has proved the value of such schools. I am sure that we can obtain detailed reports from them.

Here in Pennsylvania several unions are experimenting in training programs for the so-called rank and file. Last summer, for instance, Penn State and the United Steelworkers of America conducted four one-week institutes. Some 400 men and women from the mills attended this institute. The course of study went directly to the heart of the problems of the steelworker; that is, collective bargaining, handling grievances; the part the union can play in the community life; parliamentary procedure; the problems of human behavior. The experiment proved so successful that the institute will be continued again this summer. In addition, this union, in cooperation with colleges and universities of other states, will have summer institutes at nine other schools. It is estimated that upwards of 2,000 steelworkers will attend these schools.

Leaders of this union have told me that the members are anxious to equip themselves better in the art of handling daily problems in a peaceful and satisfactory manner. The reaction of one steel company in this Commonwealth to last summer's institute was so favorable that it not only volunteered to pay the expenses involved, but wanted to send some of its foreman and other supervisors.

I am not trying to create the impression that if this bill is passed there will be no more management and labor problems, but I do say that through education and training—mind you, education and training of both management and labor, as the bill provides—that these problems will be minimized, insofar as discord is concerned.

There are forces at work in our country which would destroy our great American freedoms and traditions. Organized labor is a bulwark against such evil forces. So is our educational system. It seems to me that we have too long neglected bringing the skills and techniques of peaceful industrial relations to management and labor through an education program in industrial and labor relations.

The bill presented here today is a step in that direction. It deserves the fullest consideration by every member of this Senate

Messrs. HOLLAND and GELTZ read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 429, entitled:

An Act authorizing the establishment in The Pennsylvania State College through the extension services of said institution, an educational program in industrial and labor relations; stating the objectives and purposes of said program; conferring obligations and duties on the trustees and president of said institution; providing for the establishment of an advisory committee, its appointment and defining its powers and duties; and making an appropriation therefor.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Mr. KEPHART read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 430, entitled:

An Act appropriating the sum of One Hundred and Fifty Thousand dollars ($150,000) for the two fiscal years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred and forty-seven, to The Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, for the establishment and support of a Research Institute of Preventive and Industrial Medicine.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. STIEFEL read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 431, entitled:

An Act providing for the determination and effect of comparative negligence in actions of tort and providing that contributory negligence shall not bar recovery.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

HOUSE MESSAGE

SENATE BILL No. 104 RETURNED WITH AMENDMENTS

He also returned to the Senate, Senate Bill No. 104, entitled:

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. President, I rise to discuss the merits or rather the demerits of this bill with a feeling of futility, since it suddenly occurs to me that the authors of this measure would not call it up at this time unless there was a good probability there were sufficient votes on the floor of this Senate to pass it.

Having watched the proceedings in this Senate for the past fourteen years, however I nevertheless cling to the hope that some day on the very floor of this Senate even those who have committed themselves to any proposition might reconsider that commitment after a reasonable discussion of the merits of a measure, and with that hope in mind I shall make an effort to convince the members of this body that this bill should not pass.

I would like to make it clear at the outset that I am not against insurance companies, that I am not against life insurance and that I am not against doing anything that will assist our unfortunate problem. I represent no insurance companies, I represent no builders, I represent no persons in the real estate business. I venture the statement that I hold as few policy contracts as the average Senator and possibly as few as the average citizen in this Commonwealth, and it is for that reason, being a policyholder, and for the reason that I have a sworn duty to represent at least a part of the citizens of this Commonwealth, that I would like to bring to the attention of all the members of this Senate what I consider the fallacy in this bill.

There is no political consideration in my mind in this regard, I have discussed the matter with members on both sides of this chamber and obtained indications that there are members on both sides who are for and against the bill.

And so, Mr. President, I address myself to all the members of this Senate, and you may wonder by now what my objections to this bill are.

The objection is an historical one. Life insurance, as such, was imported to this country from Europe at a time when the business of life insurance itself was just pure plain life insurance, where, like in a fire insurance contract, experience indicated that in a given area, over a given period, there would be so many losses and the premiums for such fire insurance were rated in accordance with the losses that were to take place, plus administration costs, plus, if it was a stock company, a dividend to the stockholders.

Life insurance started out on the same basis. Experience indicated that over any given year, at any given age, so many persons would die, and the theory of insurance being that some security attached to the family of the deceased, the amount of the premium to cover those losses was accordingly prorated to cover those losses, to cover administration costs and to cover a stock dividend, if it was a stock company. That was the theory of pure insurance, which today is known as term insurance, as distinguished from level premium insurance, which is the big insurance contract of this country today.

If it had maintained the pure insurance feature in the insurance business there would have been no problem today, but some enterprising insurance executive, who probably had investment experience, decided away back that it would probably be a good idea to join the investment feature with the insurance feature, and so developed the level premium insurance policy which is the big seller in this country.

The companies, when they began to make and sell that policy, assumed before they started to guarantee each policyholder a specific return on that portion of the premium which was to be invested. If I may digress for a moment I will try to indicate, as simply as I know how, the operation of that situation. Under pure insurance a man at age thirty would pay $15 per year per thousand for his insurance and at the termination of the policy, or at death, his estate would receive $1,600. The company then decided to change that type of policy, so that the policyholder would pay $30 per year per thousand; $15 would be reserved to cover the pure insurance feature and the other $15 used for investment purposes, which, over a specific period, is supposed to bring in to the company enough to be able to pay the policyholder or his family an additional $500 or $1,000, and that guarantee was made by the insurance companies notwithstanding the fact that at the time they prepared that contract, or sold that contract to us, as a part of the insurance-buying public, they did not know what conditions they would encounter on the return that they estimated.

As a result, at that time the insurance companies were required to come, hat in hand, to the various state legislatures and ask for permission to invest this additional $15 premium in some form of investment which would give them a return which they had already guaranteed to the policyholder.

After that, over the years, from time to time legislatures all over the country, and our own here in Pennsylvania, have given those life insurance companies the right to invest these extra-premium payments in securities that range from United State Government obligations down through the less secure public instrumentality obligations and finally down to mortgage loans, where, in this Commonwealth, we gave the right to permit them to invest in mortgage loans up to two-thirds of the value of the real estate in question. Even with that two-thirds limitation it is well known that the life insurance companies were required during the last depression to take back thousands of properties in which they had made such mortgage investments; it is well known that the insurance companies owned, during the last depression, a great deal of the farm land in the middle west and if it had not been for the Home Owners Loan Corporation and the Federal Land Banks I do not know what would have happened to the insurance companies and to the public, if anything drastic had occurred.

Notwithstanding many of the warnings that have been made over the years to the public, to the companies and to the legislative bodies, the insurance companies have continued to sell this type of contract. As a result today their assets have gone from seven million dollars in 1920 to more than fifty billion dollars today and, there is no indication that the size of their assets will lessen in any way.

The companies at this time find that there is no longer a sufficient return from the type of investment that we have permitted up to this time and so they have requested of this Legislature that we give them the right, not to make a so-called equity investment, where there is some cushion, where there is some safety factor, but they ask us at this time, in Section 406, Clauses "E" and "F" of the bill, to permit them to invest funds in the construction, maintenance and operation of residential and commercial type properties. These companies are now willing, with the public's money—and it is the public's money—to make a hundred per cent investment risk in the construction of real estate, notwithstanding the fact that even in the more secure mortgage investments, during the depression, many losses were suffered by the insurance companies by reason of a change in the market.

I would like to mention at this time that we are now in a high-cost period. I would like to say for the benefit of the members of this body that in the city of Philadelphia more than half of every project that was started during the late twenties, including more than half of the hotels and buildings in the city of Philadelphia, were within three year's time lost to the original owners, because the market dropped all the way down, and these constructions took place during a high-cost period, and that is what the insurance companies are letting themselves in for today. I say it is a risk which we should not permit. Even if it might be argued at this time that there is a possibility that they can get a decent return on such investments or make some money, you are only postponing the day when we will have before us the problem of permitting insurance companies to go into the department store business and the steel business and any other business that may appeal, or that may have the most appeal at that time, because the rate of construction can only last for a certain period and eventually we will have more than we need. There will not only be a drop in the market but there will be a lessening of demand, and even if we assume that money will be made, it means only that the assets will go from fifty billion dollars to seventy-five billion dollars and, gentlemen, that seventy-five billion dollars must be invested in something.

I think this is the time, when they ask us to be permitted to do something beyond a pure investment and they ask us to go into business, that we should stop and study the entire problem, and if we do not we are only postponing the day when it will face us more drastically, I am sure.

It is no argument to say that up to this time companies have honored their commitments because those of you who attended the public hearing heard the representative of the insurance companies state that he did not know how far this condition would keep on snowballing. He shrugged his shoulders and he had no answer to it.

I should like to state at this time also that this is something that we have not given our own banks in this Commonwealth the right to do, and we have refused to do so because we recognize the hazardous nature of this type of investment and I assure you, gentlemen, if this bill passes, we can not in equity and fairness deprive the banks of that right when they so request, or building and loans or other similar agencies. The analogy, I believe, is the same.

I would like to state in conclusion, since so much excitement has been created about the fact that this is a housing bill, that I can not understand the magic of the words "life insurance company", that indicates that the president of such a company, by waving a wand, suddenly turns a company into a construction company, suddenly is able to create supplies of building material and lathes, and assures all of us that next month or six months from now or next year they can do what the builders of this country have been unable to do, and it is for that reason I said this is not a housing problem.

Gentlemen, I do not know what consideration you have given to this problem, I do not know whether you have considered it from the standpoint of, well, the insurance companies must have an outlet, must have the right to invest. If you have done it on that basis you are just postponing the day of judgment and I say, gentlemen, if you consider this carefully you must in all conscience to yourselves and to the insurance companies vote against this measure.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I have a most profound respect for the gentlemen from Philadelphia, Mr. Rosenfeld, and I have listened to his arguments against Senate Bill No. 2 with a great deal of interest. Had there been any hesitancy on my part whatever as to the need on behalf of myself to endorse life insurance one hundred per cent, he has convinced me that I now should do so, and he too has provided the opportunity which I shall avail myself of very briefly, to pay a fitting tribute to the great institution of life insurance.

However, I feel a certain responsibility on the part of myself, as a life insurance agent, and on behalf of some of our visitors who may represent life insurance companies, to point out to the gentleman from Philadelphia some of the great benefits of life insurance which he today missed.

I charge, Mr. President, in his discussion that he completely missed one of the great benefits of life insurance. He has told us that life insurance does provide an income or a continuation of income to our family should we be taken away prematurely, but he has entirely overlooked the fact that life insurance serves a dual purpose. Not only does it provide us with a vehicle with which to provide this life income to our family, but also it provides an income to us if we live beyond the productive period of our life.

Let me quote for just a moment from an authentic publication. Approximately fifty-four per cent of the funds paid out by life insurance companies last year, 1946, went to living policyholders. In amount those payments totaled a sum that would entitle approximately 150,000 old people to $100 a month each for a period of ten years. That would be $25 a week unemployment compensation to 1,246,000 people for a solid year. That would provide a loan of $1,000 each to 1,680,000 persons.

Approximately forty-six per cent only of the funds paid out by life insurance companies in 1946 went to dependents of policyholders, whose earnings were prematurely stopped by death.

You see, the gentleman has missed one of the great benefits of life insurance; he only gives life insurance forty-six per cent of the credit that it is currently doing.

Term insurance is all right, it serves its purpose, but does the gentleman know that term insurance premiums would increase each year and that a policyholder arriving at the age of sixty-five or seventy would find premiums way beyond his ability to pay? By the use of level premium life insurance the insurance company may guarantee to us that they will furnish an estate of $10,000, $20,000, $40,000, $100,000, or even more, and guarantee that we will never have to pay more than a certain amount. That is the use of level term life insurance.

The gentleman said that the life insurance companies come to the Legislature with hat in hand. Never, Mr. President, and my colleagues, has a life insurance institution found it necessary to come and ask for one cent. They, together with their sisters in the industry known as the insurance business, contribute to the coffers of the state of Pennsylvania some $20,000,000 a biennium to regulate business in Pennsylvania, and we return less than three per cent. It is a great factor in state government. Without it the great nation of America would find something just lacking. The contributions of life insurance to its 78,000,000 policyholders in America deserve the finest tribute that this Senate or any other legislative body in America could give it. Never have they come with hat in hand. They are not begging. They are asking us to raise the limits a little bit, to broaden the field a little bit, so that through able management, and I say that advisedly, because it has been proved time and time again to the world, in which this management might find a source for placing their funds in profitable investments.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I have listened with a great deal of interest to the discussion of the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, selling us an insurance policy.

We all admit that the insurance companies are large, they are strong, and all of us have those so-called policies. I understand these policies, of course, will take care of us after death, or rather of our families after death—at least they will give us a burial.

I oppose this bill because I am not in favor of creating big financial monopolies. Insurance companies today, and I think the gentleman from Cumberland put it very vividly, compose one of the richest financial empires in the country. If we permit them to go into real estate it will not be long until they will control real estate. I think all of feel, and I know that the newspapers have all said this is a housing bill. Money is not the thing that is required to build housing today; it is material. All the money is available to build houses and if the insurance companies want to lend the money to builders I am for it, and they have that right, but when you say to this monopoly, which can pull strings by their investments and by the large insurance policies that certain men have, they can pull strings, it will not be long until they will have a monopoly on the material going into houses.

After all, gentlemen, do not forget that what made America great was not the monopolies, big industrial concerns, but it was the small industries that made America what it is today. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cumberland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Wade, as sponsor of this bill, about large insurance companies, you being one of them, would you kindly tell us if they intend to build small houses for G. I.'s, and at what price.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, may I correct the gentleman and say you can not talk to insurance companies; you must talk to officials of insurance companies.

Mr. HOLLAND. I thought the gentleman from Cumberland was the insurance company.

Mr. WADE. Thank you.

Mr. HOLLAND. Well, as an official of an insurance company you have talked to other officials of insurance companies. Have they called you or have they advised you under the workings of this bill whether they will build houses for the G. I. and at what price. As a G. I. looking for a house I am very much interested.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I do not want to confuse the issue by being technical but I am not an official of a large insurance company, or any other, but I will answer the gentleman's question by saying there is a provision in this bill which would permit them to build houses. I do not have the authority to make a statement for them or any other insurance company, for any one or more than one.

Mr. HOLLAND. Well, at what price? Certainly they had something intended when they introduced the bill. Any business man would want to know at what level they were going to build. What price housing are they going to build.

Mr. WADE. This is not essentially a housing bill. It is a bill modifying provisions in the present law for investment of life insurance company funds.

Mr. HOLLAND. I thank the gentleman from Cumberland, and that is what I wanted him to say, for the benefit of the press, because the press has thought from the beginning this was purely and simply a housing bill and in their editorials they have called this a housing bill and that it would absolutely cure the scarcity of G. I. homes and homes for workers. I am glad the gentleman from Cumberland made the statement he did, because I knew he had said it off the floor and I wanted him to say it for the record.

Mr. President, I ask the members of this Senate to vote against this bill because if they vote for it they are only going to create a larger monopoly, a financial monopoly, than we now have, and I think everybody will agree that it is the intent of all parties today to break up the large monopolies that are destroying the life blood of America.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I had not intended to say anything on this bill but the remarks made by the sponsor prompted me to give my reasons for supporting this bill.

For months before this session of the Legislature convened I gave serious consideration to what might be done to relieve that serious situation. I recall that in the 1945 session of the Legislature a bill was enacted permitting the investment of certain funds of certain insurance companies in housing projects in redevelopment areas and the thought occurred to me it might be a good thing to permit the investment of such funds anywhere in Pennsylvania where housing might be provided for the G. I. I therefore introduced a bill which would have limited the duration of the bill, I believe to seven years.

I believe this bill will, and I hope that it will, provide some housing, that it will help in some measure to alleviate that serious situation and for that reason, and only for that reason, I intend to support the bill.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I do not want to take the time of the Senate to read this editorial, an editorial in favor of this bill, appearing in the Pittsburgh Press as of March 24, 1947, but I would like to have it inserted in the record.

"INSURANCE AND HOUSING

"INSURANCE COMPANIES stay solvent in two ways.

"They make money on the policies they issue. Many policy-holders don't go through with the deal. So, under their contract, they don't cash in on the benefits.

"When an insurance company writes a risk, it takes a gamble. More often than not, probably, the gamble is good.

"But insurance companies keep their heads above water mainly by investing the policy-holders' funds until such time as it becomes necessary for the policy-holders to call for them. Until the payoff comes, the insurance companies meet their expenses and make their profits from the return on these investments.

"In recent years, sound investments for insurance companies have become fewer. And the returns smaller.

"Life insurance companies in particular are strictly limited by laws. They are prohibited from investing in any but the safest fields.

"This is good law because most of the money held by insurance companies belongs, in the last analysis, to policy-holders. The purpose of these strict laws is to protect the policy-holders.

"Under present circumstances, however, the law needs relaxing. This is necessary, in fact, or insurance companies—by reason of the diminished field for investments —won't be able to stay solvent. That would hurt the policy-holders.

* * *

"So the Pennsylvania Legislature is considering changes in the law which would permit life insurance companies to invest in fields where they now are forbidden.

"One of these fields is public housing.

"This proposition has double-edged merit.

"It will give life insurance companies a safe, sound field for investment, which is necessary to their solvency. Providing, of course, it is permanent investment, and not speculative real estate.

"And it will help alleviate a desperate shortage of homes and industrial accommodations. As it stands, either there is a shortage of available capital for this purpose, or the free capital is unwilling to move into this field.

"Some of the bigger life insurance companies are interested in this field. And they are equipped, by size and by resources, to make it a successful venture.

* * *

"The bills before the Legislature are Republican-sponsored. At first, the Democratic minority, led by Mayor David L. Lawrence, who is an insurance man in private business, was dubious. It had some questions.

Now the Mayor has testified in favor of these bills.

"That would seem to eliminate the objections.

"These measures can mean much to Pittsburgh. Already at least one insurance company has nibbled at the idea of launching a major housing project here. If these bills, reinforced with proper safeguards, become law, they well may be the means of giving this city a housing shot in the arm it badly needs."

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, in line with the statement of the gentleman from Blair, Senator Mallery, I would like to say to the members of the Senate that as Legislative Chairman of the American Legion of Pennsylvania I have been authorized by the State Commander and the Legion Executive Committee to advise the members of the Senate that they also are in favor of the bill now before the Senate because they believe sincerely that it will make a contribution towards the relief of the housing shortage, not only for the industrial worker but for the returned G. I.

It may be, as the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, said, that it might not be a complete answer to the housing shortage, but we feel at least it is a contribution to the solution of that problem that is irking all of us and again, Mr. President, I would like to say that I have been advised that in several spots in my district there will be large housing developments under construction just as soon as the benefits of this bill are made available to the companies and to the industries which are desirous of providing homes for their workers. Some of the sites and the industries involved have been revealed to me because of the acute housing shortage in the areas in which we all live.

I sympathize with the gentleman from Philadelphia, in that he does not represent any insurance companies, but I do not think that is an issue in this case.

I think we should realize that any step that will assist in bringing additional houses into Pennsylvania, whether they be in units of a hundred, whether they be in apartment house units, or whether they be in individual homes for the fellows that are trying to find places in which to raise their families, we should be for that contribution, minor or major as it may be.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. President, I am very sorry to have to stand here and state I think all the speakers have assumed the attitude that the insurance companies, having these funds in their pockets, are suddenly desirous of doing a charitable act for the people of this Commonwealth, by going into the building business to construct homes, but everybody seems to forget that the funds which we are now talking about belong to no insurance company as such, they are the funds of the citizens of the Commonwealth, they are my premiums and they are your premiums. I say to you, gentlemen, it is a position of public trust and we must guard that public trust.

Of course they pay income taxes to the Federal government and to the state, but they pay them for us, and if it is a question of assisting in the building of homes, I say to you, Mr. President, that is a problem for the state or the federal government and not private funds in insurance companies which belong to each of us as individuals.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I also am a member of the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the A.V.C. and the Am-Vets, and I have talked this over with a number of veterans and I will vote for this bill if you amend it to say it is a housing project for veterans. If you promise in the bill to build houses for veterans or houses for people I will vote for it, but anyone knows this is not a housing project and the gentleman from Cumberland said so himself.

A lot of G. I.'s are going to be kidded. They sold it to the American Legion as a housing bill and I know the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, will agree with me that it was discussed as a housing bill in the American Legion meeting. He said here on the floor of the Senate it was not a housing bill. Something is wrong. You know very well they are going to build buildings, they are going to use materials that should be going into G. I. homes and skyscrapers, the gentleman mentioned, and I believe that is true, so he is helping me a great deal because I guess his conscience is worrying him, if he has any.

I would like to be able to vote for a bill to build houses for the G. I. but this is not a G. I. bill, so do not dress it up as a G. I. bill.

I know newspapers too, and the newspapers make a lot of mistakes, their editorial writers think it is strictly a housing bill, but it is not, and I ask you now to leave the bill on the calendar and amend it to make it a housing bill and I will support it, but as it is now I can not support it.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll the following occurred:)

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I challenge the roll call, and ask that it be verified.

The PRESIDENT. Request has been made to have the roll verified.

The Clerk will call the names of those recorded as having voted in the affirmative.

The Clerk read the names of those recorded as having voted in the affirmative as follows:

NAYS—5

Dent,	Rosenfeld,	Stiefel,	Woodring,
Holland,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I think it would be a good suggestion for the Senate to use the pair system that is used in the House in Washington but they do very well here without voting in pairs, but at least let us here have one man in the Senate taking care of the votes.

The CHAIR. The gentleman would have to change the rules in order to do that.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 224, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend clause (c) of section three of the act, approved the tenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 485), entitled "An act to provide for the better protection of life and health of the citizens of this Commonwealth by requiring and regulating the examination, licensure, and registration of persons, and registration of corporations, engaging in the care, preparation, and disposition of the bodies of deceased persons; and providing penalties," further regulating requirements of applicants for examination as undertakers.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 578, as follows:

An Act making a deficiency appropriation to the Glen Mills Schools situate in Delaware County Pennsylvania. The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 That the sum of four thousand six hundred dollars ($4,600) or as much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the Glen Mills Schools situate in Delaware County Pennsylvania for the balance of the two fiscal years beginning the first day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-five for the purpose of maintenance.

Section 2 The act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, March 26, 1947

The House met at 11:00 a. m.

The SPEAKER (Franklin H. Lichtenwalter) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Rev. D. Frederick Wertz, Pastor Camp Curtin Memorial Methodist Church, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, whose blessings are ever to us a miracle and whose mercies surpass our understanding, we thank Thee for the blessings of liberty. For the rich heritage that is America, for the role of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in making her great, we bow in humble gratitude. The shadow of Thy hand hath been our constant guide.

Penitently we acknowledge our corporate sin. Failure to discharge our responsibility of public service, readiness to compromise principle for expediency, indifference to the great moral issues of our time; these and countless others have marred the escutcheon of our souls. O God, forgive.

Most heartily we beseech Thee to grant Thy blessing upon the President of The United States, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and all others in authority. Imbue them with the spirit of wisdom, goodness, and truth; and so rule their hearts, and bless their endeavors, that law and order, justice and peace, may prevail everywhere, to the honor of Thy holy name; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of Tuesday, March 25, 1947.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of Tuesday, March 25, 1947, when, on motion of Mr. TOMPKINS unanimously agreed to, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

L. 156) are hereby reenacted to read as follows

Section 1 All boilers used for generating steam in and about mines and collieries shall be kept in good order and the owner operator or superintendent shall have them examined and inspected by a qualified person as often as once in six months and oftener if needed. The result of such examination under oath shall be certified in writing to the inspector for the district within thirty (30) days thereafter

Section 2 It shall not be lawful to place any boiler or boilers for the purpose of generating steam under nor nearer than one hundred (100) feet to any coal breaker or other structure in which persons are employed in the preparation of coal. Provided That this section shall not apply to boilers or breakers already erected. And provided further That nothing in this act contained shall be construed to apply to boilers carrying a pressure of not more than fifteen pounds per square inch which are used for heating purposes and which are equipped with safety devices approved by the Department of Mines and Mining

Section 3 Each nest of boilers shall be provided with a safety valve of sufficient area for the steam to escape and with weights or springs properly adjusted

Section 4 Every boiler house shall be provided with a steam gauge properly connected with the boilers to indicate the steam pressure and another steam gauge shall be attached to the steam pipe in the engine house and placed in such position that the engineer or fireman can readily examine them and see what pressure is carried. Such steam gauges shall be kept in good order tested and adjusted as often as once in every six months and their condition reported to the inspector in the same manner as the report of boiler inspection

Section 2 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 659, as follows:

An Act to further amend section twenty-three of the act approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine (P. L. 420) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine" by increasing for a further limited period of time the rate of tax imposed upon the gross receipts of certain companies limited partnerships associations joint-stock associations copartnerships and persons by making further provisions for the report and payment of the tax and by further defining gross receipts

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section twenty-three of the act approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine (P. L. 420) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred seventy-nine" as last amended by the act approved the twenty-sixth day of March one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. This act shall be construed to apply to municipalities and to impose a tax upon the gross receipts derived from any municipally owned and operated public utility or from any public utility service furnished by any municipality to the extent of such gross receipts as are derived from business done outside the limits of the municipality operating the public utility service.

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, with the permission of the House I will comment on the whole tax program rather than speak on each bill as it comes up, if that is satisfactory with the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg.

Mr. SORG. That is entirely satisfactory with me, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears no objection; the gentleman will proceed.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, in reading the papers this morning I noticed a story that began

"The Republican controlled House beats down Democrat delaying methods yesterday . . ."

Now, that is great fun, "beating down Democratic opposition." If there were no Democrats in the House, if there were only 170 Republicans, you would find some differences of opinion among the 170, but because of the virtues and the faults of our party system the presence of 36 Democrats over here serves to bind 170 Republicans in a single group, and instead of having discussion concerning the measures that vitally affect the interests of the people on the floor of this deliberative Assembly we throw the gang clutch and you come in with an iron band around both your reason and your conscience.

I cannot overtly charge you with that because I have not been able to convince the leaders of my own party that caucuses should be open sessions, and that what the Members of this House say in caucus should be a part of the record, and until I have been able to sell that idea to my own party, I cannot chide you.

Now, we are in the process in this program of creating a legend; a legend of a Governor who is so honorable in his intentions, so wise, that nothing he can suggest can possibly be wrong, and it would be positively wicked and perhaps unconstitutional to question any proposal that the Governor may make, and it is a sign of disloyalty or something if we refuse immediately to say "yes" when the other fellow says "It is an administration bill."

We have created another legend in this State, and because of that legend we are in the position we are in this morning; we have a tax program on our very doorstep. I want to call your attention to the reason, or one of the reasons why we are being asked to vote on one hundred thirty-three millions of dollars of new taxes. On August 22, 1945, the Governor of the Commonwealth called in the newspaper men and he said

"The Republican candidate for governor in 1946 can promise tax reductions and then fulfill his promises. If Pennsylvania continues as it is now we may be able to get another tax reduction in the future, but it will not be in my administration because my commitments have been made. I am hoping to give my successor a nice surplus to start out with."

There are the exact terms—tax reduction, a promise that the candidate for governor in 1946 could make, which he said could be redeemed, and because of that promise you reduced corporate taxes, you incurred other expenditures, and that is why you are in the position that you find yourselves this morning.

It is peculiar that the Democrats who have always been denounced as reckless spenders, should be cast in the role of advising cuts. I admit that neither Governor Duff, nor any other governor could have redeemed Edward Martin's reckless promises—it couldn't have been done, but Martin was the man that sowed the seed that the mythical two hundred thirty-one million dollar surplus grew from.

Now, on this tax program the first bill we have is number 659, the gross receipts tax. Any Governor, John Rice or Duff or anybody else would have suggested this tax. The only question that arises is whether 8 mills or 14 mills or 12 mills is the right thing. Since you insisted that this bill be forced to passage at this time, before you have determined your appropriation liability, there is no position that I can see as far as we are concerned, perhaps as far as the majority over there are concerned, those of you who have nothing to say about party policy—nothing left for us to do but to vote for this bill. I think it would have been better judgment to have delayed fixing the millage in this bill until we knew more about our needs.

The next bill, House Bill 661, the liquor tax, I don't see any way of evading the continuance of that tax. Certainly there will be no reason to fail to continue that tax, and even suggest other taxes. The liquor tax is part of our tax structure, and since there is need for money I think we may mark that down as one that must of necessity be supported.

We come now to House Bill 662. That is a new tax, the need for which has not been demonstrated. As I called to your attention on the floor yesterday you don't know, I don't know, the Majority Leader doesn't know how much if any you need from this tobacco tax, and from the increase in the cigarette tax. I say that the proper place for House Bill 662 is on the postponed calendar until you see whether you need it or not, and if you need it how much you need it. Since the majority refuses to put this bill on the postponed calendar I have no option except to suggest that we vote "no."

Then there is House Bill 663 which doubles the tax on malt beverages. I say exactly the same thing about House Bill 663 as I said about the other bill, its proper place is on the postponed calendar. When the legislative program is framed it might be one of the taxes that I myself would say we have to take in order to meet our commitments, but there is nothing on the record, nothing projected in the program that has been in committee that determines whether we need this tax. If you won't put it on the postponed calendar, which I say is the place to put it, the only thing I can suggest that we do is vote "no."

Then there is the next tax bill, House Bill 664, which is being so enthusiastically swallowed by the membership of this House, the soft drink tax. I have observed that many of the gentlemen have a liking for an extra delicious bottle of Coca-Cola, Pepsi-Cola or Crown Cola. And how you love that measure! Well, as I see the matter, regardless of their delight in it, they are going to have the opportunity of voting for this bill. It's like the fellow who said, "I'm going around to get drunk, and my God, how I hate it." So we are going to vote for House Bill 664, and how we hate it. Now, I wouldn't mark House Bill 664 definitely off of my calendar; I would put 664 on the postponed calendar. Maybe I would figure that in meeting the commitments that I felt it necessary to meet, it might be necessary to pass that tax. But no, you won't put it on the postponed calendar. That being the case I would say we have no option except to vote "no."

Of course the corporate net income tax, No. 665, that is a proven part of our tax structure. There never should have been any question as to whether or not that tax should or should not have been continued. The only question is the rate of tax, to be governed by the necessities of the Commonwealth as the times change, such adjustment as will make every possible concession to business that can be made in justice to the other taxpayers of the Commonwealth, so I would say as far as House Bill 665 is concerned there is no option under the existing conditions except to vote for it.

Incidentally if the people that voted for that particular bill had not been so enthusiastic about scuttling the General State Authority, that forty-eight million dollars with which they retired the authority bonds would have been in the Treasury and the business interests maybe wouldn't have had to pay that sum in additional taxes under this bill.

House Bill 666. This bill breaks my heart, postponing the manufacturers' exemption. To have this particular bill wiped off the statute books was a particular ambition of our great and good friend Joe Grundy. Well, they said that Joe was retiring, the lion is tired, his teeth are gone, and so not the wicked Democrats put across the bill to tax capital stock manufacturers, not the wicked Democrats, but you who not so long ago told us that was the bill that was driving industry from Pennsylvania, and you came up here with the facts and figures to prove that the measure sponsored by the Democratic party was just going to put industrial Pennsylvania on the rocks.

Well, we didn't believe that you were right when you said the original enactment of the capital stock tax would ruin Pennsylvania, and you knew you were. Now you find out that you were wrong, and we have no option, since you want to come over lock stock and barrel into our position, except to welcome you with open arms and hope that as the days proceed you may see further light when you can stand up and look the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association in the eye, and the Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce in the eye, and the Economy League in the eye and tell them where to go. Maybe there is hope for you. I have never been able to do it through the years. Maybe if you do it some of you will come back—I don't know, but you want to come back on the basis of the new taxes you are suggesting, unless you can show a better reason for new taxes than you have yet produced, and unless some issue is carried to the people that you can convince them that the new taxes are a better way to finance construction than through the General State Authority.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, there isn't much to say. The gentleman questions whether we may come back or not come back. We hope we come back on the basis that we will have kept faith. The gentleman refers to a political campaign, he refers to certain tax reduction promises, not necessarily by any of the candidates here or by the present incumbent in the Governor's office.

We are here today in consideration of the promises made by all of the candidates in the last campaign. We told them that we would enter public service to provide good government. We told them of the fine things that we would do as the majority, should we be so fortunate, and as we analyze this program, Mr. Speaker, we find that it takes one hundred thirty-three million dollars at least to fulfill our promises. We mean to do that.

There are all kinds of ways by which that can be done, and there are all kinds of suggestions that have been made, but mark you this well, those suggestions were confined to the category of income tax, wage tax and general sales tax. We knew that any tax that would be imposed would be obnoxious, but we respectfully submit this program with all the disagreeableness in it, that we admit, and say that it is not half as disagreeable as what might have been accomplished had we taken those other suggestions.

There are many things that we must do. Everybody knows that there is a mental health problem; there are many people sick that need to be taken care of. Everybody knows that all of our various functions of government have experienced increases in costs. We know that there are people who must eat, and who must depend on us to eat. We know that we must have conservation, pure water, and we know that we have got to do this in such a way that it will not be too obnoxious.

This is the program upon which we will stand or fall, because we know that it does not hit the little fellow; we know that it is equally distributed in as equitable manner as we possibly can conceive, and on that basis we are asking all the Representatives here to keep faith on the basis of the promises made to the public.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Bane,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 661, as follows:

An Act to reenact and amend the title and the act approved the ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (Special Session of one thousand nine hundred thirty-six P. L. 13) entitled "An act imposing an emergency State tax for a limited period of time on liquor as herein defined sold by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board providing for the collection and payment of such tax and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue and the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board" as previously reenacted and amended by extending the provisions thereof for a further limited period of time

Section 1 The title and all the sections of the act approved the ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (Special Session of one thousand nine hundred thirty-six P. L. 13) entitled "An act imposing an emergency State tax for a limited period of time on liquor as herein defined sold by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board providing for the collection and payment of such tax and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue and the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board" as last reenacted and amended by the act approved the twenty-first day of March one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 49) are hereby reenacted and further amended to read as follows

An Act imposing an emergency State tax for a limited period of time on liquor as herein defined sold by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board providing for the collection and payment of such tax and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue and the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board

Section 1 Be it enacted &c That the following words terms and phrases used in this act are for the purposes hereof defined as follows

"Liquor" Any alcoholic spirituous vinous fermented or other alcoholic beverage or combination of liquors and mixed liquor a part of which is spirituous vinous fermented or otherwise alcoholic and all drinks or drinkable liquids preparations or mixtures intended for beverage purposes which contain more than one-half of one per centum of alcohol by volume except alcohol and malt or brewed beverages

"Department" The Department of Revenue of this Commonwealth

"Board" The Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board of this Commonwealth

"Fiscal Month" The monthly period established from time to time by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board for the purpose of conducting its business

Section 2 Until the first day of June one thousand nine hundred [forty-seven] forty-nine an emergency State tax is hereby imposed and assessed at the rate of ten per centum of the net price of all liquors sold by the board The tax herein imposed shall be collected by the board from the purchasers of the liquor from the board The amount of such ten per centum so collected by the board under the provisions of this act shall be paid into the State Treasury through the department in the manner and within the times herein specified and shall be credited to the General Fund

Section 3 It shall be the duty of the board to transmit to the department on or before the fifteenth day of each calendar month a statement of its receipts from sales of liquor and taxes collected during the preceding fiscal month and such other information as may be necessary to effectuate the provisions of this act at which time it shall also be the duty of the board to pay to the department the tax imposed upon such liquor by the provisions of this act Provided however That the board may in its discretion add the tax imposed by this act to the wholesale and retail price at which liquors are sold and eliminate any accounting of such tax separate from sale prices and in such case the amount of the tax for any calendar month shall be ascertained by dividing the entire gross receipts derived from sales at Pennsylvania liquor stores during such month by eleven and the quotient thus obtained shall be deemed the amount of the tax for such month payable over under this section

Section 4 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

Section 2 This reenacting and amending act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

(b) Every person desiring to continue to engage in or hereafter to begin to engage in the sale of [cigarettes] tobacco products at wholesale or retail within this Commonwealth except those persons exempt under section 3 (a) hereof shall file an application for a [cigarette] tobacco permit or permits with the department Every application for a [cigarette] tobacco permit shall be made upon a form prescribed prepared and furnished by the department and shall set forth the name under which the applicant transacts or intends to transact business the location of his place of business within this Commonwealth [whether or not the applicant is the holder of a mercantile license in effect when the application is made and if so the number of such license and the county for which such license was issued] and such other information as the department may require. If the applicant has or intends to have more than one place of business within the Commonwealth the application shall state the location of each place of business. If the applicant is an association the application shall set forth the names and addresses of the persons constituting the association and if a corporation the names and addresses of the principal officers thereof and any other information prescribed by the department for purposes of identification. The application shall be signed by the owner if a natural person and in the case of an association by a member or partner thereof and in the case of a corporation by an executive officer thereof or some person specifically authorized by the corporation to sign the application to which shall be attached the written evidence of his authority.

At the time of making such application the applicant shall pay to the department a permit fee of [one dollar ($1.00)] two dollars ($2.00) for each permit. Provided however That prior to the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred forty-seven the department shall allow a credit of one dollar ($1.00) to any person making application for a tobacco permit who also holds a valid cigarette permit.

Upon approval of the application and the payment of the permit fee or fees herein required the department shall grant and issue to each applicant a [cigarette] tobacco permit for each place of business within the Commonwealth set forth in his application [Cigarette] Tobacco permits shall not be assignable and shall be valid only for the persons in whose names issued and for the transaction of business at the places designated therein and shall at all times be conspicuously displayed at the places for which issued.

All permits shall expire on the thirty-first day of December next succeeding the date upon which they are issued unless sooner suspended, surrendered or revoked for cause by the department.

(c) Permits issued under the provisions of this act may be renewed annually before the first day of January upon application made to the department and the payment of a renewal fee of [one dollar ($1.00)] two dollars ($2.00).

Whenever any permit issued under the provisions of this act is defaced, destroyed or lost the department may issue a duplicate permit to the holder of the defaced, destroyed or lost permit upon the payment of a fee of fifty cents ($.50).

(d) The department may suspend or after hearing revoke a [cigarette] tobacco permit whenever it finds that the holder thereof has failed to comply with any of the provisions of this act or any rules or regulations of the department prescribed, adopted and promulgated under this act. Upon suspending or revoking any [cigarette] tobacco permit the department shall request the holder thereof to surrender to it immediately all permits or duplicates thereof issued to him and the holder shall surrender promptly all such permits to the department as requested. Whenever the department suspends a [cigarette] tobacco permit it shall notify the holder immediately and afford him a hearing if desired and if a hearing has not already been afforded. After such hearing the department shall either rescind its order of suspension or good cause appearing therefor shall continue the suspension or revoke the permit.

Section 4 A State excise tax is hereby imposed and assessed upon sales of [cigarettes] tobacco products by dealers at the [rate of one cent per ten cigarettes or fraction thereof except] following rates:

(a) Upon sales of cigarettes at the rate of one and one-half cents per ten (10) cigarettes or fraction thereof.

(b) Upon sales of little cigars at the rate of one and one-half cents per ten (10) little cigars or fraction thereof.

(c) Upon sales of cigars at the rate of ten dollars ($10.00) per thousand. Provided however That the sales of cigars, cheroots and stogies retailing for not more than four cents each shall be taxed at the rate of five dollars ($5.00) per thousand.

(d) Upon sales of smoking tobacco and chewing tobacco at the rate of twenty per cent of the factory list price exclusive of any trade discount, special discount or deals. The tax imposed hereunder shall not apply to such sales of [cigarettes] tobacco products as are not within the taxing power of this Commonwealth under the commerce clause of the Constitution of the United States [and except] nor to such sales as are made to authorized purchasers by commissaries, ship's stores and voluntary unincorporated organizations of the Army or the Navy personnel operating under regulations promulgated by the Secretary of War or the Secretary of the Navy. Provided That only one sale of the same package of [cigarettes] tobacco products shall be used in computing the amount of tax due hereunder.

Except as hereinafter provided, dealers shall be liable to the Commonwealth as taxpayers for the payment of the tax imposed by this act and shall pay the tax into the State Treasury through the department by purchasing from the department adhesive stamps of such design and denominations as may be prescribed by the department.

Manufacturers of [cigarettes] tobacco products located either within or outside of this Commonwealth and wholesale dealers in [cigarettes] tobacco products located outside of this Commonwealth may purchase stamps from the department and affix such stamps in the manner hereinafter prescribed to packages of [cigarettes] tobacco products to be sold within this Commonwealth in which case the dealer within this Commonwealth receiving such stamped packages of [cigarettes] tobacco products will not be required to purchase and affix stamps on such packages of [cigarettes] tobacco products.

Section 5 Each dealer shall affix within the time hereinafter prescribed to each package of [cigarettes] tobacco products stamps furnished by and purchased from the department evidencing the payment of the tax imposed by this act and shall cancel such stamps before such [cigarettes] tobacco products are offered for sale or before they are otherwise disposed of, unless stamps have been affixed to such packages of [cigarettes] tobacco products before such dealer received them. Each wholesale dealer in this Commonwealth shall affix such stamps to each package of [cigarettes] tobacco products unless such stamps shall have been previously affixed thereto and shall cancel the same in the manner prescribed by the department prior to the delivery of such packages to any retail dealer in this Commonwealth.

Each retail dealer in this Commonwealth except those persons exempt under section 3 (a) hereof shall immediately upon the receipt of any [cigarettes] tobacco products at his place of business so affix such stamps to each package of [cigarettes] tobacco products unless such stamps shall have been previously affixed thereto and shall cancel the same in the manner prescribed by the department or shall immediately mark in ink on each unopened box, carton or other container of such [cigarettes] tobacco products the word "received" and the month, day and year of such receipt and shall affix his signature thereto. The retail dealer shall in any event open such box, carton or other container and immediately affix such stamps to each package therein and cancel the same in the manner prescribed by the department within twenty-four hours after such receipt and prior to the sale of such [cigarettes] tobacco products.

Whenever any [cigarettes] tobacco products are found in the place of business of such retail dealer without the stamps affixed and cancelled or not marked as having been received within the preceding twenty-four hours as required by this section the prima facie presumption shall arise that such [cigarettes] tobacco products are kept therein in violation of the provisions of this act.

Stamps shall be affixed to each package of [cigarettes] tobacco products of an aggregate denomination not less than the amount of the tax upon the contents therein and shall be affixed in such manner that they will be visible to the purchaser. Upon affixing stamps to a package of [cigarettes] tobacco products the person affixing them shall cancel them by such method or in such manner as may be prescribed by the department

Section 6 The department shall prescribe prepare and furnish adhesive stamps of such denominations and quantities as may be necessary for the payment of the tax imposed and assessed by this act The department shall make provisions for the sale of such stamps in such places and at such times as it may deem necessary

The department shall appoint wholesale dealers in [cigarettes] tobacco products within this Commonwealth and may appoint any other persons within or without the Commonwealth as agents to affix the stamps to be used in paying the tax herein imposed upon sales of [cigarettes] tobacco products but a wholesale dealer shall at all times have the right to appoint the person who is to affix the stamps to any [cigarettes] tobacco products under his control and whenever the department shall sell consign or deliver to any such agent any such stamps such agent shall be entitled to receive as compensation for his services and expenses as such agent in affixing such stamps and to retain out of the moneys to be paid by him for such stamps a commission of seven and one-half per centum on the par value thereof if and when such agent has purchased the stamps affixed by him directly from the department The department is hereby authorized and required to allow such commission or compensation in the settlement of the accounts of such agent upon payment by him into the State Treasury through the department of any moneys which may be or become due to the Commonwealth by reason of the sale delivery or consignment to such agent of such stamps

Section 7 Every person engaged in the sale of [cigarettes] tobacco products at wholesale within this Commonwealth and every person engaged in the sale of [cigarettes] tobacco products at retail within this Commonwealth except commissaries ship's stores and voluntary unincorporated organizations of the Army or of the Navy personnel operating under regulations promulgated by the Secretary of War or the Secretary of the Navy shall maintain and keep for a period of two years such record or records of [cigarettes] tobacco products received sold and delivered within this Commonwealth by him together with invoices bills of lading and other pertinent papers as may be required by the department

The department or any agent appointed in writing by it is hereby authorized to examine the books papers invoices and other records the stock of [cigarettes] tobacco products in and upon any premises where the same are placed stored and sold and equipment of any such wholesale or retail dealer pertaining to the sale and delivery of [cigarettes] tobacco products taxable under this act to verify the accuracy of the payment of the tax imposed and assessed by this act Every such person is hereby directed and required to give to the Secretary of Revenue or his duly authorized representative the means facilities and opportunity for such examinations as are hereby provided and required

Section 8 The department is hereby charged with the enforcement of the provisions of this act and is hereby authorized and empowered to prescribe adopt promulgate and enforce rules and regulations relating to

(a) The method and the means to be used in the cancellation of stamps

(b) The denominations and sale of stamps

(c) Any other matter or thing pertaining to the administration and enforcement of the provisions of this act

[Section 9 The tax imposed by this act shall be in lieu of the mercantile license tax heretofore imposed upon the business of selling cigarette]

Section [10] 9 Whenever any [cigarettes] tobacco products upon which stamps have been placed by a dealer have been sold and shipped by him into another state for sale or use therein or have been sold to commissaries ship's stores and voluntary unincorporated organizations of the Army or of the Navy personnel operating under regulations promulgated by the Secretary of War or the Secretary of the Navy for resale to authorized purchasers or have become unfit for use and consumption or unsaleable or have been destroyed such dealer shall be entitled to a refund of the actual amount of tax paid by him with respect to such [cigarettes] tobacco products If the department is satisfied that any dealer is entitled to a refund it shall certify the proposed amount of such refund to the Board of Finance and Revenue for approval and thereafter shall issue to such dealer stamps of sufficient value to cover the refund as approved by the board The department is hereby authorized to adopt prescribe and promulgate such rules and regulations with regard to the presentation and proof of claim for refunds as it may deem advisable

The department may promulgate rules and regulations to relieve manufacturers and dealers from affixing the stamps on such [cigarettes] tobacco products as are sold and shipped to points outside the Commonwealth for use outside the Commonwealth or on such [cigarettes] tobacco products as are sold to commissaries ship's stores and voluntary unincorporated organizations of the Army or of the Navy personnel operating under regulations promulgated by the Secretary of War or the Secretary of the Navy for resale to authorized purchasers

Section [11] 10 Every person other than a common carrier or the employes thereof who shall possess or transport any [cigarettes] tobacco products upon the public highways roads or streets of this Commonwealth for the purpose of delivery sale or disposition shall be required to have in his actual possession invoices or delivery tickets for such [cigarettes] tobacco products The absence of such invoices or delivery tickets shall be prima facie evidence that such person is a dealer in [cigarettes] tobacco products in this Commonwealth and subject to the provisions of this act

Section [12] 11 (a) Any person who shall sell [cigarettes] tobacco products without being the holder of a [cigarette] tobacco permit or permits as required by this act shall upon conviction in a summary proceeding be sentenced to pay a fine of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) and costs of prosecution and in default of payment thereof to undergo imprisonment for not more than ten (10) days

(b) Any person who shall sell [cigarettes] tobacco products without purchasing and affixing stamps to each package thereof as required by this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced for the first offense to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100.00) or more than one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) or to suffer imprisonment for a term not exceeding six (6) months or both in the discretion of the court and in the case of a conviction of a second or subsequent offense hereunder shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than five hundred dollars ($500.00) or more than one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) and to suffer imprisonment for a term not less than six (6) months or more than three (3) years

(c) Any person who shall fail neglect or refuse to comply with or shall violate the rules and regulations prescribed adopted and promulgated by the department under the provisions of this act or who shall refuse to permit the department or any agent appointed by it in writing to examine his books papers invoices and other records his stock of [cigarettes] tobacco products in and upon any premises where the same are prepared stored and sold and his equipment pertaining to the sale of [cigarettes] tobacco products taxable under this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100.00) or more than five hundred dollars ($500.00) or to suffer imprisonment of not more than six (6) months or both in the discretion of the court

(d) Any person who falsely or fraudulently makes forges alters or counterfeits any stamp prescribed by the department under the provisions of this act or causes or procures to be falsely or fraudulently made forged altered or counterfeited any such stamp or knowingly and willfully utters publishes passes or tenders as true any such false altered forged or counterfeited stamp or uses more than once any stamp provided for and required by this act for the purpose of evading the tax hereby imposed and assessed shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to suffer imprisonment for a term of not less than two (2) years or more than five (5) years

Section [13] 12 The provisions of this act are severable and if any of its provisions shall be held to be unconstitutional the decision of the court shall not affect or impair any of the remaining provisions of this act. It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provisions not been included herein

Section [14] 13 This act shall become effective thirty days after its final enactment and shall continue in effect until and including the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred [forty-seven] forty-nine

Section 2 This reenacting and amending act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. Speaker, I recall at this particular time, due to the fact that the next bill on the calendar is one that I am vitally interested in, that much has been said about the expenses involved in the operation of state government in the General Assembly.

Mr. Turner, the gentleman from Delaware, recently stated that we must determine how far we can go in relation to our capacity to meet these expenses. He related that since 1925 the total of appropriation for educational purposes alone of 78 million has jumped to 208 million proposed for the coming biennium. All along the line expenses for other services of the state government have increased accordingly, and will have to be further increased to meet the demands for better services for this next biennium. As Members of the House we of course realize these conditions.

In line with the Governor's specific promises and recommendations made in his budget message, the voters of the Commonwealth I believe have a very plain, clear cut, business like, easy to understand picture of the entire financial structure of the Commonwealth now and for the next biennium.

Many methods of taxation have been proposed by Members of the Legislature in both branches.

The people of our Commonwealth I believe are ready to accept their responsibility for any increased taxes to meet the cost of additional governmental expenses. I was, I might say, as a business man particularly interested in the statement made that business and industry in Pennsylvania must be able to meet the competition with business and industry in other states. Manufacturing and agriculture are the hope of our Commonwealth, for we realize that our natural resources are being rapidly depleted.

Mr. Turner's statement was very timely to the effect that any tax structure that is contemplated must keep these facts sharply in mind.

The Governor of our Commonwealth has made some specific recommendations for increased taxes on several so called luxury items, if you care to call them that. He has the courage and has taken the responsibility of proposing the levying of certain taxes on these items in the bills before us.

I believe that he has given this matter very serious consideration before he selected these items for taxation.

From the sources of tobacco growers, and manufacturers of tobacco products, including cigars, which is one of our outstanding products of Pennsylvania, from wholesale and retail dealers, we receive protests. From the manufacturers of syrups used in the making of soft drinks, from the bottlers, the wholesale and retail dealers of soft drinks, come further protests.

From other sources come other protests on the levying of taxes on the items which they do not want to see picked out particularly for taxation. After all they have reasons for these protests.

However, it seems to me that it all comes down to one question, should we have a general sales tax or shall we favor the taxation program of our Governor.

Personally I favor a general sales tax, because I believe it brings back to the people of our Commonwealth a realization of the cost which must be raised through taxation for extra services which they subscribe to. However, our Governor feels differently about this matter, and the Members of the House have their own ideas. As for me, I choose to go along with the majority on the tax bills and under the conditions vote in favor of them. And in doing so, I believe that we as Members of the House, representatives of all interests, are doing the best we can under the circumstances.

I might add that, it is my prediction that no one company or corporation of our Commonwealth will be put out of business due to any of these extra taxes.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 663, as follows:

An Act to further amend section three of the act approved the fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 284) entitled as amended "An act imposing a State tax payable by those herein defined as manufacturers and by others on malt or brewed beverages used sold transported or delivered within the Commonwealth prescribing the method and manner of evidencing the payment and collection of such tax conferring powers and imposing duties on the Department of Revenue and those using or engaged in the sale at retail or wholesale or in the transportation of malt or brewed beverages taxable hereunder and providing penalties" by temporarily increasing the rates of certain taxes

Section 1 Section three of the act approved the fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 284) entitled as amended "An act imposing a State tax payable by those herein defined as manufacturers and by others on malt or brewed beverages used sold transported or delivered within the Commonwealth prescribing the method and manner of evidencing the payment and collection of such tax conferring powers and imposing duties on the Department of Revenue and those using or engaged in the sale at retail or wholesale or in the transportation of malt or brewed beverages taxable hereunder and providing penalties" as last amended by the act approved the twenty-fourth day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 477) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 3 (a) Each manufacturer shall be subject to pay to the Commonwealth the taxes imposed by this section upon all malt or brewed beverages manufactured in this Commonwealth when prepared for market and every person who ships or transports malt or brewed beverages into this Commonwealth for sale delivery or storage in this Commonwealth shall pay to the Commonwealth the taxes imposed in this section before such beverages are transported within this Commonwealth Such taxes shall be at the rate of one-third cent (1/3c) per half pint of eight (8) fluid ounces or fraction thereof and in larger quantities at the rate of one-half cent (1/2c) per pint of sixteen (16) fluid ounces or fraction thereof

The tax rates per original container or standard fraction thereof are as follows

Standard Fraction	Malt Beverages Tax Rate	Volume
1 barrel	$1.24	31 gal

1 gallon	.08
1/2 gallon	.04
1 quart	.02
1 pint	.01
1/2 pint	.0066

(b) In the event that any state territory or country shall impose upon malt or brewed beverages which have been manufactured in Pennsylvania a higher tax or fee than is imposed upon malt or brewed beverages manufactured within such state territory or country every person who ships or transports from such state territory or country malt or brewed beverages manufactured therein into this Commonwealth for sale delivery or storage in this Commonwealth shall pay thereon to the Commonwealth before such beverages are transported within this Commonwealth in addition to the tax imposed by this section a tax equal to such excess tax or fee which is imposed in such state territory or country on Pennsylvania-manufactured malt or brewed beverages Such additional tax shall be levied assessed and collected in the same manner as the other taxes imposed by this act

(c) Manufacturers and all persons who bring malt or brewed beverages into the Commonwealth shall be liable to the Commonwealth as taxpayers for the payment of the taxes imposed by this act

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, at this time I would like to commend the Majority Floor Leader for the well disciplined group that he is leading in enacting the legislation which we have just been considering.

The newspapers throughout the entire Commonwealth praise the tax program of the administration and designated such tax program as being a luxury tax. The two bills which we have passed upon, preceding House Bill 664 and House Bill 664, which we are now considering certainly are incorrectly designated as luxury taxes.

In opposing this measure which is before us I am giving consideration to the many veterans, the ex-GI's who have gone into the bottling business since their returning from serving our country in the armed service. The measure before us is certainly a discriminatory one against this industry wherein it places upon the retail price of soft drinks a 20 percent tax. Now then, a tax of this proportion upon a single industry is so great that without question the industry can be harmed to a great extent.

The membership of this House have no doubt received a circular from the Keystone State Bottling Association in which they have outlined many reasons why we should oppose this piece of legislation.

I say to you that when we begin to take up and yell and holler at every session of the legislature to eliminate the possibility of driving out business from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, we are doing just that in favoring such legislation that we are now considering. I say to you, Mr. Speaker, that the bill before us is discriminatory, it is hitting below the belt on the small businessman throughout the entire Commonwealth. It should not be forced upon that industry and I request the membership of the House to vote it down.

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, what I have to say I know will not influence the votes on this measure one way or the other. It won't change my idea because I already have made up my mind to go along with this program. I am on a team and I'm going with that team. If my captain calls a signal that I personally do not think is the right one, I still play the game and that is the case here. We have obligations which we made in the campaign. We have a program to meet and we are going to meet that program. We are going to keep faith with those promises that we made, and I am for it. We are going to provide the money.

However, and this is purely a personal opinion, I have felt and do feel that in the method of providing the money we are going on a sort of a promiscuous course. I think perhaps there isn't a man in here who will not admit privately, but won't be recorded publicly, that eventually and undoubtedly we are going to have to broaden the basis of taxation in the state of Pennsylvania to continue to carry the load being placed upon the state by the people requiring more services of the state. I feel that sooner or later we are going to face conditions. I know that today and in the past biennium we have been doing the politically expedient thing, being a practical people and depending upon reelection for a return here. The only question in my mind is how long we are going to continue to do the politically expedient thing and not do the things that we know are absolutely essential and necessary for the benefit and the welfare of the state.

I assure you, as in past sessions, it has been my intention and my purpose through introduction of legislation to broaden the tax base in the State, and I expect to continue to do so if I come back. I think we are only kidding ourselves to delay that day of reckoning. I personally am going to vote for this program. It is on the calendar, and therefore, I am for it but I think we could have done something a little better.

Mr. ANDREWS. The gentleman says he has a program. I wonder why he concludes so quickly and does not tell us what that program is. I would be very interested in knowing within ten million dollars what this program contemplates for the teachers. I could vote more intelligently on the tax bills if I knew that. I would like to know and I haven't heard anyone with any suggestions answer the inquiry, how much during the next two years this administration intends to spend for construction. I would like to know how much during the next two years this administration intends to spend for its Department of Forests and Waters. I would like to know how much during the next two years this administration intends to spend for its Department of Welfare. I would like to know how much this administration intends to spend. There hasn't been any phase of the program on actual expenditure that has come on the floor of this House, and we are passing one hundred thirty-two millions of dollars of new taxes without having the faintest idea of what actually will be spent during the next two years. There is some knowledge as to the appropriation liability that we will create, but all we are doing now is manufacturing a blank check and giving an unlimited vote of confidence for the administration.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, as the Minority Whip I feel it my duty to say something about this particular bill. The Majority Floor Leader said in his first statement that there was very little to be said. I think if we all stop and consider there are many things could be said about this particular bill.

This particular bill is a tax on the poor people. Yesterday when we tried to put this bill on the postponed calendar so that we could have somebody say something about this tax, it was refused. Now, I know that many of my friends on the other side would not object to a public hearing upon this particular bill, and I know many of the new Members, although they have agreed to go along with this tax program, feel in their hearts that their constituents should be heard on this particular piece of legislation. That is the reason why I come up here and ask that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar in order to give these men another opportunity to vote that their constituents may be heard on this one particular bill.

MOTION TO POSTPONE

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, because I see no good reason for delaying the vote on the merits for this issue I ask the Members of this House to vote against this motion.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Lovett and Mr. Petrosky and were as follows:

"Corporation" A corporation having capital stock joint-stock association or limited partnership either organized under the laws of this Commonwealth the United States or any other state territory or foreign country or dependency and doing business in this Commonwealth or having capital or property employed or used in this Commonwealth by or in the name of itself or any person partnership association limited partnership joint-stock association or corporation The word "corporation" shall not include building and loan associations banks bank and trust companies national banks savings institutions trust companies title insurance companies beneficial life and limited life insurance companies mutual fire mutual casualty and mutual life insurance companies and foreign stock companies registered in this Commonwealth and therein engaged in doing business as life fire and casualty insurance companies and surety companies

"Department" The Department of Revenue of this Commonwealth

"Net Income" 1 In case the entire business of the corporation is transacted within this Commonwealth net income for the calendar year or fiscal year as returned to and ascertained by the Federal Government or in the case of a corporation participating in the filing of consolidated returns to the Federal Government the net income which would have been returned to and ascertained by the Federal Government if separate returns had been made to the Federal Government for the current and prior taxable years subject however to any correction thereof for fraud evasion or error as finally ascertained by the Federal Government Provided That except as hereinafter otherwise provided additional deductions shall be allowed from net income on account of any Federal income or excess profits taxes paid after deducting therefrom an amount equivalent to any post-war refunds applicable to any such taxes during such calendar or fiscal year for the preceding calendar or fiscal year or accrued during such calendar or fiscal year for such year as the case may be and on account of any dividends received from any other corporation And provided further That in the case of a corporation participating in the filing of consolidated Federal returns the additional deduction allowed from net income on account of any Federal income or excess profits taxes paid or accrued shall be an amount which bears the same ratio to the total Federal income or excess profits taxes of the group after deducting therefrom an amount equivalent to any postwar refunds applicable to any such taxes as the net income of the corporation computed without a deduction for such Federal taxes bears to the sum of the net incomes of the several members of the group computed without a deduction for such Federal taxes And provided further That on reports filed for the calendar year one thousand nine hundred forty-three or for any fiscal year beginning in such calendar year or any calendar or fiscal year thereafter no deduction shall be allowed for any Federal income or excess profits taxes whatsoever except the declared value excess profits tax And provided further That on reports filed for the calendar year one thousand nine hundred forty-six or for any fiscal year beginning in such calendar year or any calendar or fiscal year thereafter no deduction shall be allowed for net operating losses sustained by the corporation during any other fiscal or calendar year nor shall any net operating loss sustained by the corporation during the calendar year one thousand nine hundred forty-six or during any fiscal year beginning in such calendar year or in any calendar or fiscal year thereafter be allowed as a deduction for any prior calendar or fiscal year And provided further That in the case of stock life fire casualty and indemnity insurance companies doing business on the mutual or participating plan the term "net income" shall not include the dividends paid to policyholders out of net income

2 In case the entire business of any corporation other than a corporation engaged in doing business as an insurance or surety company is not transacted within this Commonwealth the tax imposed by this act shall be based upon such portion of the net income of such corporation for the fiscal or calendar year as defined in clause one hereof as may be determined by allocations and apportionments made as follows

(a) Gains realized and losses sustained from the sale or exchange of capital assets if such consist of real estate or tangible personal property situated in the Commonwealth shall be allocated to this Commonwealth

(b) Gains realized and losses sustained from the sale or exchange of capital assets if such asset consist of real estate or tangible personal property situated outside of the Commonwealth shall not be allocated in any part to this Commonwealth

(c) The remainder of such net income shall be divided into three equal parts

(1) Of one-third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within this Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said one-third by a fraction whose numerator is the value of the corporation's tangible property situated within this Commonwealth and whose denominator is the value of all the corporation's tangible property wherever situated

(2) Of one-third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said one-third by a fraction whose numerator is the expenditures of the corporation for wages salaries commissions and other compensation to its employees and assignable to this Commonwealth as hereinafter provided and whose denominator is the total expenditures of the corporation for wages salaries commissions and other compensation to all its employees

(3) Of the remaining third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said third by a fraction whose numerator is the amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from business assignable to this Commonwealth as hereinafter provided and whose denominator is the amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from all its business

In cases where only two of the foregoing three rules are applicable the remainder of the net income of the corporation shall be divided into two equal parts only each of which shall be apportioned in accordance with one of the remaining two rules. If only one of the three rules is applicable the part of the net income received from business carried on within the Commonwealth shall be determined solely by that rule

The amount assignable to this Commonwealth of expenditures of the corporation for wages salaries commissions or other compensation to its employees shall be such expenditures for the taxable year as represent the wages salaries commissions or other compensation of employees not chiefly situated at connected with or sent out from premises for the transaction of business maintained by the corporation outside the Commonwealth

The amount of the corporation's gross receipts from business assignable to this Commonwealth shall be (1) the amount of its gross receipts for the taxable year except those negotiated or affected in behalf of the corporation by agents or agencies chiefly situated at connected with or sent out from premises for the transaction of business maintained by the taxpayer outside of the Commonwealth and except rentals and royalties and interest and dividends (2) rentals or royalties from property situated or from the use of patents within this Commonwealth and (3) dividends and interest except such dividends and interest attributable to the business conducted on premises maintained by the taxpayer outside the Commonwealth. If a corporation maintains an office warehouse or other place of business in a state other than this Commonwealth for the purpose of reducing its tax under this subsection the department shall in determining the amount of its gross receipt from business assignable to this Commonwealth include therein the gross receipts attributed by the corporation to the business conducted at such place of business in another state. In the case of construction contracts negotiated or effected at an office in the state of Pennsylvania but performed outside the state the gross receipts under such contracts shall be assignable outside the state except that if the activities under any such contract to which the gross receipts are attributable shall occur partly within the state and partly outside the state such proportion of the gross receipts under said contract shall be assignable to Pennsylvania as the direct and indirect costs incurred in Pennsylvania under the contract for the taxable year bear to the total costs incurred thereunder for the taxable year. In the case of construction contracts negotiated or effected at an office outside the state but performed in the state the gross receipts under such contracts shall be assignable to the state except that if the activities under any such contract to which the gross receipts are attributable shall occur partly within the state and partly outside the state such proportion of the gross receipts under said contract shall be assignable to Pennsylvania as the direct and indirect costs incurred in the state under the contract for the taxable year bear to the total costs incurred thereunder for the taxable year

A rule shall not be deemed to be inapplicable merely because all the tangible property or the expenditures of a corporation for wages salaries commissions or other compensation or the gross receipts of the corporation are found to be situated incurred or received without the Commonwealth

3 In case the entire business of any corporation engaged in doing business as an insurance or surety company is not transacted within this Commonwealth the tax imposed by this act shall be based upon such portion of the net income of such corporation for the fiscal or calendar year as defined in clause one hereof as shall be attributed to business transacted within this Commonwealth by multiplying such net income by a fraction of which the numerator is the gross premiums received from business transacted within the Commonwealth as hereinafter defined and of which the denominator is the amount of the gross premiums received from all its business "Gross Premiums" shall mean the amount of dues fees and premiums stated in the policy contracts and shall include gross premiums of every character and description received during the taxable year from all underwriting activities whether said premiums were received in money or in the form of notes credits or any other substitutes for money less the following deductions

(a) All premiums returned on policies cancelled or not taken

(b) In the case of stock companies with participating features an additional deduction for that portion of the premiums returned to the policy-holders

(c) In the case of life insurance companies and additional deduction for dividends declared and actually used by policyholders in payment of renewal premiums

"Gross premiums received from business transacted in the Commonwealth" shall mean gross premiums received from policies and annuities written on property or risks located or resident in the Commonwealth whether such premiums were collected in the Commonwealth or elsewhere

"Person" Every natural person association or corporation Whenever used in any clause prescribing and imposing a fine or imprisonment or both the term "person" as applied to associations shall mean the partners or members thereof and as applied to corporations the officers thereof

The singular shall include the plural and the masculine shall include the feminine and neuter

Section 3 Imposition of Tax Every corporation shall be subject to and shall pay for the privilege of doing business in this Commonwealth or having capital or property employed or used in this Commonwealth by or in the name of itself or any person partnership association limited partnership joint-stock association or corporation a State excise tax at the rate of six per centum per annum upon each dollar of net income of such corporation received by and accruing to such corporation during the calendar year one thousand nine hundred thirty-five except where a corporation reports to the Federal Government on the basis of a fiscal year and has certified such fact to the department as required by section four of this act in which case such tax at the rate of six per centum shall be levied collected and paid upon all net income received by and accruing to such corporation during the fiscal year commencing in the calendar year one thousand nine hundred thirty-five and ending in the calendar year one thousand nine hundred thirty-six a similar tax at the rate of ten per centum per annum upon each dollar of the net income of such corporation received by and accruing to such corporation during the calendar year one thousand nine hundred thirty-six except where a corporation reports to the Federal Government on the basis of a fiscal year and has certified such fact to the department as required by section four of this act in which case such tax at the rate of ten per centum shall be levied collected and paid upon all net income received by and accruing to such corporation during the fiscal year commencing in the calendar year one thousand nine hundred thirty-six and ending in the calendar year one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven and a similar tax at the rate of seven per centum per annum upon each dollar of the net income of such corporation during the calendar years one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine one thousand nine hundred forty one thousand nine hundred forty-one and one thousand nine hundred forty-two except when a corporation reports to the Federal Government on the basis of a fiscal year and has certified such fact to the department as required by section four of this act in which case such tax at the rate of seven per centum shall be levied collected and paid upon all net income received by and accruing to such corporation during the fiscal years commencing in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine one thousand nine hundred forty one thousand nine hundred forty-one and one thousand nine hundred forty-two and a similar tax at the rate of four per centum per annum upon each dollar of the net income of such corporation received by and accruing to such corporation during the calendar years one thousand nine hundred forty-three one thousand nine hundred forty-four one thousand nine hundred forty-five [and] one thousand nine hundred forty-six one thousand nine hundred forty-seven and one thousand nine hundred forty-eight except where a corporation reports to the Federal Government on the basis of a fiscal year and has certified such fact to the department as required by section four of this act in which case such tax at the rate of four per centum shall be levied collected and paid upon all net income received by and accruing to such corporation during the fiscal years commencing in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred forty-three one thousand nine hundred forty-four one thousand nine hundred forty-five [and] one thousand nine hundred forty-six one thousand nine hundred forty-seven and one thousand nine hundred forty-eight

The tax hereby imposed shall be in addition to all taxes now imposed on any corporation under the provisions of existing laws

Section 4 Report and Payment of Tax For the purpose of ascertaining the amount of tax payable under this act it shall be the duty of every corporation liable to pay tax under this act on or before the fifteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred thirty-six one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine one thousand nine hundred forty one thousand nine hundred forty-one one thousand nine hundred forty-two one thousand nine hundred forty-three one thousand nine hundred forty-four one thousand nine hundred forty-five one thousand nine hundred forty six [and] one thousand nine hundred forty-seven one thousand nine hundred forty-eight and one thousand nine hundred forty-nine to transmit to the department upon a form prescribed prepared and furnished by the department report under oath or affirmation of its president vice-president or other principal officer and of its treasurer or assistant treasurer of net income taxable under the provisions of this act Such report shall set forth

(a) A true copy of its return to the Federal Government of the annual net income arising or accruing in the calendar or fiscal year next preceding or such part or portions of said return as the department may designate

(b) If no return was filed with the Federal Government the report made to the department shall show such information as would have been contained in a return to the Federal Government had one been made and

(c) Such other information as the department may require

The failure of any corporation liable to pay tax under this act to procure or receive any report form shall not excuse it from making a report

Every corporation upon the date its report is required herein to be made shall pay to the department not less than one-half of the tax due to the Commonwealth by it for such preceding year and the remaining one-half of such tax shall be paid within the thirty days next succeeding and except as otherwise provided by law no extension of time for the filing of any report granted by the department shall extend the date any tax imposed by this act shall be due and payable The amount of all taxes imposed under the provisions of this act not paid on or before the times as above provided shall bear interest at the rate of six (6) per centum per annum from the date they are due and payable until paid except that if the taxable income has been or is increased by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue or by any other agency or court of the United States interest shall be computed on the additional tax due from thirty days after the corporation receives notice of the change of income until paid Provided however That any corporation may pay the full amount of such tax or any part thereof together with interest due to the date of payment without prejudice to its right to present and prosecute a petition for resettlement a petition for review or an appeal to court If it be thereafter determined that such taxes were overpaid the department shall enter a credit to the account of such corporation which may be used by it in the manner prescribed by law

If the officers of any corporation shall neglect or refuse to make any report as herein required or shall knowingly make any false report an additional ten per centum of the amount of the tax shall be added by the department to the tax determined to be due

If any corporation closes its fiscal year not upon the thirty-first day of December but upon some other date and reports to the Federal Government as of such other date or would so report were it to make a return to the Federal Government such corporation shall certify such fact to the Department of Revenue and shall make the report herein required within thirty (30) days after the return to the Federal Government is due or would be due were it to be required of such corporation subject in all other respects to the provisions of this act

If the corporation shall claim in its report that the return made to the Federal Government was inaccurate the amount claimed by it to be the net income taxable under this act and the basis of such claim of inaccuracy shall be fully specified

Section 5 Consolidated Reports The department shall not permit any corporation owning or controlling directly or indirectly any of the voting capital stock of another corporation or of other corporations subject to the provisions of this act to make a consolidated report showing the combined net income

Section 6 Extension of Time to File Reports The department may upon application made to it in such form as it shall prescribe on or prior to the last day for filing any report and upon proper cause shown grant to the corporation required to file such report an extension of not more than sixty (60) days within such report may be filed and in case the Federal income tax authorities at any time grant a longer extension of time for filing such reports with the Federal Government the department may grant an additional extension of time for filing the report under this act of not more than thirty (30) days after the termination of the Federal extension but the amount of tax due shall in such cases nevertheless be subject to interest from the due dates and at the rates fixed by this act

Section 7 Changes Made by Federal Government (a) If the amount of the net income as returned by any corporation to the Federal Government is finally changed or corrected by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue or by any other agency or court of the United States such corporation within thirty (30) days after the receipt of such final change or correction shall make a corrected report under oath or affirmation to the department showing such finally changed or corrected net income upon which the tax is required to be paid to the United States In case a corporation fails to file a report of such correction which results in an increase in net income within the time prescribed there shall be added to the tax a penalty of five dollars ($5.00) for every day during which such corporation is in default but the department may abate any such penalty in whole or in part

(b) If as a result of such final change or correction there should be any change made in the amount of the net income of any corporation upon which tax is imposed by this act the department shall have the power and its duty shall be to resettle such taxes Whenever a resettlement shall have been made hereunder the department shall resettle the account according to law and shall credit or charge as the case may be the amount resulting from such resettlement upon the current accounts of the corporation with which it is made The resettlement shall be subject to audit and approval by the Department of the Auditor General as in the case of original settlements and in case of the failure of the two departments to agree the resettlement shall be submitted to the Board of Finance and Revenue as in the case of original settlements

(c) Where a report of change correction or redetermination of Federal income or Federal tax has been filed after a petition for review or an appeal has been taken such report shall be deemed a part of the original report upon petition of the taxpayer at any subsequent proceeding as though it had been filed with the original report and no separate petition for review or appeal from the resettlement resulting from such report of change correction or redetermination shall be necessary

(d) The provisions of this section shall not be construed so as to permit a resettlement based upon the allowance of any deduction on account of net operating losses sustained in other fiscal or calendar years that are not allowed as deductions under the definition of "Net Income" as contained in section two of this act

Section 8 Settlement and Resettlement (a) All taxes due under this act shall be settled by the department and the Department of the Auditor General and shall so far such settlement shall be subject to audit and approval by as possible be made so that notice thereof may reach the taxpayer before the end of a year after the tax report was required to be made

(b) Promptly after the date of any such settlement the department shall send by mail or otherwise a copy thereof to such corporations The tax imposed by this act shall be settled resettled and otherwise imposed and adjusted in the same manner within the same periods of time and right of settlement review appeal and refund as provided by law in the case of capital stock and franchise taxes imposed upon corporations

(c) If within a period of two years after the date of any settlement the department is not satisfied with such settlement or if at any time the net income as returned by any corporation to the Federal Government is finally changed or corrected by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue or by any other agency or court of the United States with the result that tax in addition to the amount paid is due under this act the department is hereby authorized and empowered to make a resettlement of the tax due by such corporation based upon the facts contained in the report or upon any information within its possession or that shall come into its possession

Whenever a resettlement shall have been made hereunder the department shall resettle the account according to law and shall credit or charge as the case may be the amount resulting from such resettlement upon the current accounts of the corporation with which it is made

The resettlement shall be subject to audit and approval by the Department of the Auditor General as in the case of original settlement and in case of the failure of the two departments to agree the resettlement shall be submitted to the Board of Finance and Revenue as in the case of original settlements

(d) If any corporation shall neglect or refuse to make any report and payment of tax required by this act the department shall estimate the tax due by such corporation and subject to audit and approval by the Department of the Auditor General settle the amount due by it for taxes penalties and interest thereon as prescribed herein from which settlement there shall be no right of review or appeal but the department with the approval of the Department of the Auditor General may require a report to be filed and thereupon make a settlement based upon such report and cancel the estimated settlement

Section 9 Enforcement Rules and Regulations Inquisitorial Powers of the Department (a) The department is hereby charged with the enforcement of the provisions of this act and is hereby authorized and empowered to prescribe adopt promulgate and enforce rules and regulations not inconsistent with this act relating to any matter or thing pertaining to the administration and enforcement of the provisions of this act and the collection of taxes penalties and interest imposed by this act The department is hereby required to have such rules and regulations promulgated and adopted printed and shall distribute the same to any person upon request

(b) The department or any agent authorized in writing by it is hereby authorized to examine the books papers and records and to investigate the character of the business of any corporation in order to verify the accuracy of any report made or if no report was made by such corporation to ascertain and settle the tax imposed by this act Every such corporation is hereby directed and required to give to the department or its duly authorized agent the means facilities and opportunity for such examinations and investigations as are hereby provided and authorized Any information gained by the department as a result of any returns investigations or verifications required to be made by this act shall be confidential except for official purposes and any person divulging such information shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100.00) or more than one thousand dollars ($1000.00) and costs of prosecution or to undergo imprisonment for not more than six (6) months or both in the discretion of the court

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 666, as follows:

An Act to further amend section twenty-one of the act approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine (P. L. 420) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine" postponing the manufacturing exemption with regard to capital stock tax and the franchise tax on domestic and foreign corporations joint-stock associations limited partnerships and companies

Section 1 Section twenty-one of the act approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine (P. L. 420) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine" as last amended by the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 606) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 21 (a) That every domestic corporation other than corporations of the first class nonprofit corporation and cooperative agricultural associations not having capital stock and not conducted for profit and every joint-stock association limited partnership and company whatsoever from which a report is required under the twentieth section hereof shall be subject to and pay into the treasury of the Commonwealth annually through the Department of Revenue a tax at the rate of five mills upon each dollar of the actual value of its whole capital stock of all kinds including common special and preferred as ascertained in the manner prescribed in said twentieth section Provided That the tax of five mills imposed by this subsection on reports filed for the calendar years one thousand nine hundred forty-seven and one thousand nine hundred forty-eight or for the fiscal years beginning in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred forty-seven and one thousand nine hundred forty-eight shall apply to the taxation of capital stock of corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations organized for manufacturing purposes excepting companies engaged in the distilling of liquors provided further that after said two year period the provisions of this section shall not apply to the taxation of the capital stock of corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations organized for manufacturing purposes which is invested in and actually and exclusively employed in carrying on manufacturing within the State excepting companies engaged in the distilling of liquors and such as enjoy and exercise the right of eminent domain but every corporation limited partnership or joint-stock association organized for the purpose of manufacturing shall pay the State tax of five mills herein provided upon such proportion of its capital stock if any as may be invested in any property or business not strictly incident or appurtenant to the manufacturing business in addition to the local taxes assessed upon its property in the district where located it being the object of this proviso to relieve from State taxation only so much of the capital stock as is invested purely in the manufacturing plant and business

(b) Every foreign corporation joint-stock association limited partnership and company whatsoever from which a report is required under the twentieth section hereof shall be subject to and pay into the treasury of the Commonwealth annually through the Department of Revenue a franchise tax at the rate of five mills upon a taxable value to be determined in the following manner: The actual value of its whole capital stock of all kinds including common special and preferred shall be ascertained in the manner prescribed in the twentieth section of this act and shall then be divided into three equal parts

(1) Of one-third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said third by a fraction whose numerator is the value of the taxpayer's tangible property not actually and exclusively used in manufacturing situated within the Commonwealth and whose denominator is the value of all the taxpayer's tangible property wherever situated

(2) Of another third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said third by a fraction whose numerator is the expenditures of the taxpayer for wages salaries commissions or other compensation to its employees not exclusively engaged in manufacturing in this Commonwealth and assignable to this Commonwealth as hereinafter provided and whose denominator is the total expenditures of the taxpayer for wages salaries commissions or other compensation to all its employees

(3) Of the remaining third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said third by a fraction whose numerator is the amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from business not strictly incident or appurtenant to manufacturing in this Commonwealth assignable to this Commonwealth as hereinafter provided and whose denominator is the amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from all its business

The sum of the amounts determined in accordance with the foregoing three rules shall be the taxable value. In a case where only two of the foregoing three rules are applicable the remaining third equal part of the value of the entire capital stock shall be divided into two equal parts each of which shall be apportioned in accordance with one of the remaining two rules. If only one of the three rules is applicable that part of the entire capital stock attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth shall be determined solely by that rule.

The amount assignable to this Commonwealth of expenditures of the taxpayer for wages salaries commissions or other compensation to its employees shall be such expenditures for the taxable year as represent the wages salaries commissions or other compensation of employees not chiefly situated at connected with or sent out from premises for the transaction of business maintained by the taxpayer outside the Commonwealth.

The amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from business assignable to this Commonwealth shall be (1) the amount of its gross receipts for the taxable year except those negotiated or affected in behalf of the taxpayer by agents or agencies chiefly situated at connected with or sent out from premises for the transaction of business maintained by the taxpayer outside the Commonwealth and except rents and royalties and interest and dividends (2) rentals or royalties from property situated or from the use of patents within this Commonwealth and (3) dividends and interest except such dividends and interest attributable to the business conducted on premises maintained by the taxpayer outside the Commonwealth. If a taxpayer maintains an office warehouse or other place of business in a state other than this Commonwealth for the purpose of reducing its tax under this subsection the Department of Revenue shall in determining the amount of its gross receipts from business assignable to this Commonwealth include therein the gross receipts attributed by the taxpayer to the business conducted at such place of business in another state.

In the case of construction contracts negotiated or effected at an office in the State of Pennsylvania but performed outside the State the gross receipts under such contracts shall be assignable outside the State except that if the activities under any such contract to which the gross receipts are attributable shall occur partly within the State and partly outside the State such proportion of the gross receipts under said contract shall be assignable to Pennsylvania as the direct and indirect costs incurred in Pennsylvania under the contract for the taxable year bear to the total costs incurred thereunder for the taxable year. In the case of construction contracts negotiated or effected at an office outside the State but performed in the State the gross receipts under such contract shall be assignable to the State except that if the activities under any such contract to which the gross receipts are attributable shall occur partly within the State and partly outside the State such proportion of the gross receipts under said contract shall be assignable to Pennsylvania as the direct and indirect costs incurred in the State under the contract for the taxable year bear to the total costs incurred hereunder for the taxable year.

A rule shall not be deemed to be inapplicable merely because all the tangible property or the expenditures of a taxpayer for wages salaries commissions or other compensation or the gross receipts of the taxpayer are found to be situated incurred or received without the Commonwealth.

Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this subsection (b) the franchise tax of five mills imposed by subsection (b) on reports filed for the calendar years one thousand nine hundred forty-seven and one thousand nine hundred forty-eight and for fiscal years beginning in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred forty-seven and one thousand nine hundred forty-eight shall apply to the taxation of corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations organized for manufacturing purposes excepting companies engaged in the distilling of liquors without excluding from the numerators of the applicable fractions tangible property actually and exclusively used in manufacturing compensation of employees exclusively engaged in manufacturing and gross receipts from business strictly incident or appurtenant to manufacturing.

After said two year period the provisions of this subsection shall apply to the taxation of corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations organized for manufacturing purposes.

(c) It shall be the duty of the treasurer or other officers having charge of any such corporation joint-stock association or limited partnership upon which a tax is imposed by this section to transmit the amount of said tax to the Treasury of the Commonwealth within the time prescribed by law. Provided That for the purposes of this act interest in limited partnerships or joint-stock associations shall be deemed to be capital stock and taxable accordingly. Provided further That corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations liable to a tax under this section shall not be required to pay any further tax on the mortgages bonds and other securities owned by them and in which the whole body of stockholders or members as such have the entire equitable interest in remainder but corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations owning or holding such securities as trustees executors administrators guardians or in any other manner than for the whole body of stockholders or members thereof as sole equitable owners in remainder shall return and pay the tax imposed by this act upon all securities so owned or held by them as in the case of individuals. Provided further That the tax of five mills imposed by this section on reports filed for the calendar years one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five and one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six and for each calendar year thereafter or for the fiscal years beginning in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five and one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six and for each fiscal year thereafter shall apply to the taxation of the capital stock of corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations organized for laundering and for the processing and curing of meats their products and by products excepting companies engaged in the distilling of liquors Provided further That in case of fire and marine insurance companies the tax imposed by this section shall be at the rate of five mills upon each dollar of the actual value of the whole capital stock Provided That nothing in this act shall be so construed as to apply to building and loan associations chartered by the State of Pennsylvania

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall be retroactive to the first day of January one thousand nine hundred forty-seven so that domestic and foreign corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations organized for manufacturing purposes shall pay the tax imposed for the calendar years one thousand nine hundred forty-seven and one thousand nine hundred forty-eight or for the fiscal years beginning in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred forty-seven and one thousand nine hundred forty-eight as other domestic and foreign corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I just wanted to express the opinion that every Republican Member of the House who votes for this bill is automatically entitled to a life membership in any Democratic club in the state of Pennsylvania.

The SPEAKER. Over whose signature?

Mr. ANDREWS. The State Chairman and the National Committeeman and I will chip in, and all the Democrats over here will O. K. that application.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

Senate Bill No. 28 Printers No. 61, was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 104, as follows:

An Act to amend section three of the act approved the fifteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 526) entitled "An act relating to the use of trailing cables on portable electric machinery in coal mines providing for the health and safety of persons employed therein and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith and for the inspection of such equipment by the Department of Mines" providing for additional grant of time within which to conform to the requirements thereof and validating actions of the Secretary of Mines and the Department of Mines

Section 1 Section three of the act approved the fifteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 526) entitled "An act relating to the use of trailing cables on portable electric machinery in coal mines providing for the health and safety of persons employed therein and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith and for the inspection of such equipment by the Department of Mines" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 3 This act shall become effective one year following its final passage and its provisions shall be enforced by the Department of Mines provided however on written request from an operator the time may be extended by the Secretary of Mines for a period of not more than six (6) months Provided further That any operator who may at the time of passage of this act have in use a trailing cable which does not meet the specifications required by this act may continue to use such cable until replacement is necessary or until the Department shall order a cable replaced In either such case the new cable shall meet the specifications fixed by this act The action of the Department of Mines in permitting the continued use of trailing cables not conforming to this act as originally enacted because flame resisting trailing cables were not available in sufficient number to replace existing cables is hereby ratified confirmed and validated

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Mr. STIMMEL. Mr. Speaker, it is with a great deal of personal pleasure that Mr. DeLong and I offer the following congratulatory resolution and ask for unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 26, 1947.

Friday, March 28th, 1947, will be the occasion of the thirty-seventh birthday of our respected colleague, Honorable Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Although he is still a young man, he already has behind him a distinguished record in the political and social affairs of his community and State. At ease with people, he is an active member of many clubs and organizations in the Lehigh Valley. An outstanding member of the Republican party, he was represented the second Legislative District in Lehigh County in the House of Representatives since his election in 1938.

His ability as a leader has been evident from the first, for he was elected as the Majority Leader for this House in 1943-44 and again in 1945-46, prior to his election as Speaker this year.

As Speaker, he has impressed us all with his earnestness, organizational ability, friendliness, and thoughtful consideration of another's joint of view.

In addition to the heavy duties imposed on him in connection with the work of this Legislature, he has taken a keen interest and an active part in interstate problems and conferences where his experience and knowledge have been accorded praise and appreciation; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Members of this House, conscious of his able record, extend to Speaker Franklin H. Lichtenwalter their heartiest congratulations on his thirty-seventh birthday and their best wishes for his celebration of many more and for his future health, happiness and success; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be given to Speaker Lichtenwalter in token thereof.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Snyder, Mr. Fiss is requested to preside.

MR. FISS IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER pro tempore. I assure the members of the House it is a privilege to preside during the adoption of this resolution.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted by a rising vote.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lehigh, the Honorable Franklin H. Lichtenwalter.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, first, I sort of feel at home down here. I certainly want to thank my two colleagues from Lehigh County for their thoughtfulness in reminding me that I am growing older, and I do want to thank all the Members of the House for their splendid display of enthusiasm in wishing me well in the celebration of my thirty-seventh birthday.

I want to assure all the Members of the House that it has been a great privilege for me to associate with the Members of this session and of course with those who have been returning over a period of years since I have had the pleasure to serve in this House. I realize that the patience of many of the Members of the House sometimes become exhausted and I would like at this time to thank all the Members of the House for the patience they have shown this morning in the presentation of the tax program, and the roll calls of course on every individual bill. Again may I say, thank you very much for this message of congratulation.

Mr. REAGAN. Mr. Speaker, I understood our honorable Speaker to say that he was thirty-seven, but it seems to me that I have known him for fifty-seven years.

THE SPEAKER (Franklin H. Lichtenwalter) IN THE CHAIR.

The Chair thanks the gentleman from Snyder, Mr. Fiss, for presiding.

HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, MARCH 31, 1947.

No. 31.

SENATE

MONDAY, March 31, 1947

The Senate met at 4:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Daniel B. Strickler) in the Chair.

PRAYER

In the absence of the Chaplain, prayer was offered by the Senator from Berks, Doctor RUTH.

Almighty and most merciful God, our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee that Thou hast permitted us to meet here again, and at this opening of this Holy Week, may our hearts be close to Thine. May we visualize the great love which Thou didst have in Thy heart for us, in that Thou didst come into the world and assume unto Thyself our sins and disobediences and didst pay the price in full on the cross at Cavalry. We thank Thee for this knowledge, and we pray that, out of the sacrifice of that day, the love that prompted it may be in our lives reflected unto the lives of our brothers today, that we may extend that hand of love unto all the world, so that the great day may speedily come when all knees shall bow to Thee as the only true God; that all tongues shall confess that Thou art the Only One. Use us this week and the remaining days of our life to be a blessing unto all with whom we come in contact, and when that great day comes, when we shall stand before Thy throne, may we then know that we have done the best that we could. We ask it in Thy Holy Name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. TALLMAN and Mr. T. NEWELL WOOD, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

He also presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows and laid on the table:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, March 31, 1947.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to transmit herewith for your consideration a photostat of a self-explanatory letter I have just received from Honorable Dean Acheson, Acting Secretary of State, Washington, D. C., together with the resolution of Congress entitled "Joint Resolution Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States relating to the terms of office of the President," passed during the first session of the Eightieth Congress of the United States, "Begun and held at the City of Washington on Friday, the third day of January, one thousand nine hundred and forty-seven."

I have acknowledged receipt of the communication to the Acting Secretary of State, informing him that in due course I shall send him a certified copy of the action taken by our General Assembly as required by Section 160, Title 5, of the United States Code.

JAMES H. DUFF.

Department of State
Washington, March 27, 1947.

The Honorable, The Governor of Pennsylvania, Harrisburg:

Sir:

I enclose a certified copy of a resolution of Congress entitled "Joint Resolution Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States relating to the terms of office of the President," passed during the first session of the Eightieth Congress of the United States, "Begun and held at the City of Washington on Friday, the third day of January, one thousand nine hundred and forty-seven." It is requested that you cause this joint resolution to be submitted to the Legislature of your State, for such action as it may take, and that a certified copy of such action be communicated to the Secretary of State, as required by section 160, title 5, United States Code, copy of which is enclosed.

An acknowledgement of the receipt of this communication is requested.

Very truly yours,

DEAN ACHESON,
Acting Secretary of State

Enclosures:

1. Certified copy of joint resolution.
2. Copy of section 160, title 5, U. S. Code.

SECTION 160, TITLE 5, UNITED STATES CODE

Whenever official notice is received at the Department of State that any amendment proposed to the Constitution of the United States has been adopted, according to the provisions of the Constitution, the Secretary of State shall forthwith cause the amendment to be published, with his certificate, specifying the States by which the same may have been adopted, and that the same has become valid, to all intents and purposes, as a part of the Constitution of the United States.

No. 1518

United States of America

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

To all to whom these presents shall come, Greeting:

I certify That the copy hereto attached is a true copy of a resolution of Congress entitled "Joint Resolution Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States relating to the terms of office of the President," the original of which is on file in this Department.

In testimony whereof, I, Dean Acheson, Acting Secretary of State, have hereunto caused the seal of the Department of State to be affixed and my name subscribed by the Authentication Officer of the said Department, at the city of Washington, in the District of Columbia, this twenty-fifth day of March, 1947.

DEAN ACHESON,
Acting Secretary of State.

By M. P. CHAUVIN,
Authentication Officer, Department of State.

EIGHTIETH CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

AT THE FIRST SESSION

Begun and held at the City of Washington on Friday, the third day of January, one thousand nine hundred and forty-seven

JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States relating to the terms of office of the President

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled (two-thirds of each House concurring therein), That the following article is hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which shall be valid to all intents and purposes as part of the Constitution when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several States:

"ARTICLE

"Section 1. No person shall be elected to the office of the President more than twice, and no person who has held the office of President, or acted as President, for more than two years of a term to which some other person was elected President shall be elected to the office of the President more than once. But this Article shall not apply to any person holding the office of President when this Article was proposed by the Congress, and shall not prevent any person who may be holding the office of President, or acting as President, during the term within which this Article becomes operative from holding the office of President or acting as President during the remainder of such term.

"Section 2. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several States within seven years from the date of its submission to the States by the Congress."

JOSEPH W. MARTIN, JR.

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

WILLIAM F. KNOWLAND,

Acting President of the Senate pro tempore.

I certify that this Joint Resolution originated in the House of Representatives.

JOHN ANDREWS,

Clerk.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I request that the communication from the Governor concerning the constitutional amendment to the Constitution of the United States be referred to an appropriate committee.

The PRESIDENT. The communication will be referred to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations.

COMMUNICATION

THE EVENING BULLETIN

Filbert and Juniper Streets

Philadelphia 5, Penna., March 27, 1947.

Honorable G. Harold Watkins
Secretary, State of Pennsylvania
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Sir:

This will acknowledge your letter of March 26th accompanying certified copy of the resolution adopted by the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Please convey to the honorable members of the Senate this expression of deep appreciation for the generous expressions of the resolution including the confidence which they express in The Evening Bulletin and their good wishes for continued success.

It will be our pleasure to publish the resolution in an appropriately prominent manner in the anniversary number of The Bulletin April 13th.

With appreciation for your own message of good wishes, I beg to remain

Yours very truly,

ROBERT McLEAN, President

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STEVENSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I am fully aware of the futility of getting into a quarrel with any newspaper, but nevertheless, for the purposes of the record, I am about to read into the record a letter which should now be in the hands of Mr. Walter H. Annenberg, editor of the Philadelphia Inquirer:

Senate of Pennsylvania,

March 29th, 1947.

Mr. Walter H. Annenberg, Editor,
Philadelphia Inquirer,
Philadelphia, Penna.

My dear Editor:

Under dates of March 26th and March 27th, there appeared in your news and editorial columns certain reprehensive and condemnatory statements about the Senate Committee on Local Government. These appeared in your discussions of House Bill No. 313, which is designed to give the City of Philadelphia the power to acquire and operate parking lots and garages. This Committee of 14 Senators is charged with "stalling," "obstructionism," "double talk," and sundry "dilatatory tactics."

We are sufficiently pachydermatous to take it. However, in our opinion, these charges are untimely, unwarranted and unfair.

Apparently you and your correspondent are unaware that there was set up in the Senate, at the beginning of this 1947 session, a definite schedule of dates upon which the various Committees are to hold their meetings. It so happens that the Committee on Local Government is scheduled to meet at intervals of two weeks.

At the regular meeting of this Committee on March 18th, this House Bill No. 313 was brought before the Committee for discussion. This was the first meeting of the Committee after the bill had come into its hands. By action of the Committee, this bill was referred to a sub-committee for study but with instructions that a report should be made to the whole Committee at its next regular meeting on Tuesday, April 1st. Officials from the City of Philadelphia were invited to meet with the Committee at this time.

Perhaps some misunderstanding may have arisen from the fact that, at the Committee's meeting on March 18th, the Chairman was directed to request permission for a special Committee meeting to be held on Wednesday, March 26th, for the sole and only purpose of holding a hearing on Senate Bill 313, which is a Revision of the Second Class Township Code.

We do not feel that it is a very heinous offense for a Legislative Committee to scrutinize a proposed piece of legislation for a period of two weeks. Perhaps you were not guided by all of the proper considerations when you pelted us with galling epithets. Really, Mr. Editor, we are not quite as diabolical as you would lead your readers to believe.

It is both fanciful and folliful for your newspaper and the Senate Committee on Local Government to raise and join issues, either real or fancied, as to House Bill No. 313. We are both heartily in favor of its purpose. It is far more important that we pool issues and try to give Philadelphia a law that will be adequate to meet its parking situation.

No crusading is necessary to the speedy enactment of this bill into law. Instead of our passing abusive strictures and innuendos, we would do well to contribute our best efforts to the purpose of this bill. This bill needs some clarification if subsequent court interpretations are to be avoided. It is quite possible that the powers granted by this bill should be implemented with other necessary powers to enable the city to accomplish its purposes more readily. We should determine this now and add such powers, if deemed necessary, rather than to add them by amendment at some future date.

Now, Mr. Editor, it is of no particular concern that any one should know who presented the above error of fact to your newspaper. That is a matter for determination within the sanctum of your office. As Editor, you relied upon the accuracy of the facts as submitted and reacted editorially.

We would not stoop to impugn the motives of any one of your correspondents. We will be gracious enough to assume that he was not familiar with the schedule for the regular committee meetings and that he acted with honest intentions and, in perfect faith. We harbor no resentment against any one.

It is recognized that a corporation per se does not have a soul. However, the men who direct it do have hearts and souls. Our information is that the men, who stand behind the corporate legal fiction of The Philadelphia Inquirer, are men of high principle, that they insist upon faithful reportings of facts from their correspondents and that they hold in sacredness that code of ethics which has made journalism one of our most noble professions.

Mr. Editor, we believe that you possess a fine sense of justice and we know that you enjoy a splendid reputation for habitual fair play. Perhaps, since you are in possession of the true facts, you might want to set the record straight editorially. Our only suggestion is that you tumble this over in your own conscience. We shall be completely satisfied with whatever course of action your sense of right and wrong may dictate.

Yours in all sincerity,

GEORGE B. STEVENSON, Chairman
Local Government Committee, Senate of Penna.

Mr. BARR, Mr. President, as a member of the subcommittee to study the Philadelphia parking bill, I subscribe entirely to the letter written to the editor of the Philadelphia Inquirer by Senator Stevenson.

REQUEST FOR DATA FOR 1947-48 MANUAL

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate the following communication:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Harrisburg, March 31, 1947.

To: Honorable Daniel B. Strickler

From: Braton R. Gardner, Editor Pennsylvania Manual

Will you kindly call to the attention of the members of the Senate our recent request for their biographies and pictures for publication in the 1947-48 Pennsylvania Manual.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND, Mr. President, last week a gentleman learned in the law, Mr. Walker of Allegheny County, won a bet from me in amount of five dollars, and he immediately gave his fee as a donation to the Republican party. I am very glad to read into the record, to show the honesey of this gentleman from Allegheny County, this communication because I am in receipt today of an acknowledgment of five dollars which I donated to further the interests of the Republican party of the State of Pennsylvania. I hereby read the letter, and I quote:

Republican State Committee of Pennsylvania,

Harrisburg, March 28, 1947.

Honorable Elmer J. Holland
Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania

Dear Mr. Holland:

Many thanks for your contribution in the amount of $5.00, for the use of the Republican State Committee. Our official receipt is enclosed herewith.

You may be sure that your contribution will be used to the best possible advantage.

Cordially yours,

M. HARVEY TAYLOR, Chairman

MHT: a Encl.

I also note that the receipt accompanying this letter says: "Received $5.00 as your voluntary contribution (it was not voluntary—he took it from me) to the Republican State Committee for legitimate campaign expenses." The receipt is signed David W. Harris, Treasurer. I am awfully glad to note it is going to go for legitimate campaign expenses.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Messrs. WOODRING and STEVENSON read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 451, entitled:

An Act to further amend section fifteen of the act, approved the sixteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-three (P. L. 207), entitled "An act providing when how, upon what property, and to what extent, liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements, for the removal of nuisances, and for water rents or rates, sewer rates, and lighting rates; for the procedure upon claims filed therefor; the methods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims; the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened; the distribution of the proceeds of such sales, and the redemption of the property therefrom; for the lien and collection of certain taxes heretofore assessed, and of claims for municipal improvements made and nuisances removed, within six months before the passage of this act; and for the procedure on tax and municipal claims filed under other and prior acts of Assembly," changing provisions relating to the revival of liens by suggestion and averment.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, the bill I am about to introduce is now a law in both New York and Massachusetts and is commonly known as the poor man's life insurance bill. The Bill in question permits savings banks in the State of Pennsylvania to organize insurance departments. The primary purpose of the Bill is to make life insurance available to the small wage earner at a materially lower cost. This is effected by the elimination of solicitors, provisions for examination of applicants, and reduction of overhead. This is in direct contrast to industrial insurance, which is the name applied to that kind of life insurance, which is procured by working men usually engaged in industrial enterprises. It is peculiar in that it is usually granted in small amounts, without medical examination, and primarily intended to provide proper care for the insured during his last sickness and after his death. However, the sacrifice incident to the present industrial insurance system could be avoided only by providing an institution for insurance which would recognize that its function is not to induce working people to take insurance regardless of whether they really want it or can afford to carry it, but rather to supply insurance upon terms to those who do want it and can carry it; an institution which would recognize that the best method for increasing the demand for life insurance is not eloquent, persistent persuasion, but as in the case of other necessities of life, is to furnish a good article at a low price. Hence the need for the present bill.

This Bill recognizes that small wage earners are often induced by high pressure tactics, to purchase industrial insurance without regard to whether they really need or can afford it. Realizing that these tactics contribute largely to the great number of lapses, solicitation by the banks has been eliminated.

This particular Bill seeks to reduce the number of lapses by providing that every life and endowment policy must have a guaranteed cash surrender value, paid up value, or extended term insurance value after full premiums have been paid for six months. It is further provided that loans be made on policies after payment of one year's premiums.

The insurance will be available to any person who is a resident of the State of Pennsylvania, or who is regularly employed here. This sets no minimum as to the amount of insurance that can be taken out by the wage earner, but fixes the ceiling at $3,000, and once having obtained policies amounting to $3,000, the applicant is barred from obtaining similar insurance from other banks.

This particular Bill provides for separation of funds of the insurance banks. The accounts of the Insurance Department of the bank are to be kept separate and apart from those of the Banking Department. The Insurance Department of the bank shall invest its funds in the same class of securities and in the same manner that the deposits of the savings department are required by law to be invested. This aims at safe and uniform investment of funds.

As a further protection to the public, a special expense guarantee fund amounting to not less than $5,000 must be created before the bank may establish an insurance department, and also a special insurance guarantee fund of not less than $25,000, its purpose being to guarantee losses or obligations arising from the insurance business.

Insurance banks are subject to the same regulations as private insurance companies.

This form of insurance has attracted thousands and particularly people who did not carry insurance previously.

In view of the success of insurance banks in Massachusetts and New York, this Bill if enacted, will be a distinct benefit to the small wage earner by giving him access to a lower-priced and more secure form of insurance which will be tendered to the public on its merits. The insurance policy holder under the terms of this Bill will save approximately 40 per cent.

Mr. JASPAN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 452, entitled:

An Act authorizing mutual savings banks without capital stock created under any general or special act of this Commonwealth to establish life insurance departments subject to certain conditions; authorizing life insurance departments of such mutual savings banks to issue policies of life insurance and annuity contracts subject to certain restrictions; exempting life insurance departments of such mutual savings banks and their agents from laws relating to insurance and annuity agents, brokers, adjusters, and the licensing, regulation and control thereof; providing for the investment and deposit of funds of life insurance departments of such mutual savings banks; prohibiting the employment of solicitors of life insurance and annuity contracts by the insurance department of such mutual savings banks; creating a body corporate in the Banking Department of this Commonwealth to be known as "The Savings Bank Life Insurance Fund of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania" for the purpose of guaranteeing and supervising the issuance of life insurance policies and annuity contracts issued by life insurance departments of such mutual savings banks and providing for the examination thereof by the Secretary of Banking; limiting the time within which and the place where suits shall be brought on life insurance policies or annuity contracts issued by life insurance departments of such mutual savings banks; providing that life insurance policies and annuity contracts issued by the life insurance department of such mutual savings banks shall be subject to and construed solely in accordance with the laws of this Commonwealth; providing for the licensing, qualification, regulation, examination, suspension, liquidation, possession and dissolution of insurance departments of such mutual savings banks by the Secretary of Banking and the Insurance Commissioner as the case may be; providing for the exemption from local taxation of certain rights and property of life insurance departments of such mutual savings banks and repealing inconsistent laws.

Which was committed to the Committee on Insurance.

Mr. KEPHART read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 453, entitled:

An Act to amend Section fourteen of Article XIX of the Act approved the twenty-fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred nineteen (P. L. 581) entitled "An act for the Better Government of Cities of the First Class of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania" by extending the time for posting of eligible lists after examinations held by the Civil Service Commission when more than one thousand applicants are examined.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

Mr. GELTZ read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 454, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation from the Public Buildings Construction Fund to the Department of Property and Supplies for use at any existing or new State-owned institutions within the Department of Welfare, for purchase or condemnation of land, for construction of new buildings, for repair and alterations to and replacement of existing buildings, and for architectural and engineering services, fixtures, equipment, sewage treatment plants, water supply, electrical and other facilities.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 455, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation from the General Fund to the Department of Property and Supplies for use at any existing or new State-owned Institutions within the Department of Welfare, for purchase or condemnation of land, for construction of new buildings, for repair and alterations to and replacement of existing buildings, and for architectural and engineering services, fixtures, equipment, sewage treatment plants, water supply, electrical and other facilities.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. DENT read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 456, entitled:

An Act to repeal clauses (f), (g), and (h) of, and to add five new clauses to, section three hundred six of the act, approved the second day of June, one thousand nine hundred fifteen (P. L. 736), entitled, as amended "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment; establishing an elective schedule of compensation; providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder; and prescribing penalties," changing the provisions relating to medical services to be furnished by the employers.

Which was committed to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am about to present to the chair two resolutions. I received a communication today that I thought ought to be read into the record and before presenting this resolution, therefore, I ask leave to read into the record a communication dated March 28, 1947, headed "Pennsylvania on the Potomac."

The PRESIDENT. Hearing no objection, the gentleman from Westmoreland may proceed.

Mr. DENT: (Reading)

"PENNSYLVANIA ON THE POTOMAC"

"Washington, D. C.—Senator Joseph M. Barr of Allegheny county rose in the legislature at Harrisburg this week and displayed what he called a "putrid dose of poison." It was a bottle of one-month-old whiskey, colored and flavored with wood chips, purchased in the Pennsylvania State Stores for $3.05.

"Connecticut courts have banned the stuff from sale in that state.

"Senator Barr's action prompted me to visit one of Washington's reputable liquor stores to find out what is sold here to residents of the District for about three dollars a fifth. There can be no doubt that Chairman Fred Gelder and his Pennsylvania Liquor Board are profiteering at the public's expense and charging outrageous prices.

"A fine selection was placed on the counter:

Brand	Proof	% Spirits	Price
Rocking Chair .....	86	75	$2.99
Three Feathers .....	86	70	3.19
Carstairs .....	86.8	72	3.19
William Penn .....	86	65	3.15
Corby .....	86	68	2.98
Park & Telford Reserve .	86.8	70	2.98

"My visit was to the Ney Distributing Company, on Pennsylvania Avenue near Eleventh Street. The hour was ten in the morning. Five clerks were on hand to serve me, and no other customers were in the store. An old and established firm of wine merchants, Ney does not cut prices to meet competition. I could have bought the same brands at perhaps twenty cents a bottle less at another store nearby.

In addition to courtesy and prompt service in Washington, reputable stores will accept checks from customers known to them, and liquor will be delivered within a reasonable distance from the store. It is very handy to have a gallon of wine delivered, as Pennsylvanians know who have had to tote the jugs from the inconvenient and sparse State Stores.

"Here in Washington, the month-old "rotgut" is available too—but the price is only $2.19 a fifth for a 100-proof product. This is almost a dollar less than Gelder & Co. charge.

"Corndale," a 100-proof corn whiskey made in the Pennedale Distillery, Scheafferstown, Pennsylvania, is also sold for $2.19 a fifth.

"Obviously such products are sold at a loss. The federal excise tax on 100-proof for a fifth is $1.80. The District tax is 11 cents. That leaves just 28 cents for making the concoction, bottling it, shipping it, and then selling it here in Washington. It is bought by drinkers with an alcoholic craving. Poor people cannot and do not buy liquor these days unless they have a craving they cannot resist.

"Somewhere between the "loss leader" price of $2.19 in Washington, and the State Store price of $3.05, is a fair price if such stuff must be sold at all.

"It would be better obviously, if Pennsylvanians were to receive the same quality and type of beverages that residents of the capital are having delivered to their door for three dollars a bottle.

"At fair prices, the sale of "rotgut" is not necessary."

Mr. President, with this message just sent to me today, it revives our two-month-old fight to have the Pennsylvania State Liquor Control Board give to the members of the Senate some factual evidence as to their management, or mismanagement, of the Pennsylvania State Liquor stores.

I therefore present to the Chair the following resolution and ask that it be read for the information of the Senate:

RESOLUTION

Mr. DENT offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

THAT THE LIQUOR CONTROL BOARD FURNISH INFORMATION

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, March 31, 1947.

Whereas, The Senate Committee on State Government has failed to consider the Dent-Barr resolution calling for a complete, impartial investigation of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, be it therefore Resolved, That the Liquor Control Board furnish to the Secretary of the Senate, the Majority and Minority Floor Leaders, the following information.

1. Lists of all agents or persons soliciting and selling liquors or wines to the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, listing the companies they represent and the brand names of the products. This list shall include all agents, persons or concerns that have done business with the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board since January 1st, 1943.

2. Provide a complete list of amounts, prices paid and the selling prices of all brands since January 1st, 1943.

3. Provide a list of State Store employee dismissals since January 1st, 1943, giving names, addresses and reasons for dismissals.

4. Furnish copies of rules and regulations pertaining to the retail restaurant and hotel business under the jurisdiction of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, and be it further

Resolved, That this information be given to the above listed persons on or before the 15th day of April, 1947.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I object to immediate adoption of the resolution.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is that type of resolution that must be referred to committee, if unanimous consent is not granted.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, we have tried and tried by regular methods of procedure to get an open door to the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board. We are having a tougher time than the fellow calling on Richard.

Mr. President, there are other methods that can be employed to give to the people of Pennsylvania the truth in the matter of distribution of liquor in the state stores and in the state of Pennsylvania.

I suggest to the majority leadership that we will continue to introduce resolutions and if, at the proper time, we feel that resolutions are of no avail, that the majority insist upon hiding the mismanagement of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control system in this Commonwealth. Then, Mr. President, I am going to be forced to name a committee of Democratic Senators who will go into the State Liquor Control system, using their powers as members of the State Senate, to get at the bottom of this particular business in this Commonwealth, so that the people will find out what is happening in that particular agency of the State Government.

The PRESIDENT. There having been objection, the resolution is referred to the Committee on State Government.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I had intended today to give an answer to the Republican Floor Leader's analysis of the so-called budget message that I gave to the Senate. However, I do not have to do that. I would suggest to the members of the Senate that they read the budget analysis supplement issued by the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce, dated March 28, 1947, and I am proud to say that the figures that I gave to the Senate are borne out in the figures that are applied here in the analysis by the Chamber of Commerce.

As you all know, the Chamber of Commerce is not an organ that is attached to the Democratic minority and therefore we can believe that they have made some study of the budgetary needs of Pennsylvania.

However, Mr. President, last week we witnessed the steamroller tactics of a majority grown fat upon its own power, when they deliberately passed tax bills for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that affect millions of persons' daily lives.

They refused, although I have before me a written promise that certain industries and businesses would receive a public hearing on their bills in the House of Representatives, and for a moment I would take those of you who are older members of the Senate back to 1935 and 1937, when the so-called obnoxious taxes of the Earle Administration were passed, at which time we held hearings in the House for a period of six weeks and we held hearings in the Senate for another six weeks, and we gave every person in Pennsylvania an opportunity to be heard, and here we are now, with these bills already in the Senate, without any public expression being given by the persons who are affected by these particular tax bills.

Therefore, Mr. President, in order that we do not have a repetition of what happened on the merit rating bill, when there was a question whether there was time allowed for that committee to hold a public hearing, on behalf of the Democratic minority and the taxpayers of the Commonwealth, I present to the Chair this resolution, which calls for public hearings on all the new tax bills that are in the Senate of Pennsylvania at this time.

I ask that this resolution be read.

SENATE COMMITTEE ON FINANCE TO HOLD PUBLIC HEARING ON ALL TAX MEASURES

Mr. DENT. offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, March 31, 1947

Whereas, There arises at this time the serious question of adding taxes to the already burdensome tax load in Pennsylvania, and

Whereas, The need for revenue and the need for new taxes are subjects of debate between the two major parties, and

Whereas, The new taxes proposed by the republican majority places the entire burden of raising additional revenue upon the shoulders of the harassed consumer citizen who in the final analysis is least able to pay, and

Whereas, This new tax program singled out certain industries and businesses for special inequitable sales taxes while allowing other privileged industries and business to go tax free in direct conflict to the spirit of justice and fair play as represented by evenly and fairly distributed taxes, be it therefore.

Resolved, And it is resolved, That the Senate Committee on Finance schedule public hearings on all tax measures not now part of the tax laws of this Commonwealth. That the Senate Committee on Finance hold separate hearings on each new tax, allowing ample time with sufficient notice to the interested parties in order that the Senate members may learn from the affected business and industries the effect upon the economical structure of our Commonwealth if these proposed new taxes become law.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the Consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection,

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I object to immediate consideration of the resolution for the reason, Mr. President, that the gentleman from Westmoreland certainly is acquainted with the fact that these bills, with which he concerns himself in the resolution, were just passed in the House of Representatives on Wednesday and probably are just now reaching this chamber.

In addition to that, Mr. President, I think the gentleman from Westmoreland well recognizes the orderly procedure in the Senate of permitting a committee to make a sound determination on matters of public hearings.

It is my understanding, and I am so advised by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, that this afternoon during a recess which will probably be requested within a short few moments, that a meeting of the Committee on Finance of the Senate is to be held, at which time this matter, among some others, is to be discussed by that committee, and I would like to suggest so that it may be a matter of record, that that request and that arrangement was made by the gentleman from Allegheny, chairman of the Committee on Finance, long before the introduction of this resolution.

The PRESIDENT. There having been objection, the resolution is referred to the Committee on Finance.

RESOLUTION URGING CONGRESS TO ADOPT APPROPRIATION FOR CONEMAUGH DAM

Messrs. HOLLAND, DOEHLA and RAHAUSER offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, March 31, 1947.

Whereas, Through the years, floods in the Ohio River Valley have resulted in damages amounting to hundreds of millions of dollars to property, to industrial plants through loss of profits to owners and loss of wages to employes and;

Whereas, In addition to monetary losses, death and disease have brought untold fear, sorrow, and suffering to the people living in flood areas; and

Whereas, In an economy move the House of Appropriations Committee's Sub-committee on War Department Appropriations of the United States Congress have very unwisely refused to approve a five million dollar appropriation necessary to permit work to continue in the erection of the Conemaugh Dam during the next fiscal year; and

Whereas, The refusal of this grant will result in the loss of seven million dollars already expended and many million dollars more through suits by contractors for damages, claims, and the like; and

Whereas, The discontinuance of the erection of Conemaugh Dam will result in the recurrence of floods threatening the very economic life and the future development of the City of Pittsburgh, as well as all river towns in the entire Ohio Basin; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Members of this Senate, feeling that the Members of the United States Congress are sincere in their attempt to secure governmental economy, urge that the United States Congress will consider the expenditure of these moneys necessary to further the economic and business life of America, and will approve the appropriation for the Conemaugh Dam; and be it further Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate shall transmit copies of this resolution to the House of Representatives Appropriation Committee's Sub-committee on War Department Appropriations, House Office Building; to Senators Edward Martin and Francis J. Myers, Senate Office Building; and to Representatives Frank Buchanan, Robert J. Corbett, Herman P. Eberharter, James G. Fulton, and John McDowell, House Office Building, Washington, D. C.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. DOLAN, offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 31, 1947.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene Monday, April 7, 1947, at four o'clock, p. m.; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, April 7, 1947, at four-thirty o'clock, p. m.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. BECKER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. BECKER, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 279, entitled:

An Act to repeal section fifty-three of the act, approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1237), entitled "An act affecting marital relations; prescribing grounds and regulating proceedings for divorce and the annulment of bigamous marriages; and amending, revising, and consolidating the law relating thereto," cancelling necessity of proving lunacy of respondent when the petition or libel sets forth such lunacy.

BILL ON THIRD READING DEFEATED ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 224, entitled:

An Act to amend clause (c) of section three of the act, approved the tenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 485), entitled "An act to provide for the better protection of life and health of the citizens of this Commonwealth by requiring and regulating the examination, licensure, and registration of persons, and registration of corporations, engaging in the care, preparation, and disposition of the bodies of deceased persons; and providing penalties." further regulating requirements of applicants for examination as undertakers.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll the following occurred:)
Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I ask that the roll be verified.

The PRESIDENT. The result has not been announced.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Cambria will state his point of information.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, does verification come before announcement of the result of the vote?

The PRESIDENT. Does the gentleman from Cambria desire that the roll be verified at this time?

Mr. HALUSKA. That is right, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will call the names of those recorded as having voted in the affirmative.

The Clerk read the names of those recorded as having voted in the affirmative as follows:

Becker,	Donlan,	Kephart,	Taylor.
Blass	Farrell,	Leader,	Wagner,
Chapman,	Frazier,	Ruth,	Walker,
Crider,	Heyburn,	Scarlett,	Watson,
DiSilvestro,	Holland,	Snowden,	Wood, L. H.,
Doehla,	Homsher,	Tarr,	Wood, T. N.,

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will call the names of those recorded as having voted in the negative.

The Clerk read the names of those recorded as having voted in the negative as follows:

Barr,	Hare,	Mahany,	Tallman,
Berger,	Jaspan,	Margie,	Tyler,
Carr,	Klein,	Rahauser,	Wade,
Crowe,	Lane,	Rosenfeld,	Wilson,
Geltz,	Letzler,	Stevenson,	Wolfe,
Haluska,	Lord,	Stiefel,	Woodring,

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, what is the vote on this bill?

The PRESIDENT. It has not been announced as yet.

Mr. CARR. May I ask what is the delay in announcing the result?

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, having voted under a misapprehension, I request that my vote be changed from "aye" to "no".

The PRESIDENT. The vote of the gentleman from Schuylkill will be so recorded.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, having voted under a misapprehension, I desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no".

The PRESIDENT. The vote of the gentleman from Delaware will be so recorded.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Cambria will state his point of order.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I submit to the Chair that the two gentlemen can not change their votes until the roll has been announced.

The PRESIDENT. The point of order on the gentleman from Cambria is not well taken.

Mr. TARR. Mr. President, having been otherwise occupied when the vote was taken, and having voted under a deep misapprehension, I wish to change my vote from "aye" to "no".

The PRESIDENT. The vote of the gentleman from Fayette will be so recorded.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Cambria may state his point of order.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, can a member change his vote after the roll has been verified?

The PRESIDENT. If the gentleman voted under a misapprehension, he may so do.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, that is the purpose of verifying a roll, so a gentleman knows how he is recorded as having voted, and, having heard my vote announced as "aye", I now desire my vote changed to "no".

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Delaware is so recorded.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Section 1109 Common Trust Funds

B If the instrument under which a trust company or bank and trust company acts as fiduciary whether such fiduciary capacity arose before or is created after this act takes effect shall limit or restrict the investment of moneys of the estate in assets of the class authorized by law as legal investments the trust company or bank and trust company may in its capacity as sole fiduciary or with the consent of any person acting with it in a fiduciary capacity invest and reinvest moneys of the estate in any such common trust fund maintained by the trust company or bank and trust company provided the assets composing such fund consist solely of assets of the class authorized as legal investments for funds held by fiduciaries

If the instrument under which a trust company or bank and trust company acts as fiduciary whether such fiduciary capacity arose before or is created after this act takes effect shall authorize the investment of moneys of the estate in a common trust fund or in investments other than those designated by law as legal investments or shall authorize the trust company or bank and trust company either alone or in conjunction with any person acting with it in a fiduciary capacity to exercise its or their discretion with respect to the investment of moneys of the estate the trust company or bank and trust company may in its capacity as sole fiduciary or with the consent of any person acting with it in a fiduciary capacity invest and reinvest moneys of the estate in any such common trust fund maintained by the trust company or bank and trust company Any such common trust fund consisting solely of moneys of estates contributed thereto by the trust company or bank and trust company pursuant to authority contained in any such instruments creating the fiduciary capacity to invest moneys of the estates in a common trust fund or in investments other than such legal investments or pursuant to such discretionary powers with respect to the investment of moneys of the estates as contained in any such instruments creating the fiduciary capacity may be composed of investments other than those of the class designated by law as legal investments for funds held by fiduciaries including common and preferred stocks

Bonds secured by mortgages and securities of the class authorized by law as legal investments for fiduciaries shall be deemed proper investments for any such common trust funds Provided however That no investment for a common trust fund shall be made or maintained in bonds secured by mortgages which would cause the total amount of the investment for such fund in bonds by mortgages to exceed forty per centum of the value of all the assets comprising such fund

No moneys of any one estate in excess of fifty thousand dollars shall be invested in any one or more of such common trust funds as may be maintained by a trust company or bank and trust company [if such investment would result in such estate having an interest in excess of ten per centum of the value of the assets of such common trust fund or funds or the sum of fifty thousand dollars whichever is less at the time of investment] In applying this limitation if two or more trusts are created by the same settlor or settlors and as much as one-half of the income or principal or both of each trust is presently payable or applicable to the use of the same person or persons such trusts shall be considered as one

BILLS ON SECOND READING CALENDAR

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 47, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to amend Section 8 of the act approved the first day of June one thousand nine hundred and forty-five (P. L. 1358) entitled "An act relating to chattel mortgages on any chattel or chattels of any kind or description including but not limited to livestock poultry farm machinery, farm equipment and crops grown, growing or to be grown designating the operation and effect of the lien of such mortgages providing for the filing indexing and docketing of such mortgages and related instruments in prothonotaries' offices and prescribing prothonotaries' fees providing for the filing in Pennsylvania of similar lien instruments originally filed or recorded in other states regulating the assignment, release, satisfaction and extension of the lien of such mortgages prescribing methods of foreclosure defining defaults and violations and fixing penalties" by making further provision respecting the filing of chattel mortgages in prothonotaries' offices.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 87, entitled:

A Supplement to the act approved the twenty-seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred twenty-three (P. L. 858) entitled "An act establishing a State employees' retirement system and creating a retirement board or the administration thereof establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing State employees defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payments therefrom and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain said funds imposing powers and duties upon the heads of departments in which State employees serve excepting annuities allowances returns benefits and rights from taxation and judicial process and providing penalties" permitting certain State employees who during the war were loaned to the United States Government and who have now returned to State employment to pay into the retirement fund the amount of the contributions they would have made during such period with interest and prescribing how the Commonwealth shall build up the necessary State annuity reserves

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 103, entitled:

An Act authorizing the staging of certain performances and playing of certain sports on Sunday after certain hours where the electors of a municipality or township vote in favor of the same providing for referendums to ascertain the will of the electors prescribing penalties and repealing inconsistent laws

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I desire to offer amendments.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, this bill, Senate Bill 103, does not appear to be on our desks.

The PRESIDENT. I understand copies of the bill are on the desks of the Senators. Is that correct, Senator Crowe?

Mr. CROWE. Yes, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Copies of the bill are supposed to be on the desks. Does the gentleman from Northampton not have a copy of the bill?

Mr. WOODRING. I do not believe so, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman verify his file?

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I do not have it here.

The PRESIDENT. I think the gentleman will find it on his desk. Does the Senator raise any objections to the reading of the amendments?

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, amendments have been offered and it is quite difficult to follow amendments when the bill is not on the desk, so I do object.

The PRESIDENT. The bill has been on the calendar for several weeks and the gentleman should have a copy.

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I have it in my file.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, the bill has been on the desks of the Senators at several different times, but the supply is now exhausted and that is the reason it was not in today's picking. A copy is in the file of the gentleman from Monroe, Senator Crowe.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, with the permission of the gentleman from Northampton, Senator Woodring, we will withdraw objection and allow the bill to be amended and then printed, so that we can read the amendments.

However, Mr. President, I would suggest to the sponsor of the bill that it needs a slight clarification amendment under the question of time of notification to the proper authorities, as under the provisions of this bill only ten days are permitted and I do not think the election officials possibly could get the proper forms and preparations made for an election on ten day's notice. I believe that provision should be at least thirty days. Our board of elections at home has asked that it be made thirty days—they are not objecting to the bill but believe that it ought to be made a thirty-day period prior to elections.

I would suggest that the gentleman from Monroe have an amendment prepared on that point, as otherwise the bill will not be workable.

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, if the gentleman will permit the bill to go through as amended I will draw up amendments some more.

Mr. DENT. That is all right, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. CROWE offered the following amendments:

And said bill having been read at length the second time, and amended,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 103, on second reading, as amended, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 123, on second reading, entitled:

An Act providing that the salaries of court criers and tipstaves of courts in counties of the fourth class shall be fixed by the courts.

be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I would like to tell the members of the Senate that the matter of local salary raises has become quite a problem to different members of this Legislature. There is a bill being drafted, which will be introduced tomorrow, Mr. President, which will place this whole matter back in the hands of salary boards in the counties, with regard to regulating salaries in the various courthouses of the state and that, it seems to me seems to be a very fair way of solving this problem.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, may I ask a question of the gentleman from Delaware?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HEYBURN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. STIEFEL. Senator Heyburn in Philadelphia, as you know, we have a dual government, we have a city government and a county government.

Mr. HEYBURN. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. STIEFEL. When the gentleman from Delaware stated that it will be up to certain boards in each county to decide upon salaries, what will the situation be in Philadelphia?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I understand the situation will be this in Philadelphia, that the taxing power is lodged in the city council, I understand, and they, being the taxing body, would have the power to fix salaries.

Mr. STIEFEL. At the present moment, if I am not mistaken, there is a bill in the hands of the Committee on Local Government pertaining to Philadelphia. How will the proposed recommitting of this bill affect the bill which is now in the hands of the Committee on Local Government.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, the proposed action includes all the counties of the Commonwealth. I understand the bill the gentleman from Philadelphia speaks of pertains to the county of Philadelphia; is that right.

Mr. STIEFEL. Correct, Mr. President.

Mr. HEYBURN. The proposal, Mr. President, is to make uniform all counties in the Commonwealth and give the power to fix salaries to the body that raises taxes.

Mr. TARR. Mr. President, this might not get me anywhere, but I listened with a great deal of interest to the statements of the gentleman from Delaware, when he stated that a bill was being drawn which would place the salaries of court criers and tipstaves under a salary board.

I throw myself open to any rebuttal, and I invite it if I am wrong, when I say that a salary board is made up not of the courts for whom the tipstaves and court criers work, but is in the control of the county commissioners. Does the gentleman from Delaware mean to tell me that at one fell swoop a bill which is now being drawn and will be introduced will circumvent the intention of the original law which set up the salaries of court criers and tipstaves?

I object to having this bill sent back to committee, on the ground that a bill drawn, placing salaries of tipstaves and court criers under a salary board, would be taking from the courts of the Commonwealth, and especially those fourth class counties, something which they have a definite right to have. Court criers and tipstaves are not persons who are employed by the county commissioners; they are definitely representatives and employes of the court; the courts have a right to hire and fire, and all we are asking is that these courts, in whom we place great confidence, be given the right to set the salaries of persons within their own offices.

Mr. President, I object—I do not seem to have much sympathy from the other side, judging from the looks on the faces of some of the members, but I object sending this bill back to committee, and I will ask, Mr. President, that this bill remain on the calendar until such time as a bill is introduced which might take care of the situation.

I would ask the gentleman from Delaware if he will allow this bill to go over in order until such time—some of my colleagues have suggested that it be placed on the postponed calendar, so I will suggest that the bill be placed on the postponed calendar until such time as the bill mentioned by the gentleman from Delaware is introduced.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, if I may make a suggestion to the gentleman from Fayette, Senator Tarr, this bill came out of the Committee on Judiciary General, as the gentleman knows, and there is now a motion before the Senate that the bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General.

First I want to assure the gentleman from Fayette that if the suggested remedy which has been made by the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Heyburn, does not appear in due course of time, I will be very happy to make recommendation to the Committee on Judiciary General that the bill be returned from that Committee to the floor and appear on the calendar.

Secondly, Mr. President, I would like to suggest to the gentleman from Fayette that I think, when the salary boards in those counties operate to set salaries, together with certain fiscal authorities, the president judge, if it involves an employe of the county, would sit down with the salary board to determine salaries of the tipstaves and court criers, and where other departments are under consideration, those departments are represented on the salary boards, so that the court would have full opportunity to discuss with the salary board the proposed salaries of the classifications involved in the bill which the gentleman from Fayette has offered.

I want to assure the gentleman from Fayette that he need not be perturbed about the bill going back to committee for one of those well-known indefinite postponements because, as the gentleman knows, the committee very very carefully checked this bill and then reported it out to the floor of the Senate, it had the approval of the committee when it came on to the calendar, and because of the generalizations suggested by the gentleman from Delaware, it was thought best to put it back in committee, where it will not clutter up the printing and the calendar.

I think the gentleman will be safe on his bill if he will permit us to take that action.

Mr. TARR. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman from Allegheny. However, I was wondering what the purpose of the postponed calendar was, if it was not for carrying on the postponed calendar legislation on which certain persons have not yet made up their minds.

I believe the gentleman said the bill would appear in due course of time. I had a very vivid experience of the words "due course of time" during the last war, when my commissions were to come through in "due course of time." I do not like those words at all.

However, the Committee on Judiciary General, being membered by such charming gentlemen and such learned lawyers—I do not distrust them at all; in fact I believe that the members on the Committee on Judiciary General distrust the courts of the counties of the fourth class and I do not want to put this into their hands.

I could go on perhaps and talk for considerable time and would not get any more attention than I have already, but I again move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, the primary objective of this bill, as it applies to Washington county, is that we would like to keep justice out of politics. The judges in our county take the position that they should have exclusive jurisdiction—I notice that brought a laugh from the other side—we want to keep court employes definitely under the jurisdiction of the courts.

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the gentleman from Washington, the motion before the Senate is to recommit this bill, which motion, under the rules of the Senate, precludes debate on the merits of the bill.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, we feel that sending this bill back to committee definitely sounds its death-knell and it probably will be pickled for good. I object to this motion.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken the question was determined in the affirmative.)

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 148, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the fifth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. An Act relating to trusts heretofore or hereafter created primarily for the benefit of employees under any stock bonus, pension, disability or death benefit, profit-sharing or other employee-benefit plan, and the application with respect thereto of any statute or rule of law against perpetuities, accumulations, or the suspension of the power of alienation.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. WALKER offered the following amendment:

Amend Section 1, page 2, line 1, by inserting after the word "created" the following: "prior to the first day of January, one thousand nine hundred forty-eight."

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The second, and third sections and title were read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, as amended,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 246, on second reading, as amended, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order.

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 247, entitled:

An Act providing for and regulating the admission in evidence of written reports and findings of fact made by officers of the Commonwealth.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 248, entitled:

An Act adopting the American common law rule against perpetuities.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 263, entitled:

An Act to further amend section two and amend sections three and five of the act approved the eighteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 1303) entitled "An act to regulate the sale of certain hypotie analgesic and body-weight reduction drugs in the interest of public health" extending requirements as to contents of labels conditions under which barbiturate drugs may be sold or handled and increasing penalties for violations thereof

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 273, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections two hundred twenty and two hundred eighty-five of the act, approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-five (P. L. 448), entitled "An act relating to fish; and amending, revising, consolidating, and changing the law relating to fish in the inland waters and the boundary lakes and boundary rivers of the Commonwealth," increasing the resident fishing license fee and limiting the use of a part of the money derived from such increase.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection. The Chair hears none.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 282, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to amend article IX of the act approved the fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 457) entitled "An act relating to the business of building and loan associations providing for the organization and voluntary dissolution of such associations defining the rights powers duties liabilities and immunities of such associations and of their officers directors shareholders solicitors and other employees prohibiting the transaction of business in this Commonwealth by foreign building and loan associations conferring powers and imposing duties upon the courts recorders of deeds and certain State departments commissions and officers establishing limitations of actions imposing penalties and repealing certain acts and parts of acts" by authorizing building nad loan associations to grant chattel mortgages in certain cases.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection. The Chair hears none.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I would like to call to the attention of the Senate House Bill 296, House Bill 297, and House Bill 298. These are three bills dealing with the re-codification of the laws relating to estates of decedents. After a study made by the Joint State Government Commission these bills were prepared by an advisory committee working on that subject and these are the first three bills that have come over from the House as a result of that study.

Mr. President, I would like to request that all three of these bills go over in their order, so as to give the members of the Senate opportunity to study them, so that they can determine whether or not these bills meet the requirements or the demand of bar associations back home. I would especially urge, Mr. President, that if any members of the Senate have any amendments to suggest to these bills that they confer with the Committee on Judiciary General before the amendments are offered on the floor, because we do not want to tie these bills up too much with amendments on the floor.

Therefore I request that these three bills go over in order at this time, with the explanation I have just made.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 296, on second reading entitled:

An Act relating to the incidents of legal and equitable interests in real and personal property, including the validity thereof, the powers, rights, and duties of persons with respect thereto, and the disposition of interests which fail, and containing provisions concerning termination of trusts, releases and disclaimers of powers and interests, perpetuities, accumulations, charitable estates, rights of a surviving spouse in property as to which the decedent has retained certain powers, spendthrift trusts, limited estates in property, rules of interpretation, estates pur autre vie, estates in fee tail, and the Rule in Shelley's Case.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 297, on second reading, entitled:

An Act relating to the descent of the real and personal estate of persons dying intestate and the procedure in reference thereto.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 298, on second reading, entitled:

An Act relating to the form execution revocation operation and interpretation of wills to nuncupative wills to the appointment of testamentary guardians to elections to take under or against wills and the procedure in reference thereto.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 311, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to amend section four and subsection (a) of Section ten of the Act, approved the fifth day of August, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 816), entitled "An Act regulating and limiting the rights of slayers in real and personal property and in the benefits from insurance policies arising out of or as a result of the death of the person slain; protecting and saving the rights of purchasers and insurers dealing with slayers without notice of the slaying, and repealing certain legislation" by clarifying the wording thereof applicable when the slayer is a devisee, legatee, or appointee under the will of the person slain.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 318, entitled:

An Act validating and confirming titles to real estate conveyed by cities of the third class, unless proceedings to attack such sales are instituted within one year after the effective date of this act.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS ON SECOND READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 328, entitled:

A Supplement to the act, approved the fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and forty-five (Appropriation Acts, page sixty-three), entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive, Legislative, and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt, and the support of the public schools for two years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred forty-five; and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and forty-five," providing for a deficiency in the appropriation made by said act to the Department of Forests and Waters for the operation of a Nautical School for the fiscal biennium ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and forty-seven.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. BERGER offered the following amendments:

Amend sec. 1, page 3, line 7, by striking out the word "School" and inserting in lieu thereof "Schools"; Amend sec. 1 (Sec. 524), page 5, line 9, by underscoring the words "permanent value or".

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The second section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. BERGER offered the following amendments:

Amend sec. 2 (Sec. 2801-A), page 7, line 2, by inserting after the word "and" the following: "to"; Amend sec. 2 (Sec. 2801-A), page 7, line 8, by inserting after the word "investigations" the following: "or archaeological collections acquired by purchase".

They were agreed to.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, March 31, 1947

The House met at 4:30 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Franklin H. Lichtenwalter) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Lester C. Updegrave offered the following prayer:

O God our help in ages past and our hope for years to come, with one accord we offer Thee the homage of our grateful hearts. As we pass through the doorway of this new week, we are reminded of Him who was despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows and acquainted with grief. By all the pains and afflictions borne and suffered for us, do Thou hear our solemn litany. So lead us that our aim shall not be to succeed in life, but to succeed in living. Direct this legislature today and shadow our country with Thy infinite presence. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of Wednesday, March 26, 1947.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of Wednesday, March 26, 1947, when, on motion of Mr. MOHR unanimously agreed to, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

EIGHTIETH CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

At the First Session

Begun and held at the City of Washington on Friday, the third day of January, one thousand nine hundred and forty-seven

Joint Resolution

Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States relating to the terms of the President.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled (two-thirds of each House concurring therein), That the following article is hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which shall be valid to all intents and purposes as part of the Constitution when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several States:

"Article—

"Section 1. No person shall be elected to the office of the President more than twice, and no person who has held the office of President, or acted as President, for more than two years of a term to which some other person was elected President shall be elected to the office of the President more than once. But this Article shall not apply to any person holding the office of President when this Article was proposed by the Congress, and shall not prevent any person who may be holding the office of President, or acting as President, during the term within which this Article becomes operative from holding the office of President or acting as President during the remainder of such term.

"Section 2. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several States within seven years from the date of its submission to the States by the Congress."

JOSEPH W. MARTIN, JR.,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

WILLIAM F. KNOWLAND,
Acting President of the Senate pro tempore.

I certify that this Joint Resolution originated in the House of Representatives.

JOHN ANDREWS,
Clerk.

REPORT FROM PUBLIC SCHOOL EMPLOYES' RETIREMENT FUND

sented by the Public School Employes' Retirement Board in compliance with House Resolution 14, introduced by Mr. Andrews, which was read by the Clerk as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Department of Public Instruction
Public School Employes' Retirement Board

Harrisburg, March 27, 1947.

Hon. Franklin H. Lichtenwalter
Speaker, House of Representatives
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Dear Sir:

In compliance with House of Representatives Resolution No. 14 Session of 1947 please find attached the following material:

Bond lists for the years ending June 30, 1942, 1943, 1944, 1945 and 1946 showing the book value, the par value, interest rates and other information regarding each bond held by the Public School Employes' Retirement Fund.

Reports showing receipts and disbursements in the Contingent Reserve Account, the State Annuity Reserve Account, the State Annuity Reserve Account No. 2, the Employes' Annuity Savings Account, the Employes' Annuity Reserve Account and the amounts in the various accounts of the Retirement Fund for the years ending June 30, 1942, 1943, 1944, 1945 and 1946.

A record of the expenses of administration for the years ending June 1942, 1943, 1944, 1945 and 1946.

A record of Defaults as of January 31, 1947.

A record of totals due from delinquent school districts as shown by the lists prepared as of June 1946 for deductions from appropriation allotments due August 1946 and September 1946 respectively.

A record of the amount appropriated by the Commonwealth to the Retirement Fund to the close of the 1945-1947 biennium but not collected as of June 30, 1946.

In view of the provisions of sub-section 2 of section 4 of the Retirement Act, the expenses of administration are to be paid from interest earnings with the legal proviso that "if in any year such earnings are not sufficient, the balance required shall be paid by the Commonwealth, by biennial appropriation, from the General Fund . . . ." From 1942 to 1946 the expenses of administration were paid from the Retirement Fund. On the basis of reports submitted, the Actuary has estimated that the interest account should be reimbursed from the General Fund of the State Treasury to the extent of $202,170 because of administration expenses incurred to the close of the Retirement Fund year on June 30, 1946.

On the basis of reports submitted, the Actuary has also estimated that the interest deficiency due June 30, 1946 is in the amount of $3,182,730. He estimated that $705,354 of the accumulative interest deficit developed in 1944-1945 and that the remainder of the aforesaid deficit developed in 1945-1946.

The latest actuarial balance sheet filed by the Actuary was compiled as of June 30, 1945. In due time we expect to receive his report for the year ending June 30, 1946.

In view of the attached appropriation deduction lists it should be noted that as of June of each year such lists are prepared showing the amounts to be deducted from appropriation allotments because school districts either have not been paying totals due the Retirement Fund or are in arrears at least one year.

Respectfully submitted
PUBLIC SCHOOL EMPLOYES' RETIREMENT BOARD

/s/ FRANCIS B. HAAS, Chairman.

/s/ J. Y. SHAMBACH,
Secretary.

The SPEAKER. The communication will be noted in the Journals and the Report will be printed in full in the Appendix to the Legislative Journal.
